gain by A. Brown. Blatherwick made two 30-yard runs, but the ball was brought back after the second for holding. Steady gains sent Rich over for a third touchdown. At this point Williams braced. Waters, after running in a kick-off 21 yards, was hurt and replaced by Robb. Losing the ball but once, by several short bucks, with an 8-yard gain by D. Brown and a 10-yard run by Robb, Williams brought the ball to Dartmouth's 48-yard line, when time was called.

The summary:

THE DEGREE OF M. A.

Four Candidates Registered—Trustee Regulation Limits List

The names of the men who have registered for the degree of Master of Arts this fall, together with their subjects, have just been announced. They are as follows:—Raymond Eugene Cook, B. A., 1905, Troy, N. Y., major, History, minor, Latin; John Bright Lord, B. A., 1905, Brooklyn, N. Y., major, Political Science, minor, English; William Smith Pettit, B. A., 1905, Canajoharie, N. Y., major, Political Science, minor, History; Clarence Elmore Wells, B. A., 1905, Riverhead, N. Y., major, Geology, minor, English.

It will be noted that the number is very small, compared with the registration of former years. This is due to the fact that the trustees have recently passed a regulation providing that only the names of those men who are working for their degree in residence at the college shall be published. The purpose of this regulation is to make sure that no names appear in the college catalogue except of men known to be actually working for a degree. Another recent provision is that which changes the sum to be paid by each candidate upon registration from $10 to $20, and reducing the charge for taking the examinations from $15 to $5.

TENNIS RESULTS

AN EASY VICTORY

W. P. I. Beaten 23—5 in Unequal Contest—Fumbles too Frequent

Williams defeated W. P. I. on Weston Field, Saturday by a score of 23 to 5 in a game which left no doubt from beginning to end which was the better team. The Purple was not held for downs once and was forced to kick but twice. Long runs were common, and Williams played with dash and confidence. W. P. I.'s trick plays failed and the visiting team could not gain consistently by straight football. The bad feature of the game was the constant inexcusable fumbling, costing Williams W. P. I.'s touchdown in the first half and spoiling a fifth score, in the second. A. Brown and C. Brown did good offensive work, Kelley showed up well, and Waters was up to his usual high standard. Tech was weak at right tackle.

On the first line-up of the game A. Brown made a 76-yard run around Tech's right end, and bucks by D. Brown and Waters carried the ball over for the first touchdown. Williams kicked off, and Martin of Tech made 41 yards on a delayed pass. Williams held, Campbell blocked Peters' punt, and a touchdown was made in seven rushes, Waters carrying the ball over. Tech's touchdown came as the result of a fumble by D. Brown, Lawley securing the ball after both Williams and Tech men had re-fumbled it, and running 40 yards for a score.

In the second half Williams forced Tech to punt early. A. Brown made a 28-yard run and with C. Brown and A. Brown gaining most of the ground, another touchdown was scored. Again Williams started down the field, but A. Brown fumbled on the 3-yard line. Tech was forced to punt, and this time the touchdown was scored, by C. Brown.

BUILDING OPERATIONS

Contract Awarded for South College Extension to P. A. Smedley

The contract for the construction of the addition to South College has been awarded to Perry A. Smedley of Williamstown, at a cost slightly under $20,000. The contract does not include plumbing, lighting and heating, bids for which will be received after the main work of construction is completed. Batter boards were placed in position early in the week. Work on the foundations has already begun.

The plans of the three upper stories of the addition have not been altered, and are the same as announced in the issue of The Record for Oct. 16. The sub-basement has been definitely given up, and the plans for the basement changed, although final decision has not been passed. Instead of containing three single rooms at the north end of the addition, a single suite, of study and bed-room, will probably be placed on the south-west corner. A large toilet room will be placed on the south-east corner. The basement will be entered by a door on the south end. The ground falls away so sharply that good lighting can be obtained, but to assure that the rooms shall be absolutely dry, the walls will be built of hollow brick with an air chamber between the inner and outer walls.

Work in the Gymnasium

Work in the gymnasium has progressed so far that the W. P. I. football team were able to use the locker-room for the first time on yesterday. The shower-room contains five showers on the east side and two on the west, with three private showers at the north end. The swimming pool will not be finished until the end of the term. Work will be begun on the foundation week after next. The foundation will consist of an expanded metal frame with a concrete floor. The sides are to be of white tile. Much difficulty has been experienced with the old posts supporting the gymnasium floor, formerly in the partition between the baseball cage and bowling alley. These will be removed to secure six feet additional width for the swimming pool, and steel beams put in supporting the gymnasium floor, much as the steel beams were in Jesup Hall.

The work in the locker room is almost completed, but the lockers,

CELEBRITIES IN WAX

Mrs. Jarley in Williamstown—Faculty Will Take Part

Mrs. Jarley, of "Old Curiosity Shop" fame will exhibit her group of wonderful mechanical wax statues, brought thoroughly up to date, in Williamstown Monday evening. Mrs. Jarley, with her accomplished troupe, will have possession of the Opera House and will entertain for the benefit of St. Johns's Episcopal church and the First Congregational church of Williamstown. Characters immortalized by Dickens, as well as characters of a more modern and perhaps of a more local interest, will, under the original Mrs. Jarley, appear on the stage, an attraction to those who have not the fortune or misfortune to be invited elsewhere.

Miss Helen Hewitt will take the part of Mrs. Jarley, and among her statues will be Prof. T. C. Smith, Prof. Perry, Mr. Lewis, Prof. Cleland, Mr. Rees, Mr. Brainerd Mears, Mr. Hart, Mr. Preserved Smith, Morgan '06 and Warren '07.

Dr. Vander Veer on "Medicine"

At the Christian Association meeting, Sunday evening at 7:30, Dr. Albert Vander Veer, of Albany, N. Y. will speak on "Medicine as a Profession." Dr. Vander Veer is one of the best known physicians in this country, and is a graduate of both the Albany and National medical colleges. He has received the degree of A. M. from Williams, and of Ph. D. from Union and Hamilton. Since 1869 he has held a professorship and since 1895 has been dean, of the Albany Medical college. He has been president of the New York State Medical society and since 1895 a member of the New York State board of regents.

A NEW U. S. SENATE

Adelphic Union Will Copy Senatorial Procedure—Session Nov. 8

A novel step was taken last evening after the meetings of the debating societies, when a committee formulated plans for the holding every three weeks, in place of the regular programs, of a meeting of the Adelphic union in which the members will impersonate United States senators. Each speaker will choose the senator whose role he wishes to assume.

Live topics of national interest will be discussed, and the rules of the senate will be followed as far as possible. Side issues are likely to arise, thus incurring a lively and interesting discussion. Detailed plans have not yet been made; it has been decided, however to hold the first meeting on Wednesday evening, November 8. All members of the Adelphic union who wish to participate are requested to sign the list which will be posted in Hopkins Hall.

Game With Rensselaer

Williams will play Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, of Troy, N. Y., on Weston Field Saturday. R. P. I. has played few games, so that its strength cannot be estimated, but Williams should win easily by a large score. Murray '05 is coaching R. P. I.

Local Minister to Preach

Rev. Dr. Francis Treadway Clayton, pastor of the First Congregational church of Williamstown, will address the college at Sunday morning chapel next Sunday.

VOL. 19 OCTOBER 26, 1905. No. 34

The Game Yesterday

The playing of the football team does not deserve the general criticism that has been accorded it. Williams outplayed Worcester at every point. The Tech eleven failed to gain first down by straight football, while Williams made the distance without effort and did not once lose the ball on downs. The work of the Purple was at times brilliant, though to be sure, against a much lighter team. The eleven should be criticised for one thing—fumbling. If this fault cannot be corrected before the Colgate game, Williams can count on defeat before the whistle blows.

All the available material in college has been brought out. The coaches and the squad, in the hard round of daily practice, are doing their share towards making a Williams team. But the student body is doing nothing. At Harvard and Princeton the march to the field is part of the afternoon schedule. At Williams, not even a song or a cheer has been heard at practice this fall.

Williams in College Literature

When a college athletic team scores a notable victory, or closes a season of exceptional success, the event is the cause of great pride and interest in that organization on the part of the undergraduates. Such a team was the basketball five of last year, which has merited the national championship title. This recognition, however, is only temporary. In so severe a competition, and with the amount and quality of athletic material varying from year to year, it is impossible for a team to remain in the first rank all the time. Interest flags, and unfortunately, the student body stands off and lets a losing team shift for itself.

At Williams we have no particular branch of athletics that will always bear comparison with the strongest in other colleges. In seeking the best expression of its undergraduate effort, to maintain one branch of college work that will be distinctive of the institution—Williams must avoid the physical side.

The Williams Literary Monthly holds a relatively higher position in the collegiate world than any other department of student activity in the college. The standard of the magazine is uniformly good, and it represents its side of Williams life better than any other undergraduate organization, not excepting the athletic teams. To support this statement, we have the opinions of college literary publications all over the country, for several years back. Their comment is rarely adverse. We quote two exchanges, among many. From Princeton:

"We cannot speak too highly of such an effort as 'The Quest,' in the Williams Lit. It is a little drama set forth in blank verse and space alone prevents us from quoting it here."

From Wesleyan:

"The Williams Literary Monthly is very near the front this month. Its two essays are not only well written but readable, and few essays of the month are that. The stories have a deeper tone along with the usual clever conception. It is rare that we find stories among college productions which have the atmosphere of the two which the Williams magazine gives us."

That the Lit. occupies the position it does, should be a source of satisfaction to every Williams man. The expression of intellectual power requires more will than the expression of purely physical power; a success of this sort is the more creditable.

We believe that the opportunity is here offered for Williams to specialize, and by taking advantage of the conditions, to expand this side of its life and take a permanent place with the best in college literature. The students of the college alone have the means of accomplishing this result. Support must be general; the contributions must not be by the few. A man must have more confidence in his own ability, and cast aside the belief that positions on The Lit. board are reserved for the select.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

the president, the dean, and the presidents of the upper classes have asked the sophomores to observe the custom of waiting for the seniors and juniors to pass out of chapel first.

Several times of late they have not acted according to the requests.

It would seem that courtesy to the officials mentioned should prompt the sophomores to observe a little patience and not unnecessarily crowd the exit even if reverence for the custom has no weight.

GEOLOGICAL EXCURSION

At Nantasket Saturday—Williams Will be Represented

Prof. Cleland, with a number of undergraduates, will leave tomorrow afternoon for Boston, to take part in the intercollegiate geological excursion to be held Saturday, Oct. 28. Williams has always been represented at this gathering, while Yale, Harvard, M. I. T., Amherst, Wesleyan, Tufts and Wellesley also send delegations.

Dr. T. A. Jaggar, jr., of M. I. T., and Harvard, who lectured here last winter on the eruption of Mont Pelee, will this year have charge of the expedition, assisted by Professors J. B. Woodworth of Harvard, and D. W. Johnson of Tech. The excursion will leave South Station at 8.43 a. m., Saturday, returning by boat from Nantasket at 3.40 p. m. The features of special interest will be the lava flows and conglomerates of Nantasket, and the coastal physiography of Boston harbor.

On Friday evening, October 27, at 8 p. m., in room 11, Engineering B (M. I. T.), Trinity Place, an informal conference will be held and a brief account will be given of the objects of interest to be seen on the excursion.

Paintings and Medals

On Tuesday and Wednesday the art department placed on exhibition a collection of paintings and medals. The medals will be continued on exhibition during the week. The paintings were by an English artist, Miss March-Phillips, and are chiefly views in and around Rome, although the most beautiful are African landscapes.

The collection of about fifty medals is unique in the colleges of the country. The medals are by French artists, Roty, Chaplain, Dupuis, Patey, Coudray, and are either commemorative or intended only as souvenirs. The finest one is in memory of President Carnot of the French Repbulic, and shows his body as it was being carried to the Pantheon.

The 1908 class picture was taken on the steps of Hopkins Hall at 1:15 today.

Work on Goodrich Hall has also been held back. The building has been completed with the exception of the flooring, delayed in transportation. The building will be ready for recitation purposes within two weeks after the flooring arrives. The remodelling of Alumni Hall into a language seminar will not be done until the completion of the work on Goodrich Hall proper.

Berkshire Hall

Mr. Charles Pratt, of Boston, representative of L. D. Willcutt and Son, the contractors for the new dormitory, was in town yesterday and Tuesday. Mr. Pratt superintended the building of the chapel. The cement sheds are to be put in at once, and excavation will be begun as soon as possible. The foundation will be of granite, on concrete. Ground was broken yesterday.

New York Alumni

The Williams Alumni Association of New York has arranged for the following meetings, to be held at Delmonico's: Dec. 8, 1905, smoker; Feb. 2, 1906, annual dinner; April 20, 1906, smoker and annual meeting. Mr. Dwight L. Elmendorf will give an illustrated lecture on travel at the first meeting.

Debating Agreement

The agreement of the triangular debating union, recently formed by Dartmouth, Brown and Williams, has been drafted, and signed by the presidents of the Brown and Dartmouth debating unions. The articles have not yet been approved by the Williams debaters, and it is probable several changes will be suggested to the other colleges.

A conference of four members of the faculty, four debaters and the presidents of the debating societies, will be held Monday evening to discuss the employing of the Harvard system of choosing men for the tri-collegiate debate.

The first meeting for this year of the Worcester club, composed of graduates of the preparatory schools in Worcester, was held last evening. Butler, 1907, was elected president and Sawyer, 1908, secretary and treasurer. Charles Barrett was chosen an honorary member of the club.

OBITUARY

Ex-'37—William G. Brown, for many years journalist and magazine writer, died on Aug. 14, at Stevens point, Wis., aged 93. Mr. Brown was born March 3, 1812, at Whitingham, Vt. He entered Williams in the class of 1837, but was compelled to leave college during his junior year on account of ill health. After teaching for several years he became, in 1840, editor of the Vermont Telegraph and Voice of Freedom, at Brandon. During the exciting Fremont campaign in 1856 he was editor of the Chicopee Journal. He moved into the west in 1861, where he continued his writings both in prose and in verse for many years.

'74—Harry Linn Wright, secretary of the class of 1874, died at Santa Rosa, Cal., on July 14. In 1877 he graduated from the law school of the University of Cincinnati. His home was in Pullman, Ill.

ALUMNI MEETING

Connecticut Valley Association at Springfield Monday

The fifth annual banquet of the Connecticut Valley Alumni Association of Williams college, was held Monday evening at Cooley's hotel, Springfield. Thirty-five Williams men were present.

At the annual business meeting, the following officers were elected for the coming year:—President, Rev. John H. Lockwood '68 of Westfield; vice-presidents, Robert W. Adam '45 of Pittsfield, Rev. D. Butler Pratt '83 of Springfield; secretary, Rev. John Luther Kilbon '86 of Springfield; treasurer, Frank J. Demond '82 of Springfield; executive committee, Solomon B. Griffin '72 of Springfield, Dr. J. Clarke Hubbard '77 of Holyoke, and Henry K. Hyde '87 of Ware.

The dinner commenced at 7:00 and an hour later President Henry K. Hyde called the meeting to order. In his toastmaster's speech, Mr. Hyde argued for the extension of college ethical standards to the business world. Dr. Hopkins then said that a college is judged in the world not so much by its location and plant as by the stamp of men which it graduates.

He also spoke of the increasing difficulty experienced by the college in securing good instructors. "The attractions of the mercantile world are so great that many young men who formerly would have entered the ministry or teaching no longer do so. But I believe there is a reaction coming. One of the best things at Williams this past year is a gift by which the salaries of those instructors and professors receiving less than $3,000 were materially increased."

Dr. Charles Cuthbert Hall '72, of New York, spoke of the importance of personality in the educator. George W. Anderson '86, of Boston, paid a warm tribute to the late Judge Barker and denounced the insurance officials in New York whose shameful mismanagement is now being exposed. Prof. Starr W. Cutting '81, of the University of Chicago, said that college athletics as now conducted, tend to discourage all but the best men and to diminish the interest of the undergraduate in individual athletic exercise.

Those present were:—Rev. T. H. Hawks of Springfield, William B. Rice and Hon. Marshall Wilcox of Pittsfield, of the class of 1844, Milton B. Whitney '49 of Westfield, Dr. Henry Hopkins '58 of Williamstown, Dr. Edward B. Nims '62 of Springfield, Rev. John H. Lockwood '68 of Westfield, Dr. Charles Cuthbert Hall '72 of New York, Solomon B. Griffin '72 of Springfield, Clarence B. Roote '76 of Northampton, Rev. Sumner G. Wood '77 of Blandford, Dr. J. C. Hubbard

By Prof. Milham

Prof. Milham has recently had printed in pamphlet form an article entitled "The Variation in Minimum Temperatures on Still, Clear Nights within the Confines of a Village." The article first appeared in the Monthly Weather Review for July 1905. The article is based on weather observations taken at ten different stations in Williamstown, on dates between Dec. 1904 and March 1905, and draws the general conclusion that elevation plays an important part in the temperature, the lowest stations being generally the coldest. The pamphlet contains an accurate map of Williamstown, showing the general topography of the village and the location of the stations.

Hockey Plans

Work has been going on all the past week in fixing over the hockey rink in the north-east corner of Weston Field. The rink has been moved south about ten feet to avoid the drain which caused so much trouble last year. As an additional precaution to prevent the water from escaping, the bottom of the rink will be entirely filled with clay. No games have been secured as yet, but negotiations are under way at present for a game with Columbia, to be played at the St. Nicholas rink, New York city.

Freshman Reception

President and Mrs. Hopkins were at home to the freshman class from eight until ten o'clock Tuesday evening. The attendance from the entering class was large.

President and Mrs. Hopkins, Miss Hopkins and Miss Alice Hopkins received. In addition to the class officers, Brown, Gutterson, Hanson and Sayre, the ushers were Eurich, Sloan, Toll and Carlisle.

GAME WITH CCLUMBIA

Williams Will Play Basketball with Blue and White Jan. 23

Williams has arranged a basketball game with Columbia to be played on the Columbia court, New York city, at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday evening, Jan 23. The game has been approved by the faculty committee.

The Columbia management, under date of October 29, write: "At a meeting of the graduate directors last night, it was decided that it would be good policy, not only for Columbia but for the Intercollegiate Basketball League, that Columbia and Williams meet this year. * * * * * The officials for this game could be the regular officials elected this fall by the six colleges in the league, to act at each game in a certain locality. Or any official whom the A. A. U. would appoint at your request, would be satisfactory * * * * *." No officials have as yet been arranged.

LIFE-WORK TALK

Dr. Vander Veer Gives First on "Medicine as a Profession"

The first of the series of life-work talks, to be given in Jesup Hall during the winter, was delivered Sunday evening. Dr. Albert Vander Veer of Albany addressing the meeting on "Medicine as a profession."

Dr. Vander Veer traced briefly the development of medicine from the earliest times, laying particular stress on Hippocrates, the first real observer, the beginnings of human dissection in the sixteenth century, and Harvey's discovery of the circulation of the blood. In modern science he laid particular emphasis on the development of the germ theory for the protection of disease, especially in cholera. So little known was this disease that in 1832 a board fence was built up Canal St., in Albany, to keep the disease from spreading by infection along the ground. Comment was also made on the improvement in aseptic surgery.

Concluding, Dr. Vander Veer said that to be a success in medicine, a man must have a love for his profession, must be an earnest and constant investigator, and must be ever alert to keep up with the times. Medicine brings with it responsibility, but it also brings a great charm through the saving of life.

Mr. Orenstein representing A. N. Rosenberg, Tailors, of New York city, will be at Bemis' Nov. 9.—Adv.

SENIOR CELEBRATION

An Elaborate Program is Offered for the Event Tonight

The seniors hold their Hallowe'en celebration in the Adams block on Spring street at 8:30 this evening. It is understood that the program will stagger attempts of previous years. The freshmen on Cap and Bells will present a one act farce, and the feats of skill, nerve, and agility in the various acrobatic acts will be on a more elaborate plane than at any similar function. The servants who wait upon the wishes of the seniors will likewise be trained in dexterity and will appear in distinctive costumes.

The celebration was expected to be held in the opera house, but that building has been engaged for the production of Mrs. Jarley's Waxworks, which occurs at eight o'clock tonight. The Sons of Veterans are going to give a dance in the Adams block tomorrow evening, but the seniors hope to conclude their program in time to avoid a conflict.

Entrance English Requirements

A conference of professors of English at Brown, Amherst, Dartmouth and Williams, met at the Worthy Hotel in Springefild, Thursday to consider the question of changing the English entrance requirements in these colleges.

The professors present were Prof. Fred P. Emery of Dartmouth, Prof. George B. Churchill of Amherst, Prof. Lindsay T. Damon of Brown and Prof. Carroll Lewis Maxcy of Williams. Prof. Maxcy was elected chairman. He and Prof. Damon constitute the committee to draft the changes.

The meeting took a radical action in regard to the English requirements for college. The exact nature of the change has not been made public.

Freshmen Defeat Troy High

The freshmen defeated the Troy high school on Weston Field Saturday afternoon by a score of 17 to 0. The visitors were outweighed. In the first half Wadsworth 1909 barely failed in an attempt to kick a drop from the field. 1909 scored one touchdown in the first half, and two in the second.

Early in the second half Troy was forced to punt but the pass was fumbled, the ball rolling over the goal line. Morse scored a touchdown. By straight football 1909 carried the ball over again just as time was called.

BY SIX TOUCHDOWNS

Rensselaer Unable to Hold Williams—The Score 39-6

Scoring seven touchdowns in the 35 minutes of actual play, Williams rolled up the biggest score of the season Saturday by defeating R. P. I. 39 to 6 on Weston Field. The visitors scored their only touchdown in the first half, when a delayed pass on a mass play through tackle gave the ball to Scrafford, who scored after a 73-yard run. Williams played without a fumble and was not held for downs once, making distance easily by line bucks, end runs and the revolving play. R. P. I. was outclassed, and was kept continually on the defensive. Williams rushed the ball 455 yards in the course of the game, while Rensselaer's total gain was 135 yards.

At the start, the visitors kicked off to the 20-yard line, and C. Brown made the first touchdown, after a series of 5 and 10 yard gains. R. P. I. lost the ball on downs on the Williams' 40-yard line after the next kickoff, and Williams easily advanced it within striking distance, when Waters scored. With the score 10 to 0, Bixby kicked off, and the ball was advanced to the 30-yard line. Scrafford scored by a long run and Wood kicked the goal. A. Brown rushed the ball 20 yards on the next kickoff and the Rensselaer line could not hold to prevent the next touchdown by C. Brown. Waters scored the next touchdown on a 15-yard run. Williams held the ball on the Rensselaer 10-yard line when time was called.

In the second half, Williams secured the ball after a fluke punt. Robb scored; Bixby kicked goal. Both sides failing to kickoff within bounds, Williams rushed the ball from the middle of the field, Willcox scoring after the Purple had been penalized 5 yards for off side play. After the kickoff Rensselaer lost the ball on a fumble. C. Brown made the last touchdown. With 10 minutes of play left in the second half, the R. P. I. team left to catch a train. The summary:

PRESIDENTS' MEETING

Result of Discussion of College Questions Will Not be Given Out

The first session of the forty-ninth annual meeting of the association of colleges in New England will be held at 4.00 Thursday afternoon, Nov. 2. The sessions will continue Friday morning and afternoon, the delegates adjourning until such hours as they may see fit. All the sessions will be held in the seminar room of Griffin Hall. The discussions will be entirely informal, each delegate bringing up any question he may desire.

The questions were mailed to the delegates two weeks ago. No vote is taken on the subjects brought up for discussion, the aim being merely to secure an interchange of views on questions of college interest. If any decision is reached, the result is not given out for publication, except in the most general terms, as the delegates wish to have their discussion as free and unfettered as possible. Arrangements for the entertainment of the delegates will be made later.

VOL. 19 OCTOBER 30, 1905, No. 35

The Football Question

The football question has been much agitated of late. It is evident to anyone who has followed the game, and attended intercollegiate contests, that football has undergone a great change in the past few years. The increased interest this year in the Association game, notably at Harvard and Pennsylvania, may denote the beginning of a spirit of dissatisfaction in college with the American game as it is played today. At any rate the general conclusion is that the development of football has resulted in a contest harmful to the player and detrimental to clean sport.

In the current number of Success Magazine appears an article on "The Evils of Football," by President Eliot of Harvard University. President Eliot has unquestionably given the best presentation of his side of the problem up to this time. His objections to football should receive the careful attention of all who wish to see the game, played as it should be, take its proper place in college.

The article may seem unnecessarily severe, but the objections to the game are so evidently facts, that they cannot be disputed. Of the lesser evils enumerated, none is more strikingly true than this: "The crude and vociferous criticism, blame, and praise which fall to the lot of the football player can be of no possible advantage to any young man at the opening of his active life; on the contrary, they keep before him an untrustworthy and unwholesome standard of public approval or disapproval." The chief objection made is against the moral quality of the game, to the effect that the methods of war are not justifiable in a manly game of sport between friends.

From the college student's point of view, it is preposterous to suggest that football be done away with altogether. To discontinue intercollegiate contests is inconceivable. Equally incompatible with American ideas would be the adoption of the game of football as played at Oxford and Cambridge. We can, nevertheless, hope to acquire the English spirit of athletic contest, in which eagerness to win is second to love of the sport and the desire for fair play. The purpose to win at any cost is apparent in other branches than football, and is the strongest element in discrediting athletics.

With the coach rests the future of football. Coaching is a profession. The coach is well paid, and in return is supposed to produce a winning team. If, in order to do this, he encourages and teaches players to violate the rules, the game should be taken out of his hands.

If the coach remains in power, at least two things must be done towards correcting the faults of the game. Commercialism and professionalism must be effaced once for all, thus barring the individual whose influence in the game is bound to be evil. In the second place, radical changes must be made in the rules regarding penalties for roughness. The enforcement of these rules would be the duty of all coaches and officials. These two changes would not alone suffice, but if they were lived up to, we believe the game would be greatly improved and its influence for good extended in college life.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

Editor of The Record.

Dear Sir: In the interest of good form at services in the chapel and to bring about a united habit on the part of the congregation, may I urge more promptness in rising at the announcement of a hymn or the selection for responsive reading? It frequently happens that when the choir is beginning the singing of a hymn or the minister is reading the first verse of a selection, many of those in the pews are only beginning to get on their feet.

If the members of the congregation will follow the action of the choir in rising to their places, there will be a more united response to the announcement from the lectern, a keener enjoyment of the service of song or reading to be engaged in, and a decided gain in the dignity of the service as a whole.

Respectfully yours,
SUMNER SALTER.

NEW BOOKS

No North Adams—Shakespeare the Poacher—Old Works

During the past summer the college library has secured several books of considerable worth for age, rarity, or curious reading matter. Perhaps the most interesting of all is a large folio entitled "Early Census-Making in Massachusetts," presented to the college by the author, J. H. Benton, jr. The volume is No. 15 in an edition of 125 copies. Among other interesting matter, the book contains an accurate copy of the census of 1765, recently recovered by the author. As would be expected, Boston was then the largest town, but with only 15,520 inhabitants. Marblehead was next in size, but smaller than Williamstown today, followed in order of rank by Salem, Dartmouth, and Bridgewater. In "Berks" county Pittsfield held only the third place, and Westfield was the largest place west of the Connecticut. The author, in a note, says that for some unknown reason the plantation of West Housuck (Williamstown) was not enumerated. It is instructive to note that Springfield and Worcester were then hamlets, while North Adams, Fall River, Lowell, Lawrence and Holyoke did not exist.

Students of Shakespeare will be interested in the "Cartae Shakespearianae," D. H. Lambert, ed., containing title-pages of the poet's plays, extracts from diaries, etc., with photographs of a few title-pages, two signatures, and Droeshout's portrait. They may also cast a passing glance at "William Shakespeare, Pedagogue and Poacher," a play by R. Garnett. The play shows a side of Shakespeare's versatility little known, as can be guessed by an old quotation from Archdeacon Davies on the title-page. "He was much given to all unluckiness in stealing venison and rabbits, particularly from Sir Thomas Lucy, who had him oft whipt, and sometimes imprisoned, and at last made him fly his native county to his great advancement."

Among the old books purchased are a copy of the 1584 edition of Hobbs's "Tripos", and one published in 1621, "The Commonwealth of England and the maner of gouernement thereof, compiled by the honouiable Sir Thomas Smith, Knight, Doctor of both Lawes, and one of the principall secretaries unto two moft worthy Princes, King Edward and Queene Elizabeth." Another addition to the government department is "The annales, or generall chronicle of England, to 1614," published in 1615.

Mr. W. W. Wight '69 has presented the library with five rare old books, a two-volume "Junius"

(1813); "A view of society in Europe in its progress from rudeness to refinement," by Gilbert Stuart (1792), "Observations on The Nature of Civil Liberty * * * and The Justice and Policy of the War with America," by Richard Price (1786): Kennett's "Antiquities," with numerous quaint copper engravings (1773); and Hevetius' "Essays on the Mind" (1759).

Other books of interest are "Rural economy in Yorkshire in 1641": "Messages and papers of the presidents", J. D. Richardson, ed., in 10 vols.; "The book of the boudoir," by Lady Sydney Morgan, presented by Dr. Frank W. Olds '76; an interesting set of Locke in 10 vols., published in 1801; an excellent and very costly two volume edition of John Calvin, in French, E. Doumage, ed.; "Original Journals of the Lewis and Clark expedition," in seven volumes and an atlas, published in full exactly as written, with numerous facsimiles of drawings in the journals and of the original pages, edited by R. G. Thwaites; edited by the same author, a series of annotated reprints on "Early Western Travels from 1748 to 1846", vol. 19 of which has already appeared: and a finely printed book entitled "Couches and Beds of the Greeks, Etruscans and Romans," by Caroline L. Ransom, containing interesting plates and drawings, and an index to passages in Latin and Greek authors referring to furniture.

New Basketball Rules

The official collegiate basketball guide for 1905-6, edited by H. A. Fisher of Columbia, appeared Saturday. The book contains the rules under which Williams will play this winter.

The chief changes in the rules are as follows: a minimum floor space of 3000 square feet instead of a maximum of 3500 square feet; a distinct separation of the duties of referee and umpire; a rule allowing the player first touching the ball out of bounds to retain it (but not permitting passing the ball out of bounds); the foul line placed at a distance of 15 feet from the bakset instead of 20 feet, as in the A. A. U. rules; and a strict rule on dribbling. The rules are much simpler and clearer than the A. A. U. rules and are very carefully classified.

GEOLOGY I IN BOSTON

Prof. Cleland and Geology Class Visit Boston Harbor

The class in geology 1, including the following men, Ayers, Gates, C. Hills, Holroyd, Hulst, Little, Lowry, Miller, Perry, Warner, Scholle, Wright '06, Wooster, Pattard, Woodhouse, '07, with Prof. H. F. Cleland, left on Friday for Boston. In the evening the class attended a lecture by Professors Jaggar and Johnson in Engineering Building B of the Boston Tech. The night was spent at the Copley Square Hotel and the following morning the expedition, including representatives from Yale, Harvard, Boston Tech, Williams, Smith, Radcliffe and Mount Holyoke, about 50 in all, left for Nantasket Beach.

Here the effect of wave action on the islands of the harbor and the formation of the beaches was studied. Lunch was served at the Gun Rock Inn, the party being the guests of M. I. T. In the afternoon an examination was made of the volcanic rocks of the region, of the conglomerates, and of the lava dikes and faults. The trip back to Boston was made by boat through the bay from Atlantic.

At Boston Art Museum

Prof. Rice met his division in Art 2 in Boston, on Sunday, and together they visited the Boston Museum of Fine Arts in Copley Square. Those who made the trip were Holroyd, Miller and Wright '06, and Davis '07.

Cap and Bells Play

"The Man from Mexico," a three act comedy by Du Souchet, has practically been secured by the Cap and Bells for its play this year. The royalty on this play was higher that was expected and the fact that it exists only in manuscript copy, has made it unusually difficult to secure. Mr. Donald McDonald who is coaching the dramatic club of the University of Wisconsin, has been secured to coach the club.

Tennis Scores

Boston University—President William E. Huntington, Assistant Professor Dallas L. Sharp.

Clark University—President G. Stanley Hall.

Dr. Bascom Sunday

Rev. John Bascom '49, D. D., LL. D., of Williamstown, will preach in the chapel next Sunday on the third petition of the Lord's prayer: Thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven. This sermon is one of a series on the Lord's prayer which Dr. Bascom has been preaching the past two years. Last year he preached before the Congregational church on "Our Father which art in Heaven," and later in the old chapel on "Hallowed be Thy name."

WILLIAMS AND COLGATE

Will Play Football at Richfield Park, Albany, on Saturday

Williams will play Colgate in football at Albany next Saturday. The game will be played at Richfield Park, and will begin at 2:30 p. m. The officials are as follows: Referee, Evans of Williams; umpire, Sugden of Harvard; head linesman and timekeeper, Easton of Yale. The length of the halves will be settled by the captains on the field.

Those who wish to attend the game can leave either at 10:09, reaching Albany at 12:05, or at 12:10, reaching Albany at 2:25. The trolley runs to within a few blocks of the field. Returning, trains leave Albany at 6:30, reaching Williamstown at 8:50, and at 11:01, reaching Williamstown at 1:23.

Line-up of the Teams

The teams will line up as follows:

WILLIAMS, l. e., Elder; l. t., Bixby; l. g., Harter; c., Campbell; r. g., Reid; r. t., Johnson; r. e., Curtis; q. b., Kelley; l. h. b., A. Brown; r. h. b., D. Brown; f. b., Waters.

COLGATE, r. e., Sherwood; r. t., Houseman; r. g., Ford; c., Simmons; l. g., Huntley; l. t., Cartter; l. e., Knapp; q. b., Greene; l. h. b., Castleman; r. h. b., Runge; f. b., Stowell.

In the last five years Williams and Colgate have had hard, close contests. In 1903 the Purple was victorious by a 6-0 score, and in 1904, Colgate won a hard-fought game by the same score.

The Colgate Team

Seven of the last year's Colgate team are playing again, the chief losses being Aude, their crack guard, and Thurber, who made the touchdown against Williams. Colgate's back-field remains intact. Castleman is a brilliant end runner while Runge, at full in 1904, has always been good at line-bucking and this year has been used much on trick plays and end runs. The team is heavy, and will probably outweigh Williams.

Colgate's attack has brought many touchdowns, but is weak in one respect. The eleven has been unable to gain consistently against teams with strong ends. Against Dartmouth, no gains could be made through the line, and Colgate scores came through long runs. Against Syracuse, it was not until the very last of the game that Colgate could get even its tackle and end plays started. The Williams line should hold, and the ends can be depended on.

On the defense Colgate is not so good. Every team, except a normal school and a weak college eleven, has been able to cross its goal line twice.

THE WAX WORKS

Mrs. Jarley Exhibits in Williamstown Opera House

Mrs. Jarley stepped out of the pages of "Old Curiosity Shop" long enough last Monday evening to give a large audience at the Williamstown Opera house the benefit of an acquaintance with her, her two exceptional assistants, and her formidable array of wax figures. And to borrow a phrase from the circus bill, never before was there gathered together in any similar performance so skilled a body of able performers. Mrs. Jarley had made requisition upon the faculty and students of the college, and upon the parishioners of the First Congregational and St. John's churches, for the benefit of which she gave her exhibition.

The helpers of Mrs. Jarley in the management of her figures were two rustics whom she had been forced to hire under stress of circumstances, and who were constantly at swords' points, or rather at pitch-fork ends, with one another, and with the wax figures. Professor T. C. Smith and Assistant-Professor Perry took the parts, and their wit was the soul of the performance. The figures themselves included personages of renown; Hatch 1903 was Napoleon, Hart '94 and Mesrs 1903 were the Mikado and the Czar, respectively, and attempted to wreak vengeance upon one another's physiognomies, Lord 1905 appeared as John Paul Jones.

Mr. Lewis impersonated Powhatan, and his intended victim, John Smith, was Professor Cleland. Mr. Preserved Smith retired to the mythical past as Captain Kidd. Mr. Rees was the beneficent Carnegie founding libraries; R. F. Day 1906 took the part of Lew Dockstader, the burnt cork minstrel; Morgan 1906 appeared as Paderewski with very long hair; and Warren 1907 played the part of that species, now extinct, the true culinary artist. Mrs. Cassie Chadwick with her check book, Pocahontas, Barbara Frietchie, a Swiss maid, a witch, Madame Recamier with her powder-puff and mirror, a Spanish dancer, Madame Squalini the famous prima donna, were reanimated by the young women members of the congregations.

Officials for Amherst Game

The officials for the Amherst game, played in Williamstown Nov. 18, will be the following: Referee, Pendleton of Bowdoin; umpire, Vail of Pennsylvania; head linesman and time-keeper, Easton of Yale.

THE OCTOBER LIT.

Prof. Morton Reviews Initial Number of the Fall

The poem "Autumn Days" opens with a pretty conceit: "Kissed the green hills to their first autumn glow." We find genuine sentiment in rhythm smooth and graceful, excepting "shrill wanderers' cry", which taxes the pronouncing apparatus. The use of "a turning", "a winging", "a tremble", suits the meter and gives an effect subtly different from a less homely diction.

The Battle of Lake George is told in simple, effective style. It opens like a novel, passing later into historical description. As the subject is not Williams' farewell but the later battle, the preliminary word picture attracts us away from the real scene of the drama. One expects an attack of the enemy right there. However, the criticism might be confined to the title, a change in which to fit the essay would suffice. The style of the author has improved in compactness.

"The Test" is a story within a story, the inner to solve the problem of the outer by way of illustration. But the illustration is the more interesting of the two, and one resents the frigid moral at the end, as we do in our story-books. After actual sight of a tragedy involving three suicides only the hard-hearted could feel the music of the pines and the balm of the rain because he now sees happiness ahead for himself. But the inner tale is told with power. If divested of the outer it would be a forceful moral drama.

The poem "Arabia" does not easily yield to analysis. It has a touch of grandeur and also of mys-

The Colgate Game

To win the Colgate game means much for the Purple—the defeat of last year will be forgotten and confidence given the eleven for the more important contests with Wesleyan and Amherst. The consistent improvement of the team, in every department of the game, since Williams played Dartmouth, means probable victory for the Purple.

Williams will play a harder, faster game of football, and play it all the time, if the college stands ready to give its support. Yet we might better drop forever our college spirit, so called, than have it forced. If a man prefers to stay home, or cannot afford the trip, or, being able to follow the team but once, is going to Middletown, he has excuse enough, if excuse is needed.

Freshman Track Work

Outdoor track work, as a part of the freshman required course in physical training, has proved to be a decided success at Williams and should be adopted as a permanent part of the curriculum. In spite of the lack of baths and accomodations in the gymnasium, most satisfactory results have been obtained in all the divisions during the five weeks of outdoor exercise just ended. The benefit received fully justifies the trial of this system, in operation for the past few years at Amherst and the University of Chicago.

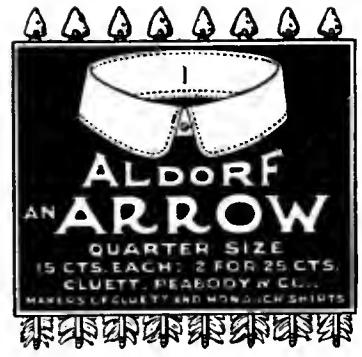
As a means of recruiting candidates and developing material for the 'varsity track team, outdoor work in the fall is invaluable. The result of the sophomore-freshman meet may be attributed, in some degree, to the systematic training given the freshman contestants three weeks before the event. Aside from the final score, the size of the freshman entry-list, the largest ever reported, is evidence of increased interest in track athletics due, as we believe, to this innovation in the physical training course.

In addition to varying the monotony of indoor exercise, the outdoor course has as its principal aim a more perfect physical development of each member of the class, than has hitherto been possible under the old system. With that foundation of health that can only come from work in the open air, the freshman can enter into the gymnasium exercise with the assurance that he will secure some real good from the five months that are to follow.

Mr. Paine on Football

In the November "Century", Mr. Ralph D. Paine, a former college athlete, writes the second of a series of articles treating the spirit of school and college sport, on "English and American football." Mr. Paine begins his article with a brief statement of the American problem of professionalism in football, and follows by tracing the development of the rules of the game on this side. After an exceedingly interesting description of English football, he differentiates the two systems in that "in England athletics are ruled by the spirit of sport, in the United States, by the spirit of competition."

Mr. Paine's arraignment of American football strikes directly at the faults of the game, and is not overdrawn. He admits that football contains some of the best features of campus sport, since it best satisfies American fondness for hard outdoor pastime. It also contains some of the worst features, since, in his words, "a pastime which is so hard to play well, which contains so few of the essential elements of sport, and which cannot find its raw material among thousands of willing young men within its bounds, is certain to breed perverted ideas of the spirit and object of normally conducted athletics for the benefit of the greatest possible number. 'Professionalism' in football would be shorn of its temptations to 'win at any cost' if the game were such as the average student could learn to play well and enjoy."



That these faults can be corrected by the introduction of the English non-competitive spirit, is not so plain. American football, though a development from English football, has essential points of difference. Few generalizations that apply to one can be made to apply to the other. Furthermore, it is absolutely impossible to legislate the competitive spirit out of American sport. It is part of the American character. Its extension to football is only a natural result of its presence in every part of our national life. Whether it is to be deplored or not as a characteristic of America is beside the question, the fact remains that it is there, and must always be reflected in the nation's sports. If improvements to football are to have any value, the faults improved must be characteristics of football, and not of the whole body of American sports.

Scrubs Scored

The student body of the college marched to Weston Field yesterday afternoon to watch football practice. The 'varsity lined up for a practice game against the scrubs, and defeated them by the score of 24—5. Coach Morris Ely, who arrived in town yesterday, was on the field with a large squad. The first score was made by the second team: Hill '07, by a trick play, broke through the line and ran seventy yards for a touchdown. The scrubs did not score again, and the 'varsity made four touchdowns, Bixby kicking all the goals. The touchdowns were made by Waters, A. Brown, C. Brown and Willcox.

In general, the 'varsity was strong on the defense. The backs gained consistently, substantial gains being made by A. Brown and Waters.

Second Exhibition

A second collection of pictures has been placed in the frame on the corridor wall of the second floor of Hopkins Hall. The exhibition is exceedingly interesting, containing some famous pictures, with some fine character portraits by Holbein.

The exhibition contains Raphael's famous "Transfiguration," with others of his works, the well-known head of Savonarola, by Fra Bartolommeo, and several paintings of Perugino. Half the frame is taken up with some fine heads by Holbein, including those of the More and Poyns families, several strong heads of women, and the well-known portraits of John Godsalve and Judge More.

New System Formulated

Prof. Nelson, Prof. Maxey, Asst. Prof. Clark, and Mr. Lewis met the presidents of the debating societies and the Wesleyan debaters in the library Tuesday evening to discuss a new system for choosing debaters. A system was formulated, which was adopted by the Adelphic union yesterday.

—The freshman class picture will be taken at 1:15 p. m. Friday, on the Hopkins Hall steps.

The October Lit.

tery, with some obscurity. It has good material of the granitic order, hard to work but worth the effort, as shown in the lines:—

"Predestined unto conquest led.
Thundrons upon an idle earth."

The excellent and judicious essay upon the Courtier of Castiglione is a welcome tribute to a book to which our debt is great. Strangely enough, the English of Hoby's translation is quaint and antiquated, whereas the Ithlian of the original might almost have been written yesterday. So, too, the gentleman of Chesterfield is more remote than the gentleman of Castiglione, because more artificial. Emphasis is rightly placed upon the formative influence of Vittorino da Feltre. It is due largely to him that the modern gentleman, the resultant of many forces, must possess the three virtues of manliness, cleanliness, and culture. For culture is a virtue, not a veneer. It must be in the grain. It is a pleasure to read so appreciative an estimate of a noble book.

The title, "Number Thirteen" produces the effect intended in the story, recalled in revery, of a man of the social world condemned for what sometimes secures acquittal as justifiable homicide. The method of exposition chosen by the author, with its vagueness and blurred outlines, is legitimate art, often employed by Dickens, with whom the shadowy forms turn to hobgoblins and the dream to nightmare. This method demands cautions handling and consistency, lest the spell be broken, and Mr. Dutton has succeded. But the sentence: "He was getting nervous" is dangerous because of the curious understatement, and the difficulty of a satisfying end to this mental tragedy might be better met by omitting what follows the mother's words, and closing simply with the effective line: "And outside the day was breaking."

"Rouge et Noir" is composed of three stanzas, each of which begins admirably and ends weakly, which is a great pity, for it might have been a superb poem. We hope the author will put more oil in his lamp.

An entertaining mariner's tale closes the part subject to review. If there is no single contribution rising to the height of inspiration found in some previons issues of the magazine, on the other hand nothing falls below a fair excellence of workmanship. It will be much if the editors obtain that result in every number. Inspiration bloweth where it listeth, but good execution comes only by persistent finger exercise. It looks as though the pruning-hook and the sword had both been wielded with discrimination.

GYMNASIUM LIGHTING

Electric Lights will be Installed Throughout

The Berkshire Electric company of Pittsfield has received the contract for the installation of electric lights in the gymnasium. When the work is completed 205 lights will be connected in the building,—in the locker room, shower room, in the swimming pool, janitors' and instructors' rooms, and on the main floor. There will be lights under the gallery, and on the second floor running track. The main floor will be lighted by eight 6-light chandeliers, with reflectors.

The work will be done under the rules of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. The wires will be installed in the iron conduit system, with Sprague flexible metallic conduits throughout.

SENIORS CELEBRATE

Hallowe'en Observed by Class of 1906—The Program

Tragedy, comedy, farce and vaudeville succeeded one another with kaleidoscopic effect when selected artists from 1908 and 1909 danced attendance on the senior class at its Hallowe'en celebration in the Adams block Monday evening. To add tang to the occasion a little local talent was introduced, but the regular company was sufficient in itself.

In that inimitable manner so familiar to Cap and Bells, Smith '09 recited, with appropriate gestures, the well-known lines beginning, "Is this a dagger, which I see before me * * * * *?" That he was allowed to conclude his reminiscences unearthed speaks well for the complaisance of the audience. "—by the Edison Phonograph Company of New York and Paris," executed by Reid '08, was a feature, including as it did "Molly, O," sung by Willie Murray, who was present and appreciated the compliment.

Lack of space prevents comment on all the numbers. "An all day performance" demonstrated Day's ('09) fitness to tread the boards as a profession. "As the Moon Rose", by Latson '09, was good.

Credit for the management of the celebration is due the committee: Robbins (chairman), Barlow, Campbell, Neild and Wright.

The program follows:

PART I.

Overture by the College Orchestra.
1. Come fill your glasses up.
2. An all day performance.
3. Shag, freshman, shag!
4. Eyes have they but they see not.
5. Four of a kind.
6. Every time you hit him you get a cigar.

PART II.

1. Come, raise a song to Alma Mater.
2. From "Captain Rackett."
3. "—by the Edison Phonograph Company of New York and Paris."
4. When Greek meets Greek.
5. "You could heah doze banjos ringin'."
6. Macbeth.

PART III.

1. 'Neath the shadow of the Hills.
2. Black Statue, by the freshman members of Cap and Bells.

Cast of Characters.

Jake, a mischievous servant
Old Squintum, a farmer, fond of curiosities
Pete, in love with Squintum's daughter
Pilgarlic, a sly cove at money making
Mrs. Squintum
Rose, her daughter

3. Stunts.
4. "As the Moon Rose."
5. Give and take.

The attendants were:

B. F. Dawson '08, G. E. Hite '08, R. C. Hodgkinson '08, P. N. Westcott '08, C. Atwater '09, H. S. Dodd '09, D. M. Forgan '09, C. D. Matz '09, H. Wilcox '09.

COLLEGE NOTES

The Greylock hotel closed yesterday.

De Camp '00 assisted in the coaching on Tuesday.

The freshman sweater committee has decided upon a black and red sweater-vest.

A revised list of the freshman class has been completed. It includes 151 names, 25 of which are from 1908.

Harry T. Watson 1905 will be in town Saturday, November 11, to assist in the coaching of the football team

Prof. J. L. Kellogg represented Williams at the inauguration last Friday of the new president of Olivet College. Amherst was also represented among the delegates.

The annual class cross-country run will be held on Nov. 15, starting from South Williamstown. Each class will enter a team of five men. The usual method of scoring will be used. The cups for the winners of first and second places are on exhibition in Azhderian's window.

The temporary make-up of the college orchestra is as follows:—first violins, LaMont, Loughridge, Thompson 1908, Noble 1909; second violins, Birdsall 1907, Aub 1908; cornet, Nelson 1908; 'cellos, Sternberger 1907, Reid 1908; double bass violin, Fowler 1909; drums, Yarnelle 1907; piano, D. Hills 1906, leader.

At a sophomore class meeting held in Jesup Hall Tuesday evening, Harold Conant Payson of Portland, Me., was elected vice-president to succeed A. C. Griswold. Knight was elected manager of the class debating team. It was voted to transfer $40 from the baseball surplus for class football purposes.

Senators Will Meet

The first meeting of the Adelphic union, senate will be held in 4 Griffin Hall Wednesday, Nov. 8.

The senate is open to all students, whether they are members of debating societies or not. The senate will be called to order by Hulst '06, in the role of Vice-President Fairbanks. After passing upon the credentials of the senators, taking the oath of office, etc., the body will proceed to a discussion of railroad rate regulation. Each student will represent a particular senator. A paper is posted in Hopkins Hall on which those wishing to take part should sign their names and give the senator they wish to impersonate.

BRILLIANT FCOTBALL

Colgate Defeated by Williams in Hard Fought Game

Williams defeated Colgate at Ridgefield Park, Albany, Saturday, by a score of 5 to 0, in by far the best game played by the Purple this season. From start to finish the game was all Williams. In the first half, with the wind at its back, Colgate was at its best, gaining 59 yards, but in the second half made only 17 yards, 13 yards of which came in one end run by Stowell. Williams made 166 yards in their first half and 186 in the second. Williams was held for downs 4 times and forced to kick 3 times. Colgate was held 5 times and forced to kick 6 times.

That Williams did not make a larger score was due directly to the wind, which was blowing a gale straight down the field. Colgate won the toss, and had the wind at their backs all the first half, and the thirteen minutes after Williams' touchdown in the second.

Runge, Colgate's captain, punter and line-backer, was operated on for appendicitis at St. Lukes Hospital, Utica, the afternoon of the game. His place was filled by W. Curtis (215), who gained more ground than the rest of the team together, and averaged 51 yards on punts. Nevertheless, Runge's interference and defense work were missed.

Colagte outweighed Williams 10 pounds to the man. Their attack was fast, but had little variety. It was chiefly directed at the line, all end runs and the two trick plays attempted failing to gain. Houseman and Curtis were their strongest players. Castleman played poorly. Williams gained constantly through Huntley and Cartter.

The Williams line held finely, and the backs, especially Waters, gave an almost perfect secondary defense. The offense was consistently good. Line backs were used chiefly, Waters rarely failing to make gains. The revolving play made yards when most needed. For the first time this season A. Brown gained well on straight bucks and D. Brown was up to his usual standard. Kelley ran the team well, especially in the second half when the goal line was in sight. To pick the best where all were good is difficult, but Bixby and Waters were conspicuous in every play. Elder was too much for Castleman, throwing

COLLEGE CONFERENCE

Athletics Not Considered—Nothing Given Out For Publication

The sessions of the forty-ninth annual meeting of the association of colleges in New England were held Thursday and Friday in the seminar room of Griffin Hall. On Thursday the meetings lasted from 4:00 until 6:00 p. m. and 7:45 until 9:15 p. m.; and on the second day from 8:45 a. m. until 1:15 p. m., and 2:00 until 3:15 p. m. Dr. Hopkins, as president of the college at which the conference was held, presided, and Dr. J. G. Hart, secretary of Harvard university, acted as secretary.

All the sessions were behind closed doors and nothing was given out for publication. The discussion was very informal and no conclusions were reached. It is understood that fifteen topics were considered, one of them bearing on the fraternity system. Dr. Hopkins said that the conference was very successful, and stated further that athletics was not one of the topics.

The full list of delegates was published in the last issue of The Record. In addition to Acting-President Frederick W. Hamilton, Tufts college was represented by Prof. Charles St. Clair Wade, of the department of Greek language and literature. Assistant Professor Dallas L. Sharp of Boston university was unable to attend and his place was taken by Prof. F. M. Josselyn, of the department of Romance languages. Besides the regular delegates, members of the Williams faculty were present, and took part in the discussions by request. Williams was represented by President Hopkins and Prof. John H. Hewitt.

Many of the representatives left early Friday afternoon. Those who remained for the last session were: President Faunce and Prof. J. I. Manatt of Brown, Prof. Campbell of Dartmouth; President Buckham and Mr. H. H. Cloudman of the University of Vermont, President Brainerd and Prof. Burt of Middlebury; President Eliot and Dr. J. G. Hart of Harvard; and President G. Stanley Hall of Clark university.

After the evening meeting on Thursday President and Mrs. Hopkins gave a reception at their home for the visiting delegates.

The conference will be held next year at Yale university.

Dr. Henry Lefavour, '83, president of Simmons college, is in town, the guest of Prof. Morton.

PRESIDENT ELIOT SPOKE

Head of Harvard University Addressed College on "Growth"

Several of the presidents and delegates to the convention of New England colleges were present at the morning chapel service Friday. President Charles W. Eliot, of Harvard, addressed the college, and President William H. P. Faunce, of Brown, offered prayer. President Eliot spoke as follows:

When you came here to college you all stepped into a large room and when you go out of college you will step again into a larger room. You have more liberty here than before. Here you can learn self-control. Out in the world you will have still more liberty and a still larger opportunity for acquiring self-control.

What are the motives which should guide you when you come into this larger place? That inquiry means, what satisfactions are you going to look forward to? What is the worthy ambition for an educated youth? What are you going to count success in college? College is a rehearsal for life. What are you going to count success in the after life? What do you set before yourselves as your aim? What are you going to be content with when you draw near the close of life, come it early or come it late?

There is a short sentence in the New Testament which, like a great many other sentences in the Bible, seems to contain the whole philosophy of life in respect to success. It is a sentence peculiarly appropriate for the college youth to ponder on: "And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favour with God and man."

Jesus increased in wisdom and stature. He grew in body, got more strength, more symmetry, more grace and more power. He increased in wisdom—grew wiser in observation, in reasoning, in judgment. Now, that is exactly what every one of us should aim to do, should try to accomplish. We ought here in college and all through our lives to increase in wisdom and in stature. The body ceases to grow after a time, but the mind and the soul ought never to stop, ever increasing in wisdom and in stature, including in stature growth and strength and grace and beauty. That is one object for man all through college, that is one supreme source of satisfaction all through life.

CALENDAR

WEDNESDAY NOV. 8

2.30 p. m.—1909-Williamstown high school football game.

7.30 p. m.—Adelphic Union Senate convenes, 4 G.

A REAL SENATE

Vice-President, Corruption, Oratory and Debate

The first congress of Williams College will begin its session at 7:30 Wednesday evening when the U. S. Senate, convened under the auspices of the Adelphic union, will meet in their chamber (No. 4) in the capitol (Griffin Hall) and discuss questions of national interest. Every student in college is eligible to membership. The question of railroad rate regulation will be brought up for discussion in a general debate.

The senate will be rapped to order by Vice-President Fairbanks (Hulst '06). In organizing, the body will pass upon the senators' credentials, and the senators take the oath of office. The Senate will keep a strictly moral membership. Senator Reed Smoot (McIntyre '08) will have his seat questioned, with bigamy as the charge. Other questionable characters will be called to account. Chauncey M. Depew (Hill '08) may have to account for his insurance "graft", while Bulkeley (Stanley '07), Clark (Sayre '09) and Platt, for which position of honor three contend (Scott '08, Myers '09, Bridgman '09), cannot expect to escape. Senator Beveridge (Dodd '09) is expected to indulge in flights of oratory, and the bellicose Tillman (Wood '09) will not be himself unless he arouses some excitement among the senators. All students with congressional aspirations are requested to take part. About thirty men have aspired to fame to date.

Third Sermon on the Lord's Prayer

Rev. Dr. John Baecom preached in the chapel Sunday morning on "Thy will be done in earth as it is in Heaven." He spoke in outline: Learn the truth, gained in striving to do the will of God, that truth which covers everything, which is in every experience, the truth that makes men free. Spiritual knowledge thus goes hand in hand with liberty. The kingdom of Heaven is within us.

Will is the fructifying of thought in action. "Thy will be done" means the harmony of the earthly and the Heavenly, the will of God in man. "Thy will be done" does not signify that it would not be done without our petition, but means a petition for insight into truth and liberty, the harmony of God and man.

Meeting of College Presidents

The conference of the association of colleges in New England, which was held in Williamstown last week, was of interest to Williams as an important event in the history of the college. If the meeting had been public, unquestionably it would have been of greater interest and value to the college world at large. The fact that the gathering took place at Williams was a fortunate circumstance for the students of the college, in that an opportunity was given them to hear President Eliot of Harvard university, and to come within the influence of his personality.

It is to be regretted that the mercenary spirit in college athletics did not come up for discussion while the football problem is important, yet it can be solved by coaches and officials. Commercialism and professionalism, however, are more wide-spread and have been so harmful in their effects that they could well have been considered.

The Game With Colgate Saturday and the Football Situation

Williams' sixth victory on the football field this year has brought more prestige to the college in the athletic world than the other five put together. In defeating the Colgate eleven at Albany Saturday, the Purple has shown its superiority over a team acknowledged to be one of the best among the small colleges. The college has reason to rejoice at the result. The eleven played hard and fast every minute of the game, offering a defense that has never been surpassed by a Williams team. The touchdown that won the game was gained, not by luck or trick, but after the ball had been steadily advanced to the goal line, by straight football. Unlike the Columbia game, fumbling was not in evidence, nor was the play marked by weakness at any stage. The quality of ball that the Williams eleven exhibited gave them a deserved victory. The celebration which followed the game is evidence that players and coaches have the congratulations of the college.

More satisfactory, however, than the defeat of Colgate, is the fact that at last an interest and enthusiasm have been shown for a hard working squad. The football team is the undergraduate organization that, just now, is striving to make Williams known and respected among other colleges. The prospect of victory in Saturday's game was by no means certain: such a response by the student-body in following the team, when support was necessary, was certainly a commendable exhibition of college loyalty.

The two most important, as well as the most doubtful, games of the year remain to be played. If Williams defeats both Wesleyan and Amherst, the most successful season the college has seen in years will be concluded. At the same time, by the acquisition of new material, the coaches should start in 1906 with an outlook for the strongest team in the history of the college. To win these two games, two things must be avoided. The first is overconfidence on the part of the players—a state of mind which is as dangerous to good playing as faint-heartedness. The second is undergraduate lethargy. Until the whistle is sounded at the end of the Amherst game, the college must stand back of the team, for the eleven can't continue to win, unless the student body does its share.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

Editor of The Record:

The recent emphasis on the necessity for a live college spirit is significant; but I think the trouble lies deeper than the mere evident support or lack of support for undergraduate affairs. College spirit, to have any reality, must be essentially the spontaneous expression of a sturdy college life; it appears as the reflection, along certain lines, of what is a zest for living and accomplishing which properly extends through every department of the college. Enthusiasm for a team can be genuine only when it is the natural sign of a keen and active desire on the part of all undergraduates to do well whatever they as a body undertake. And this wide zest for living and working, which is the source furnishing the spirit in every branch of our activities, has two elements: one, a really definite decision in every student's mind to stand as the decided and open supporter of certain clear ideals or purposes; and second, a powerful determination on the part of each student to do his utmost to further those interests to which he has attached himself. The present weakness is that too many of us have no quiet enthusiasm for anything, many of us do nothing as well as we can; apparently we have not stopped to think what we are here for, and following shifting impulses put too little energy even into those haphazard pursuits.

And the ultimate cure is by no means that every man should at once come out for our multiple teams and boards, highly important and necessary as this is, but that more men should get themselves in hand, cultivate the fullest self-control, know what they are about, and then apply to whatever mode of self expression their common sense indicates, an ardent and convincing effort. We are doing too much drifting, and need honestly to live. Once this is accomplished every undergraduate activity which deserves it will instinctively be well supported.

Neither is this a narrow matter. College spirit—the zest for living—must permeate every way of the physical, intellectual, and spiritual expression of the undergraduate personality. This renewing of activity must extend beyond the physical, to the intellectual and spiritual concerns. It is a matter which profoundly affects every portion of our life.

And in this question there is no cause for anything like pessimism; the Colgate game has shown the possibilities in the football team at least; those men were playing with all the strength they had and there is no reason why the rest of us can't carry the same vigor in other work. At all events, the remedy is simple and touches not the mass but the individual. Let us bestir ourselves, take thought as to our capabilities, know ourselves; and then, considering well the physical, intellectual, and spiritual aspects of our life and making the effort involved, in all things strive indomitably to do our best!

Truly yours,

him twice for an 8 yard loss. Johnson also played a strong game.

Bixby kicked off, and on the fourth play Castleman, in a cross buck, ran 73 yards for a touchdown, but Houseman was offside and the ball came back. Castleman was thrown for a loss of nine yards. After two long kicks by Curtis and a short kick against the wind by Williams, Colgate got the ball on Williams 30-yard line, but was held 13 yards from the goal. Williams gained steadily, the back field doing good work in helping the runner, but lost on downs at midfield. Colgate was held again on the 27-yard line, and A. Brown slipped around left end for 32 yards. After short gains by both teams and a long punt by Curtis, Williams gained 5, 3, 12, and 3 yards, and had the ball on Colgate's 35-yard line when time was called.

Colgate kicked off, and Williams gained to the center of the field. A. Brown fumbled twice. Stowell got 13 yards, D. Brown pulling him down from behind. Colgate, on an attempted trick, made three yards, but lost 15 on penalty for holding. Bixby blocked Curtis' kick, and fell on the ball on Colgate's 33-yard line. From the 25 ysrd line Waters made 13 yards through Huntley. Colgate fought hard and Williams made first down by three inches. Two revolving plays, with Bixby back, left the ball seven inches from the goal line, and Waters made the seven inches for a touchdown. Bixby missed a difficult goal.

Colgate was forced to punt immedintely after the kick-off, and Williams rushed the ball 45 yards before losing it. D. Brown broke through on Curtis' attempted punt and forced the big fullback to run with the ball thus holding for downs, Williams gained to Colgate's 23-yard line. Colgate held, and punted to Williams' 30-yard line. Williams gained 3, 1, 7, (Waters), 2½, 4, 2, and 3, and had the ball on Colgtes's 48-yard line when time was called.

COLLEGE NOTES

Risley 1900, Patterson ex-'02, Mitchell 1904, Helbig ex-'05, Goldin 1905, were in town last week.

A list of Record advertisers outside of North Adams and Williamstown, will be found on page 8.

In the nine games played thus far the Williams football team has scored 122 points to its opponents' 58.

Thirty-nine men have signed for the Dartmouth-Brown preliminaries which will be conducted under the new system.

The management of the track association announces that a dual meet with Wesleyan will be held on Weston Field, Saturday, May 5, 1906.

The Rev. Mr. McNulty, field secretary of the Episcopalian state board of missions, addressed the students' missionary association in St. John's parish house on Friday.

Mr. C. K. B. Nevin, supervising architect of the Thompson Memorial chapel, returned to his home in Boston on Saturday after a residence of two years in Williamstown.

The manager of the musical clubs announces that the western trip of the clubs planned for the Christmas vacation, has been given up. The season's schedule of concerts has not yet been completed.

The following men were taken to Albany for the Colgate game: Bixby, Blaisdell, Campbell, Loomis, Willcox, 1906, A. Brown, Bates, Chapman, Jaeckel, Johnson, 1907; D. Brown, Curtis, Elder, Eldridge, Kelley, LaMent, Marshall, Reid, Waters, 1908; C. Brown, Harter, Robb, 1909.

Almost the entire college body marched to the station Saturday evening to meet the team. The procession escorted the drag to the campus, and then went to the residences of Dr. Hopkins and Prof. Russell where speeches were heard. Two large bonfires were built on Main street and cheers were given for every member of the team.

NOTICES

—The 1907 class picture will be taken on Tuesday at 1:30, at Hopkins Hall. If the weather does not permit, it will be taken at 1:30 on Thursday.

TO CHOOSE DEBATERS

Combination of Harvard and Yale Systems Adopted

At the meeting of the Adelphic union held last Wednesday evening it was decided to give up the present plan of choosing 'varsity debaters, and to adopt an entirely new method. The plan adopted is a combination of those in use at present at Yale and Harvard.

The preliminary trials will differ from the old debating society trials in two ways; any student who wishes, whether member of debating society or not, can take part in them, and the judges are to be members of the faculty, not students. Each speaker will be given five minutes. The first speaker is to be either a non-debater or a 'varsity debater. The second speaker will be present during the speech, and, when it comes his turn, will be allowed either to devote two minutes to rebuttal of the first speaker's points, and then give his own speech, or speak without rebuttal. The third speaker, in turn, will be present while he is talking, and so on. Sixteen men will be chosen on the first trial.

On the second trial each of these sixteen will be given ten minutes, and will be obliged to discuss only one side of the question, without being told whether it is affirmative or negative until just before he speaks. None of the contestants will be allowed to hear any other in the second trial.

From the sixteen, eight 'varsity men will be chosen by faculty judges, six debaters and two alternates. The trials will take place before Christmas, that sufficient time for preparation before the final debates (March 3) may be given.

Co-op. Directors

Following the college meeting in Jesup Hall Thursday evening, a meeting was held to organize the co-op. on a firm legal basis. Mr. C. F. Kloss of New Haven, general manager of the American College Stores Co., addressed the meeting, outlining the methods and purpose of the co-operative stores, and proposing a mode of organization for the Williams association. Following Mr. Kloss' suggestions, a board of directors was elected, composed of three members of the faculty, the general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., two members of the senior class and one from each of the other classes. The board was elected as follows:—Prof. Spring, Asst. Prof. Webster, Asst Prof. King, Mr. Pettit, Griswold '06, Perry '06, Clark '07, D. P. Brown '08 and Sayre '09.

Owing to the meeting of the college presidents in the Griffin hall seminar there were no recitations in History I a on Friday.

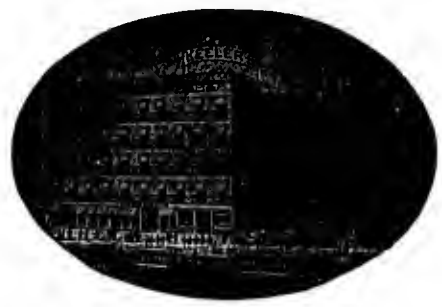
But that sentence does not stop with the increase in wisdom and stature. It goes on "and in favor with God." Jesus grew in favor with God. God saw this creature grow in wisdom and power and loved Jesus more and more, and found him constantly a finer human creature destined to a greater and greater work in the world. Now, that is just what we ought to hope that God may see in us—the creature growing in fineness and beauty and service.

But that is not the end of the seatence, "increase in favor with God and man." The favor of man is an object which we may all wisely set before ourselves to be won, in a worthy way, by incressing in wisdom and power and service. That is one of the greatest rewards in life. This is not won by us in the same way that the favor of God is won by us. God knows everything about us in the beginning and the end. He sees all the environment, the struggles, the failures, the fetters; he knows all about them all the time. His judgments are admirable. Jesus increased in favor with God, but man does not know the value of that favor, sees but dimly the struggle, the constant daily struggle, knows sometimes, but very imperfectly of the successes and the failures. Hence man's judgment of men is going to be gradual, uncertain and subject to surprises.

The supreme human catastrophe is the sudden adverse judgment of men against a fallen man, and as Shakespeare puts it,

"The purest treasure mortal times afford
Is spotless reputation;"



That is a terror on the one hand that we should all think of: that is a punishment we should all dread—the sudden disfavor of men, well-grounded, bursting suddenly upon us, but well-grounded; and on the other hand "the purest treasure that mortal times afford is spotless reputation." in college, before, and after. Think of it beforehand, seek to get it, aim to win it. It will be the source of solid satisfaction, of joy and happiness, and contentment. But take that sentence all together: "And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favour with God and man."

Laws in Spiritual Life

Prof. Asa H. Morton addressed the Y. M. C. A. in Jesup Hall Sunday evening on the reality of laws in spiritual life. Prof. Morton said that although it is well known that the development of mind and body conformed to laws, still there is not a strong enough appreciation of the reality of the working of law on the spiritual side.

WESLEYAN SATURDAY

Williams on Andrus Field—Line-ups and Prospects

Williams meets Wesleyan in football on Andrus Field, Middletown, at 2:00 Saturday afternoon. The team will leave Williamstown at 3:50 Friday afternoon and will spend Friday night at Cooley's Hotel in Springfield. The special train for the student body will leave Williamstown at 8:30 Saturday morning, reaching Middletown about 1:00. Returning, the special will leave Middletown at 5:45, stop in Springfield for dinner, and get to Williamstown about 11:00. The rate will be $3.10, but if over 300 go a rebate will be given. The admission to the game is 75 cents. Bleachers have been built on the Williams side of the field.

The teams will line up as follows:

In addition to the team the following men will be taken on the trip: Blaisdell, Loomis, Willcox '06; Chapman, Jaeckel '07; LaMent, Reid '08; C. Brown, Robb '09.

Wesleyan lost but one man from the 1904 team, Capt. Eyster, and was strengthened this year by new material in the freshman class, as well as by Hampson and Reiter, who entered 1908 from Princeton.

The team is fast and averages 171 pounds. Their attack has been varied all through the year, but has been mostly directed at the line against really strong teams. Wesleyan's ends are good, however, and, as the eleven have been practising behind closed gates for over a week, coach Reiter will probably have trick plays and end runs ready for the Purple on Saturday.

Wesleyan's defense is strong, but much weaker than the offense and vulnerable at the ends and outside tackle. In the kicking game Williams is sure to be outclassed, as Hampson is an exceptional punter, and Cunningham, the freshman end, has kicked two goals from field in match games this fall.

PURGED OF POLYGAMY

U. S. Senate Loses Undesirable Member—Indignant Oratory

Fifty members of the new college senate wrangled for an hour last night over the eligibility of the claim of Reed Smoot (McIntyre '08) of polygamous fame to a seat in that august body. To their credit the larger part of the senate withstood the eloquent onslaught of the much married candidate for the senatorial toga, fighting with one or two adherents against expulsion, and he was compelled to leave the chamber, the vote being 30 to 12 against him.

The reading of Mr. Smoot's name in the roll call was the signal for hisses from all parts of the chamber, and the report of the committee on privileges and elections that he be refused a seat, presented by Senator Allison (McAllister '06) provoked a spirited debate. Senator Beveridge (Dodd '09) precipitated an uproar by arguing that a man is innocent until he proves himself guilty. Senator Lodge (Perry '06) dealt in superlatives in his contention that the name of Smoot should be anathematized. Senator Cullom (Bowman '06) vainly tried to belittle the offense charged against Smoot, but was crushed by the logical indignation of Senators Blackburn (Wells '05) and Tillman (Wood '09), the latter brandishing aloft a pitchfork. Altogether it was a merry session and a most auspicious beginning for the meetings, which are to be held every third Wednesday.

The Smoot contest crowded out the proposed discussion of regulation of railroad rates and it will be considered at a later session. Vice-President Fairbanks (Hulst '06) ruled the body with an iron hand but showed a willingness to hear from any member. A motion to send condolences to Mr. Smoot expired for want of a second, but it is likely that he will be welcomed back under a different personality.

Communion Service

Rev. Willard Scott, D. D. '75, of Worcester, will preach in the chapel Sunday morning. At the close of the morning service the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed. The preparatory service will be conducted by Dr. Scott at half past seven on Saturday evening in the assembly room in the basement of the Thompson Chapel.

COWELL CAPTAIN

Will Lead Basketball Team in Place of Neild, Resigned

At a meeting of the basketball team held in Jesup Hall Tuesday noon Eugene Irving Cowell 1906, of Ashburnham, was elected basketball captain for the season of 1905-1906 in the place of Frank Rollinson Neild, who had resigned.

Cowell prepared for college at Cushing academy, Ashburnham, being captain of the Cushing team in his senior year. He made the Williams basketball team his first year, playing at left guard, and in his sophomore and junior years played at right guard. He was captain of the team in his sophomore year, and has always been the most brilliant individual player on the five.

No Southern Trip

The management of the baseball team has practically completed the 1906 schedule, but has not yet submitted it for faculty approval. There will be no southern trip this year, and although there will be no second team with schedule arranged, "2nd" caps and sweaters will be awarded.

Convention at Westfield

The thirty-ninth annual convention of the Young Men's Christian Associations of Massachusetts and Rhode Island will convene at Westfield tomorrow at 2:30 p. m., and continue until Sunday evening. Prof. John E. Russell will deliver the principal address at the Saturday evening session, in the Second Congregational church, his subject being "Christ for Students." Mr. Pettit will represent the Williams Y. M. C. A. at the convention.

DEBATE TOMORROW

Williams Argues Direct Primaries with Wesleyan

To-morrow evening at 8:00 o'clock the sixth annual Wesleyan-Williams debate will be held at Middletown in the college chapel. It is always difficult to forecast the result of a contest of this kind, and the outcome this year is more in doubt than usual.

The series up to the present time stands three victories to two in favor of Wesleyan, which has been especially strong in debating in recent years, having several times defeated Syracuse. The loss of Hancock '05, for several years the strongest speaker on Wesleyan's teams, is likely however to be severely felt.

Only one member of the Williams team has participated before in an intercollegiate debate, Nomer '06 being a member of the team which won from Dartmouth in the spring of 1904. Case '07, however, was a member of the sophomore team of last year, while Matthews '07, alternate, has had considerable experience in society and preliminary debates.

Wesleyan, it has been announced, will be represented by Travis '06 and Power '08, with Atwater '06 and Laidler '07 as alternates. Travis debated against Williams last November, while Atwater has been an alternate for the past two years, besides having represented the Red and Black in the debate with Syracuse university.

The debate, as has been announced, will be on the question of direct primaries, and Williams will support the affirmative, arguing against the present methods of nomination.

The three judges will be Geo. D. Wilson, professor of political science at Brown, Geo. B. Adams, professor of history at Yale, and Hammond Lamont, an editor of the New York Evening Post. The team with the manager left Williamstown at 12:58 this noon, reaching Middletown tonight.

VOL. 19 NOVEMBER 9, 1905, No. 38

Williams plays Wesleyan Saturday. The game is going to be a hard one to win. Let every man who can, be on Andrus Field and cheer for Williams and the team!

Why at Columbia?

Although the basketball schedule has not yet been completed, announcement is made that Williams will play Columbia on the Columbia court. In view of the fact that the two teams were the only claimants for the national championship title last year, it is desirable that a game be arranged between them, to decide, for this season at least, which is the better. Aside from the opportunity offered Williams to prove that its claim of last year is good, the Purple should be ready to further intercollegiate harmony by resuming basketball relations with Columbia, if the differences can be adjusted on a basis fair to that university and to Williams. In consideration of the trouble with Columbia last winter, we believe that the question cannot be settled satisfactorily to Williams by the scheduling of one game, if that contest is played on the Columbia floor. It is most unlikely that the student-body would be in favor of a game with that condition, for it is not only a matter of poor policy, but the Williams team would be placed at a decided disadvantage.

To understand the present situation, the causes which led to the break with Columbia must be kept in mind. Briefly, they were as follows: Williams was scheduled to meet the Blue and White at Williamstown on February 18. In the midst of the season Columbia cancelled the game, giving faculty intervention as the reason. A game played at Rochester shortly afterwards showed a glaring inconsisteney on the part of the Columbia management in cancelling the Williams contest. Since that time no reasonable explanation has been offered except that Columbia feared defeat and the loss of its intercollegiate honors. Incidentally, Williams had a most successful season in basketball, and claimed the intercollegiate title on its record. This claim was not recognized, as we have shown, in an article in the A. A. U. Guide, written by a member of the Columbia team. The college athletic council, however, has practiently done so in awarding the W to the members of last yenr's team.

The Columbia management writes that, inasmuch as Columbia is champion, Williams must play on the Columbia floor. The principle is accepted, but the title contested. Williams has claimed the intercollegiate honor, and continues to do so. The hollowness of the title when applied to Columbia is evident in the incapacity of the organization that granted it. That the A. A. U. is not a fit judge on basketball questions is proved by intercolleginte withdrawnl from its control and repudiation of its rules. Would a single game, played at Columbia, be good policy for Williams this year? Since the game at Williamstown was cancelled by Columbia, such a proposition seems most unusual as a matter of managerial procedure. Furthermore, Williams claims were sufficiently strong for the season of 1904-5 to merit consideration, and standing merely on its record, Williams is not in a position to be dictated to by the Blue and White.

A single game on the Columbia court would be decidedly unfair for Williams. It would be a virtual admission that the intercollegiate title belonged to Columbia. Last year's claims would be delivered up without question. Columbia would rest secure for 1904-5, and would be contending only for the championship of 1905-6, and on its own floor.

The choice of officials has nothing to do with this question. Williams is given the power to select officials, to be approved by Columbia. It is almost needless to say that Williams would not choose a referee or umpire not absolutely impartial. In a fair and square contest advantage on the one side cannot be counterbalanced by advantage on the other. All conditions must be equal.

If the Columbia management will not consent to a game on a neutral floor, or will not listen to any other reasonable proposition, we believe the game under consideration (the contract has not been signed) should be declared off.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

Editor Williams Record.

Sir:—Every Williams man will join me in congratulating the college upon the victory in Saturday's game at Albany. While I was not present on this occasion, I have been able to watch the development of the team to some extent, in practice and in minor games this fall, and am proud of their success.

In this connection, I cannot praise too highly the work of our football "coaches," whose enforcement of strict discipline and systematic training, both on and off the field, has been of the greatest benefit to the team, and as well to the spirit of the whole college. We can always be sure of our share of good material in every branch of athletics, but, after all, it is the training that tells.

1909 0, W. H. S. 0

On the muddy Williamstown High school field, the High school eleven played the freshmen a tie game yesterday afternoon, neither side scoring. The game was fast, considering the condition of the field,. The freshmen showed up strong in the first half, but the lighter high school eleven forced them to the defensive during the last period of play. Penalizations were frequent for both teams and there was much punting. In the second half a High school advance was stopped on 1909's 10-yard line and Williamstown had it within 8 yards of a touchdown at the end of the game. Williams, Mayer, and Wadsworth excelled for the freshmen, while Stocking, Porter and Cheney did the best work for the High school.

AGREEMENT SIGNED

Williams, Brown and Dartmouth will Debate on Mar. 3, 1906

The final arrangements for the new Williams-Brown-Dartmouth debating league have been made, and an agreement signed by representatives of the three colleges. The debates will take place March 3, 1906, and will all be on the same question. Williams will uphold the affirmative against Dartmouth in Williamstown, and the negative against Brown in Providence, Dartmouth upholding the affirmative against Brown at Hanover. Thus each college debates the affirmative at home and the negative on its opponents' floor.

In securing a question for the three debates, each college presents one to a committee of alumni in Boston and from these three the final question is chosen. Williams' representative on this committee will be Hon. James Robert Dunbar, B. A., '71, of Brookline, a trustee. The Williams committee consists of Hulst, Nomer, Perry '06; Case, Matthews '07, and has sent to Boston the following question:

Resolved: That the present United States laws establishing the so-called "merit system", and governing and affecting the appointment and promotion of civil servants of the United States, of certain inferior grades, should be so amended as to apply to all postmasters, to all consuls, and to all members of the diplomatic corps below the rank of minister.

The debating teams are to consist of three men and an alternate. Twelve minutes will be allowed for all first speeches, and five minutes for all rebuttals. The affirmative will both open and close the debate.

The judges, three in number, will be chosen by an entirely new system. Quoting from the agreement: "Each college shall appoint two representatives, one representative of Brown shall meet one representative of Dartmouth in Boston; one representative of Brown shall meet one representative of Williams in Boston; one representative of Dartmouth shall meet one representative of Williams in New York; these representatives in conference are to select the judges for the debate between the two colleges which they respectively represent. No judge shall be selected who is not acceptable to both representatives". These representatives must be chosen twelve weeks before the debate.

The Williams debaters will be chosen before Christmas, by a method never before tried in the college.

The committee which drew up the agreement was as follows: Lester L. Falk, Brown, chairman, J. Milton O'Neill, Dartmouth, Joseph E. Perry '06, Williams.

The best feature of Wesleyan's game is that they invariably play better in the second half than in the first.

Wesleyan's best individual players are Van Surdam, the all-eastern quarter-back last year, a first-class man at the quarter-back run but prone to take the ball himself too often, and Capt. Dearborn, at right tackle, who has just returned to the game after an absence of a month. That Woodhead is good at fullback is evident from the fact that he has displaced Bailey, Wesleyan's fast line-bucking full-back of last year. The tackles are strong on the offense.

The officials will be as follows: Referee, Wallace of Penn.; umpire, White of Michigan. The head linesman and timekeeper had not been decided at 3:45 this afternoon.

GAMES EVEN

Williams and Wesleyan Each Victorious Five Times Since 1881

The scores of all Willams-Wesleyan football games to date are given below. It will be seen that since 1881 the two colleges have each won five games, with one a tie, in 1903. Williams has scored 94 points and Wesleyan 123. Williams has not lost to the Red and Black since 1900. It is of interest to note that Williams' first football game with the colleges now her chief rivals, was with Wesleyan, Amherst not being played until 1884, and Dartmouth not until 1888.

STATEMENT BY COACH

Captain Hatch of 1903 Discusses Chances of Victory Saturday

Coach Hatch made the following statement regarding the Wesleyan game Saturday:—

"Wesleyan's team this year is better than any Wesleyan has had since the fall of 1901. Moreover, it is the best team excepting Harvard and Dartmouth, we have met this year. It is considerably better than Colgate—not heavier, but more aggressive. Wesleyan's team is both heavy and aggressive, and our line must be quicker than in the Colgate game.

"Wesleyan's back-field is strong. Van Surdam, quarterback, is the most to be feared. He is very fast and has been successful this year in his quarterback runs. Our ends, however, lead us to expect that he will not be so successful in this as in other games. Our attack must be more consistent against Wesleyan than in the Colgate game—there the team tore down the field five and ten yards at a time for thirty yards, then yielded the ball on downs. In addition there were three bad fumbles in the Colgate game.

"If the team on Saturday has improved as much over the form it showed in the Colgate game, as the game it played against Colgate showed improvement over any best previous form, we ought to win from Wesleyan. At best, the game will be nip and tuck from beginning to end. With the back-fields almost equal, Van Surdam making chances slightly in their favor there, with their heavier and more experienced line giving them advantage there, the ends will be Williams' stronghold.

"It seems probable at present that not more than one hundred and sixty will be able to go to the Wesleyan game. It is vital to the success of the team in Saturday's game that more men from college should go to Middletown."

Thompson Course Entertainments

The program of entertainments of the Thompson entertainment course this winter is as yet incomplete. The first two numbers, however, have been arranged, and are as follows:—on Thursday, Nov. 23, the Adamowski trio of Boston; on Thursday Dec. 14, Miss Ellen Bowick of London, impersonator, and her sister, contralto soloist.

Class Prayer Meetings

The weekly class prayer meetings will be held Friday evening, in Jesup Hall. The subject is: What is the aim of a college training? Luke 12: 41—48.

The leaders are: 1906, Hulst; 1907, Buffinton; 1908, Baemeister; 1909, Myers.

DEBATERS DEFEATED

Sixth Annual Debate Won by Red and Black at Middletown

The sixth annual Williams-Wesleyan debate, held in the college chapel, Middletown, Friday evening, was won by Wesleyan. The debate was on the question of direct primaries, the question reading as follows: Resolved: that in the United States the nomination of candidates for minor elective offices should be by the method of the primary.

Williams was represented by Harold Adin Nomer 1906, and Roy Herbert Case 1907, with Lytel William Matthews 1907 as alternate. The Wesleyan representatives were Arthur Gerald Hubert Power 1908, and Charles Mabbett Travis 1906, with Charles Woodard Atwater 1906 and Harry Wellington Laidler 1907 as alternates. Williams upheld the affirmative. Wesleyan's presentation of arguments was more forceful, had greater smoothness, and retained a larger measure of its vigor in rebuttals than that of Williams. Williams' debate was clear, but at times lacked the convincing earnestness given by the Wesleyan speakers.

Bradford P. Raymond D. D., LL. D., president of Wesleyan, presided. Nomer '06 opened the debate for Williams, speaking in outline as follows:

First Affirmative

The prevalence of corruption in our politics is the greatest menace to our democratic institutions. Proper legal regulation will prevent corruption in the primary but can not remedy the convention because it has certain inherent evils which always attend the system under modern conditions.

These evils are three. First, the convention is no longer the deliberative body it was originally planned. Second, it is too complex: the delegate, by forming an intervening step between the voter and the candidate to be nominated, only confuses the voter, restricts his ballot, and discourages his attendance at the primary. Third, the convention is irresponsible and corrupt because of the poor class of delegates.

First Negative

WESLEYAN VICTORIOUS

By Score of 18 to 0—Sensational Run by Van Surdam

Those critics of football who have been complaining that the game is uninteresting to the general observer have evidently never seen Van Surdam, the Wesleyan quarter-back. His run of 76 yards in the second half of the Wesleyan-Williams game Saturday, scoring the second of the three touchdowns which defeated the Purple 18 to 0, was as brilliant a bit of the "open game" as the football spectator ever sees.

The game had been fairly even for the second half when Waters kicked to the Wesleyan quarter-back. Catching the ball on his 34-yard line on the north side of the field, he started towards the center. Quickly turning, he eluded the Purple ends, and, dodging back and forth on the slippery field, was by the entire Williams team in a moment. He touched the ball down directly between the posts. Hampson kicked the goal

Wesleyan's victory was caused by four things, the individual work of the slippery Van Surdam, an effective wing shift, a strong secondary defense, and great strength in the left side of the line. Hampson made several long runs. North and Woodhead made consistent gains. Williams found the wing shift formation particularly difficult to stop. Hampson's punts were high and long except when kicking from formation; Wesleyan held much and was frequently penalized.

The Williams backfield was slow. A. Brown played a good game. D. Brown gained little ground, largely owing to the fact that the left side of Wesleyan's line kept coming through on his cross bucks. Kelley caught and ran back punts well, but showed very poor judgment in running off plays. Waters, as usual, was the strength of the team, especially on defense, and, though outkicked, punted for long distances. All the backs were poor on interference. In the line Bixby played much the best game until he injured his wrist,

The Wesleyan Game

The unexpected defeat by Wesleyan Saturday was a disappointment to the college. There is small consolation in the fact that the Red and Black has the strongest team in the history of the university. Williams was outplayed. Although the work of the eleven was fast at the beginning and the end of the game, it was on the whole inferior to the play in the Colgate game a week before. Only the quality of football exhibited by the Williams eleven can be criticised. The fighting spirit was there all the time. It was as much in evidence when the score was 18 to 0 as it was before either side had scored. The brilliant playing of Wesleyan's quarterback contributed six points to the total, and by straight football the Purple would have lost by two touchdowns.

The team was fairly well supported in numbers. The cheering from the Williams section, steady and strong throughout the game, was equal to that of Wesleyan. In singing, for which Wesleyan is famous, Williams was but little behind. The reception given the team on its return was more than creditable. The kind of loyalty was shown then that will help to win the Amherst game.

Debating

Williams has not been holding its own in debating during the past two years. Two debates have been lost to Wesleyan and one to Dartmouth. The last contest with Amherst, a sophomore debate in 1904, was decided against the Purple. These repeated defeats can best be explained by lack of interest in the student body. The college is not giving its strongest representation. The practical advantages of debating over other undergraduate interests make this disregard more surprising. This year the college has left two debates. Under the triangular agreement Williams meets both Dartmouth and Brown. If Williams is to compare favorably with other colleges, support in the form of active participation must be more general.

Two steps have been taken which we believe will help to accomplish this result. The old system of choosing debaters has been dropped, and in its place substituted an entirely new method, as outlined in a recent issue of The Record. Fairness is now assured and competition for positions on the team is open to the college. That the system used in the past was radically wrong is evident to anyone understanding the conditions. Student judges in the trials before the debating societies were not always impartial. Members of the faculty have consented to cooperate by acting in this capacity at all the trials under the new system. Since the negative and affirmative of any question are seldom of equal strength, the members on the weaker side were likely to be placed at a disadvantage in the preliminary debate before the college. Nor was the handicap confined to the team having to argue the less forceful side of the question, but was extended to the speaker whose lot it was to present the least important argument. These faults are corrected in the system recently adopted.

The change should tend to increase the number of competitors for the 'varsity teams. Formerly, membership in one of the two societies was required of a 'varsity debater. In opening the trials to the college, an opportunity is given the man who, though interested in debating, is not a Philologian or Philotechnian. Although rebuttal is allowed, it is worth noting that it is optional in the preliminary trials. The advantage to the man debating for the first time is evident.

The value of this new system cannot be proved until it has been given a trial. The second step to stimulate debating at Williams, however, is practical and has met with encouraging results. The college United States senate already has a membership of over forty. Its first session showed plainly that all the debating material in college has not been placed at disposal of the judges. The extemporaneous character of the discussions in the senate should prove valuable in promoting ease in rebuttal.

Y. M. C. A. CONVENTION

Prof. Russell Delivered Principal Address on "Christ for Students"

The thirty-ninth annual convention of the Y. M. C. A. of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, closed at Westfield yesterday. At the business session Saturday morning, Mr. D. Chauncey Brewer, '86 of Boston was elected to the state executive committee for four years, and Prof. Henry D. Wild '88 for two years. In the College Men's Institute, Mr. William S. Pettit, '05 spoke for Williams. Saturday evening, the principal address was delivered by Prof. John E. Russell '72 who took as his theme "Christ for Students."

Prof. Russell spoke in part as follows:

"The students in our colleges and universities are in an environment distinctly hostile to the doctrinal beliefs of Christianity. Scientific methods, historical and literary criticism, have undermined for the most part the foundations of religious dogmas. The student who accepts modern science, its principles and methods of investigation, feels himself borne irresistibly away from the old moorings in traditional beliefs. The old faith has gone, the new faith has not yet come. From the lesser faith, through doubt, to the larger faith, is the history of the spiritual struggle through which great numbers of our best students are passing."

Prof. Maxcy at Teachers' Convention

Prof. Maxcy attended the Franklin County Teachers' Association convention in Shelburne Falls Friday and delivered two addresses. He spoke in the morning before the High school teachers' section alone, on "English in the Preparatory school," and in the afternoon before the entire convention on "Sincerity in Teaching."

Dr. Scott Spoke

Dr. Willard Scott '75 of Worcester spoke before the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall last evening. He emphasized the importance of making much of religious life in the world. We are lapsing from the old time interest in religion, when religion and business claimed all the time in a man's life. There are so many who call themselves Christians who are not thoroughgoing.

Coaches Coming Next Week

Coach Morris Ely will arrive in town in time for practice on Tuesday and will remain until after the Amherst game. Louis L. Draper 1900, captain of the 1899 team; Philip Draper, ex-'97, and Harry T. Watson, 1905, halfback and captain of the 1904 eleven, will be in town all week and William H. Murray 1905, tackle, is also expected to be here.

Discussed by Presidents

It has been announced that the questions given below were discussed at greatest length at the recent meeting of the association of colleges in New England, held at Williams.

1. Fraternity houses: are they increasing in numbers? Do they become more and more luxurious and expensive? Are they on the whole advantageous to the college?

2. The educational value of the small division.

3. Does the experience of most New England colleges with their requirement for A. B. of from 120 to 230 "term hours," and the constant distribution of the student's time over a variety of subjects, suggest the advisability of concentrating the work for the degree upon a smaller number of subjects?

4. What is the result of the erection of fraternity chapter houses and how should such houses be controlled?

5. Is there such a decline in the study of Greek in the secondary schools as to call for protective action on the part of the colleges?

Class Cross-Country Run

The second annual class cross-country run will be held Wednesday afternoon, weather permitting. Each class will be represented by a team of five men. The runners will leave the gymnasium for South Williamstown at 1:15. Leaving South Williamstown the race will be run along the River road to Williamstown, finishing at the gymnasium. The method of scoring is as follows:—Each runner scores as many points against his class as the number of the place he takes in the race. The class with the smallest count wins.

Men from the four classes, who have completed the ten runs necessary to qualify for the cross-country final, will meet Mr. Seeley in the gymnasium Tuesday, and receive their instructions.

Massachusetts Historical Society

Professor T. C. Smith attended the meeting of the Massachusetts Historical society, held in Boston Thursday. Prof. William A. Dunning of Columbia university, spoke on "New Light on Andrew Johnson." He revealed the interesting fact that one of President Johnson's messages, instead of having been written by Secretary Seward, as was supposed, was the work of Bancroft, the historian. Frederick Bancroft spoke on the "Condition of the Free Negro before the War."

G. K. Smith 1903, Dennett 1904, A. P. Newell and Peckham 1905 have been in town.

Sercomb 1906 has left college, on account of ill health.

leyan, Power '08 said in part:

The evils of the delegate system are not inherent in that system, but depend on human nature. The attendance is equally large in delegate system and primary, and in many cases is greater under the delegate systems. Fraud and corruption are not inherent in the convention system. If a man will sell his vote in a party caucus, he will do the same in the direct primary.

Second Affirmative

Case '07 closed the debate for Williams, as follows:

The abolition of the primary will bring the people out, because the people will feel a direct influence in the election. The delegate system has tended to keep the voters from the polls. If the people will come out and vote, they will become better educated in polities and will thus cast more intelligent votes.

As far as the candidates are concerned, this abolition of the convention will secure better nominees. Mistakes are watched and will be remedied, as practice has shown. Lastly, this direct primary system will make officials the servants of the people, and will free them from their reaponsibility to the machine.

Second Negative

Travis '06 concluded the main speeches for the Red and Black.

So corrupt a man as Ames of Minneapolis can be nominated under the direct primary. The delegate system is at the basis of American government. The people elect good men to make good laws and in the same way they must elect good men to make good candidates. We would not have laws made by the whole people.

If the people, as the affirmative claim, do not know the delegates, who live right around the corner, how can they know the candidates? The number of candidates is too great for the individual voter to choose from with intelligence.

In rebuttal Nomer opened for Williams and his points were the clearest of all. Power met Williams points well, but tried to answer too many. Case's arguments were good. Travis' speech was very forceful. He said in part:

The people do not deliberate in the direct primaries. The delegate system is not too complex, and you know whom you are choosing. The negative has based its debate on facts. There are as many bosses, less attendance, more corruption, and poorer nominations in the direct primary systems.

The decision of the judges, Prof. Geo. B. Adams of Yale, Prof. Geo. G. Wilson of Brown, and Hammond Lamont Esq., of the New York Evening Post, was unanimous in favor of Wesleyan. After the debate a reception was given to the debaters and Williams men present by the faculty and three upper classes, followed by a smoker, at the Psi Upsilon House.

and followed the ball well. Johnson also did good work, but the center of the line was weak. Curtis and Elder had hard work in downing Van Surdam.

First Half

At 2:30 Woodhead kicked off to Waters, who ran the ball in 17 yards to the 22-yard line. Williams lost the ball on a fumble, and Wesleyan was held. A. Brown made 5 yards and Waters 6. Each side held for downs twice and Williams got the ball on its 17-yard line. At this point Williams' attack obtained its greatest force, and, on a succession of short gains, the ball was carried past the center of the field, to be surrendered on downs. After short gains by Wesleyan, Woodhead made 53 yards to the 10-yard line. Curtis pulling him down from behind. Williams held stubbornly, three tries netting 5½ yards. Woodhead took the ball over in two rushes and Hampson kicked goal, after 23 minutes. After Woodhead's kick-off Williams was forced to punt, but in turn forced the Red and Black to kick when 18 yards from score. At the end of the half Wesleyan had the ball on its 46-yard line.

Second Half

Bixby kicked off to Hampson in the second half, and on the first play North fumbled, Bixby getting the ball on the 22-yard-line. Three downs netted four yards. Wesleyan was forced to kick in turn and after line bucks, A. Brown slipped around right end for 15 yards. Williams fumbled, North picked up the ball and ran 90 yards, but was called back, as the whistle had blown before the fumble. Williams was forced to kick, but stopped Wesleyan after eight rushes. A. Brown made 6, Bixby 7. Williams was held, Waters punted, and Van Surdam ran for a touchdown, as described before. Wesleyan kicked off, and after a succession of penalties, secured the ball on Williams 39-yard line. From the 33 yard line Van Surdam made 16 yards, Hampson 5, North 4, and Hampson 9 for a touchdown. Hampson kicked goal. Wesleyan kicked off, and the ball changed hands several times, Van Surdam being thrown once by Elder for a 10-yard loss. Cunningham muffed a kick on Wesleyan's 24-yard line, but Williams was unable to gain consistently. After exchanges of kicks time was called with the ball in Williams possession on Wesleyan's 40-yard-line.

About two hundred and fifty Williams students, alumni and friends were present on Andrus Field.

COLLEGE NOTES

Fay 1907 has left college temporarily on account of ill health.

Ayers 1906 fell and broke his collar bone Thursday.

The sophomore-freshman football game will probably take place Wednesday, Nov. 22.

There will be a 1906 class meeting at 1:30 tomorrow in Jesup Hall.

President and Mrs. Hopkins will be at home Friday afternoons and evenings throughout the winter.

In the first match of the semi-finals in the fall tennis tournament Brady '06 was defeated by Linen '07, 6-3, 6-4. Linen thus qualifies for the finals.

The Nichols Cadet band of twelve pieces led by Mr. Edw. M. Nichols, North Adams, has been engaged by Williams for Saturday's game.

The squad taken on the Wesleyan trip was composed of Bixby, Blaisdell, Campbell, Loomis, Willcox 1906; Bates, A. Brown, Chapman, Jaeckel, Johnson 1907; D. Brown, Curtis, Elder, Eldridge, Kelley, LaMent, Marshall, Reid, Waters 1908; C. Brown, Harter, Robb 1909.

The Deutscher Verein will meet in three divisions, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings, commencing Nov. 15. There will also be a monthly meeting of the three divisions. It is planned to give two short plays during the winter.

One of the results of the recent conference of college English departments is the adoption by Williams of Dartmouth's system of offering the best English themes for publication in newspapers. The best themes in English so judged will be sent from time to time as communications to the North Adams and Springfield papers.

VOL. XIX WILLIAMSTOWN, MASS., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1905 NO. 40

CLOSING CONTEST

Season Ends for Williams and Amherst on Weston Field Saturday

Amherst and Williams meet in the final contest of the season for each team on Weston Field Saturday. The game will start promptly at 2:30 p. m.

The Williams seats will be on the west side of the field; Amherst's on the east side. The west bleachers will be divided into four sections. The three north sections will be reserved for the student body, without extra charge, but no student will be allowed to take any guests into these three cheering sections. These sections will seat 325. The fourth (south) section, to which an addition is now being constructed, will be reserved for students with friends, seating 160. Tickets for this section went on sale this afternoon. They will be on sale again tonight from 7:30 to 8:00, in Jesup Hall.

The college will meet at the gymnasium at 2:00 Saturday and will march to the field. The Nichols cadet band of 12 pieces has been secured from North Adams, will march with the students, and will be at the north end of the bleachers during the game. Six special policemen from North Adams have been hired, in addition to the Williamstown force. Absolutely no one will be admitted within the sidelines without a badge. The admission to the game will be 75c, and the reserved seats will be 50c.

The officials will be as follows: Referee, Pendleton of Bowdoin; umpire, Vail of Pennsylvania; head linesman and time-keeper, Easton of Yale.

Amherst's line-up and weights are given on page 4. Williams will line up as follows: le., Elder; lt., Bixby; lg., Harter; c., Campbell; rg., Eldridge; rt., Johnson; re., Curtis; qb., Waters or Kelley; lhb., D. Brown or Willcox; rhb., A. Brown; fb., LaMent or Waters.

At the opening of the season Amherst did not look strong. Leighton, at center, had gone to Michigan, Palmer, Pierce and Rollins had graduated, as well as the best player on the team, fullback Coggeshall. Shannon, end, died last spring. Nor did the earlier games of the season give promise of strength equal to Williams. Two weeks ago, however, Foster Sanford of Yale was called to Amherst for a week to assist head coach Hart and the results of his coaching were apparent in the Dartmouth game Saturday.

In Cross-Country Championship Run—B. P. Allen '08 First

1907 won the second annual class cross-country run yesterday afternoon, thus duplicating its success of last year. B. P. Allen 1908 won the cup offered for first place, finishing well in advance of the other competitors. The teams were driven to South Williamstown and started from there over the river road for the Gymnasium at eight minutes to three. Allen's time was exactly 27 minutes, 57 seconds slower than that of last year. Davis and Hompe had an exciting race for third place, Davis winning out in the last ten yards. As 1906 entered only one man and 1909 had but four, eighteen points were scored against each class for every blank. Every man finished in good condition. This was a result of the excellent training which the regular runs during the fall have given.

The summary follows:

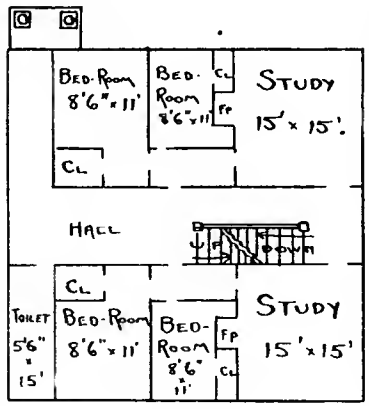
Lecture by Prof. Ostwald

Through the liberality of one of the alumni there will be an opportunity on Monday next to hear Professor Wilhelm Ostwald, of the university of Berlin, deliver his lecture on "The Growth of Scientific Research Through the Centuries."

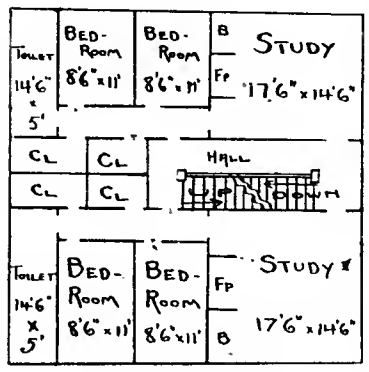
Professor Ostwald's work in the fascinating problems of Physical Chemistry has placed him among the leaders of thought and work in natural science, and his European rank as a philosopher is second only to his high reputation as a brilliant investigator. Professor Ostwald is lecturing at Harvard this semester. The lecture will be given in the biological lecture room at 8 o'clock. The entire college is invited.

A college meeting will be held Friday evening, at 7:30, in Jesup Hall.



THE NEW DORMITORIES

Work Well Under Way—Swimming Pool and Baseball Cage



The construction of the two new dormitories, Berkshire Hall and South College extension, is being pushed as rapidly as possible, in order to complete the ground work before frost hardens the earth. Blasting has been going on for two weeks, and the excavation for South college is practically completed.

The concrete foundation base of Berkshire Hall has been laid and the stone foundation is now being set. The building extends from Jackson Hall, north to the old site of the Sewall house.

Work on the swimming pool is at a standstill, as the steel beams, ordered six weeks ago from the New England Architectural Steel

Co., of Boston, have not yet arrived. When they come, the posts now supporting the ceiling in the middle of the pool excavation will be removed, and the steel beams will be erected in the partition between the pool and the locker-room. The contracted metal pool, and the glazed tile with which it will be lined, are ready for shipment, and will be installed as soon as the beams are received. Contractor Smedley expects to have the pool completed by the end of the Christmas vacation.

LAST HARD PRACTICE

'Varsity Scores Six Touchdowns on Scrub

The last hard practice of the 1905 football season was held Wednesday, the last practice with the bonfire and songs taking place this afternoon. The 'varsity offense rarely failed to make five yards at a down and the defense held well against the Amherst formations of the scrub. The 'varsity play was marred by frequent fumbling, Marshall, Lament and A. Brown being the worst offenders. Willcox played well, except for punting.

The 'varsity scored three touchdowns in each half, and frequently punted on first down. LaMent scored five of the touchdowns and A. Brown one. The original 'varsity line-up, with Waters at quarter, Willcox at left half and LaMent at full, may start the Amherst game. The teams lined up as follows:

Sunday's Minister Undecided

President Raymond of Union, who was to have addressed the student body next Sunday morning, telegraphed President Hopkins early in the week that he could not be present. An attempt was made to secure President Flavel S. Luther of Trinity, and, though unable to be present next Sunday, he has promised to be here some Sunday in the immediate future. Up to 4.00 this afternoon no one had been definitely secured.

VOL. 19 NOVEMBER 16, 1905, No. 40

Amherst Saturday

Saturday afternoon will take place the biggest event of the first term. Williams meets Amherst on Weston Field to decide which college has the better football team for 1905. Since Williams has resumed athletic relations with the Purple and White, the athletic contests at home with Amherst have occurred at times when it was impossible for that college to send a large student delegation to support its teams. This year it is understood that the Amherst eleven will be accompanied by at least three hundred undergraduates, who will try to cheer their team to victory in the first game with the Purple at Williams since 1901. During their short stay it will be the privilege of every Williams man to extend to them the best the college affords.

It must be admitted that Amherst has a better chance of winning than Williams. The Purple will be outweighed about fifteen pounds a man. Amherst comes to Williams after a tie game with the team which defeated Princeton 6 to 0, and Williams by four touchdowns. The two instances in which direct scores can be compared are against Williams. The Purple is favored by indirect comparison, having won from Colgate. It must be remembered that the Holy Cross game has shown that Amherst is not invincible. While these facts must not be forgotten in considering the probable outcome, they lose their ordinary value in a Williams-Amherst game. As was stated in the college meeting Tuesday night, experience has proved that the result of a contest between the two colleges was never assured before the game was played.

An appeal for the support of the student-body at the game is unnecessary. A suggestion, however, is needed in regard to the singing and cheering. Both lack unity and volume. The college must follow the cheer-leaders more closely if the right results are to be obtained.

College Deacons

In reply to a request for information concerning the proposed election of college deacons, their purpose, and what can be accomplished by this new institution, President Hopkins has written to the Record the following letter:

Editor of The Williams Record,

Sir:—It has been proposed that deacons be chosen by the two upper classes. The name indicates a religious office and the choice of deacons by the classes to which they belong will be a recognition by the student-body of the fact that there is a religious life in the college in which all are more or less interested. Religion in college is a fact as it is a fact in the world outside, and every friend of the college must desire that this religion, to be real and vital, a life and not a mere form, be genuine and practical. It is believed that class deacons of the right sort will help to make it so. This is the first object sought for in their election.

The choice of these men by the students from among themselves will also be a new expression of the democratic character of the college. This is an agency to stimulate and guide to right living, not let down from above by ecclesiastical or academic authority, but coming up out of the student-body.

In addition to this the movement will be a new step in carrying out the cherished purpose of entire co-operation. As "democratic" is the one word which describes the fundamental basis of the life here, so "co-operative" is the one word which describes the method of administration which it is hoped will prevail in all departments. When faculty and students are together actively interested in everything that can promote the good of the college, we shall have reached our ideal. We have need to develop in both faculty and students a sense of responsibility for our common religious life. On the student side, the class deacons, chosen on the broad catholic creed of manly living, will naturally become the leaders in almost every form of student religious activity. Chosen by the students themselves, they can not fail to have a strong influence upon college morals. Naturally and inevitably they will be co-operative with the Christian Association. With this general understanding we can wisely and safely leave details as to their relations and functions to be determined by their own experience and suggestion.

At the outset the one supremely important matter is that the right men be chosen. Upon this the failure or success of the whole movement depends. Its great success at Yale for a hundred years has been mainly owing to the high character and standing of the men chosen.

HENRY HOPKINS.

Coming from the trustees through the president, the proposal to elect deacons is of vital importance to the student-body. The first paragraph of the letter from Dr. Hopkins explains why this plan has been offered to the college. Sufficient reason cannot be found elsewhere for the proposal to create these offices. Simply to give expression to the democratic spirit of the college, or to further a much desired plan of co-operation in the life of the college, would hardly be cause, separately or together, to justify the adoption of the plan. We can only conclude that it is felt that religion in Williams is unreal and insincere. We believe there is truth in this, and that the remedy which has been found right at Yale, can be applied here as well.

If the deacons are to have any influence, the student-body must take hold of the plan, and complete the system itself. In the next issue of The Record a suggestion will be made in regard to the mode of election. Any other method offered will be received and given notice in these columns.

It is of course necessary that a question, so close to the students as this evidently is, should come before the college-body for decision. Action could be taken in college meeting, or the matter referred for investigation to a committee from the four classes.

Closing Contests

Dartmouth had the ball in Amherst's territory exactly twice during the game, so good was the Purple and White's defense. Amherst had a good attack, and made consistent gains always until the 25-yard line was reached. Shattuck's goal from field from the 35-yard line, of no account because but five men were in the rush-line instead of the regulation six, practically gave Amherst a victory.

Amherst has two freshmen in its line-up, Kilbourn and Bryant, and two members of its 1903 team, Priddy, re., and Lewis, qb., the 1903 captain. Capt. Hubbard is unquestionably the star of the eleven. He gained half the ground for the Purple and White against Dartmouth, and no man on the team is his equal on the defense. Shattuck, left half, at quarter last year, is also good on the offense. Lewis, at quarter, is playing his fourth year at that position.

The team is strongest in the back field. The ends are fast, the tackles good on the offense, the guards only fair, and, on the same descending ratio as you approach the center of the line, center is the weakest place on the team. However, Hubbard's work at secondary defense nullifies this weakness.

An attractive program has been gotten up by the management and will be sold on the field. Besides the usual cuts of the two captains and squads, and this year's scores, the book will contain a line-up of the two teams as they will face each other on the field, and scores of Amherst-Williams games since 1884. The cover, in purple and gold, is original and tasteful.

Amherst Line-up and Weights

The probable line up, and the weights of the Amherst eleven are given below. It will be noted that from tackle to tackle the team averages 211, the backs average 174, and the team 191:

AMHERST GAMES

Purple and White Victorious Six Times in Twenty-one Contests

Williams and Amherst first met at football in 1884, and have played 21 games, of which Williams has won twelve, and three have been ties. Williams was strongest up to 1889, the teams were on an even footing until 1891, and, after a bad defeat in 1892, Williams kept on top for two years more. Until 1898 the games went Amherst's way, but since that date the Purple has been undefeated until last year. Williams has scored 358 points, Amherst 181. Williams won from Amherst 57 to 0 in 1885, the Purple and White surpassing this with a 60 to 0 victory in 1892.

FIRST MEETING

Classical Society Addressed by Prof. Seymour of Yale

At the first meeting of the classical society, held in the Biological Laboratory Tuesday evening, Dr. Thomas Day Seymour, professor of the Greek language and literature at Yale university, spoke on "Recent Archaeological Excavations in Greek Lands." The lecture was illustrated by stereopticon slides. Although no reference was made to the more recent work done by excavators, an interesting, instructive explanation was given of the problems to be solved and of the methods employed in clearing a site. A comparison was made, by means of the slides, of the appearance of the spots of archaeological interest today and a hundred years ago.

In his introduction Prof. Seymour traced the history of the Acropolis at Athens from earliest times. The first excavations in Greek lands were made simply for the purpose of identifying sites, or in the interests of architecture. The last stage has been reached now, when investigators are clearing entire towns, and studying the life and customs of their former inhabitants. The views explained were from the Acropolis at Athens, Corinth, and from Tellene.

Program

The program of the classical society for 1905-6 is as follows:

Nov. 27—Some points of interest in Comparative Grammar and Sanskrit: Dr. Gerig.

Dec. 12—Roman Sculpture: Professor Rice.

Jan. 9—Reading of the Acharnians of Aristophanes, by members of the society. Introduction by Professor Hewitt.

Jan. 23—Greek Religion: Dr. Pratt.

Feb. 13—Lecture or paper by Professor Howes.

Feb. 27—Symposium upon Greek Science: (1) The work of the Greeks in Natural History: Professor S. F. Clarke. (2) The work of the Greeks in Mathematics: Professor Ferry. (3) The astronomical conceptions of Aristotle: Professor Milham. (4) Physics: Dr. Porter. (5) Aristotle's contribution to Biology: Dr. Woodruff.

March 13—Reading of the Mostellaria of Plautus, by members of the society. Introduction by Morrill, '07.

March 27—Annual report upon classical periodicals, by members of the society. Question-box.

April 9—Greek Athletics: presentation of different phases by members of the society.

April 24—(1) A few comparisons of Roumanian, Umbrian, and classical Latin: Dr. Gerig. (2) Aristotle's contributions to the theory of the state: Mr. Preserved Smith. (3) Greek Music, with piano-forte and vocal illustrations: Mr. Salter.

May 8—(1) The development of Roman tactics and Roman contributions to the art of war: Durfee, '07. (2) History of the gladiatorial shows: Buffinton, '07.

Memorial Windows

The Sanborn Tenney memorial window, formerly in the old chapel, may be placed in Clark Hall. While this has not been definitely decided, it is thought that the window could be used appropriately to beautify that building, since for nine years Prof. Tenney was head of the departments of geology and natural history.

The Garfield memorial window, which was sent to New York to be reset, has arrived and will be placed in the nave of the new chapel.

A STUBBORN DEFENSE

Williams Defeated by Amherst on Weston Field Saturday

Amherst Scores Two Touchdowns in First Half—Shattuck's Sensational Run the Length of the Field in the Second Half—Score 17 to 0—Williams Makes Brilliant Defense at the Goal Line—Amherst Gained Mostly by Tandem Formation—Williams Offense Weak

The football world generally regards a 17 to 0 score as a sign of great difference in playing strength, but if they interpret the score of Saturday's Williams-Amherst contest on Weston Field as a walk-over for the Purple and White, they err far. Not that the best team did not win. Amherst's overbearing weight, powerful tandem formation, and brilliant secondary defense alone must have worked out the victory, but it is largely owing to left half-back Shattuck that the score is 17—0, instead of 6—0. His fine dodging run-back of a punt after Williams had held for downs 2 inches from its goal, followed by an equally elusive sideline rush on a delayed pass, put the ball 5 yards from Williams' goal in the first half, and in the second half, with Amherst holding the ball on its 7-yard line and but three minutes to play, his 103 yard run gave the Purple and White its last 5 points. Amherst's first touchdown came early and it continued to outplay the Purple until the second score. The last ten minutes of the half told a different story, and the visitors were at times swept off their feet. Again, after 10 minutes play in the second half, the Purple braced, and held Amherst even until the end.

Amherst averaged 185, 12 pounds more than Williams, and

An Amherst Victory

The last game of the football season has been played. The unexpected did not happen, for Williams in a desperate but fruitless struggle against overwhelming odds, lost a memorable contest to Amherst on Weston Field, yielding its hopes and claims of supremacy on the gridiron for 1905 to a superior team. We feel safe in saying, and the coaches will agree, that the Purple played the best football of its season in Saturday's game. The full strength of the team and its best knowledge of football, together with that spirit which an Amherst contest alone brings out, was arrayed against the Purple and White. The best football players in college were in the line-up. The fact that no substitutions were made until the last minute of play, and then not on account of injuries, shows that there is no truth in talk of an overtrained team.

From the beginning of the season every circumstance favored Amherst, and its victory Saturday was the logical result, after the games with Columbia and Dartmouth. To defeat a team of Amherst weight, and coached in the game as well as (but no better than) the Purple, would have been possible for Williams only by extraordinary football luck. When this is considered, the keen edge of disappointment in losing to Amherst is dulled a little.

It is a satisfaction to know that the game was not marked by roughness and was played fairly by both sides, and to feel that there is no criticism of the coaches or the team.

Method of Electing Deacons

The following method of electing deacons has been proposed:

As each class enters its junior year it will elect from among its members four men who will hold office as deacons during the two college years following. A preliminary meeting will be held to make nominations. At this meeting there will be a nominating ballot and the three men who receive the highest number of votes on that ballot will be considered nominees, and will form a committee to submit other nominations. These nominations will be published in The Record, and within two weeks after the class has met for its nominating ballot, the junior class will meet again, to elect from the list of nominations four men.

This method seems to be the best that can be offered. Although two meetings are called for, the system is not complicated, but is as simple as the character of the office of deacon will allow. The choice of deacons cannot be made in the same way as that of other class officers, whose preferment is usually the result of popularity. Nor should the office be considered as a reward, as is often the case in senior class-day elections. And lastly, the spirit of thoughtlessness and carelessness with which men select their candidate for the list of nominations cannot be employed in this case, if the new officers are to accomplish any good in the college.

There are special qualifications of fitness for the position of deacon, unlike any other in college. Prominence in any branch of undergraduate work is not essential, nor is it necessary that the candidate be identified with the Y. M. C. A. In fact, in view of the present unfortunate indifference or a majority of the college towards that organization, it would be detrimental to the new institution, if membership in the Y. M. C. A. were considered a requirement. If the exact duties of the deacons have not been defined, enough has been said of their purpose, and the place it is intended they shall occupy—to make "religion real and vital, a life and not a mere form," in college. If this can be accomplished by the deacons, their influence will come in one way only—through their personal qualities. To be eligible for the office, we believe a man should be known for two things above all others. He should be marked for his sincerity and should be respected.

The plan which is given in brief above, has been handed to us merely as a suggestion. We recommend it to the college, for it will tend to elect the right sort of men. The final choice of deacons properly rests with the class. Nevertheless, by holding a second meeting and giving to the first three nominees the power to make other nominations, a hasty choice from a few candidates is avoided.

Two additions could be made. It might be advisible from the nature of the election and to insure full attendance, to hold the meetings in the college chapel, after the morning service. Secondly, if the preliminary nominations were not announced, the elections would be more likely to be unprejudiced.

RESOLUTIONS

Whereas; It has pleased God in His infinite wisdom to take to Himself the mother of our friend and classmate, Alfred H. Appell, be it

Resolved: That we, the class of 1906, extend to him and his relatives our deepest sympathy in their bereavement, and be it further

Resolved: That these resolutions be sent to him and his relatives and also be published in the Williams Record.

For the class:

Chauncy Hills,
Nathaniel H. Egleston,
Eugene I. Cowell.

its heavy men were as fast as its light men, in marked contrast to the Purple. Quarter-back Lewis, the best field general opposed to the team this year, ran his team so as to use every ounce of this weight. A tandem formation, with Bryant and Connell leading and generally carrying the ball, made most yards for Amherst. Capt. Hubbard, on offense was used rarely, largely, doubtless, owing to the fact that he played the game with water on the knee. At defense he met Williams' center plunges single-handed and threw men back time and again, after they had dashed through holes in Amherst's line. His interference was fine. Shattuck, running in punts, at times was slippery, although he was often tackled for a loss. Priddy also played well. The best feature of Amherst's game was the way in which the whole eleven pushed and pulled and shoved as one, on their tandem mass plays.

On offense the Williams team often found it easy to get through Amherst's line but could rarely get by the secondary defense. LaMent bucked the line well, excelling for the Purple in this department of the game. On defense Amherst's gains were mostly through Harter and Campbell, and were due to the fact that the line played too high. At times the defense stiffened and a brillisnt exhibition was given in the first half, when the Purple and White, in three plunges after a first down on the 3 yard line was stopped 2 inches from the goal line. Waters ran the plays well, showed judgment in punting, and out-kicked Shattuck in the second half. His two punts out of bounds in the first half however gave Amherst its chances to score. In the line Johnson and Bixby did good work.

The charts of the two halves show every play.

First Half

Amherst kicked off at 2:40. Williams was held for downs, and Waters punted into touch on Williams' 27-yard line. Hubbard made 5 yards, Kilbourn 8, and Shattuck 3. In four rushes Hubbard took the ball to the 2-yard line, and Shattuck took it over after 5½ min. of play.

Curtis ran back Amherst's kick-off, but fumbled when tackled on the 25-yard line. Amherst was held and Williams was forced to punt. Shattuck fumbled and Elder fell on the ball. A. Brown made 2, LaMent 3, 3½, A. Brown 1, LaMent, 3 A. Brown 2, D. Brown 0, Bixby 1. Later Waters' short punt went to Amherst on Williams' 45-yard line. A varied attack brought the ball to the 20-yard line, and a quarter-back run made 11 yards. Kilbourn got 4 and Hubbard lost 1. A penalty gave Amherst 3 yards, but Priddy, Kilbourn and Hubbard failed to put the ball over. Shattuck dodged down the field for 15 yards, in returning Waters' punt and got 6 on a side-line run on delayed pass. Connell scored the touchdown.

With 6 minutes to play Williams got the ball on the 13 yard line, on Gildersleeve's high pass to Shattuck, but was held for downs. At the end of the half A. Brown made 5, D. Brown 4½, LaMent 5½, D. Brown 3½, and when time was called, Williams had the ball on Amherst's 28-yard line.

Second Half

Williams kicked off in the second half at 4:44, held the Purple and White, and half-blocked Amherst's punt on the 25-yard line. LaMent made 4, A. Brown 1, Ls Ment 3, 0, A. Brown 3, LaMent 1, and Amherst secured the ball on her 14-yard line. Using Connell and Bryant back, Amherst ploughed through for 4 and 5 yards to Williams' 18-yard line, where Harter fell on the ball after Bryant's fumble. Waters punted and Shattuck ran the kick in 15 yards. After short gains, Bryant got through for 24 yards. Williams held.

After three exchanges of kicks, Amherst got the ball on her 22-yard line but was penalized. From the 7-yard line Shattuck started on an end run. Elder drove the play in, Bixby and D. Brown were boxed, LaMent, playing back, missed his tackle and Shattuck ran 103 yards for a touchdown. The half ended soon after, Williams holding the ball on Amherst's 53-yard line.

LUCK GIVES VICTORY

Sophomores, Outplayed, Defeat 1909 6 to 0 by Blocked Punt

Greatly underrated by the sophomores and the entire college, the freshmen played 1908 to a standstill in the underclass football game on Weston Field yesterday afternoon, and, opposed by eight W players, were defeated by a single touchdown, scored in the second half on a fluke. The victory of 1908 was due to luck and not superior playing. In the second half Mayer 1909 punted on the 1908 30-yard line. The punt failed and Waters secured the ball on the 17-yard line, and ran the few yards for the only touchdown of the game, before the freshmen could reach him.

The sophomores, relying on the work of individual men, showed lack of team work. During most of the first half, the ball was in their territory, and, in fact, 1908 made first down but seven times in the entire game. Team work was responsible for the good showing of the freshmen. The 1909 backs were fast and made consistent gains, especially through the tackles. With a strong defense, the freshmen were also superior when 1908 had the ball. Wadsworth, Williams, C. Brown and Harter did good work for them. Wadsworth made three attempts at drop kicking from near the 30-yard line, but was unsuccessful. At another time, with a clear field, he got the ball on a fumble, but slipped after a run of 12 yards.

Brown rushed the first kick-off to the 1908 25-yard line, and on the first line-up Kelley made 11 yards. After a gain of 7 yards the sophomores were forced to punt. The freshmen rushed the ball to 1908's 27-yard line, where Wadsworth failed at a goal from the field. Waters punted out and the freshmen advanced to the 18-yard line, where Wadsworth again failed at a drop kick. Waters punted, the freshmen worked the ball to the 28-yard line, Wadsworth's drop kick was almost good, Waters punted out, and the ball was kept between the sophomore 35 and 50-yard lines until the half ended, when the sophomores had it on the 50-yard line.

A fumble when 1908 kicked off in the second half gave the ball to them on their 20-yard line. They gained 5 yards, then lost it on downs. The freshmen made 25 yards in 11 downs, and Mayer's punt resulted in the only score of

SUCCESSFUL SESSION

Navy Voted Down 11 to 10—U. S. Senate Copied Closely

The second session of the collegiate branch of the U. S. Senate was held in 4 Griffin Hall last evening, and was devoted to the discussion of increased naval appropriation. The session was fully as interesting as the sensational meeting of two weeks ago, serious debate and weighty arguments mingling with airy persiflage and witty flashes of repartee in true Senatorial style. The success of the Senate is assured if the discussions of the future sessions can keep the same plane.

Before taking up the business of the meeting, a committee, consisting of Senators Newlands (Wilder '07), Brandegee (Stanley '07) and Lodge (Perry '06), was appointed to investigate the charges against Senator Mitchell (McCuen '09), of land fraud fame, to report at the next meeting.

The debate on the bill for increased naval appropriation was spirited. Senator Brandegee, the leader of the party upholding the bill, showed how necessary an increasing navy was to this country, with its expansion policy, and stated that "eternal preparation for war is the price of peace." Senator Beveridge (Dodd '09) eloquently reiterated that he, too, was "heartily in favor of this appropriation," and Senator Morgan (Scholle '06), showed in a logical argument how the United States had increased in might and responsibilities, and needed an increased navy to safeguard its increased power.

The first speech on the negative came from Senator Dolliver (Scott '08), who claimed that the increase asked was too large, that we could not allow our youth to be sapped for naval service and that this militarism would strike at the roots of democratic government." Senator Bulkeley (Westermann '08), ably answered these contentions by stating that "we are under an administration favoring a rapid increase of population." Senator Hale (Matthews '07), spoke to the point for the negative, and, after a sharp tilt with the eloquent Brandegee, finally succeeded in picking flaws in both the logic and statistics of his opponent. The debate became general, but Senator Hale's party at length succeeded in defeating the bill 11 to 10. As there were 29 men on the senate floor, the efforts of senators to secure record for their votes caused momentary chaos, but the stern hand of Vice-President Fairbanks (Hulst '06) quelled the disturbance.

DEBATING TRIALS

Will Take Place Dec. 5 and 6—Entries Close Tomorrow

It has been decided to hold the first series of trials for places on the Dartmouth-Brown debating teams on Tuesday and Wednesday, December 5 and 6. As the question for the triangular league has not yet been selected by the Boston committee, that for these trials will be the one which was submitted by Williams, printed in the Record for Nov. 9, on page 4.

The total number of contestants will be reduced to sixteen, from whom eight will be chosen some time before the Christmas vacation, to compose the Williams teams.

All entries must be in by Friday, at which time drawings will be made for positions in the preliminaries. Candidates may either sign the notice on the Hopkins Hall bulletin board, or notify manager Scholle.

Prof. G. W. Knox Will Preach

Prof. George William Knox, D. D., of Union Theological seminary, will preach in the chapel next Sunday morning. Dr. Knox is a man of varied talents. He spent eleven years in Japan and there is probably no man in America today more thoroughly posted on Japanese life. He is the author of several works in English on Japan, and works in Japanese on ethical subjects. Dr. Knox has been a professor in the Union Theological seminary at Tokio and the Imperial university of Japan, and is at present professor of the philosophy and history of religion in Union Theological seminary, New York city.

He will also address the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall at 7:30 Sunday evening on "Results of the Russo-Japanese War."

Football W Awarded

At a meeting of the athletic council, held at 2:00 p.m. Monday, the following men, having played in the Wesleyan and Amherst games, were awarded the football W: 1906, Bixby, Blaisdell, Campbell, Wilcox; 1907, A. Brown, Johnson; 1908, D. Brown, Elder, Eldridge, Kelley, LaMent, Marshall, Waters; 1909, Curtis, Harter.

Insignia for Second Team

Through the generosity of two alumni sweaters will be given to the following men who have been awarded the "2nd", Bates, Halley, Loomis 1906; Bradley, Chapman, Conover, Hill, Jaeckel, Winslow 1907; Fowle, Reid, Roberts, Scarritt, 1908; Bargfrede, C. Brown, Robb, Westbrook 1909.

FOOTBALL CAPTAIN

Clyde M. Waters 1908 Elected to Lead Team for 1906

Clyde Merleton Waters 1908, of Oberlin, O., full-back and quarter-back on the 1905 'varsity eleven was yesterday elected captain for 1906.

Waters prepared for college at Oberlin High school, where he played four years, as quarter-back, full-back and end. Entering Williams in the class of 1908 he immediately secured the position of quarter-back on the eleven, and this year played first at quarter-back and for a time at full-back. Waters is also prominent in baseball, where he played at catcher on his class team last year. He is twenty years of age, weighs 165 pounds, and is 5 ft. 9 in. in height.

Hockey with Princeton

The schedule for the hockey team has not as yet been completed but the following games have been arranged:

Jan. 20, R. P. I. at Williamstown.

Jan. 23, Searles H. S. at Williamstown.

Feb. 3, Collegiates at Albany.

Feb. 20, Collegiates at Albany.

Games have also been arranged with Princeton in Albany, with Amherst in Williamstown and with Columbia in New York, but the exact dates have not been definitely fixed.

Gargoyle Regulation

No man will be allowed to play on a class team who is not a member of that class according to the records of the dean's office.

Evening Lectures

The curriculum, as it now stands, serves well the needs and aims of the college. The elective and group systems have proved satisfactory in every way, giving to the student the privilege of specializing in the subjects of his choice, and at the same time prohibiting him from neglecting other courses which are essential to a collegiate education. The curriculum offers the necessities, but it can also be so pursued that it furnishes one with little more. In this case the fault would rest with the student. Nevertheless, we believe it could well be supplemented to arouse a more real interest in the courses and add to the four years of study here at Williams something that the courses themselves cannot give:

The daily routine of work, and the schedule of required recitations, if offered as the only means of intellectual development, are barely sufficient. The system smacks too much of a duty done and over with. It seems almost as if the student were "putting in his time," and drawing his wages in the form of a degree at the end of his senior year. The work done that is not required is the kind that counts. In college the principle means intelligently embracing the opportunities offered outside the regular courses of study.

At Williams the evening lecture is a most uncommon occurrence. In many of the courses offered the instruction is limited to the classroom. There is evidently need of a series of lectures open to the college, both by members of the faculty and by men from outside. Williams scarcely ever hears the lecturer of national reputation, or is granted the privilege of listening to the speaker who is an authority in his line. The subjects that could be treated range from the particular, referring especially to the courses in the curriculum, to those of general interest. Of the latter kind are the weekly lectures given on current events at Trinity college. Perhaps Yale may not be cited fairly in this respect. Nevertheless, a glance at the weekly bulletin of that university reveals some interesting facts. Every day in the week, except Sunday, lectures are given, open for the most part to all the students of the university.

The classical society offers an incentive for outside work that might be an example to some of the other departments. The program of that organization is so far ahead of last year's that it deserves notice. Thirteen members of the faculty will speak or read papers before the society this year, six more than in 1904-5. Four more meetings will be held. In its scope and variety the program far surpasses the last one. The interest which the student-body has in the evening lecture was manifested by the large attendance at the first meeting last week.

The classical department, however, is the exception. We do not lose sight of the fact that lack of resources in the other departments may be the reason for this; the occasional lecture in some departments is often the result of private donation. It also happens that the funds granted by the college must be used for some other purpose. Furthermore, it may be true that others have no resources at all.

Whatever the means, the establishment of a regular system of lectures, to be given by members of the faculty and others, would be an advantage to the college and would stimulate the intellectual life of the students.

COMMUNICATIONS

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

Editor Williams Record;

Sir:—While of course I am sorry we did not win on Saturday, I would not have missed the game on any account, as I have not seen such an exhibition of the old indomitable Williams spirit in a long while. The plucky fight of our team against heavy odds, their magnificent stand a few feet from the goal line; the steady cheering and songs of the college, and the homeward march with band playing and courage still unbeaten—all this compelled enthusiastic admiration.

No matter who won this time, the awakening of the last few weeks is worth more to us than a good many touchdowns.

Very truly,
Talcott Miner Banks '90.

Editor of The Record:

Sir:—Through your columns I wish to call the attention of students to the custom that has become prevalent of crossing the lawns on the Campus, at any point, regardless of the paths which have been provided. This, coupled with the practice of walking on the turf at the edge of the walks and cutting corners, is fast making our lawns unsightly.

At this time of year especially, with the alternate freezing and thawing, the damage thus done becomes very great. I therefore wish to ask the co-operation of the students in an effort to better the present conditions and to help to maintain the beauty of the Campus, of which we have long been so justly proud.

May I ask that each man will bear this in mind and in the future use the sidewalks and paths that have been provided.

Willard E. Hoyt.
Treasurer of Williams College.

Lecture Date Cancelled

Professor Wilhelm Ostwald, who was to have lectured Monday evening on "The Growth of Scientific Thought Through the Centuries," was unable to leave Cambridge at that time. He will deliver the lecture in Williamstown early in December.

Catalogue Number of Bulletin

The 1905 college catalogue, No. 1 of series 3 of the Williams College Bulletin, appeared yesterday. The book is the same in general appearance as last year's, but contains 134 pages against 128 last year. It shows a teaching force of forty-nine members, against forty-four last year.

After Thanksgiving the vacations for the year are as follows: From Wednesday noon, December 20, through Wednesday, January 3; February 22; from Wednesday, April 11, through Wednesday, April 18; May 30. Recitations end June 9, and Commencement will be held June 27.

The registration shows 5 resident graduate students; 79 seniors, 106 juniors, 99 sophomores, 134 freshmen and 25 in partial courses, making a total of 448. The number last year was 477, counting 35 non-resident graduate students, who are not entered in the 1905 catalogue.

According to states, there are 173 from New York, 94 from Massachusetts, 31 from Illinois, 29 from New Jersey, 18 from Ohio, 17 from Connecticut, 14 from Pennsylvania, 9 from Vermont, 8 each from Indiana, Minnesota, and Wisconsin. Africa, Hawaii, India and Japan have one each.

COLLEGE NOTES

The Thanksgiving recess will begin on Wednesday, Nov. 29, at 12:30 p.m., and will end at 2:00 p. m., Friday, Dec. 1.

The Garfield memorial window is being put in place in the west transept of the chapel.

Wilcox '09 is at his home in Montclair, N.J. He has recovered from his first acute attack of appendicitis but will be operated on tomorrow.

The picture of the 'varsity football team was taken at Kinsman's Tuesday afternoon. Fifteen men who played in the Wesleyan or Amherst games were in the picture.

A member of the senior class has given gold watch fobs, in the form of a Williams seal, to the football mansger and the members of the team who played in the Colgate game.

The following men are entitled to wear the "HHC" of the hsre and hound club: Ayers, Miller 1906; Buffinton, Davis, Durfee, Hompe, Lawrence, Lesser, Morrison, C. B. Stewart, Wilder, 1907; Anderson, B. P. Allen, Bullard, Goodbody, Johnson 1908; Holmes, Loomis, Rowland 1909.

The New Jersey Essex county club was organized on Monday with sixteen members. A. B. Thompeon '07 was elected president and Bullard '08 secretary. Bullard, Douglass and Westen were appointed a committee of arrangements for the meetings.

A philosophical society was organized Tuesday evening by men taking philosophy courses. The following officers were elected: Ayers '06, president; Yarnelle '07, vice-president; Fitch '06, secretary and treasurer. Meetings will be held alternate Tuesdays in 17 Jesup Hall.

Exhibition of Photographs

The art department has placed on exhibition in the rack on the second floor of Hopkins Hall several pictures of scenery in the Rockies of British Columbia, about the towns of Glacier and Banff. The pictures include glacier and peculiar ice formations, among them the Great Glacier; the beautiful valleys of the Asulkan and Bow rivers in that region; Lake Louise and Mirror Lake; and, among the montains in the range, Cheops, Stephen, Victoria, and that peak well-known to mountain climbers, Mt. Sir Donald, called the Matterhorn of the Canadian Rookies. The pictures are very clear, and some of them are interesting from a purely photographic point of view, showing beautiful cloud formations.

The pictures are the gift to the art department of Rev. Herbert W. Gleason '77, of Boston.

IN BASKETBALL

Outlook for 1905-1906—Four Veteran Players in College

The basketball team for 1905-1906 has a hard task before it to equal the record of preceding teams, but possesses remarkable initial strength. Williams has always starred at basketball. In 1903 the team lost but twice, and in 1904 defeated the best college fives in the east. In 1905 the Williams team reached a still higher point by winning a national championship, disputed to be sure, but by the evidence of comparative scores clearly Williams'.

To reach a similar goal is possible for the team for 1906. Four members of last year's five, Cowell, Neild, Gardner '06, and Tower '07 are still in college. Capt. Wadsworth alone has graduated. However, no more sensational point-getter than he was seen in Lasell Gymnasium last year. In no game did he fail to score a basket. To find a forward who can fill his place will be extremely difficult.

The material in the freshman class, though at present meager, shows promise, and Appell '06 seems to be entirely recovered from the illness which prevented him from playing his best game last year. More material is needed, however, especially from 1909, for both the fifth place on the 'varsity and the scrub.

If this freshman material shows up strong, the team should be successful. The four men in college have both experience and knowledge of each other's game. All of them have played together two years, and two of them, Capt. Cowell and ex-Capt. Neild, have been on the team since freshman year.

The strongest points of the team last year were guarding and passing, the weakest basket-shooting. The team is well-balanced. Cowell is one of the best, if not the best scoring guard in college basketball, and Tower outshot his opponents 2 to 1 last year. Neild, at the end of the season, had shot more baskets than the total of the best players opposed to him of other colleges—Dartmouth, Brown Yale, Holy Cross, Syracuse, Minnesota, Wesleyan—in all of which the best man was at center. Gardner had but 7 baskets made on him in the entire 22 games. Neild again proved himself an accurate shot from the foul line. The four veterans on the team could give a good account of themselves with but a mediocre fifth man. If, then, 1909 can supply as accurate a shot as Wadsworth at forward, the success of the season is assured.

1902—Orwell B. Towne, professor of oratory at Kansas university, was married recently to Miss Lucelia Clare of Junction City, Kan.

Change in Berkshire Hall Plans

It has been decided to make the entrances to the wings of Berkshire Hall on the west front instead of on the ends, as at first planned. This change was adopted since it was found that the hill fell away so sharply on the north end, that the construction of an entrance would necessitate the building of costly retaining walls and approaches, while an entrance at the south end of the south wing would be exceedingly inconvenient for all approaching the building from the west.

This change has necessitated a slight alteration in the ground floor, making several of the rooms smaller than called for by the original plans.

On Question for Debate

At a meeting Saturday evening of the men entered in the preliminaries for the Brown and Dartmouth debates, Prof. Nelson spoke on the question submitted by Williams to the alumni committee. It was decided to hold the first preliminaries December 6 and 8.

REV. DR. R. R. BOOTH

Death of Oldest Member of Board of Trustees of Williams

Rev. Robert Russell Booth, D. D., LL. D., one of the most prominent of Williams alumni, the oldest member of the Board of Trustees and one of the foremost clergymen of the Presbyterian faith in America, died at his home in New York city Thursday evening.

Dr. Booth was widely known to Williams men. His unbroken service of thirty-nine years on the Board of Trustees is one of the longest and most honorable on record. He has attended the Williams commencements for many years, and regularly led the annual prayer meeting held in Mission Park.

Robert Russell Booth was born in New York May 16, 1830, the son of William A. and Alida Russell Booth. Graduating from Williams college in 1849, the youngest of that notable class, he entered Auburn Theological seminary, studying under his uncle Dr. Hickok, the famous writer on metaphysics, and president of Union college. He also studied at the University of Halle, Germany. Receiving the degree of M. A. from Auburn, Mr. Booth became colleague to Dr. Beman, pastor of the old First Presbyterian church in Troy, remaining there three and a half years. In Oct. 1853, he married Miss Emma Louise Lathrop of Auburn, who survives him. Leaving Troy, he became pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Stamford, Conn., where he remained until 1857. In that year he became pastor of the Mercer Street Church in New York, and during his pastorate there he visited Europe three times, traveling in Egypt, Palestine, Turkey, Spain and Russia. In 1864, he received the honorary degree of D. D., from the University of the City of New York. From 1861-'70, he was pastor of the University Place church, and from 1870-'83 of the Rutgers Riverside church. Lafayette college conferred upon him the degree of LL. D., in 1895.

Since 1886, Dr. Booth was chaplain (emeritus) of the 22nd Regiment, N. Y. N. G.; he was chairman of the General Assembly committee on Foreign missions; a member of the Prudential committee of the American Board of Education; director of Union Theological seminary, director, trustee and vice-president of Princeton Theological seminary, was a member of the Union League, Century and

REVIEW OF LIT.

Prof. Spring Comments on November Issue of the Monthly

The Literary Monthly for November begins with Mr. Pettit's class poem for 1905. It is in praise of "eager hope"—a fitting theme for the occasion—and describes its mission in well-built, musical quartrains. The sketch, "Two Men and a Fly," has a nervous, rapid movement. The scene is laid in a café into which late at night come two men—one of them slight, thin, with grey hair and chalky skin, the other big, hearty, self-satisfied. A fly troubles the first, persistently buzzing about him and alighting on the back of his hand, and he manages to crush it. The other, watching the operation, seeing in it some symbol of his own situation and fate, suddenly escapes from the room through an open window and flies from financial sharpers who were weaving their toils about him. Though the sketch leaves a good deal to the imagination of the reader, it presents a lively picture of a man in financial extremities suddenly resolved to elude the promoters who are to meet him at the café, and suppose that he cannot escape them.

The idea which underlies the sonnet on Guido's Beatrice Cenci—the parallel between the sad beauty of certain phases of the moonlit sea and that of Beatrice—is decidedly poetical. The phrasing, however, does not always keep quite up to the level of the general conception. The essay on Count Rumford presents the salient features of his remarkable career in a direct, perspicuous, though at times a rather staccato fashion. The most notable article in this number of the Monthly is Mr. Westermann's Avaron—a monody on a king's son who died in his youth. The music of the verse—sweet, varied, solemn yet without sadness—fits the theme. Besides, there are in the poem elements of spiritual insight which we seldom find in undergraduate work. We noticed one inadmissible rhyme—shore and Minotaur. There is rarely any jolt in the verse, but the word unprison in the last two lines gives us something of the sort—

"Till the slowly fading sunset's bars Unprison the angelic stars."

"The Secretary and the Gunboat" is written with a good deal of dash and elan, but some of the sentences need revision, as for example phrases put in the mouth of

DR. KNOX ON JAPAN

Problems of Japan and Results of War With Russia

Prof. George W. Knox, D. D., gave an unusually interesting talk on "Results of the War with Japan" at the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall last evening. Dr. Knox lived in Japan eleven years, is intimate with Baron Kaneko and others of the Japanese statesmen and nobility. He said in outline:

In days to come the Japanese will look upon the recent peace as their greatest victory. By this peace Japan won a place among the great powers, the first won by any Asiatic power in 500 years. The ghost of the yellow peril is laid forever by the terms which Japan made. Yet Japan secured by the terms of the treaty three times the amount demanded in its ultimatum, and won all that common sense could demand.

Japan's problems of peace are now greater than ever were its problems of war. In Japan party strife is intense. The groups are able to coalesce for attack in war, but in time of peace it is almost impossible to make parliamentary government successful.

As for Korea, the country cannot reform itself. This work remains for Japan, and is a task as hard as that of the United States in the Philippines. Japan also has another problem, to make itself rich, so that it can compete with the billionaire nations, and in securing this materialistic success, to solve the problem of preserving its national, ethical ideals.

President Roosevelt on Football

"It would be a real misfortune to lose so manly and vigorous a game as football, and to avert such a possibility, the authorities in each college should see to it that the game at that college is clean." These words of President Roosevelt express exactly the feeling of college men generally on the subject of football, and his opinion should check much of the hasty, sweeping criticism that has been so common lately. It also should silence many of the extremists who offer a solution that is impossible, the abolition of the game. In doing away with football altogether, its good characteristics, which far outnumber the others, would be sacrificed with the bad features. Besides, football has too firm a hold and is too great a part of college athletics. Nor has a satisfactory substitute been offered.

The President believes in permanently abolishing brutality and foul play, by increasing the severity of penalties and giving more power to officials. He believes that if necessary, the umpire should order off the field not only individual players, but whole teams. Every one seems agreed that football reform is needed, and a majority suggest a revision of the rules. The solution, then, rests with the football authorities, to make the necessary changes, and make them radical enough.

The Basketball Schedule

The list of basketball games for 1905 6 appears in this issue. A manager has many problems to solve, and many restrictions, in arranging a schedule. Rules by faculty committees and athletic councils must be observed. First of all, a certain number of games with recognized rivals must be included. At the same time, even at the expense of omitting desirable games, the management must guarantee itself against financial loss. These considerations should be taken into account in criticising a schedule, as the problems of a season in commenting on a financial report.

A decided advantage is given a basketball manager, because games may be played on any date and are not limited to Wednesdays and Saturdays, as the case is in football, and usually in baseball. After the record of the 1905 basketball team, a better chance is offered this year of a strong schedule. For this reason a fair comparison cannot be made with last year's.

The 1905-1906 list is good, but not exceptional. No serious objections can be made, however, if the management succeeds in its efforts to play Columbia on a neutral floor, to add a practice trip during Christmas vacation, and to secure a game with Minnesota for the open date on Feb. 21.

By faculty ruling the schedule contains three less games than usual. Basketball is properly kept from assuming a position, in relation to the three major branches of athletics, out of proportion to its real prominence. We are glad to note that Williams will not meet Columbia on the home floor of the Blue and White. It is also to be noticed with approval that the only game with a non-college team, the strong Fitchburg five, takes place at Williamstown. The feature of the schedule, however, is the number of home contests with some of the best fives in the country. Pennsylvania, Colgate, Dartmouth, and Brown are reputed better than ever this year.

There are apparent defects in the schedule. In view of Williams' record last year, it is to be regretted that the management was unable to secure more games with members of the intercollegiate league, for example Princeton, Harvard and Cornell. In this the management was hampered to some extent by faculty ruling, as can be seen in Harvard's cancelling a game scheduled at Williamstown. If Williams' claims of last year are maintained, the Purple is justified in refusing to meet these teams on their home floors. The management must have been influenced by very strong reasons to omit Syracuse from the schedule. Last year the Syracuse five was nearly as strong as Williams, the Purple winning out by a single point. If possible, the Orange should have been given another chance.

In place of two games with Dartmouth, Wesleyan, and Brown, three would be better. This arrangement would settle decisively the question of supremacy. The odd game, in each case, could be played at Williamstown on alternate years. With the greater part of the hard contests after the mid-year examinations, Williams must play fast ball to win all of them, even on its own floor.

ADAMOWSKI TRIO

First of the Series of Thompson Entertainments

The return of the Adamowski Trio last Thursday evening to inaugurate the series of entertainments of the Thompson Course for the current year, was a welcome event to the college. Jesup Hall was well filled and those who were not present missed a delightful concert.

The combination of violin, 'cello and piano is one in which music makes a beautiful and grateful appeal, when presented by artists of such rank as the Adamowski brothers and Mme. Szumowska.

The trio of Rubinstein in B flat was played in its complete form of four movements, and the warmth of the applause following each showed the keenness of the pleasure it gave. The playing in this and the Andante and Scherzo from Saint-Saëns' trio in F was characterized by extreme delicacy and refinement, particularly effective in the Andante of Rubinstein and the two movements by Saint-Saëns. The 'cello playing of Mr. J. Adamowski was notable for its life, purity and sympathetic quality of tone infused into the Rubinstein melody and Popper Tarantelle. Mme. Szumowska is an artist to whose temperament the genial nature and delicate texture of Wagner's Spinning Song is perhaps more suited than the breadth of song and intensity of feeling in the Chopin G minor Ballade.

The program follows:

TRIO in B-flat major — Rubinstein
Allegro moderato — Scherzo
Andante — Finale

Colonial clubs of New York, and a trustee of Williams since 1866. From 1863-'69 he was moderator of the Presbyterian Synod of New York and in 1895 he was moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church. He has published the following works: "Christian Union and Denominational Loyalty, A sermon," 1896; "History of the Rutgers Riverside church, A Centennial Discourse, delivered May 15, 1898." "The Nation's Crisis and The Christian's Duty," 1861, and "The Relation of the Work of Missions to Christianity," 1865.

Dr. Booth's funeral was held at 1:30 this afternoon at the Rutgers Riverside Presbyterian church. Dr. Hopkins and several members of the board of trustees attended.

Systematic Giving

It has been suggested that an explanation of the work and needs of the Christian association systematic giving committee be published in these columns. The money collected by the committee is used partly to relieve poverty in the immediate vicinity of Williamstown, partly to help support the White Oaks chapel, and chiefly as a contribution to the support of Pasumalai college in Pasumalai, India. This institution is one which was founded by a Williams man and to whose work Williams men have long contributed. In the industrial education of the natives the school is especially interested, but its success is largely hampered by lack of funds.

The school includes a college, high school, training institution, middle school, and primary department, with a total enrollment of 549. The school's total expense for the year is now about $8,000, giving an average expense per student of about $14.50 per year.

Plays for Deutscher Verein

The members of the Deutscher Verein are now reading the following short plays: "Post Festum" by Ernst Wickert, "Eigensinn" by Roderich Benedix, "Wie Man Sich Bildet" by Ernst Schmidt, "Der Schlusselband" by Oscar Herrmann, and "Jagderfolge" by Roderich Benedix. One of these plays will be presented after the Christmas vacation.

the frothy, ranting swashbuckler Lucardu, in which words are needlessly repeated.

Mr. Westermann in his "On Gloucester Downs" has caught the spirit of the region with its wonderful sea-line of cove and inlet, of massive ledge and gigantic boulder. Mr. Lowe writes pleasantly and suggestively of the old white meeting house in "Field Park" where the college and the town held their Sunday services together for many years.

Sanctum rejoices in the revival of college spirit and in the increased number of contributors to the Monthly while Chat seems to have been stirred by the vision of a "little woman," managing a migration of fresh air children which dawned upon him last summer.

CLASS GAMES

Seniors and Juniors Win First of Basketball Series

The first of the class basketball games were played in Lasell Gymnasium Saturday afternoon, and the underclasses were in both cases defeated. 1906 had an easy time with 1908, winning 26 to 8, while the 1907 team had a hard fight with the freshmen in the first half, finally winning out 20-12.

1906 did not show their last year's form in their game with 1908, although they had occasional moments of brilliant passing. 1908 did not guard closely, and were unable to pass the ball except under their opponent's basket. Capt. Watters played much the best game, while Casey shot most baskets for 1906.

The summary:

Griswold, lf	rg, B. P. Allen
Cowperthwait rf.	lg, Watters
Casey, Barrett, c	c, Johnson
Barlow, Barrett, Wright, lg	rf, Harman
Blaisdell, rg	lf, Fenno

Baskets from floor: Casey 5, Blaisdell 3, Cowperthwait 2, Barlow 2, Griswold; Harman 2, Watters. Basket from foul, Watters. Point awarded 1908 for foul made on Harman while shooting. Referee and Umpire, Cowell '06. Timekeeper, Macnutt '06.

1907, 20; 1909, 12

The junior-freshman game was hard fought in the first half, the first basket being shot by Warren after seven minutes of play. 1907 was unable to get its passing game going in the first half. In the second half Stewart made several good shots from under the basket, after accurate passing down the floor. Swain and Crawford played best for the freshman team, but failed at times to guard closely.

The summary:

1907	1909
Warren, lf	rg, Tifft
Stewart, rf	lg, Swain, Crawford
Durfee, c	c, Horrax
Morrison, Allen, lg	rf, Crawford, Swain
Mitchell, rg	lf, Royce

Baskets from floor: Stewart 6, Warren 2, Durfee, Allen; Swain 4, Crawford 2. Referee and umpire, Cowell '06. Timer, Macnutt '06.

Good Government Club

The Good Government club was reorganized Friday evening with twenty-nine members. The following officers were elected: President, Nomer '06; vice-president, A. H. Thompson '07; secretary, Stanley '07; treasurer, Hart '07. Member of executive committee in addition to the president and the vice-president, Loomis '06.

It was voted to accept the offer of the Y. M. C. A. of financial assistance in securing speakers. The constitution was amended so that underclassmen as well as upperclassmen are eligible to membership.

COLLEGE NOTES

Ide '98, Hatch '03, and Griswold '04 were in town over Sunday.

The Gun club held a shoot on the Taconic club range Saturday afternoon.

The second illustrated lecture in connection with Latin 2 was given on Saturday morning by Prof. Wild.

Prof. and Mrs. Spring entertained members of the English 8 class Saturday evening. "The Merchant of Venice" was read.

The freshman class leads the other classes in the number of men not having any cuts to their credit, with five. 1906 and 1908 are next with one; 1907 has none.

The anthem, "Sun of my soul," sung at the vesper service yesterday, and the solo, "O, could I speak the matchless worth," sung by Mr. Lord '05 at the service of the week before, are recent compositions by Mr. Salter, published by Schirmer, New York.

Boston Alumni Association

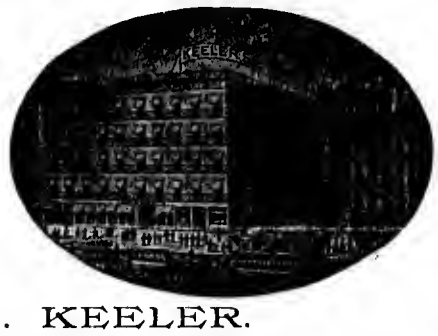
The Boston alumni have combined the separate associations formerly conducting the annual dinner and the series of smokers, into a new one, to be known as the Williams Alumni Association of Boston. The first smoker will be held in December, the dinner late in January, and the second smoker in March.

The committee in charge consists of Judge James R. Dunbar '71, Bentley W. Warren '85, McGregor Jenkins '90, Irving McD. Garfield '93, Olcott O. Partridge '94, Rodney Spring '94, Edward A. Watson '97, James F. Bacon '98, and Philip R. Dunbar 1900. The annual membership fee is $5. Those desiring to join the association are requested to send their names to the treasurer, P. R. Dunbar, 70 State St., Boston.

Cap and Bells Play Chosen

Cap and Bells has decided definitely to present this year "The Man from Mexico." The first performance will be given at the Williamstown Opera House the second week in February. Mr. McDonald will coach the cast after Christmas vacation and parts will be assigned on a competitive basis.

NOTICES



—The "HHC" cups may be ordered of Hinman '07 before November 29.

—The official Williams souvenir calendar will be on sale at the usual time, Dec. 1. C. M. Waters '08, manager. (Adv.)

—Notice is given that all contributions intended for the January Lit. must be ready by December 16th, as the January meeting of the board will be held before the Christmas vacation, instead of after, as in previous years.

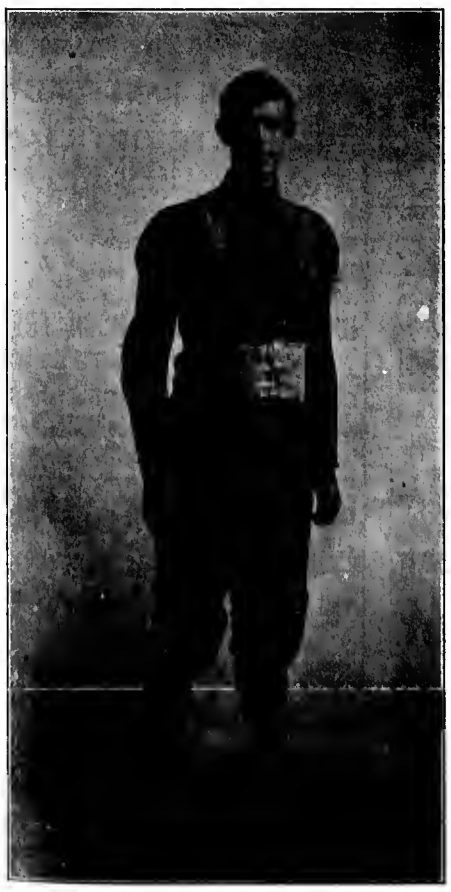
FOOTBALL REVIEW

Eleven Games Played—Six Won and Five Lost



The 1905 football eleven, in spite of the loss of seven W men by graduation, won six out of eleven contests, and closed the season with excellent prospects for next year. A defeat by M. A. C. in 1904 was retrieved by a victory, Harvard and Columbia were held to lower scores, and the loss of the Dartmouth game was partially atoned for by a victory over Colgate, which had lowered the Green by a score of 16-10. The victorious Wesleyan team was one of the best in the history of that university, and in the Amherst game the score by no means reflects the relative playing ability of the elevens.

The schedule was excellently arranged for the team's development. Beginning with a victory over Williston, in which the Purple was not held for downs once, the eleven played good football at Harvard the following Saturday, holding them to the smallest score since 1902. The Union game at Schenectady saw the team at its poorest, for Union outplayed the Purple in the second half. Again offense was better than defense. The first third of the season closed with the M. A. C. game, in which brilliant end-running by the backs, with good tackle bucks in the second half, scored two touchdowns.

THE WILLIAMS FOOTBALL TEAM, 1905

Columbia's 11-5 victory was a disappointment, Williams' strong work being spoiled by constant fumbling. The work of the team on the offensive was still superior, but the defense play now began to improve, and Columbia was several times held for downs or forced to kick. A brace in the second half gave the touchdown that should have come earlier. At Dartmouth the next Saturday the Purple met a much stronger team, and was unable to gain until late in the second half. Following the game at Hanover, W. P. I. and R. P. I. were played in the same week and in each game a large score was made by Williams.

H. D. BIXBY, CAPTAIN

The Colgate game at Albany deserves careful review. Every man on the team played good football, and Waters, Bixby and the ends, were only the best where all played at the top of their game. Team play on the offense and a strong secondary defense gave Williams a victory by a score of 5 to 0 against a team outweighing the Purple 10 pounds to the man.

Against Wesleyan at Middletown the next Saturday the eleven, although fighting hard for every second of play, could not do as well. When the Red and Black's heavy backs and tackles could not gain, Van Surdam slipped around the ends, and his 76-yard run for a touchdown will be famous in Wesleyan football history. Again Waters excelled at defense.

The final contest against Amherst, on Weston Field November 18, saw the team in their Colgate form again, but against a team of better than Colgate caliber. Swept off their feet in the first few minutes of play, the eleven rallied finely, and held Amherst for downs 2 inches from the goal. In the second half the play of the teams was even, and only another long run, this by Shattuck, brought Amherst's score to 17.

THE MANAGERS

Walter Summerhayes Case 1906, manager, prepared at the Wilson-Lyon school, New York city. His management, marked by a schedule well fitted to the needs of the team, and a necessary conservative policy, has been satisfactory in every way.

W. S. CASE, MANAGER

Charles Parmenter Moies, jr. 1907, prepared at the Dr. Holbrook school, Ossining, N. Y., and was elected assistant manager in Feb., 1905. He will direct the business affairs of the football association in 1906.

VOL. 19 DECEMBER 4, 1905, No. 41

Football Abolished at Columbia

The Columbia committee on student organizations has disbanded the university football association and passed a resolution which prohibits the present game of football at Columbia. College presidents and professors who have expressed their opinions on the action, are generally opposed to the abolition of the game. The Columbia Spectator voices the feeling of a great majority of college undergraduates, as well as its own student body, in saying that the step is "altogether too radical and far reaching."

The action seems to be a condemnation of the game, with utter disregard of its good points. The elements of value in the game must have seemed few indeed to the committee, when no attempt was made to preserve them. The faults which are manifest this year existed last year, and the year before. They have not sprung up in one season. It is not likely that influence has been brought to bear by the university authorities upon the rules committee, to make alterations in the rules that would eliminate these faults. If it has, and failed, opportunity was given then for the authorities to take the matter into their own hands. As it is, the game having been allowed to reach its present development unhindered, is done away with by a snap judgment, in which public opinion after the death of a player from football injuries, may have had a large share. With the game on trial, a decision has been reached before the defendant's case has been presented.

The committee's action is as unnecessary as it is premature. It seems to be agreed that the principal objections, of which brutality is the most important, can be removed by changing the rules of the game. Nine months will elapse before football is tried again. The fairer course would have been to await the revision of the rules, which is now inevitable. If Columbia were dissatisfied with the changes, it might then be justified in prohibiting the game.

Of all the colleges in the country Williams should be the last to abolish football. Little fault can be found with the way in which the game has been conducted in the college. Instances of brutality are most exceptional, and the injury sustained by players has been slight. The statistics from Williams for the past thirteen years, sent to Dr. White of the University of Pennsylvania, show that all who have been injured have recovered completely, and that there have been no marked cases of permanent deformity, nor has any injury interfered with further athletic exercise, or with a man's life work.

Football has never been so absorbing a topic of interest that it proved harmful to academic standing. In fact, there is occasion every fall to deplore, from a student standpoint, the lack of support given football by the college body, in not attending practice and games played out of town. On the whole, the undergraduate interest seems to be evenly divided among the different branches of athletics, and the amount given to football is not unreasonable. When a student's curriculum work suffers, the cause is most often individual laziness. Among the minor objections to football, professionalism and commercialism are the most important. They do not exist at Williams.

President Eliot says: "Deaths and injuries are not the strongest arguments against football. That cheating and brutality are profitable is the main evil." The objection is indisputable and may apply to every team that plays under the present rules. Though there may be no ground for prohibiting the game at Williams, the college could stand firmly for rule revision, for the reason quoted above, whether or not Williams players have been guilty of profiting by violation of the regulations of the game.

but a base business. We have made of it a business and have ruined it. Played by gentlemen in the spirit of sportsmen, between fairly matched and properly selected and trained teams, it is the best game we have. When so played, the risk of bodily injury is not excessive. It tests strength, skill and courage: it teaches self-control, quick decision, and the value of discipline and of perfect co-operation. If abolished, it will be a great loss; nevertheless, as now administered, it costs a thousand times more than it is worth.

The wide public demand that the game be radically reformed or abolished is right and must be complied with. We have delayed too long. And yet the public are to blame for the demoralization of the game. The hysterical thousands who crowd the bleachers render sport for sport's sake impossible; they make the rival teams crazy for victory. The heavy betting intensifies and embitters the excitement; the one thing is to win. The coaches are employed just for that, the opposing alumni demand just that and put up their money to obtain just that. As human nature is constituted, the temptation becomes, in the excitement of play, irresistible to win at any cost. Honor, dignity, true sportsmanship and honorable rivalry are lost, and all the evils of which the magazines tell us come in with more or less power to discredit academic sports.

Football enthusiasm is fine. It creates healthy esprit de corps; but the football craze as it has come to exist is stultifying, is a sign of demoralization. It dominates in a ludicrous way the thought and conversation of student life, unsettles moral values, and at the great games possesses the multitudes in a way that suggests the decadent throngs of the Roman Circus or the Spanish bull-fight. It makes light of human suffering and is wickedly careless of human life.

Let us return to sanity and play football like gentlemen. This means radical reform. The rules proposed by the University of Pennsylvania are good as a beginning.

Henry Hopkins.

THE TEAM

Henry Dike Bixby 1906, captain and left tackle, prepared for college at Stone's school, Boston. Injuries prevented him from playing freshman year. In 1903 he was right tackle on the 'varsity and last year left guard. Bixby is good on defense, has gained much ground on the revolving play, and is one of the most consistent players on the team. Above all, he has exhibited the essential qualities of a captain.

Warren Hezekiah Blaisdell 1906, substitute right end, came to college from Chelmsford High school. He was on the squad last year; a good tackler and gets down the field well on punts.

Leonard Lord Campbell 1906, center, from Culver Military academy, was also regular center in 1902. He plays a heady game and passes exceptionally well to quarterback.

Arthur Milton Brown 1907, right halfback, came to Williams from the Troy High school. He has been on the squad three years, is fast on the offense and is a slippery man around the end.

Reginald Davis Johnson 1907, right tackle, prepared at the Morristown school, Morristown, N. J., and has played on the squad two years. His game is strong, particularly on the defense.

Downing Potter Brown 1908, left halfback, two years on the 'varsity, came from Andover. A consistent ground gainer, he excels on the offense.

Edward Frank Curtis 1908, right end, prepared for college at the Williamstown High school, and has been on the team two years. He played his best game this year, is fast down the field and a sure tackler.

William Niles Elder 1908, left end, from Exeter, is an accurate tackler, and quick to fall on a fumbled ball. He was a 'varsity player last year.

Lyman Eldridge 1908, right guard, from the Williamstown High school, made the team last year. Injuries have prevented him from playing up to his game, but he has been good on offense.

George Herbert Kelley 1908, quarterback, from Thayer academy, was on the squad last season. He handles the ball well and is good in interference.

Harold Hawkins LaMent 1908, fullback, from the Pittsfield High school, has speed and hits the line hard. He was unable to come out for the team last year. He promises to develop into a strong player.

Ernest Jones Marshall 1908, substitute guard and tackle, prepared at Exeter. Last year he was right tackle on the 'varsity; he is experienced and better on offense than defense.

Clyde Merleton Waters 1908, quarterback and fullback, came to college from the Oberlin High school. He is the best player on the team and has been elected captain for 1906. Waters is strong in bucking the line, is the mainstay of the secondary defense, a good field general and a brilliant individual player. This is his second year on the Williams eleven.

Henry William Harter, jr., 1909, left guard, prepared at the Williston seminary. Fast for his weight, his playing has improved consistently as the season advanced.

THE COACHES

The record of head coach Morris Ely, Yale '98, is well known to Williams men. The second year under his coaching has shown more strongly than ever the advantages of the Yale style of play. The knowledge of the game shown by the team, their excellent condition and, above all, their fighting spirit are evidence of the careful, intelligent work done by Mr. Ely and his staff.

James Arthur Hatch 1903, graduate coach, has proved a valuable assistant in carrying out Mr. Ely's system of play. The best football material the college affords has been brought out through his personal efforts. Standing firmly for good discipline and strict training, Mr. Hatch has directed the eleven to its highest point of efficiency.

J. A. HATCH, GRADUATE COACH

Paper by Dr. Gerig

On Monday evening in Griffin Hall Dr. Gerig gave before the Classical society a comprehensive, scholarly, clear paper on "Comparative Grammar and Sanskrit."

The early work in linguistics dealt only with the mother tongue, and not until the 18th century was the affinity between different tongues properly treated. Franz Bopp was the founder of philology, doing for language what Linnaeus did for botany. Evidences of linguistic kinship come from congruence of linguistic material and inflectional correspondence.

Indo-European is at the basis of all languages. Sanskrit as a whole presenting its most primitive aspects. Phonetic rules governing words in the nine groups of Indo-European tongues were made by Grimm, supplemented by Verner and Grassman. Of especial interest is the work of Prof. W. D. Whitney, '45, LL. D., Ph. D., J. U. D., L. H. D., the greatest American philologist, who has shown the influence of false analogy on philological changes.

THE MINISTRY

Rev. Dr. Hall Gives Second of Series of Life-Work Talks

Rev. Charles Cuthbert Hall, D. D., LL. D., '72, president of Union Theological seminary, gave the second of the series of lifework talks in Jesup Hall last evening, speaking on the ministry. He said in outline:

An impulse toward the ministry is not proof positive of fitness for that vocation, but there must be other qualifications. Never has the ministry had so great an opportunity as afforded it at the present day. The ministry has just passed through a transition period marked by two stages, a suspicion that the Bible was a book that would not stand scientific investigation, and as a result of the critical processes brought to bear, a lack of faith among men. Now that this transition period is past, the result is a conviction that the Bible is more evidently divine, and that the fountains of inspiration lie so deep that questions of historical criticism may flit over the surface and have no effect.

Again, the study of religion has sprung up. Formerly we "got religion", as we acquire a new language; now we know that the idea of religion is universal, that it is a mysterious correspondence with God. "The world is longing for men of sympathy, feeling and power, who can come and mediate between men and God. The work of the ministry is to interpret God to men, and interpret men to themselves in their relations to God."

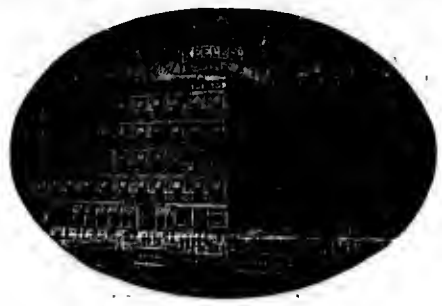
Prof. Ferry, Dean, Forced to Leave College Because of Ill Health

Dr. Frederick C. Ferry, dean of the college, left Williamstown Tuesday evening, having been forced to give up his work by ill-health caused by overwork. Dr. and Mrs. Ferry are now at their home in Saratoga, N. Y., and will sail for Naples on December 7, by the White Star line from New York.

During Prof. Ferry's absence, Prof. Wild will act as dean; Mathematics 5 will be taken by Dr. Capron, one of whose Mathematics 1 divisions has been divided among his other divisions. Dr. Wetmore will take part of Prof. Wild's Latin work.

Dean's Notice

Until further notice the Dean's Office Hours will be as follows:



For students: 11:00—12:00 every week day except Saturdays; 11:45—12:45 Saturdays only; 3:45—4:15 Thursdays.

For instructors: Thursdays, 3:15—3:45 and 4:15—4:30; Saturdays 2:00—3:00.

SECOND CHAMPIONSHIP

1907 Again Secures First Honors in Basketball—1906 Beaten 15-8

By winning the class basketball game with 1906 by a score of 15 to 8 yesterday afternoon the class of 1907 won the interclass basketball championship for the second time. Again a victory for 1906 would have given them first place, but the victory for the juniors came much harder this year than last. The game showed rare ability for class teams. Every man played brilliantly.

The two teams were evenly matched, fought hard, and from the referee's whistle to the middle of the second half there was but little difference in the play, the juniors at that time leading by two points. 1906 here took a brace and by fast passing kept the ball at their end of the floor, but three easy shots failed to bring a score. A foul on Blaisdell was converted into a point by Stewart, the juniors' play improved, and in a scene of intense excitement Durfee shot a fine basket one-handed from the side, followed a moment later by another when Allen broke away and, uncovered, tossed the ball through the net. Heady work by the 1907 guards prevented further scoring. 1907 excelled at shooting, and blocked brilliantly at all times, while what little advantage at passing rested with either team was with 1906. At the end of the first half the score was 4-4.

The summary:

1907	1906
Stewart lf,	rg, Barlow
Warren rf,	lg, Blaisdell
Durfee c,	c, Casey
Allen lg,	rf, Cowperthwait
Mitchell rg,	lf, Griswold

Score, 1907 15, 1906 8. Baskets from floor, Durfee 3, Allen 2, Stewart, Mitchell; Blaisdell 2, Casey, Cowperthwait. Basket from foul, Stewart. Referee and umpire, Cowell '06. Timekeeper, Macnutt '06. Time, two 15-minute halves.

1908 Loses Third Game

1909 defeated 1908 easily 20 to 9, with ability to catch and pass and good blocking under 1908's goal responsible. Horrax, able to get free from his man easily, shot with great accuracy, but Crawford was the mainstay of the freshman passing and blocking. Watters played the 1909 team practically alone.

TUESDAY'S GAMES

Seniors Win From 1909 by Score of 21-8—First Half Close

Leading their opponents by only three points at the end of the first half, the senior team easily won from 1909 Tuesday night by a score of 21 to 8. Neither five showed exceptional team work and the large score was due to individual play. The freshmen started the game fast with three baskets while the seniors scored one.

The summary:

1906	1909
Cowperthwait lf, rg,	Royce, Lefferts
Griswold rf,	lg, Crawford
Casey c,	c, Horrax
Barlow lg,	rf, Tifft
Blaisdell rg,	lf, Waters

Score, 1906 21, 1909 8. Baskets from floor: Barlow, Blaisdell 2, Casey, Cowperthwait 5, Griswold; Crawford 2, Horrax, Tifft. Basket from foul, Casey. Referee, Cowell '06. Timekeeper, Macnutt '06. Time, 15-minute halves.

Sophomores Defeated

1907 easily won from the sophomores, 21 to 2. 1908 did well in the first half, holding their opponents to 3 points when Harman had scored the sophomores' only basket after a few minutes of play. The upperclassmen had it all their own way in the last half, using three substitutes in the game.

The summary:

1907	1908
Stewart lf,	rg, Watters

FRESHMAN STATISTICS

Results of Physical Examinations—Comparison With 1908

The following statistics were obtained by Mr. Seeley in his recent physical examination of the freshman class. The corresponding figures for last year's freshman class are also given.

The average age of 1909 is 18 yrs., 10 mo., as compared with 18 yrs., 8 mo., for last year's entering class. The age of the oldest man is 22 yrs., 10 mo., and the youngest 16 yrs., 5 mo.

The average weight is 63.7 Kg. (140.1 lbs.), as compared with 62.47 Kg. (137.43 lbs.). The heaviest man weighs 100.2 Kg. (220.4 lbs.), and the lightest 44.3 Kg. (97.46 lbs.).

The average height is 174.32 cm. (5 ft. 8.5 in.). The tallest is 187.7 cm. (6 ft. 2 in.). The shortest is 160 cm. (5 ft. 3 in.). 1908's average is 173.7 cm. (5 ft. 8.4 in.).

The average strength of the back is 171.08 Kg. (367.4 lbs.), the strongest back is 250 Kg. (550 lbs.), and the weakest is 120 Kg. (264 lbs.). The average strength last year was 142.74 Kg. (314.3 lbs.).

The average number of "dips" is 5 9-25 and the average number of "chins" 5 11-25, as compared with last year's average of 4.86 and 4.5. The largest number of "dips" is 25 and "chins" 15. The smallest is 0 of each.

In total strength the freshman class averages 519.31 points as against 520.13 of 1908. The strongest man has a total of 952.2 points and the weakest 396.2. The strongest man last year reached a total of 818 and the weakest 292.6 points.

The average total development is 495.7 points, the highest 594.4, and the lowest 433.2. 1908's average was 504.1 points.

Senior Class Day Elections

In accordance with the vote of the senior class the election of class day officers will take place in Jesup Hall at 1:30 p. m. Saturday, Dec. 9.

The officers generally elected in previous years have been class-day president, two marshals, permanent class secretary, editor of class book, class day committee of five members orator to lower classes, pipe orator, prophet, prophet on prophet, class poet, ivy poet, historian, photograph committee of three members, class orator, ivy orator, library orator, and class baseball manager.

STUDY OF HEREDITY

Lecture by Prof W. E. Castle in Biological Laboratory

The Lyceum of Natural History has arranged for a lecture in the Biological Laboratory next Monday evening by Prof. W. E. Castle of Harvard on "The Experimental Study of Heredity." Prof. Castle will use lantern slides and the blackboard in his talk.

Prof. Castle has experimented for many years on animals, regarding the existence and action of heredity, and is an authority on the subject. A great impetus has been given to this line of study by the recovery in the last half century of the work of an Austrian priest, Gregor Mendel, who performed some valuable experiments on plants.

As yet no other lecture dates have been made by the Lyceum, but some time next term Prof. C. H. Chittenden, professor of physiological chemistry at Yale and director of Sheffield Scientific school, will give an address. There probably will be several other lectures on biological subjects during the spring term.

Musical Clubs Concert

The musical clubs will give a concert at 8:00 tomorrow evening in Jesup Hall. This is the first concert of the year. The program will be in two parts, with twelve numbers. Two of these numbers will be by the banjo club, which has been entirely reorganized and now consist of six banjos, six mandolins and two guitars. Pevear '07 will sing a solo and Cantwell '06 and Pierce '07 will read.

Basketball Question Again

In the sporting columns of The New York Sun, Nov. 26, the claims of Williams and Columbia for the intercollegiate basketball championship last season are discussed. A general outline is given of the Williams side of the question, followed by a statement charging the Purple with inconsistency.

The article says: "Williams after having been beaten by Dartmouth at Hanover, after having first defeated the Hanoverians on the Williams floor, cancelled a game remaining to be played at Hanover. Of course explanation of a thing like this would be easy for Williams to make, and yet it would be as easy for Dartmouth to say that Williams was afraid as it was for the Berkshire collegians to cry 'coward' at the Columbia team."

The reason stated above is no proof, for it is not based on the truth. We have no desire to prolong a dispute to which there can be no possible settlement satisfactory to both sides, unless the two teams meet on a neutral floor. Nevertheless, it is no more than fair that the facts should be known. The game scheduled between Williams and Dartmouth for March 3 was cancelled by Dartmouth. The Williams management consented to this, and cannot be blamed, after the date had been crossed from both schedules, in refusing the Dartmouth manager's request to play the game as it was first arranged.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

The Editor of The Record,

Sir:—The excellent spirit of constructive reform, which has come over the college this fall, has crystallized into a multitude of organizations and schemes for new organizations. Without commenting upon the danger of too widely diversifying the undergraduate activities of a small college, I should like to express frankly what seems to be a grave defect inherent in two of these movements now under way or nearing completion. The first is the establishment of the "mock senate"; the second, and far more important, is the proposed affiliation of deacons.

Whatever may be the advantages offered by these organizations, are they not futile in that each will work parallel to an already well established institution?

The "mock senate" was constructed with the purpose of arousing interest in debating. But the adoption of the new system of debating had already accomplished this, before the senate was proposed, to the extent of enlisting more men for the trials than have participated for at least three years. If it is the further purpose of the "senate" to afford practice in the serious art of debate, which Williams needs, it is difficult to conceive how this will be accomplished by continuing the present practice of disputing with no knowledge in hand of the question for debate, and by vaunting the bombastic "oratory" which is there in fashion. The two debating societies afford a rich mine of opportunities for honest, solid, enthusiastic work without resorting to sensational means or a parallel organization.

Concerning the deacons the same principle seems to hold true; although this question is much more serious. Will these deacons have any duties not now performed or capable of being performed by the Y. M. C. A? If they are to have no work, but are to stand as figure-heads, the scheme ought to fail. But if their function is to be defined, wherein will it not conflict with that of the Y. M. C. A? They will be co-ordinate in that each will be supposed to represent the religious life of the undergraduates, so that the great danger lies in the tendency that there will be toward a division of energy and the frittering away of the present religious spirit. It is urged that the election of deacons will afford a more democratic expression of the religious life of the students. But cannot this be accomplished by tearing down the slight barrier of membership in the Y. M. C. A., and throwing its franchise open to the college body? If it is felt that the men here ought to do more along religious lines, it would be best to concentrate upon an already well organized institution and make it accomplish what it ought.

We have witnessed in debating the establishment of a new system; we have had added to our Y. M. C. A. a general secretary. Let us see what these excellent innovations will accomplish before we plunge into complexities. What is needed now is not multiplicity of machinery but steam.

Yours sincerely,
William M. Clark.

The plan of establishing a board of deacons has been presented to the college through a communication in these columns, and a method of election has been suggested. It must be admitted that the exact duties have not been outlined. The purpose, however, has been stated clearly, in brief, to give to the college a genuine religious life. This the Y. M. C A. has failed to do. It has no influence in college outside its own membership. It is evident that the college cannot receive inspiration through the association. To make religion real the institution of deacons has been proposed, and, given a trial, its success at Yale should insure the same result here.

These officers cannot be bound down by rules. The personal nature of their work forbids that their functions be fixed; they must be guided as much by experience as by circumstances. However, it is easy to conceive how they can perform practical services which the Y. M. C. A. has not done in the past, or is not capable of doing. The deacons could arrange the list of college preachers in accordance with the wishes of the student-body. They could recommend changes in the daily morning chapel service. They could assist in the communion service.

Aside from these minor duties, the deacons could personally influence men whom the association is unable to reach. In this their efforts, rather than tending towarde a division of energy, would supplement that of the Y. M. C. A. If the college church were placed on a sound basis, it is needless to comment on the increased field of work open to the new officers.

A more democratic spirit in religious life cannot be obtained by the method suggested in the above communication. If the "slight barrier" refers to the requirement of church membership for active membership in the Y. M. C. A., the rule has never been observed at Williams. If the nominal fee paid by members of the association is meant, it is safe to say that no man would be denied a share in the work of the Y. M. C. A. if he refused to sign for the amonnt. The association is practically open to the college now.

We agree that it would be best to concentrate our attention upon the Christian association, if results could be secured. The fact remains that the work to be done is too great for the Y. M. C. A., alone. It must have co-operation. A feasible method of securing this is offered.

Conditions of Entrance

Williams has recently become a member both of the College Entrance Examination Board, and of the New England Entrance Certificate Board. In June, 1906, the entrance examinations will be those prepared by the former Board. The marks given by the Board to the papers submitted will be accepted by the college on the same terms as its own September examinations, which will be conducted by the college the same as formerly. The custom of sending Williams examination papers to the preparatory schools in June is discontinued.

The College Entrance Certificate Board's certificates of examination have been accepted by the college for the last five or six years, but Williams did not vote to join the Board until last June. In the 1905 catalogue the requirements are worded and the subjects lettered, to correspond with the same in the last document of the Board. Williams has not changed its requirements in any essential part by becoming a member.

The college catalogue, in regard to admission on certificate, reads in part as follows: "After 1906 certificates will be accepted from no schools in New England which have not been approved by the New England College Entrance Certificate Board; and Williams College will accept such certificates after that time only in accordance with the regulations of that Board."

Sunday's Preacher

Rev. Amory H. Bradford, D. D., pastor of the First Congregational church of Montclair, N. J., will speak in the chapel on Sunday. Dr. Bradford is an associate editor of the Outlook, and is known as a powerful preacher. Among his best-known works on religion, religion in art and religion in literature are, "The Sistine Madonna", "Spiritual Influences in the Work of Browning", Spirit and Life", and "The Age of Faith."

Dr. Bradford will also address the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall Sunday evening.

FIRST PRACTICE

Track Men Called Out for Relay Work—Entries in B. A. A. Meet

Sixteen men reported for practice for the 'varsity and class relay teams yesterday afternoon. Of last year's 'varsity team and substitutes only two are able to run this year, and a larger squad from which to pick the new men is necessary to insure a successful team. The work will be light, consisting of practice on the board track on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, with exercise in the gymnasium under the direction of Mr. Seeley on other days.

At the B. A. A. meet on February 10, Williams will be represented in the high jump, sprints and distance run in addition to the relay race. The interclass relay races will take place about February 1st.

First Recitations in Goodrich Hall

Rooms 3 and 4 in Goodrich Hall are now entirely completed and were used for the first time for recitation purposes Tuesday. Room 3, entered by the west entrance to the Hall, will be used by Prof. Maxcy for his divisions in English 1 and 2 and for English 5. Room 4, the large room on the east side, entered through the tower door, will be used for Mr. Rees' classes in English 1, and divisions of English 2.

Room 4 seats 89 men and room 3 37. Rooms 1 and 2, in the front of the chapel, will not be ready for use for at least three weeks. It is as yet undecided to what permanent use to put the upper floor of old Alumni Hall.

Pictures by Italian Painters

The art department has placed in the rack on the second floor of Hopkins Hall a collection of photographs of works of Italian painters. The most famous picture in the group is the "Annunciation" of Fra Angelico, the original of which is in the church of San Marco in Florence. Besides other works of Fra Angelico, the collection includes several sketches by Fra Bartolommeo, and works by Girolamo del Pacchia, Luini and Gian Bellini.

Hockey News

The new hockey rink on Weston Field, built at a cost of over $100, will be open only to members of the association. Membership can be secured by a payment of $2.00 to F. R. Schell, manager. The schedule, although not yet completed, will probably consist of four games in Williamstown and eight away from home.

First practice was held on Leake's Pond yesterday afternoon. Over 20 men reported to Capt. Rudd, among whom was some good new material from 1909. Practice consisted largely of passing, followed by a line-up.

FOR RATIFICATION

Gargoyle Presents Anti-Combination Agreement for Renewal

The agreement, under which the undergraduates of Williams bound themselves for one year to enter into no "deals" or combinations, expires on December 17, 1905.

Gargoyle still believes that the best interests of the college demand such a method for securing fairness in undergraduate elections, and presents the following form as a renewal of last year's agreement:—

It is agreed by us upon our honor, as students of Williams College, that neither as members of a fraternity or society nor as individuals will we enter into any "deal" or combination in regard to the support of any undergraduate for any undergraduate office. It is understood that a specific agreement between individuals or fraternities is not essential to the formation of such combination. Any violation of this instrument is punishable by the forfeiture of elegibility to any electoral office.

This agreement is to be binding when signed by an authorized representative of each of the twelve chapters and by four-fifths of the non-fraternity undergraduates.

This agreement is to be interpreted in the strictest spirit of the Honor System and is to be binding for one year from the date of its ratification.

This agreement represents the unanimous sentiment of Gargoyle, and the time of its ratification shall be determined by the Gargoyle Committee consisting of Morgan, Perry and Curtiss who shall then notify the college by publishing a statement to such effect in The Williams Record.

This agreement shall be binding upon members of each fraternity as soon as it is signed by their authorized representatives and upon each non-fraternity undergraduate as soon as he attaches his signature hereto, provided that the ratification as above specified shall have been completed before January 10, 1906.

Signed by Gargoyle.

CLASS-DAY ELECTIONS

Officers Chosen by 1906—M. D. Griswold Class-Day President

The senior class met in Jesup Hall Saturday at 1:30 p. m. and elected twenty-four class-day officers. The session lasted all the afternoon. All nominations were by ballot. The only vote that was unanimous was in the choice of Charles H. Brady of Rye, N. Y., for Ivy Poet. Morton Daniel Griswold of Wallingford, Conn., was elected to the position of highest honor, Class-Day President. His preferment was the result of popularity, and at the same time a recognition of his services to the college and his class.

A motion was passed requiring the class-day committee to submit, before Feb. 15, an itemized account of proposed expenditures. The result of the elections is given below. Chairmen of committees were elected by the committees.

Philosophy 10 Notice

The final examination in Philosophy 10 will be held on Wednesday morning, December 20, 1905, at 8:30 in the lecture room in the Biological Laboratory. Members of this course who have conflicts will be excused from all recitations on that morning.

H. D. Wild, Acting Dean.

THE FIRST CONCERT

Given By the Musical Clubs in Jesup Hall Friday Evening

The annual fall concert of the musical clubs was given in Jesup Hall Friday evening before an audience which, though small in numbers, gave evident appreciation of the excellence of the concert. For the first concert of the year the clubs did well, only one or two numbers lacking in effectiveness. Every number on the program was encored.

The glee clubs were at their best in "The Little Red Drum" given as an encore to "The Bells of St. Michael's Tower." "A Chinese Tragedy" received much applause, and the substitution of "yes" for "no" in "My Flo" afforded a pleasing variation.

The ensemble of the mandolin club was firm, especially in the finale to the second number, and the encore to No. 1 of part two, "Moonlight, a serenade," was the best number on the program. The banjo club, enlarged and reorganized, showed much improvement over last year. Pevear '07 sang two solos in good voice and Pierce '07 gave interesting monologues on a fisherman's automobile ride in New York and a French Canadian's story of a shipwreck.

NEW YORK ALUMNI

Williams Alumni Association Holds First Meeting of the Season

On Friday evening the Williams Alumni association of New York held its first meeting of the year—a smoker, at Delmonico's, New York city. Over two hundred Williams men attended. Mr. Dwight L. Elmendorf spoke on the subject, "The Edge of the Desert," illustrated with telephotographs in color, and moving pictures made by himself during the spring and summer of 1904.

Owing to the absence from town of the president and both vice-presidents of the association, Frances S. Hutchins 1900, secretary, opened the meeting. Dr. Hopkins made a short address, conveying the greetings of the college to the alumni. He also told of the work of the National Immigration conference, called by the Civic Federation in New York, which he had been attending.

Mr. Elmendorf's lecture was vivid and absorbing, and his photographs in color were clear and detailed. He told of his travels in the spring and summer of 1904, in Mohammeden regions along the the eastern border of the great Sahara. In order to secure pictures more easily and to make exposures of sights never before photographed, Mr. Elmendorf traveled in the disguise of a Syrian physician, carrying his telephotograph machine under his robe.

The secretary reported that the association included fifty new members this year.

At a sophomore class meeting held Thursday evening, Slattery was elected treasurer to succeed Waters, resigned.

VOL. 19 DECEMBER 11, 1905, No. 46

Concerning Deals

At the senior class meeting held Saturday afternoon for the purpose of electing class-day officers, the fact was revealed that two tickets, or lists of candidates, had been prepared, one by members of two fraternities, and the other by non-fraternity men. The matter was brought to the attention of the class in a resolution from Gargoyle stating that the anti-combination agreement ratified Dec. 17, 1904 had been violated, in the clause reading: "This agreement is to be interpreted in the strictest spirit of the honor system."

No one will question the intent or high purpose of the senior society last year in presenting the agreement to the college for approval. In ratifying it the undergraduates gave an endorsement to every provision, with the understanding that the maintenance of the contract rested with them. The great fault is that no penalty is imposed. At present public opinion is the only punishment. We therefore present the facts to the college; the incident is distinctly not a class matter. It belongs to the college.

The first list was drawn up Thursday night. The next day one of the three men involved sent the letter given below, to a member of another fraternity. In this way the list was made public. The letter read as follows:

"Dear ——:

"The following dope-sheet was worked out by —— ——, —— ——, and me as being a most worthy slate for class day elections. If you think it a good one present it to your delegation. Understand this is not a deal, as the year vote against deals has not yet expired, and no one pledges to vote for the slate; but in order to organize a good ticket against possible neutral organization, we respectfully present this to your approval. —— will see —— tomorrow. —— will see ——. and I will see ——." Here was inserted a list of the offices to be filled, and opposite, the candidates. The letter closed with these words. "Please don't leave this sheet exposed to the view of the idle and curious outsiders, who might think it is a deal.

"Yours truly,

— — —".

The non-fraternity ticket was drawn up Friday night and was not offered to anyone in written form. The only copy that existed was read in the class meeting.

The names and initials are omitted in the above letter in an endeavor not to do injustice to the two fraternities, several members of which were responsible for the ticket. There is no proof that these two fraternities entered into any agreement of mutual support. In fairness to the candidates, their names are not published. As far as has been ascertained the use of none of them was authorized.

The originators of both tickets are to be condemned for violating the spirit of the honor system included in the "no-deal" agreement. It is simply a difference in the color of the sheep. We can only make an attempt to "separate the gray from the black." Neither, it is evident, has been guilty of an infraction of the letter of the agreement.

There are two reasons why the first ticket is a violation of the spirit. These were presented to the class by Gargoyle. In the first place, the intent of the letter is obviously to defeat in an underhand manner certain possible candidates. This is shown in the combination of names on the same ticket, implying support, and by the fact that fraternities which were not represented were not approached. In the second place, the secrecy in which the matter is broached gives evidence of the underhand intent. It is only necessary in support of thia, to point to the last sentence of the letter.

It may be true that the non-fraternity "slate" was drawn up as a defense against existing organization. From past experience there certainly was ground for fearing this might be general among the fraternities. While the first seems to have been oligarchical and a close corporation, it is true that the second was the outcome of a caucus-like gathering of non-fraternity men, and no attempt was made at concealment. Although the second objection does not hold, the non-fraternity ticket is open to the first.

In order that the college may look at this question from the other point of view, The Record will publish any statement tending to prove that there has been no violation of the spirit of the honor system. It must be understood that this is the only ground on which the two tickets are attacked.

The action of the senior class in declaring, by a vote of about 3 to 1, that the two combinations formed were an infringement of the spirit of the "no-deal" rule, cannot be too highly commended. The class has taken a firm stand in favor of elections that are fair and square, and, as a body, has shown that it will not countenance any combination that savors of the "deal."

In conclusion we believe that the anti-combination agreement exists for the best interests of the college, and must be strictly observed, if it is to have any force. The danger lies in loose interpretation, which, if allowed to go unpunished, may bring into jeopardy the Honor System itself. The anti-combination contract has been made more specific, and a penalty has been attached. As it now stands, the agreement should serve its purpose, and is ready for ratification.

Williams Scientific Society

The Williams Scientific Association was organized Thursday evening by the ten members of the faculty in the Natural Science department. The officers elected are Prof. S. F. Clarke, president, and Prof. McElfresh, secretary and treasurer.

The purpose of the organization is to to keep its members more easily in touch with the progress of work in their subjects, in the outside world. Meetings will be held monthly.

At the next meeting, Prof. Mears will speak on the chemical side of the science of physical chemistry. An effort will be made to have men of prominence in the scientific world speak before the association during the year.

TWENTIETH REUNION

1886 to Hold Anniversary Next June—Ball Game with '85

The class of 1886, whose twentieth anniversary will take place in June, will celebrate the event in a suitable manner. The class secretary, Edgar C. Leonard has sent a circular letter to each member of the class, urging attendance at commencement. Already over thirty have promised to be present. The McMahon house on Main street has been engaged as class headquarters.

The old class quartette will be here and this together with Gartland's band of Albany, will furnish music. In order to arouse some of the old time spirit, the class has challenged '85 to a game of baseball, which has been accepted. J. C. Hubbell who captained the '85 'varsity will captain the '85 nine, while J. B. Carse will captain '86. Each man in the class will receive a class cap with numerals. The dinner will be held at The Greylock and will be the closing event of the reunion.

The twenty year class graduated fifty-two, of whom four have since died. Members of the class reside in twelve states. Nine have entered the ministry; eleven are practicing law; six are teaching, six are manufacturers and one is a member of the New York assembly.

Result of Debating Trials

As a result of the debating trials, held in the Biological Laboratory Wednesday and Friday evenings, the judges, Professors Maxcy, Mears and Asst. Professor Clark, selected the following sixteen men to take part in the final competition to decide upon the make-up of the 'varsity teams: 1906, Hulst, Nomer, Perry; 1907, Case, Clark, Matthews; 1908, Byard, Groben, Murray, Westermann; 1909, Dodd, Ernst, Howe, Sayre, Toll, Wood.

At a meeting of these men, held Saturday evening, it was decided to hold the final contest for positions on the teams, Thursday, January 11. The question will be that chosen for the triangular league. Each speaker will be allowed ten minutes for his presentation, being unlimited in the time for rebuttal. Each contestant will prepare both sides of the question, and will not be informed which side he is to support until immediately before his appearance.

NOTICE

—There will be a meeting of the Western New York club on Tuesday at 7:15 p. m. in Jesup Hall for the election of officers. All men residing in Syracuse or west of Syracuse in New York state will attend.

For the Chemistry Department

The department of chemistry received last week a consignment of chemical specimens from Kahlbaum, a noted manufacturing chemist of Berlin. The order was placed by Prof. Mears while in Berlin last summer. The collection includes the principal inorganic compounds and the salts of the principal metals and acids, five hundred in all.

William Lloyd Garrison

Dr. Amory H. Bradford of Montclair, N. J., spoke before the Y. M. C. A. meeting yesterday evening on "William Lloyd Garrison." He outlined the fight for emancipation in which Garrison took so prominent a part and characterized him among the men of the period as "incontestably the greatest, the greatest as an agitator, and, as will be proved at the end, the greatest as a constructive thinker, always an optimist, though sorely persecuted, and a soldier of the pen, never of the sword."

Thompson Course To-night

Miss Ellen Bowick, impersonator, and Miss Muriel Bowick, contralto, will give the second entertainment of the Thompson course this evening in Jesup Hall. They met with great success in this country last winter. Tonight's will be their second entertainment in the United States this season.

Debating Society Elections

The quarterly elections of the debating societies, held last evening, resulted as follows:

Philologian—President, Nomer '06; vice-president, Bowman '06; secretary, McCleary '07; critic, Perry '06.

Philotechnian—President, McAllister '06; vice-president, McGown '06; secretary, Stanley '07; critic, Hulst '06; quarterly orator, Scott '08.

THE DEACON SYSTEM

Adopted by the College—Cowell 1906 Representative at Wesleyan

At a college meeting held in Jesup Hall Monday evening Eugene Irving Cowell 1906 of Ashburnham, Mass., was elected to represent the college at the annual Washington's birthday banquet at Wesleyan university, where he will respond to the toast "Williams."

Dr. Hopkins addressed the college body, explaining the purpose of the election of college deacons. He said that the system had been proposed by the trustees, and has been most successful at Yale. Clark '07 opposed the adoption of the system, bringing as objections extreme indefiniteness of purpose, and encroachment upon the work of the Y. M. C. A. Matthews '07 spoke for the other side of the question. The motion was made, "That it is with the understanding and co-operation of the college body that the two upper classes be instructed to vote for deacons." It was passed practically unanimously.

Botsford '06 then spoke to the meeting, stating that he was one of the three men charged with violating the spirit of the honor system in the "no-deal" agreement in connection with the senior class-day elections Saturday. He outlined his position in the matter and stated that he considered the occurrence to be in no sense a "deal", but merely electioneering.

President Hyde Sunday

William DeWitt Hyde, D. D., LL. D., president of Bowdoin college, will speak in morning chapel next Sunday. President Hyde is the leading educational man in the state of Maine and is one of the strongest characters in the whole body of New England college presidents. He is a graduate of Harvard and received his degree of D. D. from that university, later being given the degree of doctor of laws from Syracuse. He has been president of Bowdoin since 1885.

A speaker whose words on any subject command attention beyond the limits of the audience he addresses, President Hyde has a personality which has won him unusual influence in the undergraduate life at Bowdoin. Williams hears him next Sunday for the first time since 1902.

President Hyde will also speak at the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall at 7:30 Sunday evening.

LECTURE ON HEREDITY

By Prof. W. E. Castle Before Lyceum of Natural History

Professor W. E. Castle of Harvard delivered an exceptionally interesting and instructive lecture on "The Experimental Study of Heredity" before the Lyceum of Natural History in the auditorium of the Biological Laboratory on Monday evening. Prof. Castle used his own extensive investigations on heredity as the basis of his discussion of Mendel's law of heredity, and illustrated his results by some thirty lantern slides. Dr. Castle's lecture may be outlined in part, as follows:

Francis Galton in 1889 was the first to recognize that in the case of certain characters the result of inheritance is a blend of the conditions found in the two parents, while in other characters inheritance is alternative between the conditions found in the parents. A good illustration of blending inheritance is found among rabbits which differ in size of ear. Lop-eared rabbits have ears two or three times as long and as wide as those of ordinary rabbits. A cross between lop-eared rabbits and ordinary rabbits produces offspring with ears of intermediate size.

Alternative inheritance is illustrated in a cross between the so-called Belgian hare and an albino rabbit, which results in offspring all of which have the Belgian coat. The effect of crossing a Belgian with an albino rabbit is comparable to that produced when two pieces of glass, one transparent, the other opaque, are held together. We see only the opaque one. Nevertheless, the two conditions are not blended, each retains its original distinctness, and the two can be separated again at will. So it is in the Belgian produced by cross-breeding with an albino. The albino character is there, though unseen, or "recessive", and will appear as a distinct entity when the cross-bred reproduces, for it will be represented in approximately half of the sex-cells formed by the cross-bred animal, the alternative or Belgian character being represented in the other half.

This simple principle that, in alternate inheritance, in every instance sex-cells of two sorts are formed by cross-bred individuals, was discovered by an Austrian monk, Gregor Mendel, and it marks an epoch in the study of inheritance. From the fact that

TRINITY CANCELS

Visitors Miss Connections—'Varsity Plays Fast Game Against Scrub

The basketball game to have been played in Lasell Gymnasium last evening between Williams and Trinity was cancelled by the visitors. The Trinity five missed train connections at Springfield, and, while telegraphing to Williamstown to see if a game was possible later in the evening, missed connections which would have brought them here at 9:19. The place of the game will be taken on the schedule by a contest with some team in Williamstown on Jan. 24, the open date which was to have been filled by an out-of-town game, so that holders of season tickets will lose nothing by the cancellation.

The 'varsity and scrub played a practice game last evening for 35 minutes. Although the scrub played fast, after the first few minutes the 'varsity had everything their own way. The 'varsity was at times inaccurate in passing, but kept the ball near its own goal constantly. At breaking away and shooting the five were in good form, and few of the scrub's passes, after the center of the floor had been passed, were not intercepted. Cowell played a wonderful game, was everywhere on the floor, and passed, caught and shot with more than usual brilliancy. Of the many sensational baskets shot, his one-hand toss from a mix-up near the center of the floor was the best. Crawford '09, who played at guard on the 'varsity, although at times weak in comparison with the other members of the five in catching and shooting, in general handled the ball cleanly, passed coolly, blocked well as back guard and was at times nearly as fast as the four veterans. Appell shot a pretty basket for the scrub and Allen played well.

The line-up follows:

The Anti-Combination Agreement

The recent misunderstanding in regard to the interpretation of the anti-combination agreement made it evident that changes were necessary in the compact. Since the last issue of The Record the agreement has undergone several alterations and is now presented to the college in a more definite and tangible form. If it is ratified, we believe there should be no more opportunity of splitting hairs on electioneering and "deals." Every man should know exactly how far he can proceed in furthering the election of any candidate. If a violation of the contract is charged, the college should be able to reach a conclusion without quibbling over the meaning of a combination.

An exact definition of a "deal" could be framed to apply to all elections except the three athletic managerships. Electioneering could be limited or prohibited. In these elections by the college, however, electioneering in one form or another seems to be necessary. Assuming that fitness and not popularity should determine the choice, it often happens that the best man is defeated because his candidacy has not been made known to the college until just before the meeting. Too often electioneering transgresses the spirit of the anti-combination agreement, and takes the form of pledging votes. To obviate this, it has been suggested that the names of candidates be published in this paper. It is doubtful if this would entirely do away with the objectionable feature. Not to go farther into the question of managerships, the fault seems to lie in the present method of election, which should be, to some extent at least, competitive.

In smaller organizations, as a class or club, a candidate's qualifications for office should be known well enough not to necessitate electioneering in any form. In the agreement as it is now framed, no discrimination is made in the two classes of elections. We must assume, therefore, that the announcement that a candidate is "running" is allowed in both cases, as it has been in the past.

The first important change is seen in Article 2, which states that it is "possible for a 'deal' or combination to exist without any specific agreement between the parties concerned." This means that in announcing a candidate's name, support for another candidate in the same election or at some future time cannot be inferred. Pledging support is, of course, a direct violation. Furthermore, the compact must be interpreted to mean that votes cannot be solicited; it is not allowed to go beyond a simple announcement of candidacy.

That there has been no penalty was the principal weakness heretofore. With public opinion the only punishment violation of the agreement would not be checked. Article 4 now reads, "That violation of the compact be punishable by the forfeiture of eligibility to any electoral office." Obviously it is impossible to do more than this. Unlike the Honor System, the contract is solely a mutual agreement among the undergraduates. Since every office of value is elective, the penalty is not too light. The result in case of conviction would be ruinous to the standing of a fraternity. To the individual the loss of the practical advantages of taking part in undergraduate activities would alone be sufficient punishment.

The agreement need not be signed in the fall by non-fraternity members of the entering class, but can exist by custom on the same basis as the Honor System, which is applied before it is interpreted.

From Mrs. Thompson

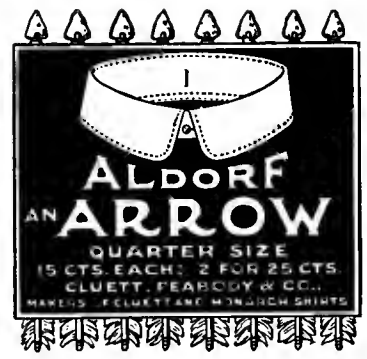
J. A. Lowe 1906, chairman of the committee appointed to send to Mrs. F. F. Thompson a testimonial, as evidence of the appreciation of the student body for her gift to the college of the new chapel, has received the following letter:

283 Madison Avenue, New York,
December 11, 1905.

Mr. John Adams Lowe,

Dear Sir:

I thank you most sincerely for your kind note that came with the beautiful testimonial from the students of Williams College. Will you say to them that their testimonial pleases me beyond measure.



It is a great gratification to know that the men for whom the chapel was erected not only appreciate its beauty, but appreciate and understand my desire that it should be to them a joy and a blessing during their student life, and their spiritual home always.

With kindest regards to them all—

Very sincerely
Mary Clark Thompson.

ROMAN SCULPTURE

Prof. Rice Before Classical Society —Contrast with Grecian Art

The regular meeting of the classical society was held in 13 Hopkins Hall Tuesday evening, and wns addressed by Prof. Rice on the subject "Roman sculpture." The lecture was illustrated by stereopticon slides.

Prof. Rice introduced his lecture by a short resume of the theory of art, stating that the public demand in art an interesting story, while to the artist himself the story is of secondary interest. Again, modern Greek and Latin scholars look back with shame at the humanists, but no moderns are nshamed of Donatello. This shows that art is truly enduring. If the story was of the importance which the public give it, art would not have lasted. We cannot, then, obtain the utmost from a work of art if we do not see it with the artist's eye. For the artist, as Goethe said, the main thing is not the "was" but the "wie."

That Roman sculpture is popularly considered merely a tag end of Greek sculpture comes from the fact that writers have been more occupied by the "what", the subject, than the "how", the language of the subject. No art has ever suffered more in this way than the Roman. The subject matter of Greek sculpture is richer than the subject matter of Roman, and this has blinded us to the excellence of its own which Roman sculpture has. The Roman genius was practical and especially sensitive to the relentless power of matter itself, the power from realism.

In Greek portraiture of the classic period the face was not a very faithful likeness, and, although improvement was made in the later Hellenistic period, Roman portraits were almost modern in their realism. In relief work the Greeks worked on one plane, with no background or pers ective, while in Roman art, a sense of reality was introduced by the use of different planes. The beginning of actual perspective was marked by the shadow effects in the Arch of Titus, while in reliefs of the Antonine age an actual illusion of atmosphere was gained by the deft handling of the background. Even in the more minor point of the use of ornament, the Romans again showed a great advance in the technical handling of the subject. In these principles the Romans laid the foundations for Renaissance art as seen in the bronze doors of Ghiberti.

In conclusion, brief mention must be made of the aqueducts, characteristic as showing the Romans' sense of the power of matter, a sense greater than that of any other nation, even the Egyptian.

cross-bred animals and plants form sexual elements of two sorts, and that the two sorts are equally numerous, it follows that among their offspring, dominant and recessive individuals will occur in definite proportions. It has been found by experiment that when two cross-bred dominant animals are mated, the offspring consist of a mixture of dominant with recessive individuals in approximately the proportions. three dominant to one recessive, and further, when a hybrid dominant is mated with a recessive animal, half the offspring are hybrid dominants and half recessives. The proportions of necessity result provided neither sort has a greater affinity for one kind than for the other.

The lecture was followed by an informal discussion.

COLLEGE NOTES

Halley '06 has returned to college after a month's absence on account of illness.

A part of the electric lights in the gymnasium were in use for the first time last evening.

Dean Ferry has written that he hopes to be able to return from abroad in three months, when his health will probably permit him to take up his duties again.

The Church Students Missionary association met Tuesday evening and considered plans for a course of study in missions. Brady '06 gave a report of the Boston convention of the association, to which he was a delegate.

The Western New York club, composed of men living west of Syracuse, was reorganized Tuesday evening. The following officers were elected: Loomis '06, president; Hompe '07, vice-president; Groben '08, secretary; Cole '07, treasurer. A committee was appointed to make arrangements for a banquet to be held after the Christmas vacation.

NOTICES

—The Lit. Board will meet Saturday evening, December 16th, to consider manuscript for the January Lit. All contributions intended for this number must be handed to a member of the Board or left at 6 East College before 5:30 p. m. on the above date.

—Students! Stocking '07 wants to handle your trunks. Drop him a postal or call him up at 16-2, and your trunk will be at the station when you are ready to go.
(Adv.)

Class Prayer Meetings

The subject for the class prayer meetings to be held in Jesup Hall tomorrow evening, is "The child-like heart," Matt. 10:13-16, Luke 1:46-55. The leaders will be the following: 1906, Lowe; 1907, Wilder; 1908, Walker; 1909, Rowland.

ALUMNI NEWS

'59—Rev. Robert Weeks, D. D., the oldest living rector of St. John's Episcopal church of North Adams, delivered an historical sermon last Sunday at the exercises in connection with the fiftieth anniversary of the church.

'59—Dr. Washington Gladden has just written a book published by McClure, Phillips & Co., called "The New Idolatry." This volume includes the author's protest against "tainted money," and is a splendid appeal for a revival of ethical idealism in national life.

'70—Francis E. Leupp, commissioner of Indian affairs, reports that he is taking steps to preserve what is best in Indian music. A supervisor of native music has been appointed.

'72—Isaac Henderson has been appointed one of the five chamberlains in attendance on the Pope.

'98—Dr. James Thomas Buckley of Marlboro, Mass., and Miss Minnie E. Harrington were married in the church of the Immaculate Conception, of Marlboro, on Wednesday, November 29.

1901—A. L. Goodwillie was on Dec. 5 elected Mayor of Bend, Oregon, for a second term. The Portland "Oregonian" states that he is the youngest man west of the Rocky mountains holding this office. Goodwillie is interested in development work in central Oregon, and is president of the Bend Mercantile Co., the Bend Water Light and Power Co., and the Central Oregon Banking Co., vice-president of the Deschutes Telephone and Telegraph Co., and secretary and treasurer of the Bend Saw Mill Co., and of the Pilot Butte Development Co.

1902—Paul E. Emerson has recently been promoted to be assistant division superintendent of the Detroit United Electric Railroads.

1903—James A. Hatch has entered the law offices of Joline, Larkin and Rathbone, at 54 Wall St., New York.

Ex-'05—Wilson S. Boice has resigned his position with the Baldwin Locomotive Works at Philadelphia, and is now engaged in the lumber business.

Ex-'05—Ralph E. McMillin, editor of the sporting department of the Boston Record, has taken a position on the staff of the Boston Herald.

1905—Barrett R. Wellington has been elected president of the junior class at Albany Law school.

Ex-'06—The engagement is announced of Arthur P. Van Schaick, freshman president of the class of 1906, to Miss Helen Boulton of Highland Park, Ill., daughter of Mr. George D. Boulton, vice-president of the First National Bank of Chicago. The wedding will take place on January 15.

Triangular Debate Question

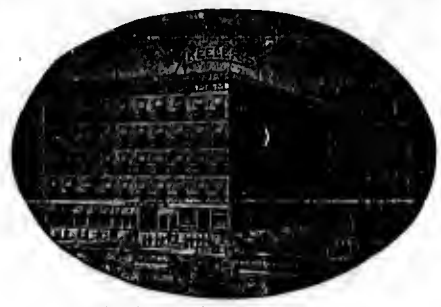
The question for debate in the triangular debating league, of which Williams, Brown and Dartmouth are members, has been received from the chairman, Lester L. Falk of Brown. It was selected by a committee consisting of James R. Dunbar (Williams), a trustee of the college, Harvey N. Davis (Brown) and Nelson D. Brown (Dartmouth). The question selected reads as follows:

Resolved, that it would be for the best interests of American colleges that no money should be expended for travelling expenses, maintenance, equipment and coaching of athletic teams engaged in intercollegiate contests, except from voluntary, bona fide subscriptions of the student body.

Change in Basketball Rules

Capt. Cowell of the basketball team has received a letter from R. B. Hyatt, chairman of the collegiate basketball rules committee, concerning a change in Rule 6, sect. 4, of the collegiate basketball rules, relative to passing out of bounds.

The letter states that "as the rules stand now * * * * no provision is made for two important cases: that of a player who, passing or knocking the ball out of bounds, regains it before it is touched by another player, and that of a player who passes from out of bounds to out of bounds at some other point and the ball is there gained by one of his own side. It is obvious that a man might take advantage of these omissions to place himself or his side in a position to make a free pass from out of bounds, which is manifestly unfair to the defensive team."



The committee has asked that all the colleges propose modifications on these points, and Williams' suggestions will be sent this week.

Committee of Class of '96

The class of 1896 has appointed a committee of fifteen men, to arrange a fitting celebration of the decennial anniversary of the class, which will take place at commencement. Among those on the committee are Horace G. Brown of Worcester, Edward C. Durfee of Philadelphia, Rev. Clarence W. Dunham of Warrensburg, N. Y., Edward M. Lewis of Williamstown, James W. Reed of Groton, N. Y., Dudley W. Strickland of Denver and Theodore H. Simmons of Providence.

Rev. Frederick A. Alden of Montours Falls, Neb., secretary of the class, assisted by Edmonds Putney, is preparing a class report which will be published in the spring.

WILLIAMS DELEGATE

Prof. Wild to Represent Williams at Football Conference

Prof. Henry D. Wild will represent Williams at an intercollegiate conference which will convene at the Murray Hill hotel in New York city on December 28, at 10.30 a. m., for the purpose of discussing football reform. This meeting will be attended by delegates of the principal colleges of the country.

A meeting of the Williams athletic council will be held tonight, to discuss the matter. The athletic council believes that the game should not be abolished; the rules should be changed and reforms introduced. Dr. Hopkins' communication in a recent issue of The Record expresses the opinions held by a majority of Williams men. It is understood that Williams' attitude at the conference will be one of conservatism.

Two Faculty Weddings

The marriage of Miss Margaret Louise Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mitchell of New York city, to Dr. Lorande Loss Woodruff will take place on December 21, at the Hotel St. Andrew, New York. Dr. and Mrs. Woodruff will be at home in Williamstown after January 17.

The wedding of Miss Nona Burnett Mills, daughter of Mr. Isaac Newton Mills of Mount Vernon, N. Y., to Prof. James Graham Hardy, will be held on Friday evening, December 22, in Tamarton Hall, Mount Vernon. Prof. H. F. Cleland will be best man, and Mills '08 will be an usher. Dr. and Mrs. Hardy will return to Williamstown January 15.

Gargoyle Agreement Ratified

The Gargoyle agreement, by which the students of the college bind themselves to enter into no agreements of mutual support in undergraduate elections, has been ratified. Signed by authorized representatives of the twelve fraternity chapters, and by four-fifths of the non-fraternity undergraduates, the agreement goes into effect today, December 18, 1905, to be binding until December 18, 1906.

AN EASY VICTORY

First Basketball Game for 1905-1906 Won from W. P. I. 46 to 11

The first basketball game of the season, played in Lasell Gymnasium Saturday evening with W. P. I., resulted in a victory for Williams by the score of 46-11. Worcester played poorly, being unable to score in the first half, while the Purple scored ten baskets from floor and one from foul. In the second half with Swain substituted for Crawford, and, after the first five minutes, Stewart for Neild, poorer guarding gave Worcester chances to tally.

The team was fast, and the regulars all guarded closely. The passing was fair for the first game, rarely all that could be desired. The shooting averaged better than last year, except for a brief period in the middle of the second half. The weak point in the playing of the five was the prominence of individual play, especially manifest throughout the first half in a tendency to take too many long shots. Of the new men, Crawford did well for his first 'varsity game. Swain and Stewart did not guard closely, but Stewart shot with accuracy.

The ball was thrown up for the centers at the start by Prof. Russell. Neild scored first on a foul, and a moment after got free and added two points. Cowell shot a sensational basket, and soon tallied again on a pass from Gardner. Seven more tallies were made before the whistle blew. Toward the end of the half the game slowed considerably.

Worcester got its first point at the beginning of the second half on a foul by Neild, and, after three points made by Williams, tallied again when Lawley was left uncovered. Neild, stopping an opponent's pass, caged the most sensational basket of the evening on a straight shot from the side. Worcester got many shots later in the half, and converted three into points.

The line-up and summary:

Williams	W. P. I.
Gardner lf,	rg, Steimer
Neild, Stewart rf,	lg, Martin
Crawford, Swain c,	c, Lawley

SECOND ENTERTAINMENT

An Indifferent Performance by the Bowick Sisters Thursday

The second entertainment in the Thompson course series given in Jesup Hall Thursday evening by the Bowick sisters, of London, was by no means up to the high standard of the entertainments given in previous years.

Miss Ellen Bowick, impersonator and reader, while not equal to Beatrice Hereford, Leland Powers and others who have been at Williamstown in the past, did well in spite of an extremely difficult program. Her voice, although of little power, possessed good emotional range, and met the demands of a program containing such widely differing passages as the scene of the death of Sir Richard Grenville in Tennyson's "Revenge," and the light comedy in the encores, depicting the hardships of family life.

To bring out the dramatic qualities of so descriptive a reading as Tennyson's "Revenge" is difficult. Miss Bowick did not make the common mistake of exaggerating the effect, but by dignified repression in the less dramatic parts, was able to place proper emphasis on the stirring passages of the decision to surrender, the proposal to sink the ship, and Sir Richard's defiant death on the deck of the Spanish galleon. From a purely critical point of view, Miss Bowick's work was here most satisfactory.

In "The French Woman's Story", almost the only number on the program as well suited to American audiences as to English, Miss Bowick at times showed superior character work, although lacking the ability to differentiate the actors instantly by mere intonation. The mimicry of an English woman's French was excellent. Indefiniteness in the placing of the characters on the stage marred the otherwise effective dramatic selection from Dickens.

Miss Muriel Bowick's work was poor. While a deep, harsh contralto voice has great popularity with English audiences, American tastes are different. Miss Bowick's voice had poor tone quality, lacked sureness of attack, and failed to give the proper expression to the numbers selected. The compositions selected (again adapted for English ears), were unsuitable and the amateurish effect was heightened by a poor stage presence.

The program follows. Nos. 3,

PERSONALITY

Informal Address to Y. M. C. A. by President Hyde of Bowdoin

President William Dewitt Hyde, D. D., LL. D., of Bowdoin, spoke before the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall last evening on "Personality." President Hyde spoke quite informally, illustrating his talk with numerous illustrations drawn from his experiences in Bowdoin.

The most interesting, most mysterious thing in the world is personality, that quality whose possession gives success, whose lack, failure. Its formula is found in the book of Ruth, "Whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge; thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God: where thou diest, will I die, and there will I be buried; the Lord do so to me, and more also, if ought but death part thee and me."

Without some such committal as this, no person is successful. The strongest personality in Maine was Tom Reed, who thought out both sides of a question, and then stood like a rock for whatever he undertook. When a man, like Reed, has thus made up his mind, which side results does not matter. He is ready for either and superior to both.

Work is the best place in the world to get this secret. Whatever you are, be able to say "That thing and I are one from this time forth, its fortunes are my fortunes." There is no factory, store or business but will give better education than a college to a man who takes no interest in college, for we must, to get personality, find something to do that will draw us out of ourselves. Goethe's formula is "Wo du bist, sei alles," wherever you are, be all there, be sure that you're all at work.

In no place is this needed more than in Christian work. Christ stands for the best in every department of human life. When we see what Christ means to the world, we ought not to give him any half-hearted support. Paul gave him complete and final devotion, and for that reason is one of the greatest characters in history.

Record Announcements

The next issue of The Record will appear Monday, January 8.

The Record Board announces the election of Carroll Atwood Wilson of Westfield, Mass., as first associate editor and Arthur James Pierce of Newport, N. H., as associate business manager, to succeed the editor-in-chief and business manager, respectively, on March 16, 1906.

Candidates for positions on the board will be reassigned to divisions after the Christmas vacation, and notice of assignment posted in Hopkins Hall. The first division will meet at 7:00 p. m. in the press room on Monday, January 8.

At the meeting of the board held this evening the candidate having the highest standing in the competition will be elected to membership. The name of the successful competitor will be posted in the press room after the meeting.

Revision of Football Rules

Since the abolition of football by Columbia two events of importance to the game have taken place. On Dec. 8 a conference of representatives from twelve colleges and universities decided that football should not be abolished but reformed. This can be taken as a formal expression of the opinion of college authorities that the game be retained. The second event was the meeting of the rules committee, at which a resolution was adopted "leading towards opening of the game and the lessening of brutality."

By this action the rules committee shows a disposition to make the changes demanded by the public. The committee is not necessarily forced to do so, for it has been pointed out that, during the past eight years, this body has made every effort to lessen brutality and dangerous mass formations. If infringement of the rules has been due to inefficient umpiring, the blame rests in a greater degree on the coaches who have encouraged such violation, and in many cases on the players themselves, especially where there entered in the element of professionalism. The committee, acknowledging the existence of these evils, has announced its intention of adopting rules that will, in spite of the faults, meet the demand for a less dangerous and more sportsmanlike game.

In reforming football it is agreed that first of all roughness must be minimized and brutality eliminated. It is impossible to do away with roughness without abolishing the present game. The solution of this question evidently lies in severe penalty for intentional roughness. The problem is one of alteration of the rules and the addition of penalties. An Amherst graduate has made several good suggestions, among them placing seven men on the rush line when the ball is snapped. Captain Shevlin of Yale favors shorter halves. Dr. McCurdy's exhaustive plan, considered as a whole, cannot be taken seriously. To require a gain of ten yards on one down would create a new game. The penalties he offers for brutality, however, are not too radical, for strong measures are necessary: disqualification, and no substitute allowed for ten minutes, and two disqualifications to debar the player from all intercollegiate sport for one year. In a recent issue of The Washington Star, Mr. F. B. Whitney, a former Williams football player, makes a plea for the retention of the rush line. His suggestions for changes in the rules are pertinent and would do much to improve the game.

Of all the plans proposed, that by Mr. Bell of the University of Pennsylvania, is the fairest and the most definite. Neither team is placed at too great a disadvantage because of weakness in the kicking department, as is the case in the plan mentioned above. Individual work is not at a premium, but team play is still the test. Something tangible is obtained in the demand that the rules distinguish between "unnecessary" roughness and brutality. The penalties attached to the ordinary devices of "slugging," "kneeing," "piling up" etc., are adequate.

No change can be satisfactory which does not include opening the game. Nor can this result be better reached than by the adoption of a rule increasing the distance to be gained in three downs.

Mr. Bell's proposal provides that ten yards must be gained on three downs or the ball forfeited. The credit for the ten yard rule, however, belongs to Mr. Camp, who made a plea for its adoption last year.

This at least is something the public can understand. The advantages of the ten yard rule are evident. If teams that are considered evenly matched fail to make the five yards by mass play nearly as often as they succeed, other methods of gaining ground must be used if ten yards are to be covered. End runs and punting are practically the only other methods. The game would then be opened to the spectator. Brutality could not take place except before the eyes of officials. The liability to injury would be greatly decreased, both from minimizing intentional roughness and from the less frequent use of mass plays. President Eliot's objection would be met, for cheating and violation of the rules would no longer be profitable.

It is said in objection that the tackle in the open has proved more dangerous than any other. Mr. Camp has proposed a remedy: "There should be a return to the old style of tackling, at any rate not tackling below the knees and the corollary of the rule, forbidding hurdling."

Christmas Music Sunday

An organ recital of Christmas music was given in the chapel yesterday afternoon. Aside from the instrumental numbers by Mr. Salter, the solos "Isrsfel," by Mr. J. B. Lord, 1905, and "Night of Nights," by Mrs. G. E. Howes, were excellent.

At the morning service Curtiss 1906 and Mr. Lord 1905, took the solo parts in the anthem "Arise, Shine, for thy Light is Come." Processional and recessional hymns were sung at the vesper service, the choir entering the chancel through the nave. Curtiss 1905 sang the solo in the anthem "Nazareth" and Pevear 1907 sang "The Child of Bethlehem." The solo part in the hymn "Holy Night" was taken by Mr. Lord, with humming accompaniment by the choir.

Absences Before Christmas Recess

The administrative rule in regard to attendance before Christmas and Easter vacations reads as follows:

Attendance on the last college exercises before the Christmas and Easter vacations is required. Any student failing to fulfill this requirement, and not excused from the same by the Dean, will not only be charged with the consecutive absences thus incurred but also have their allowance for the next half-year diminished by a like amount. In no case will a student be permitted, in connection with any vacation, to exceed his allowance of absence in any department.

On Revision of Football Rules

In a communication to The Washington Star, Mr. F. B. Whitney '97, says of football rule revision:

"A few simple changes of rules would eliminate the evil—mass play—by providing that the full and halfbacks must be ten yards behind the rush line when ball is snapped, that two other men may be on the five yard line back of the rush line when ball is snapped, that no other men shall be behind line when ball is snapped except quarter, who shall not run with ball until passed to another player than himself, that the ball may be snapped directly back to half and fullbacks, that the ball may be passed forward any time before player is tackled, that every kick shall be a free kick, and that the ball shall be called "down" immediatey upon a player being tackled."

COLLEGE NOTES

Dumesnil 1909, has resigned from college. He expects to return next year.

The hockey rink on Weston Field is now open for skating and practice.

Narten 1906, will be an usher at the wedding of Miss Helen Boulton to Arthur P. Van Schaick, ex-'06, which is to take place on Jan. 15 in Chicago.

Prof. Maxcy was unable to meet his classes on Thursday, Friday and Saturday on account of illness.

Rooms 1 and 2 in Goodrich Hall have been completed and are being used by the German department.

Hubbard ex-'07 and Elliot ex-'07 were in town last week. Elliot expects to reenter college after midyears in the class of 1908.

Mr. Lewis spoke yesterday evening at the Methodist church on "Personal observations of the recent Welsh revival."

The freshman class pipes can be obtained from Young or at Bemis'. The pipes are small with "W '09" inlaid in silver.

The brick work on the baseball cage has been completed. The iron girders for the cage and the swimming tank have arrived and will be set in place at once.

The Philosophical society will meet in 17 Jesup Hall tomorrow evening. Bowman '06 will introduce as the subject for discussion, "The beginnings of Morality."

At the gun club shoot on the Taconic club range Saturday afternoon, L. V. P. Allen 1908, made the best score, 23 out of a possible 25. The shooting was at the 20-yard range.

Professor Henry Loomis Nelson will be in New York on February 5, for the purpose of debating against Martin Littleton, the advocate of municipal street railway control, before the People's Forum of New York city.

The tie in the high jump of the sophomore-freshman track meet was jumped off by Atwater, Matz and Horrax 1909, on Saturday afternoon in the gymnasium. Strobel did not enter the jump-off. All three men cleared the bar at 5 ft. 4 in., but missed at 5 ft. 5 in. The bar was lowered to 5 ft. 4 in., at which Atwater failed. After both men had failed again at 5 ft. 5 in., Horrax won the jump-off by clearing 5 ft. 4 in.

To be Opened in 1976

Librarian Charles H. Burr received last week an envelope marked "E-L-3—1776-1876—To Williams college to be opened in 1976." The envelope was received from Rev. John G. Davenport, D. D., '63, of Waterbury, Conn., and was among the papers of the late Rev. Myron S. Dudley, secretary of that class, which were sent to Dr. Davenport this fall. The package has been placed in the treasurer's vault in Hopkins Hall.

CAPTAINS FOR 1906

List of Leaders of the College Football Teams for Next Season

The list of football captains for 1906 is nearly complete. A list of the captains in the principal colleges as well as in the institutions in which Williams has an interest follows:

Amherst has reelected John Houghton Hubbard '07, fullback, who for three years has been a strong ground gainer and the mainstay of the defense. Hubbard was given a place on four all-eastern elevens this year, among them that of the New York Sun.

Wesleyan's choice is Walter C. North '07, of Syracuse, N. Y., for three years 'varsity left tackle. North weighs 215 pounds, is fast, and effective with the ball in tackle formations.

Dartmouth has elected John Baldwin Glaze '08, quarterback, of Boulder, Col., brother of Ralph Glaze, last year's all-America end. Although he is the first junior captain since 1894, last year was his first on the 'varsity.

Of the "Big Six," Harvard and Columbia have not yet elected, the latter because of faculty restriction. S. F. B. Morse '07, right halfback, will lead the Blue in 1906.

Princeton chooses Herbert L. Dillon '07, left guard, a lineman of three years' experience. Captain J. L. Cooney '07 was renominated, but declined an election.

The University of Pennsylvania captaincy falls to Vincent M. Stevenson '08 C., the brilliant quarterback of the team, who made the all-America eleven as a freshman.

In the Middle West Chicago's choice falls to Walter Eckersall '07, for three years quarterback, one of the greatest all-round players in American football. A sure tackler, long punter, and accurate drop-kicker, he was picked for all-America quarter in 1904.

The rival Maize and Blue of Michigan will be led by James S. Curtis, '07 E., who has for three years at left tackle been the strength of the Yost machine. He weighs 224 pounds, is 6 ft. in height, and 22 years old.

FAST BASKETBALL

Williams Wins from Pennsylvania Five by a Score of 15 to 11

Williams defeated the University of Pennsylvania basketball team in Lasell Gymnasium Thursday evening by the score of 15 to 11 in the best and most exciting game since the overtime contest with Syracuse last season. The Philadelphia five was a shade better in the first half, but lost the game in the second, when Williams began to play harder and faster.

Kiefaber, able to advance the ball as well by dribbling as by passing, played best for Pennsylvania, and Captain Flint was an easy and accurate shot from the foul line. For Williams Tower, in addition to shooting two baskets, kept other men covered besides his own, and spoiled several Pennsylvania shots and passes. Both teams guarded so closely as to render a free shot for goal possible only by brilliant individual work. Williams shot poorly, and at times seemed unlucky. The work of the official was above the average.

Flint shot four fouls and Neild two in the first half before Kiefaber caged the first basket. Both teams missed chances for goals, Williams twice narrowly. Before the half ended Neild scored for the first time from the field for the Purple. Pennsylvania led 6 to 4 at the whistle.

The visitors kept up the pace at the beginning of the second half, scoring three points on baskets from floor and foul by Flint. Tower scored from a mix-up and Neild threw a basket on a long pass. Tying the score on fouls, and now fairly outplaying the visitors, Tower put the Purple two points ahead. Penn. cut the lead in two, but Cowell scored a clean basket on a long pass from Neild, and the game ended soon after Neild had caged another goal from foul.

Line-up and summary:

Williams		Penn.
Gardner lf,		rg, Kiefaber
Neild rf,	lg,	Striegel, McCrudden
Blaisdell, Tower c,		c, Ehlers,
Tower, Blnisdell lg,		rf, Flint, Fitzpatrick
Cowell, rg		lf, Keinath

Score: Williams 15, U. of P. 11. Baskets from floor, Neild 2, Tower 2, Cowell; Flint. Kiefaber. Baskets from foul; Flint 5, Keinath 2, Neild 5. Referee and Umpire, Hardy of Cushing. Timekeeper, Brady. Time of halves-20 minutes each.

THE CHRISTMAS LIT.

Review of the Last Issue of the Monthly by Asst. Prof. Perry

The December number of the Literary Monthly has about it a unique and thoroughly distinctive atmosphere of Christmas. The reader is struck by the fact that it is the more serious and beautiful side of the Christmas time which is brought out. The usual mistletoe story and the jingling-sleighbells poem do not appear and in their places come three excellent bits of work, "The Mercy of God," a story, "A Prayer for Christmas for College Men," and "Until He Cometh," a dramatic poem.

In the first we have a very strong character, John Turner, experiencing for the first time the feeling of dependence. The two things which struck the critic most in reading this story were the atmosphere and the clearness with which the man was portrayed. The method by which the man was lost does not quite seem to fit such a character as Turner. The conclusion however is extremely effective.

The Prayer for Christmas is beautifully expressed; a successful attempt in a most difficult field. There is if anything too much thought compressed into the lines which gives once or twice a somewhat beclouded effect. Absolute clarity is indispensable here.

It is difficult to keep from overpraise in discussing "Until He Cometh." The wandering Jew has always been a figure well adapted for literary treatment, though used a surprisingly few times in poetry. Mr. Dutton has availed himself of this striking character without allowing him to choke out the interest in the other personages of the poem. The management of the blank verse is excellent, the character portrayal of Ahasuerus, Anselm, and the soldier sharp and effective, and there are some really beautiful lines, such as the following:

Vague dreams of joys experienced long ago
Beguile me for a moment, then I wake;
Dim musings of that time when, yet a child,
I prattled in the shade of Judah's hills
And trod her leafy valleys aimlessly—
But that was long, long centuries ago.

The other poetry of the number

BY A SINGLE GOAL

Williams Defeated by Columbia in a Hard-fought Hockey Game

On Friday evening December 29, the Williams hockey team played the Columbia university seven and lost by a single point, the score in twenty minute halves being 4 to 3. The contest took place at St. Nicholas rink, New York; the attendance was large and a majority of the spectators were supporters of the Purple. The ice was in poor condition.

Williams played a hard game from the start, and at one time in the first half led the home team. Columbia's work was rather loose in the first half, but in the second the advantage of early-season practice was shown by a decided improvement in team play. The game was in doubt until the end. The Williams forwards made a determined attack on their opponents' goal in the second half; only the brilliant work of Easton at the net prevented further scoring for the Purple.

Columbia scored first, shortly after play began, on Jackson's sensational lift almost the entire length of the rink. Jenkins, whose long runs were a feature, tied the score by a neat goal from the side. Rudd's score from a scrimmage placed Williams in the lead. Miller evened the count by a goal shot under the same conditions.

The second half was marked by rough play; Dederer, Miller, D. Brown and Frank were sent to the side lines. After five minutes of play Brady scored for Columbia on a pass from Armstrong. Just after resuming play, Dederer lifted the puck into the net making the score, Columbia 4, Williams 2. Jenkins took the rubber to the net three times, and as often missed by a few inches. Shortly before time was called he made the last goal for Williams.

The line-up and score:

Columbia	Positions	Williams
Easton	Goal	Stower
Harrington	Point	Mayer
Jackson	Cover point	D. Brown
Miller	Forward	Jenkins
Armstrong	Forward	(C. Brady) Rudd
Dederer	Forward	Frank
I. Brady	Forward	C. Brown

Score, Columbia 4, Williams 3. Goals—For Columbia: Jackson, Miller, Brady and Dederer; for Williams: Jenkins (2), and Rudd. Referee—H. Hornfeck, of the Wanderer Hockey Club. Time of halves, 20 minutes.

Discus Throw Retained—Albany and Hoosick Falls Admitted

The annual meeting of the Williams college interscholastic athletic association was held in Jesup Hall Saturday at 2:00 p. m. Delegates were present from Drury academy, Adams, Pittsfield, Williamstown, Cambridge, and Ballston Spa High schools.

The meeting was called to order by Charles Stocking of Williamstown and Hinman '07 was elected secretary pro tem. An entirely new constitution was adopted, and it was decided, after discussion, to retain the discus throw on the list of events. New eligibility rules were also framed. Hoosick Falls High school and Albany High school were admitted to the association.

The following officers were elected for 1906-1907: President, Thomas Slattery of Drury; vice-president, Michael Lahiff of Adams; secretary, Hinman '07; treasurer, Peters '06.

Track Schedule for 1906

The track schedule has been announced as follows:

Feb. 10—B. A. A. meet, at Mechanics Hall, Boston.

Feb. 21—Indoor meet, evening, at the Armory, Troy, N. Y.

May 5—Dual meet with Wesleyan at Williamstown.

May 12—Dual meet with M. I. T. on Brookline Oval, Brookline.

May 18-19—N. E. I. A. A. at Worcester.

All events have been approved, except the meet at Troy, which has not yet been considered by the committee.

Election of Deacons

The election of deacons, held in the chapel the day before college closed, resulted as follows: from 1906, William Hanford Curtiss of Olean, N. Y., Morton Daniel Griswold of Wallingford, Conn., Shepard Ashman Morgan of Rochester, N Y., and Joseph Earl Perry of Shelburne Falls, Mass.; from 1907, Kenneth Stackpole Domett of Boston, Mass., Reginald Davis Johnson of Pasadena, Cal., Arthur James Pierce of Newport, N. H., and Lucius Parsons Warren of Chicago, Ill.

Announcement

The Record announces the election of Samuel Mundy Meeker, jr., '08, of Brooklyn, N. Y., to membership on the board. The next election from the candidates will take place on the last Thursday of this month.

The Football Conference

The first meeting of the national conference of colleges and universities, called for the purpose of considering the football question, could hardly have been more successful than it was. The convention was very representative, and this coupled with the fact that its action was conservative and fair, and in no way antagonistic to the present governing authorities of football, must give to the new organization exceptional prestige. The conference must be granted the credit of having exerted a powerful influence towards restoring football to its proper place in undergraduate life. In fact, it is not going too far to say that, as a permanent organization, it may in the future be instrumental, if not a responsible authority, in eliminating the evils existing in other branches of athletics than football.

Since the necessity of football reform was first discussed, expressions of opinion that have had any weight have invariably been such as tended toward changes in the rules that would not destroy the present game. Sweeping condemnation of football, with its abolition, has in a great majority of instances, come from those who know nothing of the gridiron contest at first hand; views of this sort are evidently of no value in settling the question. To undergraduates, who naturally enough wish to see the game retained, the position taken by the conference on this point is decidedly gratifying. Captain Pierce expressed the sentiment of the meeting: "We want reform, not revolution." Thus the convention incidentally passed an indirect sentence of disapprobation of Columbia's hasty and unwarranted abolition of football last month.

The conference pursued the only course that was practical, in appointing a rules committee of seven to unite with the present committee. Chancellor MacCracken had a large following in favor of independent action and a committee of eleven. Such a step would have destroyed all hope of uniformity in the rules, and at the same time discountenanced a body of men who have always done their utmost to correct the abuses of football. With the college and university representatives of the country divided as to the best method of reforming the game, the advantage of harmonious, concentrated effort would have been lost.

There now seems to be a reasonable chance of amalgamation. At a meeting of the two committees held at Philadelphia Dec. 29, the general question of rule revision was informally discussed. The attitude of the old board was evidently friendly towards the conference appointees, though action in regard to union was postponed pending further instruction. If a combination is effected, a set of rules will be drafted that will solve the football problem for the coming year. It is not unlikely that the revision would be thorough enough to satisfy even the radical demands of Harvard. Even if the present rules committee is unwilling to unite, more will be accomplished than would be the case if that body had been antagonized and denied recognition. There would exist less chance of wide divergence in the two sets of rules. In fact, it is probable, judging from the unanimity of opinion at the informal gathering referred to, that they would be practically identical.

Though the size of the committee and its method of procedure were the subjects of hot debates, there was no difference of opinion on one point—the standard of ethics and sportsmanship on which the game should be maintained. The conference struck home on the right and wrong way to play football. The resolution concerning the practices "dishonorable and unworthy of an American college or university," are an authoritative expression that will

The Hockey Team

It is a satisfaction to note that Williams is represented this year by a hockey team which need not confine itself to a schedule of preparatory schools. The recent game with Columbia proved that the college seven compares favorably with one of the best university teams in the country. Though defeated, Columbia won by only one goal, and there was practically no difference in the playing ability of the two teams. In view of the fact that the Williams team had had scarcely any practice, and the Blue and White was favored by almost every circumstance, the game should be considered as a successful beginning of the season.

Contests with strong opponents are necessary, in order to bring about the proper development of the team, and permit it to demonstrate its possibilities. It now remains for the management to provide a schedule, which it is hoped will include the universities and colleges that have in the past few years been ranked as the best in hockey.

Two Faculty Weddings

The marriage of Miss Margaret Louise Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mitchell of New York city, to Lorande Loss Woodruff, Ph. D., instructor in biology in Williams college, took place at the Hotel St. Andrew, New York city, on Thursday evening, December 21. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Ezra S. Tipple of Drew Theological Seminary, assisted by Dr. Harrower and the Rev. Hiram Hulse of St. Mary's church. Dr. Hopkins was among the guests and Mr. Elmer A. Green 1902 was one of the ushers. Dr. and Mrs. Woodruff are at home at 22 Southworth avenue.

Miss Nona Burnett Mills, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Isaac Newton Mills, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., and James Graham Hardy, Ph. D., assistant professor of mathematics at Williams, were united in marriage on Friday evening, December 22, in Tamarton hall, Mt. Vernon. The ceremony was performed by President Hopkins, who was attired in the academic robes of his degree, as were Prof. Hardy, Prof. H. F. Cleland the best man, and Asst. Prof. Perry and Dr. Charles E. Lyon, the ushers. A reception followed the marriage ceremony. Dr. and Mrs. Hardy are residing in the Fernald house.

FOOTBALL CONFERENCE

Held in New York Dec. 28—Rules Committee Appointed

Delegates from fifty-eight different colleges and universities, representing all parts of the country, met at the Murray Hill Hotel, on Thursday, December 28, to consider football reform. Among the universities not represented were Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Cornell, Chicago, Northwestern and Michigan.

A rules committee of seven members was appointed and was instructed to amalgamate with the present rules committee, if possible, in order to make the rules uniform. E. K. Hall of Dartmouth was named as the New England representative. A permanent organization was effected, with an executive committee of seven, including the three officers: President, Captain P. E. Pierce, West Point; vice-president, Prof. H. D. Wild, Williams; secretary, Prof. Louis Bevier, Rutgers.

In the resolutions which were passed after a long and thorough discussion of the question, the conference recommended that "the academic authorities of the colleges and universities of this country hold themselves as ultimately responsible for the conduct of athletics within their respective institutions."

In case the present rules committee refused to unite with the conference committee it was provided that the latter formulate rules under which football shall be played by the institutions ratifying the action of the conference. This committee of seven was instructed to be guided in its action so as to secure (a) an open game, (b) elimination of rough and brutal playing, (c) efficient enforcement of rules, (d) organization of a permanent body of officials.

The morale of the game was discussed at length and a set of resolutions was adopted condemning professionalism, "rushing" and offering inducements to athletes about to enter college, and brutality. It was recommended that "the colleges and universities assume the responsibility for the violation of the letter or spirit of the resolution by our respective football organizations."

At Philadelphia on Friday, December 29, the old rules committee met the newly appointed intercollegiate conference committee and informally discussed the question of football rule revision. The old committee announced that its members could not unite with the new committee without first consulting their respective universities.

Seniors are requested to hand copies of their schedules to any member of the class photograph committee immediately.

Lit. Review

is of good quality. "Iris' Well" is hurt by such a rough line as: "The mortals' miserable tears," and in "The Forest Path" a sure effect is gained with less effort. "The Hill Spirit" shows very plainly the influence of Shelley. Here a big theme is treated in a way which shows power, and did not vagueness creep in, and at least one slip in the metre, the effect would be quite stunning.

The essay of the number is thoroughly satisfactory. Mr. Dobson's poetry is treated enthusiastically, but appreciation is tempered with judgment. The style of the essay is attractive and the selections are those which a Dobson lover would chose.

There is no space in which to speak of the two stories: "The Princess Ygraine" and the "Mission of Pietro's Amatis." They both have interest, though the plots of both are somewhat conventional.

Lewis Perry.

Death of Ezra Fisk 1905

Ezra Fisk, a graduate of Williams in the class of 1905, committed suicide by hanging at his home in Greenfield, Mass., December 19. It is thought that overstudy and disappointment at being unable, for financial reasons, to enter Harvard Law school, brought on the nervous state which prompted his death. Mr. Fisk had suffered a severe nervous collapse; and on Tuesday morning, December 19, went to his closet and hung himself by means of the cord of his dressing gown.

Ezra Fisk, the son of Dr. Charles L. Fisk, was born at Greenfield May 16, 1881, and graduated from the Greenfield High school in 1900. After working a year in the agricultural store of the Wm. E. Barrett company at Providence, he entered Williams in the class of 1905. He received a Rice Book Prize, graduated with a commencement appointment with dissertation rank, and was manager of the sophomore debating team.

Golden Wedding

Dr. and Mrs. John Bascom today celebrate their golden wedding. Dr. Bascom married Miss Emma Curtiss, in Sheffield, Mass., on January 8, 1856. Mrs. Bascom is a daughter of Orin Curtiss and Caroline (Owen) Curtiss, and is a direct descendant of Miles Standish in the eighth generation.

The celebration of the anniversary will be entirely informal. Dr. and Mrs. Bascom were at home to receive friends this afternoon, and Dr. Bascom christened a loving cup presented him by the students of the University of Wisconsin, of which he was president, from 1874 to 1887, on his visit there last commencement.

THE FOURTH VICTORY

Williams Defeats M. I. T. Easily in Featureless Contest

From an M. I. T. standpoint, Dartmouth and Williams must be nearly equal in basketball, for Dartmouth's 30-2 victory at Hanover was almost equalled in Lasell Gymnasium Saturday night, when the Purple led at the first half by the score of 29-2 and at the close by the margin of 44-4. Deavitt 1904 was acting captain of the visiting team and played their best game.

What features the game afforded were given by the Williams five, who shot with much accurney in the first half. Two baskets from the center of the floor, by Gardner and Neild, started the scoring, and the best passing of the year, combined with the usual good blocking, gave the spectators at the Tech. end of the gymnasium nothing but a long-distance view of the game. Cowell knocked the ball in twice from a toss-up at the side of the basket.

In the second half, substitutions slowed up the game, and the shooting became poorer. Deavitt scored Tech's lone 'basket in this half. Cowell played brilliantly, getting free from his man at will, making sensational catches and shooting better than usual. Blaisdell, at back guard, showed much improvement, and used his height to good advantage in intercepting passes.

The summary:

Williams		M. I. T.
Gardner lf,	rg,	Lyons
Neild, Stewart, Appell	rf, lg,	Lamont, Whittemore
Tower c,	c,	Wentworth
Cowell rg,	lf,	Kennes, Belcher
Blaisdell lg,	rf,	Deavitt

Score, Williams 44, M. I. T. 4. Baskets from floor: Cowell 7, Gardner 5, Tower 4, Neild 3, Blaisdell 2; Deavitt. Baskets from foul: Neild, Gardner; Wentworth 2. Umpire, Hardy of Cushing. Referee, Blake of M. I. T. Timekeeper, Brady '06.

ember 19 was postponed until after the Christmas recess. The date will be announced later.

The twenty-fifth convention of the New England intercollegiate press association will take place at the Copley Square Hotel, Boston, Monday May 21, 1906.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Marie Louise Hammond, of Allston, Massachusetts, to Mr. Elmer Alanson Green, 1902, secretary to the president and to the dean.

Rev. Arthur Gillett, of Hartford Theological seminary, who preached in chapel Sunday morning, addressed the Y. M.C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall Sunday evening on "Obedience."

Mr. Bainbridge Colby '90, of New York, and Mr. Irwin McD. Garfield '93, of Boston, have been appointed to choose the judges for the debates with Dartmouth and Brown.

Charles Noble '66, professor of the English language and literature in Iowa college, has presented the library with "Studies in American Literature," published recently by the Macmillan Co.

In the official ranking of the tennis players of the country, announced during vacation by the ranking committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, Asst. Prof. Lewis Perry was placed in Class 5, give 3-6 of 15, with the rank of 19th. R. C. Seaver '00 was ranked 16th, and B. B. V. Lyon '03 was ranked 28th. Asst. Prof. Perry, with G. H. Nettleton, of New Haven, was placed in class 4 in doubles.

Work on the Swimming Tank

The four large steel girders for the swimming tank were put in place during the vacation. Three of the beams weigh 4280 lbs. apiece, while the fourth, which supports the roof, gallery, and running track, weighs 7000 lbs.

The ground has been levelled and graded for the pool. The bottom will be covered with 4½ inches of concrete, this by 1 inch of cement, and will be finished with 1 inch tiles. The sides of the pool will be built of cement 2 inches thick and faced with tile to the ceiling. Along the north edge of the pool will be a platform, 60 feet long, and 4½ feet wide; the diving platform at the east end will measure 15 feet by 28 feet. The platforms will be of concrete, with granolithic finish.

The water for the pool will be let in from a 6-inch pipe at the street end, and will flow into a mixing chamber underneath the north platform. It will take 3½ hours to fill the tank.

The ceiling will be finished in wood covered with white enamel. The room will be lighted with fifteen electric light clusters. Work is at a standstill at present and it is impossible to say when the pool will be finished.

FIRST BASKETBALL TRIP

Williams plays Syracuse Tomorrow and Rochester Saturday

The Williams basketball team left on its New York state trip at 5:13 this afternoon. The team will stop in Albany tonight, go to Syracuse tomorrow forenoon, and play the Syracuse five in the armory at that city at 8:00 tomorrow night. At 8:00 Saturday night the team will play the University of Rochester in the Rochester gymnasium and will return to Williamstown Sunday morning. The following men will be taken on the trip: Appell, Blaisdell, Cowell, Gardner, Neild 1906, Tower 1907, manager Hobson and trainer Barrett.

The Syracuse five, which Williams meets tomorrow, is one of the best in the country. Two years ago Williams won in Lasell Gymnasium by the score of 25-24, and last year, the score was 14-12, after five minutes of overtime play, with the spectators on their feet and cheering incessantly the last ten minutes. Of last year's Syracuse five all are in college, but Houseknecht is not playing this year. Redlein and Capt. Kirchgesser are former members of the Buffalo German Y. M. C. A. team, the fastest in the United States. Yale was beaten by Syracuse Tuesday night by the score of 19-15, with Powell in the line-up.

Williams defeated the University of Rochester, five at Rochester last year by the score of 30-16, 12 of the home team's points being scored from the foul line. But one man remains from last year and this is their opening game. Both games will be played under A. A. U. rules.

The line-up of the Williams-Syracuse game will be as follows:

Williams	Syracuse
Gardner lf,	rg, Powell, Scully
Neild rf,	lg, Dollard
Tower c,	c, Riehl
Blaisdell lg,	rf, Redlein
Cowell rg,	lf, Kirchgasser

Referee and umpire, Mr. V. V. Roseboro, of the Syracuse Y. M. C. A. Umpire and referee, Mr. Childs of Syracuse.

Mr. M. C. Laughlin will be the Rochester official at the game in that city, and Mr. Childs will serve again for Williams.

Class Relay Races

The interclass relay races will be held on the board track January 29. The captains of the teams are Osterhout 1906, Hurlbut 1907, B. P. Allen 1908, Johnston 1909.

CLASSICAL SOCIETY

Reading of Aristophanes' "Acharnians" Tuesday Evening

The third meeting of the classical society was held Tuesday evening, at 7:30, in the west wing of Lawrence Hall, different members of the society reading parts of Aristophanes' "Acharnians." A brief introduction to the play was given by Prof. Hewitt.

The "Acharnians" was brought out in 425 B. C., the sixth year of the Peloponnesian war, when Aristophanes was but 19, and thus is possibly the oldest extant comedy in any language. The play was the first of three produced to secure the return of peace. Much of the humor of Aristophanes is to modern tastes coarse, and naturally, after twenty-three centuries, some of the Greek plays on words, and sly local hits at Cleon and his demagogues escape us. There are, however, numerous passages in the piece that still raise a laugh, as the dramatist's digs at Euripides, "who made tragedy with his feet in the air," for, says Aristophanes, "that's why his characters go lame before they come before us."

Megarian girls made up as porkers, and a clever verbal sparring match between the warlike Lammachus and the festival-loving Dicaeopolis, add their share of fun, but the part of the comedy best brought out was the dialect of the poverty-stricken Boeotian market-gardener from "Thabes," translated by Hogan '06, ending in the merry scene in which an informer appears on the stage, and the "spalpeen" is tied up in a sack.

The "moral" of the comedy comes in the last scene. Dicaeopolis, who has been pleading for peace, has won over the men of Acharnae, whose vineyards were being laid waste by the Peloponnesians, and is now in a drunken revel. He meets again the wounded warrior Lammachus, the personification of the war spirit, who now exclaims "Oh, what a heavy cost of war have I sustained!"

The next meeting of the society will be held on Thursday, Jan. 23, and will be addressed by Dr. James B. Pratt on the subject "Greek Religion."

THE RHINE

Prof. Rice gives Illustrated Talk Before Art Association

Prof. Rice addressed the art association yesterday afternoon, at five o'clock, in the art room in Hopkins Hall, on "The Decoration of a River Valley," as shown in the Rhine. The talk was illustrated with lantern-slides, mostly from photographs, the majority of which were in color tints. At a business meeting held before the lecture, W. E. McGown '06 was elected president of the association, and R. D. Johnson '07 vice-president.

The lecture was the first of a series of talks which Prof. Rice hopes to give before February. Prof. Rice did not attempt to describe fully the Rhine valley, but merely to give a general impression of the beautiful river, show the difference between photographs and similar scenes as caught by painters, and make clear the interrelation between the work of nature and the work of man. He spoke in part as follows:

The architectural decoration of landscape depends on the work of nature and the work of man. The combination of these two factors worked out in harmony is well shown in the way man has accomplished the decoration of the Rhine river valley from Switzerland to the sea. Even the upper Rhine contains such beautiful spots as the monastery of Reichenau, and the falls of the Rhine at Schaffhausen. The main industry of the valley, making green its terraced banks from Basel to Cologne, is the raising of the grape, although the innumerable sticks supporting the bare vine, trimmed so that all its strength may be put into the grape, give the vineyards a quite unusual appearance.

Above Basel lie the beautiful cathedral towns, Freiburg, with its open-spired church, Strassburg, Speyer and Worms. Mainz, the present starting point of the Rhine tourist steamers, possesses a dignified Romanesque cathedral in keeping with its high ecclesiastical position in the middle ages.

From Mainz to Bingen the country is level, but beyond Bingen come the more famous castles, Rheinfels, picturesque though partially restored, the lofty Rheinstein, Stolzenfels, still inhabited by members of the German royal family, the fortress of Ehrenbreitstein, where the Moselle, with its narrower, wilder valley flows into the Rhine, and Drachenfels, on the highest of the famous "seven mountains." From Cologne to the sea the country is level, and the river subdivides after it enters Holland.

FINAL TRIALS

Brown-Dartmouth Preliminaries to be Held Tonight

The final trials for the Brown-Dartmouth-Williams debates will be held in the Biological Laboratory at 7.25 to-night. Candidates who are not on hand at scheduled time will be disqualified. Speakers will not be notified in advance whether they have the affirmative or negative, but sides will be chosen by lot.

A statement of the question, which is to be the same as that chosen for the triangular league, and the method of selection, have appeared in recent numbers of The Record.

The judges of the contest will be Professors Mears and Maxcy, and probably Asst. Prof. Clark. The candidates will report as follows, in order: 7:25, Matthews, Perry; 7:35, Ernst, Westermann; 7:55, Murray, Nomer; 8:15, Dodd, Groben; 8:35, Byard, Sayre; 8:55, Case, Toll; 9:15, Clark, Wood; 9:35, Howe, Hulst.

The Manning Glee Club Jan. 16

The next number of the Thompson entertainment course will be given on Tuesday, January 16, instead of the usual Thursday, and will be presented by the Manning Glee Club of Boston, composed of a double quartet, a director, and a pianist. The program will consist of three parts, the first vocal selections, the second a minstrel performance, and the third a burlesque in costume.

Musical Club Dates

The Williams college musical clubs will give a concert at the Hotel Ten Eyck in Albany on the evening of February 21. A second concert will probably be given in Pittsfield on the following night. The management is also arranging a trip to New York for the musical clubs during the Easter recess and a concert in Saratoga, the date of which is not yet determined.

Harvard's Recommendations

Harvard's special committee, appointed to recommend to the university athletic committee changes in the game of football, has made public the results of its work. Prof. White evidently understood the situation, when he said the special committee would "probably take some radical action."

In the rules submitted, it seems as if every possible method of opening the game thus far suggested is included. The ten-yard gain in three downs is of course one of the first. Mass play is prevented by requiring seven players to be at least five yards back of the scrimmage line. These two would together be sufficient to keep the game open, if the first alone could not do so. The others proposed by the Harvard committee seem unnecessary. And further, football would bear little resemblance to the present game, if played under rules in line with the plan from Harvard. Here is one of them. "The ball is to be passed in any direction when the play is between the twenty-five yard lines, provided the player has not advanced beyond the line of scrimmage"—football almost turned into basketball! From this it appears that the ball could be tossed about from one player to another until a suitable opportunity occurred to advance it.

Track Athletics

The schedule of meets announced by the track association for 1906 was published in the last issue of The Record. The list of events is one that will call forth the best efforts of the team. In addition to an admirable arrangement, every possible date of the short season is utilized. One more contest than in 1905 is included in this year's schedule. The advantage of two dual meets before the intercollegiates instead of one, is evident.

For the home event the first meet in May, it is a pleasure to note that the Purple meets Wesleyan for the first time on Weston Field since 1901. If, for financial or other reasons, it was thought inadvisable to place Amherst or Dartmouth on the list, the management has at least secured one of the strongest teams in New England. With M. I. T. at Brookline on May 12, Williams will face a team of such exceptional strength in second and third string men, that a victory can be scored for the Purple only by the hardest, most consistent work, and the most careful training.

With the prospect this schedule presents, it should be apparent to the college that all the material must be placed at the disposal of the captain, if Williams is to amount to anything on the track this year. We must admit that, as far as has been shown, there are left in college only a few athletes who are in the first rank. Two point winners at Worcester last spring remain. The Purple is handicapped by the loss of two first places at the intercollegiate contest. To meet the situation, a team must be made.

The winter track events are exactly suited to effect this development: class relays in January, the 'varsity relay at Boston and indoor meet at Troy in February, and early in March the Lehman cup contests. The reputation which has come to Williams in recent years through its relay team must be sustained by reversing last season's defeat in Mechanics' Hall. The Purple has again to repeat its victory of 1905, by capturing first honors in the Troy meet—this year an intercollegiate contest of the first order.

The underclass meet last fall is proof enough of the possibilities Williams has in track. It is perfectly evident that, with the present schedule, the season of 1906 will be a failure unless there is an instant and more general response to the call for candidates. At present less than twenty-five men have reported for the 'varsity relay team. We feel certain that the college must have its best representation, if it is to conclude a successful year in track.

statement of its relation to the college life. The proposition is simple. The college in its nature and from its history must seek to develop in its students an education and culture whose culmination is character.

To the attainment of this end three more or less distinct elements contribute; these forces are classified as physical, intellectual, and spiritual, all somewhat interdependent but more largely separate. The college gives every encouragement to the physical and intellectual welfare of the undergraduates, but to our spiritual education, which includes religious vitality, it pays little direct attention. It is in order to stimulate the religious life here that the Christian association stands. Realizing that the problem of how to live is inevitably before every one of us and believing that upon its solution turns the real littleness or greatness of each man, it is convinced that Jesus alone has perfectly solved the question and among all dares teach men the art of living.

The association is no close corporation; it holds just this, and desires to bring every undergraduate to hold a faith in Jesus as rational as faith in one's father and to follow the life of Jesus as simply and as rationally as one might follow the life of his older brother or anyone else. No intricate questions of theology and no sentiments of mawkish piety enter the case. It is all downright common-sense, the living business of a man; indeed the aim of this association is only that every Williams man should adhere to the great ideal of life.

This is no babble for children. The question of the spiritual life of Williams is a mighty real one. Let no man think it is too simple for him; neither does it affect a few, it concerns the manhood of every one of us.

What then shall a man do? Grant in the first place that he has lived enough to care genuinely for the spiritual force of the college, and the question becomes real. The matter of an instrument must then be settled and the Christian association is the only form of united effort available.

It is not perfect, but it can be what men will make it. Its efficiency will depend wholly upon the energy which undergraduates put into it. It will respond absolutely to their touch. Doubtless men will object that they would be glad to put their power into it if only conditions were now as they were years ago. But who can fail to see that before any change can take place some men must take the situation as it is and by their own inspiring life transform it? And it is not to be forgotten that success requires united and persistent effort.

Then since for most of us the association is the most ready instrument and a man's interest is assumed, we would suggest the following experiment. Let any man take the prayer-meetings, the Bible classes, the Sunday evening meetings, and determine that for this term at least he will regularly attend them, not that he may draw from them whatever virtue he can find but that in his own way and as he pleases he may vivify them by his own spiritual vigor! The time has come for the many men who will assent to all this, but who have heretofore been loath to make the effort involved, to come out of their habits and see how it feels to play this difficult game hard and to a finish. Whether or not anyone has been interested in the association work before, let him grit his teeth, dare to take his part, and tenaciously determine to see what he can do! At any rate let us try it and see what happens!

Then if at the end of this term there has been no result why we will have to drop the association and get a better tool. But if more men of courage and determination will make this experiment, Williams will be an even better place in June.

To those men who accept no responsibility and to those who believe themselves too strong to care how the Great Captain lived, this will mean nothing; for the rest of us it is a call to serve the college with the best nerve and spirit we possess.

Yours truly,
Wm. Smith Pettit.

Sunday Evening Meeting

The meeting of the Christian association in Jesup Hall at 7:30 Sunday evening will be addressed by Mr. Orrin Giddings Cocks of The Church of the Sea and Land, Henry street, New York city.

In its time Henry street was one of the fine residential streets of New York, and the church's membership was drawn from the well-to-do classes. Today, however, the old church is in a district which has been called "the bottom of the world," a place of misery and filth. For several years this church has interested various Williams men. Rev. John H. Denison '90 was for some time its pastor, and at the present time Haynes '02, Dennett '04 and Gregory '05 are working there. Mr. Cocks subject will be the methods and experiences of this church in its effort to build up character among those who live in its wretched environment.

Track News

Training for the relay teams was resumed after the holidays. Nineteen candidates reported. Hereafter practice will be held at 3 and 4 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons, and at 3 p. m. on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

The class relay races will be held on January 27th, and the showing made in these races will enter largely into the selection of the 'varsity teams to be sent to the B. A. A. meet on February 10th, and to the Troy meet on February 21st. Men who have been in training will be allowed to enter the individual events in these meets.

The events to decide the possession of the Lehman cups will be held shortly after the close of the regular season.

Resolutions of the Faculty

The following message of congratulation was adopted by the faculty Jan. 8. 1906.

"To Dr. and Mrs. Bascom:—"The faculty of Williams college desire to express to Dr. and Mrs. Bascom their hearty congratulations on their golden wedding anniversary. It is with profound consciousness of what Dr. Bascom has contributed to the moral and intellectual atmosphere of the college, of the stimulus ever exerted upon the sympathetic mind, of the eminent services rendered here and elsewhere to varied public interests, of an unflinching devotion to lofty ideals, that these congratulations are offered in sincere and affectionate admiration."

COLLEGE NOTES

Strobel '09, of Moscow, N. Y., has resigned from college.

The senior pictures for the 1906 class-book are now being taken by Kinsman.

The 1906 'varsity basketball picture was taken yesterday afternoon at Kinsman's.

Edward Frank Curtis 1908, of Williamstown, has resigned from college.

The indoor track meet date at the Troy Armory on Feb. 21, has been approved by the faculty committee.

Dr. J. T. Porter has an article entitled "Selective Reflection in the Infra-Red-Spectrum" in a recent number of the Astrophysical journal.

Dr. James B. Pratt has an article, "The Place and Value of the Marginal Region in Psychic Life" in the current number of the Psychological Review.

The manager of the 1909 baseball team has arranged games with the Springfield High school and Hotchkiss school. The dates have yet to be decided.

A meeting of the scientific association will be held at 8:00 o'clock tonight in the Biological Laboratory. Prof. McElfresh will read a paper on "The Theory of Electrons."

Mr. Donald McDonald, coach for this year's Cap and Bells play, "The Man from Mexico," will arrive in Williamstown January 19, and will remain until after the first performance.

Men who are planning to enter individual or handicap track events in the indoor meet to be held at the armory in Troy February 21, must make entries and other arrangements with Mr. Seeley before February 9.

Prof. J. E. Russell has a new text-book, "Elementary Logic", in The press of Macmillan & Co. The book, to contain about three hundred pages, aims to cover its subject in a more tangible manner than has yet been done.

The hockey team had its first practice since the vacation on the rink yesterday afternoon, when twenty-five men reported. The ice was in good condition for fast play. The next game will be played in Springfield on January 19, with a picked team of Williams alumni.

On Monday afternoon Dr. Bascom was serenaded and cheered by students, who marched in a body to his home on Park street during the reception in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of his marriage. Dr. Bascom spoke briefly in reply, thanking the undergraduates for their good wishes.

'97—Gurdon W. Gordon was re-elected Monday a member of the Springfield board of health, for a term of three years.

The Baseball Cage

It is expected that the exterior work on the new baseball cage will be completed in about two weeks, and the building will probably be ready for use by February 1. The brick walls are entirely completed, and the iron frame-work and boarding of the roof. The slating and skylights should be finished in a week. The latter will extend the whole length of the building, and nine feet wide on either side of the ridgepole, giving sufficient light to the interior.

A clay bottom floor will be put in, giving twenty-five feet clear height from floor to center of roof frame-work. Steam heating apparatus has not yet been contracted for, and this must be installed before work on the interior can be finished.

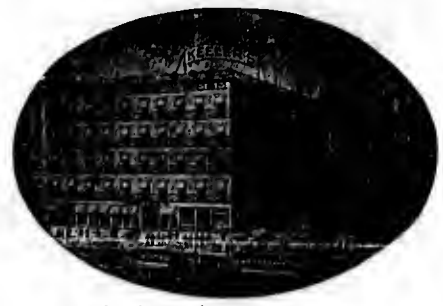
Lit. Meeting and Elections

The next Lit. meeting will be held Saturday evening, January 13th, to consider contributions for the February number.

The Lit. elections will occur immediately after the meeting for the April issue, and no man will be elected to the Board who has not fulfilled the qualifications required. These are that a candidate, to be eligible for election, must have five articles accepted, no more than two of which may be "suggestions", and at least one of which shall be prose.

There remain but three opportunities to have manuscript accepted. It would be advisable, therefore, for all men who are seeking the honor of an election to the Board to have contributions ready for each meeting. Those who have qualified should be especially careful not to relax their efforts, as work accepted above the amount required is an important factor in determining the result of the elections.

G. B. Dutton.



Notice to Record Candidates

The following candidates have been retained in the competition: 1908, Anderson, Aub. Ford, Mygatt, Scott; 1909, Engelhard, Kline, Lewis, Maclay, Wood.

The divisions of Record candidates will meet on the following dates from now until the end of the competition: I (Monday division), Jan. 8, 15, 22, 29, Feb. 12, 19, 26, Mar. 5: II (Thursday division), Jan. 11, 18, 25, Feb. 15, 19, Mar. 1, 8, 12.

Before the end of the competition each candidate will receive 2 assignments of editorials, 3 of news items, 3 of college notes. Alumni notes are due as follows: 200 words before noon of Jan. 25, 200 words before noon of Feb. 22, 200 words before noon of Mar. 15: 600 words in all, excess of words in one assignment to count as part of the next.

FORFEITED TO SYRACUSE

Score 17-17 When Williams Captain Objected to Decisions

Dissatisfied with decisions made by the referee, Capt. Cowell withdrew the Williams basketball team from the floor of the State Armory at Syracuse Friday night, thereby forfeiting the game to Syracuse University by a score of 2 to 0. When the game ended the score stood 17—17 with six minutes more to play.

In both the first and second halves Cowell repeatedly requested the referee to take out time to discuss the question of ruling. This was in every instance refused. In the second half, Tower was pushed over the line by his opponent and a foul was called on him for "carrying the ball out of bounds." Cowell again asked for time to discuss the decision. His request was ignored and a foul was called on Williams for delaying the game. Capt. Cowell ordered the Williams players to leave the floor.

The Williams team played the fastest and most brilliant basketball thus far this season. Long throws to the basket from all parts of the floor and swift passing were features of the play.

The game began at 9:30 and within a minute and a half two fouls were called on Williams, from which Kirchgasser scored two points. Gardner threw the first basket for Williams, followed by another by Neild. Before the half closed Syracuse scored three more goals from the foul line, and Powell a basket from the floor. Baskets by Cowell, Tower and Neild made the score Williams 13, Syracuse 7.

Powell was the first to score in the second half, and Redlein soon added a point by throwing a foul. Cowell and Gardner scored, giving Williams a lead of seven points. Then three baskets by Syracuse, and a goal from foul, tied the score. At this point the dispute arose over the referee's decision. Mr. Rosebore, referee, and Mr. Childs, umpire, are both from the Syracuse Y. M. C. A.

The line-up:

Williams	Syracuse
Gardner lf,	rg, Dollard
Neild rf,	lg, Powell
Tower c,	c, Reihl
Blaisdell lg,	rf, Redlein
Cowell rg,	lf, Kirchgasser

Goals from floor, Syracuse 5, Williams 8. Goals from fouls, Syracuse 7, Williams 1. Goals from field, Powell 3, Reihl 1, Kirchgasser 1; Gardner 2, Neild 2, Cowell 2, Tower 2. Fouls, Redlein 4, Kirchgasser 3, Neild 1.

FOR FURTHER TAXATION

Movement to Tax College Property from which Income is Derived

State Senator W. H. Feiker of Northampton is preparing, for introduction into the Massachusetts Legislature, a bill providing "for some legislation for the taxation of the property of incorporated or unincorporated educational institutions, from which an income is derived." In support of this measure, petitions are being circulated in various college towns, to which a large number of signatures have already been affixed. A petition in Williamstown has been signed by over one hundred voters.

President Hopkins said that Williams college is already paying a tax on considerable property which is not liable to taxation, but such revenue-yielding property as dormitories, is not now taxed, and it is to cover these that the new bill is being introduced. Dr. Hopkins said that further taxation would be a burden as the college is already running behind each year.

Petition for Legislative Rights

In the Massachusetts House of Representatives at Boston on Jan. 11, Representative Turtle of Pittsfield introduced a petition from the President and Trustees of Williams college for extension of corporate rights. The petition asks for legislative authority to posess property yielding an annual income of $1,000,000. The present corporate rights of the college established in 1883, permit it an income not exceeding $200,000, but since then resources and expenditures have so increased that it becomes necessary to apply for further legislative rights.

Boston Alumni Smoker

The Williams alumni association of Boston will hold a smoker at the University club, 270 Beacon street, Thursday evening, January 18th, at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Henry F. Hurlburt of Boston will talk upon certain noteworthy trials in which he has participated. Mr. Leverett B Merrill '92 will sing. Members of the faculty and undergraduates of the college are invited to attend, as well as all alumnni and former students.

Annual dues of the association are $5; single smokers, $1.75. Notice should be sent to the secretary, James F. Bacon '98, 434 Tremont Building, or to the treasurer, Philip R. Dunbar 1900, 70 State street, Boston.

ATHLETIC CARNIVAL

Indoor Meet at Troy State Armory Feb. 21—List of Events

The second annual indoor track meet, held by the Troy Central Y. M. C. A. and four companies of the second regiment of the New York national guard, will take place Wednesday, February 21, at the State Armory, Troy, at 8:00 p. m. The program of the meet will consist of open events and relay races. The open events, in all of which Williams will probably be entered, are the following: 40-yards dash, novice; 40-yards dash, handicap; 300-yards run, novice; 600-yards run, handicap; 1000-yards run, handicap; running high jump, handicap; and 12-pound shot-put, handicap.

To overcome the faults of last year's track, on which no spiked shoes were permitted, a board track, 12 feet wide, and 12 laps to the mile has been built. The only other places in the country where a track like this can be used are Mechanics' Hall at Boston, in which the B. A. A. meet takes place, and Madison Square Garden, New York.

The only relay event in which Williams is to compete will be the one mile intercollegiate relay. In this race Williams will run Brown, if satisfactory arrangements can be given the Providence team by the Troy management. Brown has three of her last year's relay team in college, Thurlow, Kelley and Honiss, losing only Capt. Lamkie. Among the new candidates are Mayhew, of Worcester academy, and Dennie of Williston.

Of the other events of the athletic carnival, Cornell will enter a team in the four-mile relay, and will probably run Yale and the University of Pennsylvania. Among well-known athletes who will compete are S. S. Jones, who won the high jump two years at the intercollegiates, John Flanagan, world's champion hammer-thrower, George Bonhag, the crack distance runner, and Dennis Horgan, former world's champion in the shot-put. Mr. James E. Sullivan, the well-known secretary of the A. A. U. will act as referee.

Last year Williams won the silver cup offered for the greatest number of points. The track management will take a few men on the trip, besides the members of the relay team, and other entries can be made by seeing Mr. Seeley. Entry blanks must be made out by Feb. 9.

THE LOWER EAST SIDE

Rev. O. G. Cocks on the Work of the Church of Sea and Land

Rev. Orrin G. Cocks, of the Church of Sea and Land, New York city, spoke to the Y. M. C. A. in Jesup Hall last evening on the work which that famous church is doing among the "submerged tenth" of the metropolis. Mr. Cocks is a spesker of more than ordinary forcefulness.

In regions where there are one thousand human souls to the acre, where 575 children may be counted playing in the street of a single block, and where deadly diseases, filth, crime and poverty combine in the destruction of life, the church of Sea and Land is carrying on its ennobling work. Its influence is even stronger than settlement work, in that it appeals to the heart.

In addition to religious ministration, the church also maintains a doctor and nurse to heal the sick, and a labor bureau to provide employment. In closing Mr. Cocks invited all college men who desire to try actual and useful mission work during the summer to come to his "bailiwick" on the lower east side.

'Varsity Debaters Chosen

Prof. Maxey, Prof. Mears and Asst. Prof. Clark, the judges of the preliminary debating trials, held Friday evening in the Biological Laboratory, have chosen the two teams to represent Williams in the debates on March 3, against Dartmouth and Brown in the triangular league. The results follow:

Team A:—Elmer Philip Groben 1908 of Buffalo; Joseph Earl Perry 1906 of Shelburne Falls; Henry Wolcott Toll 1909, of Denver. James Burch Murray 1908 of Utica, N. Y., alternate.

Team B:—John Kenneth Byard 1908 of Fly Creek, N. Y., Roy Herbert Case 1907, of Canandaigua, N. Y., Lytel William Matthews 1907 of Westfield, N. Y. Francis Bowes Sayre 1909 of South Bethlehem, Pa,. alternate.

The Syracuse Game

For the second time within a year the futility of having a local official in an intercollegiate game has been evidenced, and as in the first instance, the circumstance has worked to the disadvantage of Williams. At Amherst last spring Williams lost a chance of victory through the ignorance of the umpire; in this case no blame whatever rested on the opposing team. In the case of the Syracuse-Williams basketball game, however, there is one striking difference. The referee seems to have been sufficiently well versed in the rules of the game, but was prejudiced, and used the power which the rules gave him, to help win a victory for his home team. The Syracuse captain is open to the charge of unsportsmanlike conduct in refusing to support the Williams captain in his request that time be called to discuss a decision with the referee.

The referee did not break the rules, although he stretched them considerably. The rules are vague in this particular, that the referee is empowered to interpret "persistent or intentional delaying of the game." If he wished to call a foul merely because the Williams captain asked for "time out," he could do so. The motive which prompted Mr. Roseboro to such deliberate unfairness to a visiting team is an interesting subject for speculation. Two things are evident: Williams played the better basketball and was robbed of the game by the Syracuse referee.

Although the two officials were not connected with the university in any way, and were well recommended, the management will do well to refuse a local referee and umpire in the future. The precaution would practically eliminate the possibility of a repetition of Friday's incident.

The Williams captain was advised to order his team from the floor by all the alumni present at the game. He was under extreme provocation, in that his team was helpless, and it was evident that the official, and not the playing ability of the teams, was to decide the game. Nevertheless, the officials had been approved, whether wisely or not is another question, and defeat should have been accepted under protest. Williams can afford to lose a basketball game, though defeated unfairly. There is a disagreeable term applied to a team that refuses to finish an athletic contest. The Williams basketball five in no sense deserves such a title; at the same time the college cannot risk having added to its name the other that does not belong to it.

Intercollegiate Athletics

For the past few years the subject of athletics has been carefully considered and investigated by college authorities as one of the most important problems in collegiate education. A thorough examination has been made of its effect upon scholarship; at present the amalgamated football rules committees are taking up the question from an ethical standpoint. When the football rules have been straightened out and the game restored to its proper place, it is not unreasonable to suppose that the discussion will turn to the physical benefits of sports and a general reform in athletics. Columbia has already attempted to solve the problem by abolishing intercollegiate competition. The University of Wisconsin is contemplating the same move.

This tendency to restrict athletics is not of recent growth. The example of St. Paul's (Concord, N. H.) seems to prove the advantages of the plan in a preparatory school. There the physical benefits which the students receive under the system are as noticeable as the prestige acquired by the school in producing some of the strongest and best trained men in all branches of athletics. Perhaps in other schools conditions may not be suited to follow this example. Even if it were possible to introduce successfully such a system in the school, where the life is simpler, and the interests and activities necessarily fewer in number than in college, we doubt whether the same plan would be found practicable in the college or university.

The athletic inclination is weakened by the opportunities offered the undergraduate in other branches. It is the desire to represent his college, and not a small part of it, which induces a man to work for a place on an athletic team. The abolition of intercollegiate contests would destroy the chief incentive for athletic competition. The introduction of the English non-competitive spirit, the ideal solution, is an impossibility. It is an unfortunate fact that the American college athletic team is trained solely to win. One that entered a contest with this as a secondary purpose, would fail of support.

That comparatively few college men accept the advantages of athletic training, is a well recognized fact. "Athletics for the many" is a goal that can be attained without severing the principal tie that exists among the undergraduates of different colleges. The evils which characterize intercolleigate sports are an outgrowth of abnormal conditions. When these faults are removed, athletics will be left in a more healthful and inviting condition for the college student. The purging of athletics will play a large part in making college sports more attractive. Of the other methods of securing an added incentive, the relation of undergraduate non-athletic organizations to athletics is worthy of investigation.

ROCHESTER DEFEATED

Williams Wins Easy Victory From Rochester—Score 31 to 12

Rochester University met defeat by the Williams team Saturday night in Alumni Gymnasium at Rochester by a score of 31 to 12. The Rochester five was outclassed, but played a hard game from start to finish. Their work surpassed that of last year while Williams was not up to its usual standard.

Cowell started the scoring. Tower followed, hitting the ball into the basket from a toss-up. In the first half Rochester threw three out of its four goals from the floor. The half ended with the score 17—7 in favor of Williams.

In the second half Appell was substituted for Gardner. Tower and Cowell played the best game for the Purple. Ramaker threw the only basket for Rochester in this half, but missed six out of eight tries from foul.

The line-up:

Rochester	Williams
Ramaker rf,	lg, Blaisdell
Reid lf,	rg, Cowell
Maecherlein c.	c, Tower
Joy rg,	lf, Gardner, Appell
Van Buskirk lg,	rf, Neild

Score, Williams 31 Rochester 12. Baskets from floor, Reid, Ramaker, Van Buskirk 2; Neild 2, Appell, Tower 5, Cowell 6. Baskets from fouls, Ramaker 3, Neild 2. One point awarded each side for fouls on goal throwers. Officials—Referee, Laughlin of Rochester Y. M. C. A. Umpire, Appell and Gardner.

The Art Exhibition

Prof. Rice has placed in the frame in the hallway of the second floor of Hopkins Hall a series of photographs of the exteriors and interiors of Italian cathedrals. Among the more familiar pictures are two of the leaning tower of Pisa, the elaborate composite facade of the Certosa of Pavia, and two views of sculptures of Della Quercia above and at the sides of the great door of the Bologna cathedral. Works of Raphael and Donatello are exhibited, as well as the graceful hexagonal pulpit in Siena cathedral by Niccola Pisano, raised on six slender pilasters with sculptured bas-reliefs in the sides, one of the most beautiful works of early Renaissance sculpture.

The views exhibited are of the cathedrals of Cremona, Palermo, Prato, Milan and Bologna, the Baptistery of Parma, the Fibbia and Albergati palaces in Bologna, the interior of the Basilica S. Maria in Rome, and two views of the ducal palace of the famous Federigo of Urbino.

A COIN COLLECTION

Set of Electrotypes Purchased From Trustee Appropriation

Prof. Hewitt placed in the Greek room, II Hopkins Hall, just before vacation, four cases of electrotype reproductions of coins of the ancient world. The collection was secured from the balance of the $1000 appropriation made by the trustees, $500 of which was expended in casts of Greek sculpture, and $150 in the purchase of original ancient coins picked up in Constantinople by F. L. Duley '97.

The coins were electrotyped under the direction of Mr. A. P. Ready, of the British Museum, and were sold by Barclay V. Head, D. C. L., Ph. D., the keeper of coins there. The coins are divided chronologically according to the seven periods in the development of art, from 700 B. C. to the Christian era, and geographically according to the countries grouped about Syria and Egypt, Greece, and Italy. The third period, that of finest art, from 400 B. C. to 336 B. C., is represented by a complete set, the others by half sets.

Beginning with the rude staters of Lydia, Miletus and Halicarnassus, the collection includes many of the more interesting coins with which the Greeks came in contact, as, for example, the Persian daric. Among others are the earliest known coin (an electron stater of Lydia), and the first containing an inscription (probably an Ephesian stater), while the latest coin is of the Mauritanian king Juba II. (B. C. 25—A. D. 23).

Good Government Club

A meeting of the college Good Government Club will be held in Jesup Hall this evening to arrange for political speakers to come to Williamstown and address the organization and any others interested, during the next few months. It is planned to have frequent meetings of the club addressed at which leading political men are to be asked to speak. Ex-President Grover Cleveland has been invited to speak at a meeting of the club to be held within the next few weeks.

JACK LONDON TO SPEAK

Before the Good Government Club March 1—Other Addresses

Arrangements have been practically completed for a series of addresses to be given by well-known political men of New York and Boston before the college Good Government club during the next few months, on various topics relating to special branches of municipal reform.

At the meeting of the Good Government club held Monday evening in Jesup Hall, the plan of having political leaders address the meetings from time to time was favorably considered, and it was decided to invite five speakers to come to Williamstown and address the college. Names of several speakers had been secured by Prof. Nelson through the College Men's Political club, a New York organization which has guaranteed their availability. Definite dates have not been set for the meetings, but they will probably be held Thursday or Friday evenings. A letter from Ex-President Grover Cleveland, in which he stated that he would be unable to address the club here on January 30, as invited, was read at the meeting.

Ex-Police Commissioner McAdoo, a well-known speaker of New York, has been invited to address the club at the meeting next week. The week after the mid-year examinations, Frederick W. Henrichs, commissioner of child labor in New York city, will speak on "Child Labor." Homer Folk, ex-commissioner of charities in New York, will be the speaker the following week, and the next Thursday, March 1, Jack London, the well-known novelist and socialist leader of Boston, will address the club. Herbert B. Clark '03, of the North Adams common council, will speak the following week, on "Municipal Ownership."

Professor Nelson, Mr. Clark and Mr. Lewis, will act with Nomer, 1906, president of the club as executive committee in securing of the speakers.

Hockey with Dartmouth

The first game of hockey between Dartmouth and Williams will take place on the Weston Field rink Saturday afternoon. Although this year marks Dartmouth's first appearance in intercollegiate hockey, its team is not by any means composed of inexperienced men, as several of them were well-known players in the Boston interscholastic league. On this same trip Dartmouth meets Harvard at Cambridge, and Stone's school at Boston. Williams will probably play a return game at Hanover.

FLEMISH AND DUTCH ART

Rubens, Van Dyck, Frans Hals and Other Painters of Masterpieces

On Wednesday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock Professor Rice gave an illustrated talk in the art room, Hopkins Hall, on "Masterpieces of Flemish and Dutch Painting." Prof. Rice will speak at the same hour next Wednesday on "Master pieces of French Painting."

A masterpiece, in its strict sense, is a work presented by a painter as the very best he can do in a given line to a number of expert judges, but in another sense the world at large is the jury. The men making these masterpieces express national ideals and capacity in the particular form of art by either national spirit or perfection of technical handling. In photographs of these works this second quality cannot be judged.

Jan and Hubert Van Eyck, for whom is claimed the invention of oil painting, laid the foundations of Flemish painting. The peculiar national feeling of the Van Eycks is shown in their attention to the small details making up the incidents of their pictures, a characteristic realism going far to explain the excellence of Flemish and Dutch portraiture. Passing by Hans Memling, the Flemish Fra Angelico, Quintin Matsys, with his coarser commercialisms, Brauwer, who was the first of the school to paint in broad strokes, and Moro, who added Italian elegance, we reach Rubens.

Rubens' pictures represent his own idea of life, in their splendor and sumptuousness. In later life he developed a particular fondness for subjects permitting him to exercise his fancy as a decorator and colorist. His greatest pupil was Van Dyck, who differed from Rubens in a more smooth and fluid treatment of color, and imparted a greater air of elegance to the features, without sensuous beauty.

A third great painter, of the Dutch school, was Frans Hals, who works with fire, and produces slap-dash effects, but has a wonderful talent for portraiture, giving the sense of the man. Van der Helst, De Hoogh, who painted interiors in brilliant yellows and reds with beautiful lighting effects, and Jan Steen, with notoriety as a painter of low life, follow Frans Hals.

In landscape art the Dutch school produced Ruysdael, with a fondness for lonely scenes, but the great name is that of Paul

THE MANNING GLEE CLUB

Original and Clever Performance—A Novel Burlesque

The Manning Glee club of Boston gave the most varied program of the Thompson Course in their entertainment in Jesup Hall Tuesday evening. Beginning with a typical program, the second part of the entertainment, a transcript from a minstrel show, was reminiscent of the ten-twenty-thirty stage, while the last, a milkmaid scene in which the glee club appeared in costume, at times came close to comic opera effectiveness.

It is no unusual thing for a college community to have good double quartet singing,—and better has been heard than that offered by the Manning Glee club nor is it at all a novelty to see men attired in feminine garb simulating feminine action,—a dozen times Cap and Bells has done the same thing better. Nevertheless, the entertainment as a whole was a success; it was original, at least in so far as visiting entertainers are concerned, and it was funny.

In the first part of the program, the first of two baritone solos was sung by Mr. Harvey Park, whose clever, natural acting was the life of many of the numbers. By far the most ambitious song number occurred in this part where a quartet on the stage sang harmony to a vesper hymn chanted behind the scenes.

The minstrel show, in the second part, was not up to the club's standard. However, if the jokes were a little threadbare, the work of the two burnt cork artists, Messrs Millard and Lawton, was good, though at times it lacked spontaneity. Their imitation of a pair of slack wire acrobats was a well-executed piece of pantomime

The concluding part was much the best. Lady de Vere's (Mr. Litchfield) impressionist piano playing, and the pirouetting of the petticoated "chorus" at the back of the stage, were especially well done, and the quiet beauty of the closing scene, in which all lights were extinguished but candles held by the members of the club, was effective.

College Quartet at Pittsfield

The college quartet, consisting of Pevear '07, first tenor, Yarnelle '07, second tenor, Curtiss '06, first bass, Robbins '06, second bass, will sing in Pittsfield this evening at 8:00 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. The program will consist of college songs, and Pevear '07 and Curtiss '06 will sing solos.

Pierce '07, the musical club's reader, will accompany the quartet and read two selections.

WILLIAMS NIGHT

President Hopkins and Dr. Mabie Address New York Alumni

The graduates' club of New York city held a Williams night at the club rooms, 111 Fifth avenue, last evening. About 200 Williams alumni and invited guests were present. The music was in charge of Charles L. Safford '92. President Hopkins and Dr. Hamilton Wright Mabie '67, president of the Williams alumni association of New York, were the speakers.

President Hopkins said that the moral improvement today should come from the college graduate, whose tendencies in business are idealistic. Everything, however, cannot be expected from the college man, as many eminent citizens, among them Benjamin Franklin and Marshall Field, never had the advantage of a college education. President Hopkins advocated a combination of all the academic bodies of the country for some really sensible and beneficial purpose.

Dr. Mabie spoke on "A Man's Prime Duty to his College." The essence of his address was that a man is under obligations to his college, since his college is judged by its graduates. Recent discussions have shown that too large a proportion of eminent men whom corruption has stained, were college men. Especially is this true in political and financial life of today.

"The moral standard is low today, and the root of the evil is a genuine lack of the sense of obligation. There is too little sense of obligation on the part of trustees towards those whose moneys they handle, on the part of railways towards those whom they carry, of public men towards men who vote for them. At this moment we do not need knowledge or genius or artistic power so much as just plain honesty."

Fair Play

If any further proof is needed that Williams was treated unfairly by the referee in the basketball game at Syracuse last Friday, the evidence is given in the communication which appears in this issue. It represents the opinion of all the alumni who were present at the game; their convictions must have been strong indeed, since they felt justified in advising the Williams captain to withdraw his team from the floor.

If the forfeited game stands, the Purple may be forced to relinquish any claims it would otherwise have had to the national championship; at the best, Williams' claim would be greatly weakened, unless every other game on the schedule proved to be a victory. There are many different roads to the goal in the race for championship honors. One of them lies in Syracuse's avoiding the issue by cancelling the game remaining to be played at Williamstown.

It is as unfair to a team that has demonstrated its superiority over every opponent met this season, as it is unjust to the athletics of the college, that such a mock performance be allowed to remain on the records unprotested. Fair play is all that is asked; the facts of the game, in the number of fouls called on each team not to mention anything else, show that the official denied this right to the Williams' team. It is to be hoped that the Williams objections will be presented to the Syracuse athletic council and that the protest will be given proper consideration.

The Good Government Club

A meeting of the Williams Good Government club was held Monday evening. Hitherto the organization has not been particularly energetic in securing speakers, doubtless due to lack of support from the college body. This year the club evidently intends to be more than a name. A discussion of the plans revealed an outline of work that should prove as practical and instructive as it is interesting.

The purpose of the club is one that will not fail to appeal to the college man. We cannot believe that anyone is too busy to give at least a part of his time to a study of the principles of honest government. It has often enough been said that any permanent and substantial reform in politics must come from the men of education and training. The college student has an exceptional opportunity to discuss and investigate questions of municipal, state and national government. It is a privilege he should not neglect if he ever hopes to take a part in governmental affairs, in a city or elsewhere. A non-partisan and thorough discussion of the present political problems will give the discipline necessary to accomplish practical results.

The most satisfactory way of promoting this study is offered in the city and good government clubs, which are being formed in all the universities and colleges of the country. For the reasons given we urge the students of the college to take an active interest and give their support to the organization at Williams. Membership is not limited to upper classmen, as heretofore, but is now open to all classes. As an additional incentive the club has secured at the outset speakers of prominence and ability. The extension of this list will naturally depend upon the attitude the college takes towards the study of good government.

The Yale City Government club has proposed an association dedicated to honesty and competency in government. If the present movement has its proper measure of success at Williams, we suggest that the college organization cooperate in forming such a federation. The advantages of intercollegiate action in dealing with subjects of a religious or physical nature are well known; in the same way, by united effort, can the university and college Good Government clubs best attain their aims.

ing the recent Syracuse-Williams basketball game, we, as witnesses of it, have thought it well to give our opinion.

The number of fouls called on the Williams team, seventeen, compared to the number called on the Syracuse team, three, would indicate a vast difference in the style of play between the teams. To those on the side lines this difference was not evident.

After the game it was learned that Captain Cowell had twice been refused by the referee the privilege of questioning decisions. This, together with the fact that there was no appreciable difference between the teams in the style of play, led the alumni present to endorse the action of the Williams captain in withdrawing his team from the floor.

This letter is not to be taken as a criticism of the treatment received from the Syracuse team. Its attitude was all that could be desired. But this is simply an endorsement of the withdrawal of the Williams team because they were not getting a square deal at the hands of the referee. We feel positive that this expresses the opinion of all the Williams men who saw the game.

We highly commend the sportsmanlike conduct of both teams and very much regret the unfortunate outcome of the game.

Respectfully yours,

COLLEGE NOTES

Swift '01 has been in town.

Baseball candidates will be called out about February 20.

A meeting of the Hotchkiss club will be held after the basketball game tonight.

The glee club will give a concert in Saratoga on Saturday, January 27.

Perry '06 acted as judge last evening at an interclass debate in Arms academy.

Jaeckel '07 has been elected assistant manager of the college golf team.

The annual meeting of the alumni on the day before Commencement will be held in Jesup Hall instead of the chapel, as formerly.

George B. George 1908 of Indianapolis, Ind., has resigned from college. He will study in New York and expects to re-enter in 1909 next fall.

Tickets for the privilege of skating and playing hockey on the rink can be purchased for $2.00 from Schell '06 and Cleveland '07.

The basketball management has arranged a game with Williston to be played in Williamstown on the afternoon of Wednesday, January 24.

The annual tennis tournament of the triangular league, composed of Dartmouth, Wesleyan and Williams, will be played at Middletown May 25 and 26. Amherst will probably enter, also.

Lowe '06, chairman of the senior classbook committee, mailed yesterday to all members of the class blanks on which to enter their records for the books. These should be returned complete before Saturday.

On two evenings next week readings of short stories will be given by the different instructors to their classes in English 2. These will be continued after the examinations, for the benefit of those taking English 3.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Williams Co-operative store was held last evening. It was decided to sell membership tickets for the rest of the year at $1.00. The books showed a membership of 203.

The hockey game with the Springfield Training school, which was scheduled for yesterday afternoon, was cancelled because of the poor condition of the ice at the Springfield rink. Another game with the same team will probably be arranged.

At a meeting of the 'varsity debaters, held Monday evening, Perry '06 was elected captain of the teams. Conferences will be held twice a day. The debaters will be required to keep training, including early hours and a certain amount of daily exercise.

The management of Cap and Bells announces that "The Man from Mexico" will be presented in North Adams on February 14, and in Williamstown on February 17, during house-party week. Dates are arranged for Hudson, Poughkeepsie, New York, Great Barrington and Boston, but have not yet been approved.

At a meeting of the senior class Monday afternoon it was voted not to exempt the class-day committee from the tax levied upon each member of the class for expenses of graduation. The budget presented by the committee was accepted without alteration. A committee was authorized to arrange for a series of class smokers.

President of Trinity next Sunday

Dr. Flavel Sweeten Luther, president of Trinity college, Hartford, Conn., will occupy the college pulpit on Sunday. Dr. Luther graduated from Trinity in 1870, and from 1883 to 1903 was Seabury professor of mathematics and astronomy in that college. In 1903-1904, during the absence of the president, he was acting president, and since 1904, has been president of Trinity. He received the degree of Ph. D. from Trinity in 1896, and that of LL. D. in 1904. He represented his college at the recent convention of college presidents in Williamstown.

President Luther will also speak before the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall Sunday evening. The subject of his talk is not yet announced.

Class Prayer Meetings

The class prayer-meetings will be held as usual on Friday evening at 7:15 in Jesup Hall. The subject is: The Sabbath; Luke 13: 10-17. The leaders are as follows: 1906, Morgan; 1907, Clark; 1908, Anderson; 1909, Sayre.

Dean's Notice

Commencing with Thursday, January 18th, 1906, for the remainder of the semester, this office will discontinue the sending of postal cards indicating that the limit of absences has been reached, in any subject.

Instead, there will be posted daily, in case 2, a typewritten list, showing in what course or courses a man has on that day reached the limit of allowed absences.

NASHVILLE CONVENTION

Fifth Annual Meeting of Student Volunteer Movement

The fifth international convention of the Student Volunteer Movement will be held at Nashville, Tenn., beginning Wednesday afternoon, February 28th, closing on the evening of March 4th, 1906. Four previous conventions have been held, in Cleveland in 1891 and 1898, in Detroit in 1894, and in Toronto in 1902.

The convention will have four prominent features. In the first place, the main program will occupy the morning and night sessions, and will include the strongest speakers of Christendom on the various themes to be presented. In the second place, there will be held in the afternoons some forty-five special conferences on the interesting and important mission fields of the Church; another afternoon, on the various phases of work and the different classes of workers; and on still another afternoon the delegates will meet by denominations to consider the world's evangelization from their particular point of view. The third feature will be a large and impressive exhibit bearing on the progress of Christianity in the world. The fourth feature will be the exceptional opportunities for intercollegiate, interdenominational, and international fellowship.

Advance notices sent to Mr. F. P. Turner, general secretary of the movement, indicate a large attendsnce. Students and professors will be present from five hundred colleges, and theological seminaries, as well as more than two hundred missionaries from all parts of the world, state and national leaders of work among students and delegates from the Student Movement in other lands.

The Williams delegate to the convention will be Hulst 1906.

Prof. Rice to go Abroad

Prof. and Mrs. R. A. Rice will leave Williamstown about February 1 and will sail from New York for Europe on the Koenigin Louise on February 3. Landing in Naples, they will go to Egypt, where after joining friends from Harvard, they will ascend the Nile as far as Abu Timbel and possibly Khartoum. Returning to Cairo, the party will remain two or three weeks at the museums and excavations.

From there they will journey to Athens, and join an expedition visiting all the important islands and cities in the Aegean. Prof. and Mrs. Rice will thence return to Italy; will remain about a month in Munich, a week or two in Paris, and a month in London, returning to Williamstown in time for the opening of college in the fall.

Ex-'98—Almeron H. Cole has given up the practice of law in Buffalo, and is now devoting his time entirely to the trial of accident cases for the Metropolitan Street Railway Co., in New York.

1900—Sydney H. Wentworth has been elected a director of the Exchange National bank of Spokane, Wash.

1901—Albert V. Bensen has entered the employ of Corkin and Co., hardware manufacturers and merchants, Murray St, New York.

1901—Edward S. Goldthwait is superintendent of a branch of the Springfield Street Railway Co.

1901—Ernest T. Suffern has passed the state regents' examination, and is now a certified public accountant, with offices at 76 William street, New York.

Ex-'01—John T. Swift is in the employ of Tuttle, Hurley & Co., cotton packers, at Fall River.

1903—Walter C. Palmer, who was instructor in Smith academy, St. Louis, last year, is now studying for an M. A. degree in Biology in Leland Stanford university.

1904—W. H. Peabody has recently become interested in the Peabody-McPherson Collar Co., of Chicago.

'04—Charles B. Judson has resigned his position in Chicago, and is now taking a course in the Troy Business college.

Acting President of Chicago

Dr. Harry Pratt Judson, '70, dean of the faculty of arts, letters and sciences, and head of the department of international law at the University of Chicago, was appointed on Monday acting president of the University.

Dr. Judson took up teaching soon after his graduation at Williams in 1870; in 1880 he was principal of the Troy High school. Soon later he went west, and became professor of history in the University of Minnesota. He became professor of political science in the University of Chicago, rose to the head of that department and was made dean of the faculties. He received the degree of M. A. in 1883 and that of LL. D. in 1893 from Williams, and a second doctorate of laws from Queens college in 1903. Dr. Judson recently received the decoration of the Order of the Prussian Cross from Emperor William. He is the author of many books, and has received calls to the presidency of at least eight colleges and universities.

BY TWO GOALS

Dartmouth Wins Hockey Match at Albany by Score of 4 to 2

The Dartmouth hockey team defeated Williams Saturday evening at the Empire rink in Albany by the score of 4—2. The game was close and exciting, but the team work of both sevens was of the crudest kind, and hockey too often degenerated into an unorganized game of hit and miss. This was, however, partially accounted for by the poor conditions under which the game was played. Not only was the light poor but the ice was covered with water in many places.

For the first few minutes of play the Williams forwards made a determined attack, but the defense of the Green prevented any scoring. About nine minutes after play began Richardson shot the first goal and a minute later Brooks landed the puck in the net for a second tally. The Williams team braced, carried the disk up the ice and Jenkins shot a goal from a scrimmage in front of the Dartmouth cage. The half ended without further scoring.

In the second period Williams again started at a fast pace and tied the score after a few minutes of play; but the Hanover seven improved rapidly. About the middle of the half Brett shot a goal, giving Dartmouth the lead, and shortly before the half closed Foote scored the visitors' fourth tally on a long shot from the side of the rink.

For Williams, Stower played up to his usual form, while Richardson excelled for the visitors.

Line-up and summary:

Dartmouth		Williams.
Brooks	forwards	Rudd
Richardson		Jenkins
Foote		Williams (C. Brown)
Brett		Frank
Leighton	cover point	D. Brown (Townsend)
McLane	point	Mayer
Crocker	goal	Stower

Score, Dartmouth 4, Williams 2. Goals: Jenkins 2; Brooks, Richardson, Foote, Brett. Referee, Smith '06. Timekeeper, Scholl, '06. Goal umpires, Cleveland, '07, Jones, Albany Hockey club. Time of halves, 20 and 15 minutes.

BOSTON ALUMNI SMOKER

Address by Henry F. Hurlburt—52 Alumni Present

The first smoker in this year's series of the Williams alumni association of Boston took place at the University club in that city, on Thursday evening, January 18th. About 52 alumni were present. Henry F. Hurlburt, the well-known Boston trial lawyer, gave an interesting talk upon his court experences, and L. B. Merrill '92, who is now one of the leading bassos of Boston, sang four songs in his usual artistic manner. It was announced that the annual dinner of the association would be held at the University club, Thursday evening, February 15th.

Among those present were Rev. Dr. C. L. Hutchins '61, Hon. R. G. Fitch '70, Hon. James R. Dunbar '71, C. H. Hooker '71. J. S. Kingsley '75, A. F. Amadon '81, Bliss Perry '81, A. D. Dowd '85, G. W. REVIEW OF THE LIT.

Mr. Preserved Smith Reviews Current Number of the Monthly

Of the four short poems in the current number of the Literary Monthly, that by Mr. Brady, "The Weeping Rocks," is the most successful. The thought that the rocks weep because the nymphs dance around them no more, is beautiful and poetic, the language is imaginative, and the modulation of the verse is both musical in itself and exquisitely adapted to the treatment of the subject. It may seem hypercritical to find fault with the poetic licence which uses the English plural "Naiads," and the Greek plural "Dryades" in the same line. Nevertheless it is a fault of a class dangerous to a young poet because of its facility.

Mr. Gibson's two poems, "Broken Reeds," and "Through Wintry Lanes," show keen appreciation of nature and are written with a delicate and sure touch. They are excellent contrasts, one being in a cheerful, the other in a somber mood.

"The Garden of the Soul," contributed by Mr. Leeds, is written in rich and attractive meter, which is, however, handled with imperfect skill. The last line brings out the climax of the thought in a manner which seems somewhat abrupt and somewhat artificial. It strains after effect in thought, just as the line "When daylight slipped west through the gloom" strains after effect in language.

Turning to the prose, we first strike a piece of solid criticism on one phase of Matthew Arnold's poetry, by Mr. Westermann. The writer is to be congratulated on the success with which he "disengages that which is best" in the poet, to use Arnold's own expression of the function of all literary criticism. His selection of passages, and his treatment of them shows insight and judgement. It might be doubted, however, whether melancholy is the "most predominant feature of Arnold's verse." and also whether we see the "real man best in his poetry." At least Arnold is better known for his criticism, and it is in his prose, rather than in his verse, that his fastidiousness, his hatred of vulgarity and materialism, (of which Mr. Westermann speaks), is best expressed. In speaking of religion as a cause of Arnold's melancholy, the author shades

NEED OF ORGANIZATION

President Luther Addresses Y. M. C. A. on Joining the Church

President Flavel S. Luther, of Trinity college, gave one of the best talks of the year before the Y. M. C. A. in Jesup Hall yesterday evening on the need and effectiveness of organization in religious life.

Effective organization is applied in the twentieth century to almost every form of activity except religious activity. Even in our petty, narrow college life we find organization everywhere but in religion.

Among people under forty there is everywhere a feeling, even among those most religious, that the churches are not of much account, that a man can be just as good without a church as within. It is true that a great many people are just as well off individually by this action, but how about the church? By joining it a person can make himself efficient for righteousness in a way he cannot outside. By not joining it, he is like a fine-carved stone for a temple, kept unused in the stone-cutter's shed; it is less useful, less beautiful because not in its place in the temple, and the temple itself is less strong, less noble without it.

Two plus two makes twenty-two in religion, if you only put it together right. The way to make one's self effective in the war of God is to join the army. Enlist, then, in the regiment of the church, no matter what regiment it may be, and learn how to fight the campaign against sin.

"The reason that a person ought to join some institution of righteousness is not to get divine things from heaven, but to help more powerfully in giving divine things to earth."

Senator W. H. Feiker of Northampton introduced the bill in regard to the taxation of college property, into the Massachusetts legislature Friday.

Syracuse Game Cancelled

Under date of Jan. 15, the Syracuse basketball manager writes to the Williams management cancelling the game scheduled to be played at Williamstown on Feb. 21, and proposes that the contest take place on a neutral floor. Lack of space prevents us from publishing the letter in full; it contains many curious statements, and in at least two instances conclusions are reached by a novel method of reasoning. A few excerpts will serve to make clear the general character of the letter.

"The action taken by your team upon the occasion of our game here, was anything but courteous, but I will confess, I feared something of that nature would develop. * * * I do not intend to acknowledge nor will I ever that Mr. Roseboro or Mr. Childs were in any way partial. Their reputation alone will bear me out in this. * * * Personally, I do not care to cancel, but under no consideration would I go to Williamstown and submit to any treatment in the nature of revenge. Do not misunderstand me and assume that this is what I expect, for I am sure that the dignity of Williams college in the past would forbid anything of this nature."

The Syracuse manager does not state his reasons for refusing to play in Williamstown. If he intimates as the cause ungentlemanly conduct on the part of the Williams players, he could scarcely have found a weaker argument. It is true that Williams should not have left the floor; a Williams team can never be justified in withdrawing from an athletic contest because of any decision of the official. However, the action of the Williams five cannot by any stretch of the imagination be called discourteous. On the other hand, we should have to search long for a proper term to apply to that of Syracuse in accepting a victory on its home floor under the conditions that prevailed.

The vacuity, as well as the general vaporous nature, of the last quotation from the Syracuse letter is apparent to all. It is admitted that the Syracuse five would be given fair play if they should come to Williamstown. Syracuse, then, has cancelled the game and given no explanation. We can make the usual conclusion.

In refusing to meet Syracuse on a neutral floor, the Williams' manager has pursued a reasonable policy. The agreement was made for two games, one at Syracuse and the other at Williamstown, and no cause has been shown to change it. When it is remembered that Williams has defeated Syracuse in basketball for the past two years, and that the scheduling of a game at Syracuse was a voluntary concession on the part of the Williams management, the action of Syracuse in cancelling the other game is most reprehensible.

It seems difficult to believe that the Syracuse graduate manager or faculty athletic committee would permit the basketball association to take an action that is certain to bring discredit upon the university. If the manager is supported by the governing authorities in cancelling this game, Williams is warranted in discontinuing further athletic relations with Syracuse.

Violation of the Rules of Training

The college placed itself on record last fall, by a unanimous vote, in favor of the observance of strict training by all the members of the college athletic teams. That a man must be in as perfect physical condition as possible to do his best in any athletic trial is not open to question. In every branch of sport Williams aims first of all to play a good, clean game. And secondly, it wants to finish a contest having done the very best it can. The player who does not regulate his actions to contribute to this end has more selfishness in his make-up than he has the best interests of his college in athletics.

The resolution as passed refers to the hockey team as well as the football eleven. Loose training is as harmful in the first case as in the second. In accordance with the sentiment of the college meeting we recommend to the captain of the hockey team a rigorous use of the penalty of dismissal.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

New York, January 18, 1906.
Editor of Williams Record.

Sir:—It was with great regret that I read in The Record of the unfortunate ending of the basketball game with Syracuse last week. This is the second time within the past year that a Williams captain has forfeited a game rather than accept the decision of the referee or umpire. When Captain McCarty called the team off the field in the baseball game at Middletown last June, an injury was done to Williams' reputation for good sportsmanship, among Wesleyan men at least, which it will take some years to repair. It was also very mortifying to the Williams alumni who were present. We wish the name of Williams to stand for clean sport in every way, and can much better afford to lose a game or two than get the name of being quitters. Let us win if we can, but, in any event, "play the game" from start to finish. I earnestly hope that an incident of this kind will not happen again.

I remain,
Yours sincerely,
Henry. W Banke jr., '85.

In Memory of Harvey Loomis 1809

The library received recently from Rev. Charles Whittier '56 a copy of an address delivered by Rev. Chas. H. Cutler, D. D., pastor of the First Congregational church of Bangor, on the occasion of the unveiling of a tablet on Oct. 29, 1905, in memory of Rev. Harvey Loomis 1809, first pastor of that church. Rev. Mr. Loomis was one of the five men who, in 1806, underneath an old haystack in what is now Mission Park, started the movement resulting in the first foreign missionary society in America. The tablet reads as follows:

In memory of the Reverend Harvey Loomis, born in Torringford, Connecticut, 1785, minister of the town of Bangor, first pastor of this church, ordained November 27, 1811, fell in his pulpit dying Jan. 2, 1825, faithful and beloved. Erected by descendants of Mr. Loomis and friends of this church —1905.

Yale at Springfield

The game scheduled with Yale on February 10 will be played on the Lyman street rink floor, Springfield, Mass. The floor is exceptionally large, measuring about 3500 square feet, and the hall will hold over 1000 people. Mr. Waters of the Fitchburg Y. M. C. A. will probably referee the game. Tickets will be on sale before February 1, by the manager, and in Springfield, at a place to be announced later.

Review of the Lit.

too heavily, a fault to be avoided in work so finely drawn as his. Arnold is not the tpys of mind driven to despair by doubt, and one may add, the use of the phrase "victims of Renan" for "agnostics," is not happy. Again, to judge by certain passages in Arnold's works, it is inexact to say that he "idolised" Wordsworth, though he undoubtedly did draw much inspiration from him.

Mr. Baemeister's appreciation of Newman's Apologia, is a shorter and less elaborate piece of criticism, in which one feels the author had gotten at the heart of his subject, and, if he admires too unqualifiedly, at least admires what is best.

The fiction is good. In "The Man in the Gallery" Mr. Withcrell presents an ingenious and interesting story of how a jury was tricked into acquitting a murderer. The standard set by this piece is not quite reached in "The Other Man." Miss Bishop and John Ward are almost as much of a puzzle to us as they were to Joe Allen. The story is told in a light breezy manner which does much to compensate for its inconsistencies in character drawing.

In two little dislect sketches, "The War of the Trusts" and "For Sheriff, Bill Hughes," we have the Literary Monthly at play. The latter piece is particularly good in comic effect.

In closing, the reviewer would like to emphasize the good point made by Sanctum. Without undertaking to answer the question asked, as to whether college interests are narrow, it is surely important to keep in touch with the larger interests of the outside world.

Preserved Smith.

WILLIAMS 38; TUFTS 6

Easy Victory in Basketball—Visitors' Passing Went to Pieces

Williams defeated Tufts in Lasell Gymnasium Thursday evening by the score of 38 to 6. The Tufts five was fast at the start in an endeavor to play an open passing game of their own, and fast for a few minutes more, with the score close, while their passing game went to pieces and their energy was used up in guarding Williams. The remainder of the game was dull, with the visiting team unable to do anything but pass aimlessly at their end of the floor, occasionally secure a long shot for the basket and guard all the time, while Williams, now playing at a whirlwind rate and shooting cleverly, again fighting for the ball and missing easy shots, furnished all the features and did all the scoring.

Tufts had two good guarders, Dwelley and Wilson, and one slippery forward, Ryley, with a poor center in Ahern. Tower got away easily in the first half and found the basket five times, while in the second half. Gardner, against the same opponent, made up for poor shooting early in the game by four tallies, one on a clever overhead toss. At the end of the first half the Purple led 19-5.

The game, which had grown slower towards the end of the first half, became fast again at the start of the second. Gardner caged the first basket, and Tower the second on an easy shot. Cowell got away, caught the ball cleverly on the bound, and scored from right center. A second basket by Cowell after a succession of good passes was followed by four more goals, one a difficult one-handed shot from the side by Gardner.

The summary:

Williams		Tufts
Gardner lf.	rg,	Dwelley, Ahern
Neild, Stewart rf,	lg,	Wilson
Tower c,	c,	Ahern, Dwelley
Blaisdell lg,	rf,	Ryley, Getchell
Cowell rg,	lf,	Seed

Score—Williams 38, Tufts 6. Baskets from floor, Tower 6, Gardner 5, Cowell 4, Neild, Blaisdell; Ryley. Baksets from foul, Neild 4, Ryley 4. Referee, Mr. Seeley. Umpire, Getchell of Tufts, Timer, Brady '06. Time of halves. 20 minutes.

Art Department Additions

The art department has received and placed in Hopkins Hall, a number of casts of famous pieces of ancient sculpture. Among them are one of the metopes of the Parthenon, the spirited Centaur and Lapith; a head of Pallas by Phidias, the original of which is in the museum at Bologna; and a head of Hermes. A quarter section of a Doric capital, and a relief showing a lion-hunt of an Assyrian king, are among the new additions. Others are several pieces showing the distinction between Roman, Gothic and Romanesque style of ornamentation; and bas-reliefs from the inner frieze of the Parthenon.

Concert in Pittsfield

The college quartet consisting of Curtiss '06, Robbins '06, Pevear '07 and Yarnelle '07 gave a successful concert in the gymnasium of the Pittsfield Y. M. C. A. Thursday evening. The concert was one of a series of similar entertainments to be given in Pittsfield this winter. Especially well received were Pevear's solos "Matinata," and "The May Morning." Pierce '07 gave two readings, one "A Fisherman's Automobile Ride," the other a French Canadian's story of a shipwreck.

A ROUGH GAME

Williams Defeats Williston in Basketball by Score of 20 to 13

Williams defeated Williston yesterday afternoon in the gymnasium by the score of 20 to 13 in a rough game. At the start, Williston was fast, and fairly outplayed the Purple for some minutes. Unable to keep up a fast open game, the visitors were forced to resort to close guarding, and covered so closely for the remainder of the game that the contest degenerated into a series of duels for the ball, with fast passing impossible and tries for the basket unfrequent. Fouling, as much unseen as seen, was constant, but the official kept the game in hand. Williams' shooting was distinctly poor, and Williston's but little better.

The first basket came to Williston, after a good bit of passing, but Williams tied on fouls. Dingle, who passed little, but never left his man, batted the ball in, and Williams' first basket, by Gardner uncovered, came only after several shots had been missed. Six men in a scrimmage for the ball enlivened the game still more, but Cowell managed to get free for a second tally. Williams led 7-5 at the whistle.

In the second half Blaisdell shot two clean baskets at critical moments and Gardner put the ball in the net twice on side shots. Williston shot two difficult baskets, a long throw by Scully, and a lucky overhead toss by Tobey.

Line-up and summary:

Williams	Williston
Gardner lf.	rg, Tobey
Neild rf,	lg, Crowell
Tower c.	c, Dingle
Blaisdell lg, rf.	Johnson, Waldron
Cowell rg,	lf, Scully

Score, Williams 20, Williston 13. Baskets from floor: Gardner 3, Blaisdell 2, Neild, Cowell; Scully, Johnson, Dingle, Crowell, Tobey. Baskets from foul: Neild 6; Scully, Johnson. Point awarded Williston for opponent's foul while shooting basket. Referee and umpire, Briggs of Springfield Training school. Time-keepers, Stocking '05, Warner '06. Time, two 20-minute halves.

Miss Dunn as Becky Sharp

This evening in the fourth of the Thompson Course entertainments, Miss Grace Aspell Dunn will impersonate the characters seen in the dramatization of "Becky Sharp." Miss Dunn has been seen in several similar entertainments in various eastern cities and has everywhere been favorably received. She follows closely the lines pursued by Mr. Leland Powers in his impersonation of "Becky Sharp." Between Acts I and II, as well as between Acts II and III, Mr. J. B. Lord 1905 will sing.

FRENCH PAINTING

Prof. Rice Gives Illustrated Lecture Before Art Association

Prof. Rice spoke before the Art association in Hopkins Hall yesterday afternoon on "Modern French Painting." The lecture was illustrated by stereopticon slides.

The modern school of French painting begins about 1830. Previous to that time painters had been educated to treat every subject strictly according to the rules of the academy of fine arts; at that time the Barbizon school turned its attention to a handling of subject directly inspired by nature. Of this school Rousseau, studying the landscape of western France, secured wonderful atmospheric effects; Millet added to the landscape interest the interest in the life of the French peasant; and Corot, in whom we note a particular silveriness and transparency of foliage, charmed because he interpreted aspects of nature which everyone fond of out-of-doors recognized. Other prominent members of the school were Dupré, Troyon, and Daubigny.

The study of pessant character became the chief trait of Lhermitte, and of Jules Breton. Often, on the other hand, figures were not introduced primarily on their own account, but we are obliged to look beyond them to the landscape. Meissonier preserved the best traditions of the old school, and worked with the greatest fidelity to detail. Bougereau was another representative of the style of the academy. Some of these academic paintings were little more than studies in line, colored drawings, as "La Source" of Ingres, and Flandrin's portraits.

The wall-paintings of Puvis de Chavannes are important in the history of modern painting in that he rediscovered the old ways of mural painting. His figures seem to float in air, are the embodiments of graceful motion, and as realistic as Tintoretto's.

Lecture by Prof. W. T. Sedgwick

On Saturday evening, at 8:00 o'clock, in Jesup Hall, under the auspices of the Lyceum of Natural History, an illustrated lecture will be given by Prof. William T. Sedgwick on "Pure Milk and the Public Health." Dr. Sedgwick is professor of biology in Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and has lately been appointed a member of the state board of health.

GREEK RELIGION

Dr. Pratt Addresses Classical Society—Orphism and Christianity

Dr. Pratt spoke before the classical society in the library Tuesday evening on "Greek Religion." He prefaced his talk by a few remarks on the elusive nature of the subject, due largely to the spiritual autonomy of the Greeks, making any strict formulation of creed impossible, and to the fact that it had no books, no priestly class, and no unchangeable traditions.

In the Mycenean age the Greeks were animistic, worshipping trees, stones (as shown by recent discoveries at Cnossus, in Crete), columns and animals. The epithets "ox-eyed" Hera, etc., point back to a time when Hera adopted the worship of a cow-goddess.

The religion we learn in the Homeric poems is the religion of an aristocracy, not of the people. The gods are personifications of nature powers and functions of life, yet at the same time personal and anthropomorphic. Following this period came the rejuvenation of religion, the age of temple-building, and the rise of philosophy with its purifying influence. This, however, was not enough. The Greeks had a serious sense of guilt, and, wanting some new remedy, turned to other forms of religion. The Eleusinian mysteries gave a vivid hope of something better after death; the rites of Dionysus brought their worshippers into something approaching communion with the divine.

Orphism, refining away the orgiastic elements of the Dionysian religion, interpreted what was best in its spirit. Man, according to the beautiful Zagreus myth, has the Titanic and divine element in him, and Orphism, a religion for both worlds, helps him to get rid of the baser part. This had a tremendous influence over Plato, and the Christian philosophy and religion.

Greek thought gradually went too far for Greek religion, but only the material part died; the divine part lived on in Greek philosophy and in Christianity.

Connecticut Alumni at Hartford

The seventh annual banquet of the Williams alumni association of Connecticut will be held tomorrow night at the rooms of the Hartford club, Prospect street, Hartford. Mr. Samuel E. Elmore '59, president of the alumni association, will act as toastmaster. Dr. Pratt will attend the banquet as representative of the college.

At B. A. A. Meet February 10—Other Relay Races and Events

The seventeenth annual games of the Boston Athletic association, to which Williams has sent a relay team for the past ten years, will be held in Mechanics Hall, Boston, Saturday, February 10.

The Williams relay team, which has run against Dartmouth for some years previous, will this year race with Wesleyan, Dartmouth meeting U. of P. Wesleyan has never been beaten in an indoor relay race, and last year, with a team containing but one 1905 man, Capt. Martin, defeated Brown, (Williams' opponent at the Troy meet Feb. 21), N. Y. U., Rutgers and Fordham. The material to fill the fourth position on the relay team is meager, but includes one good runner in Kent, of Washington.

Other relay races to be run at the meet are Harvard and Yale, Princeton and Cornell, Amherst and Brown, and M. I. T. and Bowdoin. The other events of the games are a championship two-mile run, an invitation 40-yards dash; a 440-yards run (novice), and the following handicap events: 40-yards dash, 45-yards high hurdles, 600-yards dash, 1000-yards run, 1 mile run, high jump, 16-pound shot put. Any man in college in constant trsining will be allowed to enter in these events. Entry blanks, which can be secured from Mr. Seeley, must be in by Jan. 26.

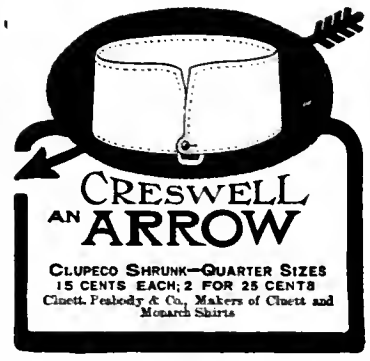
VOL. 19 JANUARY 25, 1906, No. 51

Jackson Hall

Few undergraduates have seen the inside of Jackson Hall. Situated in an out-of-the-way corner of the campus, it has been closed for many years. Its condition, both exterior and interior, presents a sharp contrast to the rest of the college buildings. It does not seem proper that Jackson Hall should be allowed to remain longer in its present state, going to pieces from neglect, and even in its isolation, a blot on the campus. The college will soon find it necessary to take some action: either move the building to another site, or restore it to its former condition, or tear it down. The first is impracticable. The present plan of the campus would not well permit a new location, and it is probable that the expense of moving would amount to more than the assessed valuation of the building and contents.

There is much to be said in favor of renovating Jackson Hall, from the side of sentiment. The love which a man bears for his college is based on its history and traditions: the records of the lives of men who gave all they had to its foundation, the men who without cessation or discouragement labored to direct its course in its early and critical stages, and that greater number whose life-work has been to insure its stability. We easily forget the part that these men had in building the college. Yet there are monuments here and there that recall the story. Each one of them marks a period of advancement. In the life of a college, buildings, like international expositions, are "the time-keepers of progress." When an old structure is demolished or consumed by fire, no new building, however complete or imposing, can quite fill its place.

The life of Nathan Jackson is familiar to Williams men. It is as true today as it was fifty years ago, to say, with the addition of another name, "that his has now become so interwoven with the institution that it will hereafter stand high on the list of its benefactors, and will go down to the latest posterity by the side of Williams and Lawrence." Though not a graduate, Nathan Jackson was closely related, through family connection, with Colonel Ephraim Williams, the founder of the college. Jackson Hall was not the greatest of his gifts. His liberality was directed by wisdom and influenced by the needs of the college.



The building was donated to the college for the use of the Lyceum of Natural History, and contains biological, geological and ethnological specimens, collected gradually for fifty years, some sent by missionary graduates and others gathered by the first natural history expedition sent out by an American college. In view of these facts, and as a memory of Prof. Albert Hopkins, it is urged that steps should be taken to save the collection, as well as the building, from further decay. It has been suggested to us that a small appropriation would be sufficient for this purpose.

In taking the other side of the question, it is not easy to meet the arguments advanced from the point of view of sentiment, since to a certain degree we must be in accord with the feeling. Nevertheless, we feel certain that Jackson Hall, having served the purpose for which it was given, can be of no further advantage to the college, and must make way for some other building that can. The intention of the donor, in all his benefactions to Williams, was, generally speaking, to assist in the advancement of the college along all the paths of endeavor. Old methods of teaching, though once invaluable, give way to newer systems, the product of experience and more fitted to the present time. So will Jackson Hall, perhaps, be replaced by a modern structure that will serve the same purpose and in addition meet the needs of the scientific department. As it is, the old building has long since ceased to be an integral part of education in the college.

The practical objections to retaining Jackson Hall among the buildings of the college are evident. Its interior arrangement is not very well suited to any purpose.

In this case renovation would mean rebuilding at a cost greater that the original sum expended; and furthermore, if Williams is fortunate enough to secure a building to be used as a museum, it must be larger than the present size of Jackson Hall. Another objection to renovation is the location of the building. Situated directly south of the new Berkshire Hall, it occupies a portion of the site evidently intended for a new building to complete the south side of the Berkshire Quadrangle.

In regard to the specimens, little needs to be said. Few of them are of any real scientific value now; the great majority are only interesting as curiosities. Lack of care, but more especially the length of time that has intervened since additions have been made to the collection, have combined to make incomplete many of the sets that might otherwise be worth retaining. To attempt to preserve all the material in Jackson Hall would involve an amount of work in classifying and daily care of the specimens that would be unprofitable.

If the college finds it necessary to demolish Jackson Hall, it is to be hoped that the structure which replaces it, will if possible bear the name of Jackson, or at least that some visible and permanent record will be made in one of the college buildings of his share in the promotion of science in Williams.

Dr. John S. Zelie Sunday

Rev. John Sheridan Zelie, D. D., '87, of Plainfield, N. J., will preach in the college chapel Sunday. Dr. Zelie is the pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church of Plainfield; he is an impressive preacher, and has many times occupied the Williams pulpit. Dr. Zelie graduated from Yale Divinity school, and received the degree of D.D. from Williams in 1904. Together with Rev. Carroll Perry '90, he wrote the sketch of the famous "Bill Pratt, the Sawbuck Philosopher," which is an interesting memorial of the well-known college character.

Baseball News

Candidates for the 'varsity baseball team will be called out by Capt. Neild immediately upon the completion of the baseball cage. It is expected that the building will be finished by February 1, a week from today. The slating of the roof has been completed, and the steam heating apparatus, which was recently delivered, is now being installed by the Locke Brothers Co., of Williamstown. A pitching machine, which will greatly aid in developing the work of the batting department, has been ordered, and will be received in time for first practice.

Property Bill Reported

On Tuesday the bill to authorize Williams to hold real and personal property yielding an annual income not exceeding $1,000,000., was reported favorably to the Massachusetts House of Representatives by the education committee. Three members of the board of trustees, Rev. Daniel Merriman, D.D., '63, of Worcester, Hon. James Robert Dunbar '71, of Brookline, and President Henry Lefavour, Ph. D., LL. D., '83, of Simmons college, Boston, presented the case of the college before the committee. The bill was reported unanimously to the house.

Missionary Conference at Pittsfield

President Hopkins will preside at a conference of speakers of the American Board of Foreign Missions, to be held in the First Congregational church, Pittsfield, on Tuesday. Among the speakers will be Dr. Arthur H. Smith of China, Rev. Irving M. Channon of Micronesia, and several other foreign missionaries. On the committee in charge, in addition to Dr. Hopkins, are Prof. Henry D. Wild '88, and Joseph E. Peirson '83 of Pittsfield.

Suggestion From Amherst

At the meeting of the Adelphic Union held last evening a letter from Amherst was read, suggesting the advisability of a debate between Amherst and Williams. In consideration of this letter, and the expressed opinion at Wesleyan in favor of a triangular league, President Hulst was instructed to open negotiations with Amherst and Wesleyan with regard to the formation of another league.

College English Conference

Prof. Maxcy is at Providence, R. I., attending a conference of the colleges of New England, called to consider the adoption of a uniform entrance requirement in English. Prof. Maxcy, with the heads of the English departments of Amherst and Dartmouth, was instrumental in starting this movement, and will present to the delegates the faults of the system now in vogue, with suggestions for a simplified requirement. Every college of importance in New England is represented in the conference, which is to continue through today and tomorrow. Prof. Maxcy will return Sunday.

Warmest of Quarter-Century

The temperatures observed by Prof. Milham on Monday and Tuesday show that these days broke all records for January for twenty-five years. The thermometer registered 60.5 on Monday and 62.2 on Tuesday. The nearest approach to this temperature during the last twenty-five years, the time during which complete records have been kept, was observed in 1890, when the mercury reached 60. The record was particularly remarkable as occuring so far from the close of the month.

In Memory of Judge Barker

The Suffolk County Bar association of Boston held memorial services for Judge James Madison Barker '60, in the Court House at Boston on Saturday. Ex-governor John D. Long presented resolutions in behalf of the association, and addresses were made by ex-attorney general Herbert Parker, attorney general Dana Malone, chief justice Knowlton and others.

Tardiness at Chapel

Monitors are instructed strictly to enforce the rule that all students who reach their seats after the beginning of the chapel service are to be marked tardy. The service begins with the entrance of the choir, immediately after the last stroke of the bell. Tardiness is counted as an absence.

Students are cautioned against running or jostling in the aisles.

FOR FOOTBALL REFORM

Prof. Russell Suggests Nine New Rules to Improve Game

As a result of his twenty-five years' knowledge of football, Prof. Russell has come to the conclusion that, to make the game lasting, the rules must be radically changed. As a concrete statement of his views he has prepared a list of nine rules, aiming to make excessive weight no longer necessary, to give a star man more chance than he has at present, to open up the game, and to eliminate roughness. The list of rules follows.

1. Seven players, and seven players only in each team must be in the scrimmage line when the ball is put in play.

2. Not more than one of the remaining players of either team shall be nearer the scrimmage line than five yards, when the ball is put in play.

3. The player who first receives the ball from the snap back, may pass the ball in any direction, may kick the ball, or carry it without having previously passed it to another player.

4. The player who is carrying the ball shall not be aided by being pushed, or carried, or dragged.

5. An opening for the runner through the scrimmage line shall not be attempted by any combination of two or more players.

6. Blocking, or interference, shall be permitted only to protect the player carrying the ball from an attempted tackle, or from a player who is approaching the runner for the purpose of tackling him; and the player who is blocking, shall make no use of his hands or arms against an opponent, or to assist a player on the same side.

7. The ball shall go to the other side, whenever the side having the ball shall not have gained at least ten yards in three successive downs.

8. The free catch shall be allowed from any kick of the ball by the opposing side.

9. The playing time in either half of the game shall not exceed thirty minutes.

Williams Defeats Wesleyan 22-15 by Good Work in Second Half

Williams defeated Wesleyan in Fayerweather Gymnasium, Middletown, Saturday afternoon, by the score of 22 to 15. The game was fast and very exciting till the middle of the second half, with neither side leading at any time by more than two points. Many of the fouls called were for technicalities.

Neild scored first on a beautiful long basket from beyond the center of the floor. Dearborn made three points on fouls, but Neild tallied again on a long shot, and put Williams one ahead by caging a foul. Dearborn tried several long shots, but failed. Chamberlain and White scored for Wesleyan. Neild caged four baskets from the foul line and Dearborn one, making the score 9 to 8 at the end of play. Neild had scored all the points for the Purple in this half, both he and Dearborn shooting from the foul line with great accuracy.

Soule replaced Dearborn at the beginning of the second half. Taylor put Wesleyan ahead by a pretty overhead toss, but Tower's basket put the one-point lead on Williams' side. Campaigne and Cowell scored. Wesleyan now began to lose speed and was unable to pass the ball beyond the center of the floor. Soule tallied for Wesleyan, though closely guarded. Williams got many shots in the last five minutes of play, and baskets were scored by Neild, Cowell (2), and Tower.

Neild played the best game for the Purple, and Cowell was not far behind. White, Wesleyan's best man, was outplayed by Tower. Soule played a fair game in the second half, and was the only Wesleyan man to keep his speed till the end, and Campaigne outscored his man.

The line-up and summary follow:

Williams	Wesleyan
Gardner lf,	rg, Campaigne
Neild rf,	lg, Chamberlain
Tower c,	c, White
Allen lg,	rf, Taylor
Cowell rg,	lf, Dearborn, Soule

Score, Williams 22, Wesleyan 15. Goals from floor, Neild 3, Tower 2, Cowell 3; Soule, Taylor, White, Chamberlain. Campaigne. Goals from foul, Neild 6; Dearborn 4. Campaigne. Referee, Briggs of Springfield training school. Umpire, Carlson of Middletown Y. M. C. A. Time of halves, 20 minutes.

BECKY SHARP

Mrs. Grace Aspell Dunn in Impersonations From "Vanity Fair"

The fourth entertainment in the Thompson course was held in Jesup Hall Thursday evening. Mrs. Grace Aspell Dunn presented her impersonation of Becky Sharp in Thackeray's "Vanity Fair." The entertainment was divided into three acts, the first at Miss Crawley's London residence: the second the dramatic scene at the Duchess of Richmond's ball in Brussels June 14, 1815, the night before the battle of Waterloo: and the third in Becky Sharp's London house on Curzon street eight years later. The third act was divided into two scenes separated by an interval of two weeks.

Between acts I and II and acts II and III Mr. John Bright Lord 1905 sang. The first number, Florence Aylward's exceedingly difficult "Beloved, it is Morn," placing great demand on good technique, was well done, and the second, Leslie Stuart's light, airy, "The Baudolero," was given a dashing, spirited interpretation that was very effective.

Mrs. Dunn succeeded in holding the interest of the audience during the three acts of "Vanity Fair." The portions of Thackeray's charming masterpiece which she has woven together for an evening's entertainment, follow quite closely the plan Mr. Mitchell has used as a vehicle to display the delightful art of Mrs. Fiske.

It is not an easy task to impersonate a dozen or more characters and make them all distinctive and interesting—but this Mrs. Dunn was able to do in a very creditable manner. It is doubtful if her conception of "Becky" is quite as Thackeray would have us think of her. It was lacking in snap and quite without those magnetic and brilliant qualities which make the character so fascinating. Mrs. Dunn's characterization was a bit anaemic and hardly fair to Becky. In the characters of "Sir Pitt" and "Amelia Sedley" she was at her best, and she succeeded in infusing considerable humor into the part of "Briggs." The other parts cannot be styled "impersonations," but were handled effectively.

Mrs. Dunn worked laboriously and deserves considerable credit for an interesting evening with the delightful characters with which Thackeray has charmed us in "Vanity Fair."

Donald MacDonald.

Announcement

The Record announces the election of David Burnet Scott 1908, of New York city, to membership on the board. The next candidate will be elected to membership on February 22.

The next issue of The Record will be published February 15.

Prof. Russell's Suggestions

In another column of The Record will be found a list of nine changes in football rules proposed by Prof. John E. Russell. These suggestions are not, like so much that has been said and written on this subject, week-old judgments, but embody the result of several years of the closest kind of observation of the game.

Football critics are agreed that chance for injury must be eliminated, and the game made more open. In the game as played today the more serious injuries, that have crippled and paralyzed, have almost without exception been received in mass plays. The mass play causes the "piling up" of the players, and gives a chance for foul work, invisible to the official. By abolishing it, then, we abolish much chance for injuries and intentional roughness, and, obviously, open up the game as well.

Prof. Russell has three rules bearing on this subject. Rule 1 prevents drawing a man back to secure more weight for a line play, but does not prevent a ground-gaining lineman's running from position, nor a back from taking his place in the line. Rule 4, providing that the man carrying the ball shall not be "pushed, or carried, or dragged," would prevent this "piling up" of players. As soon as the man with the ball is stopped, the play is over. Rule 5 goes too far, as it does not allow the other backs any part in assisting the man with the ball. They could not push him through the line without violating rule 4, nor could they precede him, as they would then certainly be making "an opening for the runner." This rule would, in effect, tend to eliminate all plays through the line.

To secure the second aim of the critics, an open game, is recommended the adoption of Mr. Walter Camp's suggestion requiring a ten yard gain in three downs. Few of the critics have observed, however, that the weakening of an eleven's offense caused by this ten-yard rule—added to the prohibition of these mass-play formations which have previously been a team's chief ground-gaining reliance—must have something to offset it, unless we are to have football degenerate into a punting duel.

In the rules under discussion this is accomplished by allowing the direct pass, absolutely unrestricted, and by keeping the secondary defense at least five yards from the scrimmage line. By the first rule any team with a "star" player can use him to greatest advantage; whatever may be said about the value of united action in football as a means of training, it is patent that the game today is too machine-like and does not give enough chance for the brilliant individual player. Again, with the secondary defense five yards away, more chance will be given for a play to get in motion before the defense can reach the point of attack.

Prof. Russell's rules would make football more open, but at the same time not a contest of punters. They give the average man a place in the game by making weight, in the mass play, no longer all-important, and by reducing (in rule 9) the premium on excessive endurance. Furthermore, they seem to leave a chance for individual work. Though they do not increase the penalties for roughness, they minimize the chances for incurring those penalties. With rule 5 out, they reform the game in a way that meets most of the objections of the critics, and still leaves it football.

PURE MILK

Lecture by Prof. William T. Sedgwick of Technology

Prof. William T. Sedgwick, of M. I. T., gave an interesting illustrated lecture in Jesup Hall Saturday evening on "Pure Milk and the Public Health". Prof. Sedgwick drove home the fact that the milk supply, especially in the cities, is not of the purity it should be for the good of the public health.

Milk is the only food which we secure from the living animal. Along with its whiteness has come the idea of its purity. We are ahead of our ancestors in most respects, but in milk supply we are on the same level. In Italian cities the milk is drawn fresh from the cow, with the result that the poorest child in Naples probably gets better milk than the richest child in New York.

In one-twentieth of a cubic centimeter of ordinary milk there were 7441 microbes, giving it a nebulous "milky way" appearance. Where a Petri plate exposed outdoors gives but 6 colonies of microbes, the same one exposed in a barn under a cow gives 1800 colonies. Now cows give milk, not microbes. The stable is at fault, not the cow. To put good, clean water in milk from most stables would be a blessing.

The remedies are two—give up using milk, or get it from a model dairy, but you must remember that if the farmer does his part and cleans up, you must do yours and pay more for your pure milk. Milk at 20 cents a quart is not dear, but cheap in the end. It is never the cows that are responsible for dirty and disease-bearing milk. "The consumer and the cow should get closer together."

Changes in Courses

The following changes have been announced for the second half year: Government 5 will be continued throughout the year; English 10 will be omitted; Art 1 and Art 2 will not be given owing to the absence of Prof. Rice in Europe; in Botany and Geology 2b laboratory hours will be arranged with the instructor.

Northern New York Alumni

The annual dinner of the Williams alumni association of northern New York will be held at the Hotel Ten Eyck, Albany, Saturday evening, Feb. 3, at 7 o'clock. Prof. Leverett W. Spring '63, Geo. B. Wellington '76 and Joseph A. Lawson are expected to be the speakers. The annual dues, which include the price of the dinner and a smoker to be given later are $5.00. Notification of attendance, and remittance should be sent to George L. Hatt 2nd, 86 State street, Albany, N. Y.

CONNECTICUT ALUMNI

Annual Banquet at Hartford—Reminiscences of Garlield

The seventh annual banquet of the Williams alumni association of Connecticut was held at the rooms of the Hartford club at Hartford, Conn., Friday evening. Twenty Williams men were present.

At the business meeting which preceded the banquet, the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Samuel E. Elmore '57 of Hartford; vice-president, Judge George M. Carrington '61 of Winsted; secretary and treasurer, William W. Wilcox '85 of Middletown; toastmaster, Rev. Everett E. Lewis '62 of Haddam; executive committee, the above officers and Dr. Charles G. Rankin '82, of Glastonbury; Charles W. Rule '89 of Farmington and Linford F. Root '91 of Waterbury.

The toastmaster of the banquet was Prof. Raymond Dodge '93, professor of psychology at Wesleyan university. Mr. Elmore opened with some interesting personal reminiscences of James Abram Garfield, who graduated at Williams fifty years ago. The first speaker was Dr. James B. Pratt '98 who represented the college. Rev. Richmond Fisk, D. D., '58, of Middletown, gave reminiscences of old Williams days, and especially of President Garfield. Edward H. Smiley, principal of the Hartford High school, and Henry S. Stearns '81 of Hartford, also spoke. A letter was read from Rev. Samuel J. Andrews, D. D., '39, of Hartford, the oldest member of the association and one of the oldest living graduates of the college. Dr. Andrews said that he hoped that Williams might always remain a "poor man's college," always remembering the close affinity between "plain living and high thinking."

Those present, besides the speakers and officers, were Rev. E. P. Hammond '58, A. B. Bassett '81, Dr. C. G. Rankin, '82, A. M. Hitchcock '90, Rev. C. A. Davis '98, G. H. Huntington 1900, E.A. Goldthwait 1901, J. L. Linsley 1903, F. C. Thompson 1903, A. C. Bacon 1904 and C. E. Wells 1905.

Deacons Organize

At a meeting of the board of deacons held Sunday evening an organization was effected by the election of W. H. Curtiss 1906 as chairman, and A. J. Pierce, 1907 as secretary. The general secretary of the Christian association was voted in as an ex-officio member. Regular meetings will be held on Sunday evenings at 8:15.

SENIORS AND FRESHMEN

Winners in Class Relay Races—1906 Makes Fast Time

In the interclass races run off Saturday afternoon on the board track the seniors won from the juniors, and the freshman from the sophomores. The time made for the eight laps by the 1906 team, 2:15 1-5, is the best official record for the board track. Cowperthwait '06 was the winner in the finals of the thirty-five yard sprint, in which five men entered, in 4 3-5 sec.

In the 1906—1907 relay race Griswold started for the seniors against Hurlbut '07, who had the pole. Griswold ran a good race, and was beaten by only a yard for the two laps. Eggleston '06 and A. Brown '07 ran with practically no change in the relative positions. Ayers '06 passed Lapham '07 on the third turn, beating him by seven or eight yards. Osterhout '06 ran a pretty race for the finish against Conover '07, who fought hard, but was unable to make up any of his handicap.

Hoch '09 gained about three yards on Watters '08 at the start of the sophomore-freshman race. B. P. Allen '08 fell at the last turn of the first lap, and lost about ten yards to Green '09. T. Fowle '08 could not gain on Johnston '09. Although Horrax '09, running against Ayer '08, fell on the same fourth turn, he made up the distance, and 1909 won by fifteen yards. Time, 2.21 1-5.

Sigma Phi Fraternity Entertains

The Sigma Phi fraternity held an informal dance at its house Saturday evening, entertaining its guests over Sunday. The following chaperons and guests were present: Mrs. F. E. Howe of Troy, Mrs. Hoy of Albany, Miss Lorenz of Shamokin, Pa., Miss Garrett of St. Louis, Miss Fancher of Fanwood, N. J., Miss Easton of Albany, Miss Hoy of Albany, Miss Miller of Philadelphia, Miss Kilbourn of Malone, N. Y., Miss Bright of Berlin, Wis., Miss Sarah McKinley and Miss Marion McKinley of Albany, Miss Mann of Chicago, Miss Hopkins, Miss Alice Hopkins, and Miss Dorothy Goodrich of Williamstown.

Address by Mr. Robert S. Freeman

Mr. Robert S. Freeman, of Princeton Theological seminary, delivered a forcible address to the Y. M. C. A. Sunday evening, basing his remarks on Nehemiah 6:3, "I am doing a great work, so that I cannot come down." This, he said, is an admirable motto for the young minister, lawyer, statesman or business man. The secret of safety is work. Before we decide upon our profession, we want to count as much as possible on accomplishing something, and making our life worth living. Life is like a 100-yard dash, and within the short 10 seconds we must crowd enough good to make our life count for God and man.

COLLEGE NOTES

The hockey game with Williston, scheduled for Wednesday of this week, has been cancelled.

The librarian of the college is sending copies of the 1905 general catalogue to some of the alumni.

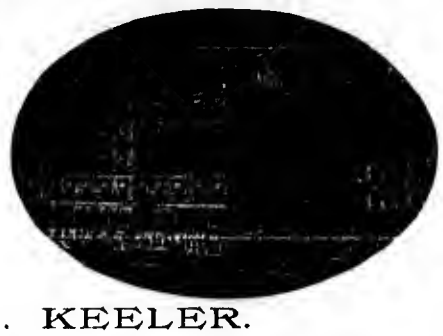
Rice '98, Williams ex-'00, Houston '03, Groesbeck '04, Labbé '04, W. A. Newell '05, Mills '05, and T. D. Williams ex-'08 have been in town recently.

The following men were taken on the Wesleyan trip to Middletown Friday: Cowell, Gardner, Hobson (manager), Neild, '06; Allen, Stewart, Tower, '07; and trainer Barrett.

Members of the class in Geology I accompanied Prof. Cleland Saturday afternoon on a trip to Mason's Hill, Mann Hill, and other points of geological interest near Pownal.

Prof. Russell will represent the college at the following alumni banquets next month:—Detroit, February 12; Chicago, February 13; and Columbus, February 14. Prof. Spring and Asst.-Prof. Perry will attend the alumni banquet at Albany February 3, and Prof. Hewitt and Prof. Morton the banquet in New York city on February 2.

Brady '06 has been elected a vestryman of St. John's Episcopal church and parish. Among the other church officers chosen are Hon. Bentley W. Warren '85, junior warden; Willard E. Hoyt '92, treasurer; Prof. C. L. Maxcy '87, clerk; and Hon. John B. Gale '42, Dr. Henry S. Leake '87, and Wm. C. Hart '94, vestrymen.



Eclipse of Moon Feb. 9

The only eclipse visible in New England during the year 1906 will take place in the early morning of Feb. 9, when the earth comes between the sun and the moon, eclipsing the latter. The moon will begin to be darkened at 12:57 a. m., and its surface will be totally in shadow at 1:57. Totality will last until 3:36 and the dark shadow will leave it at 4:37, although the moon will not be out of the penumbra until 5:39.

Camera Club Organizes

At a meeting of those interested in photography held in Hopkins Hall Saturday afternoon a camera club was organized with the following officers: President, Cowperthwait '06; vice-president, Wight '07; treasurer, Anderson '08. It is hoped to have a dark room fitted up for use of the members, and also to have exhibitions of the work of the club.

BROWN'S SCORE DOUBLED

Williams Wins Basketball Game at Providence by Twelve Points

Providence, R. I., Feb. 14—Williams defeated Brown tonight at basketball by the score of 22 to 10. Both teams played a fast game, and guarded so closely as to leave few chances for baskets. Cowell was the star for the Purple, and in the middle of the second half, when the score was at its closest point, Neild shot two long baskets from the middle of the floor. Pryor and Tower, guarding carefully, broke even. Williams led at the end of the first half 11-5, although scoring but two floor baskets. The good physical condition of the Williams five told toward the end of the game.

Line-up and summary:

Williams	Brown
Gardner lf,	rg, Smith
Neild rf,	lg, Schwartz
Tower c,	c, Pryor
Allen lg,	rf, King
Cowell rg,	lf, Gorman

Score, Williams 22, Brown 10. Baskets from floor, Cowell 3, Gardner 2, Neild 2; Schwartz, Gorman. Baskets from foul, Neild 8; Pryor 6. Referee and umpire, Briggs of Springfield Training school. Time, 20-minute halves.

Organ Recital Sunday Afternoon

Mr. Salter will play the following program next Sunday afternoon from four to five o'clock in the chapel:

J. S. Bach—Toccata in D minor.

Robert Schumann—Traumerei and Romanze.

César Franck—Pastorale.

Ludwig Von Beethoven—Andante. (Symphony V).

Alexandre Guilmant—Sonata V in C minor.

Assistant Manager of Basketball

At a meeting of the class of 1907 held in Jesup Hall Friday, February 2, Robert Leon Pease of Huntington was elected assistant basketball manager in place of William Sherman Winslow, resigned. Pease prepared at the Westfield High school.

The athletic council has appointed Winslow acting manager for the remainder of the year. R. V. Hobson '06, manager, has left college.

Syracuse Game Re-Scheduled

The manager of the Syracuse basketball team recently made an offer to play the game which was cancelled by Syracuse. Williams has accepted his proposal and the game will take place as originally scheduled, on Feb. 21.

INITIAL PERFORMANCE

Cap and Bells Scores a Hit With "The Man From Mexico"

"The Man From Mexico," the most diverting and ingenious gentleman ever bothered by his loving relatives, made his initial appearance under Cap and Bells management at the Richmond theatre last night and for two hours kept an unusually large and appreciative audience shaking with laughter. With him were the aforementioned relatives and several troublesome friends, whose acting provoked applause which was equally frequent.

"The Man From Mexico" is beyond comparison with any of the recent efforts of the dramatic club. Though a most difficult play to stage and costume, its presentation last night would have done credit to an experienced company. The rough corners common to such first nights were scarcely noticeable. The characters showed great naturalness and ease, there were no awkward waits for something to happen, and there were no false cues.

The make-ups were remarkably clever and the costumes complete. The play is free from the sameness apt to mark amateur performances where the conclusion is foreseen from the first act, and the dialogue is sparkling from start to finish.

Mr. Donald MacDonald, to whose efficient coaching last night's success is the highest tribute, appeared in the third act in a novel Spanish dance that captivated the house. In the intervals between the acts the glee club rendered several taking numbers. Music was furnished by the college orchestra under the nominal leadership of Day '05 in disguise. The show will be repeated in the Williamstown opera house Saturday night, and a more detailed criticism of the characters will appear in the next number of The Record.

T. J. Dowd Re-Engaged as Coach

Thomas J. Dowd, coach of the 1905 basketball team, has been engaged by the baseball management for the season of 1906. Mr. Dowd played on the Brown and Georgetown teams, and has played professional ball for thirteen years. As soon as the cage is ready for fielding, he will come to Williamstown to start work on the team.

Colgate Saturday

Williams will play Colgate in basketball at 2.30 Saturday afternoon in Lasell Gymnasium. Colgate will line up as follows: Runge, rf; Stowell, lf; Knapp, c; Coster, rg; Greene (capt.), lg.

THE KNEISEL QUARTET

In the Thompson Entertainment Course Friday Evening

The voices of Beethoven, Rubinstein, Bach and Smetana were heard in Jesup Hall last Friday evening and through the masterly playing of Mr. Franz Kneisel and his associates made impressions which in many cases will be lifelong. Germany, Russia and Bohemia were the countries represented, the types being fairly representative except in the case of Russia, Rubinstein being generally regarded as more German than Russian.

The G major quartet of Beethoven (1770-1826) is one of his early period of composition, when the influence of Haydn and Mozart, his forerunners, is plainly traceable in all forms of writing. It is simple, clear, well articulated in form, melodious, fresh and cheerful, wholesome and invigorating in a superlative degree, as was manifestly felt by the audience.

The slow movement by Rubinstein (1829-1894), from his music of the spheres, is one of those romantic tone-poems which transport one to ethereal realms, and suggest heavenly harmonies and angelic voices, when played with united strings as it was Friday night. A more delicious tone than that heard in this number would be hard to conceive.

Mr. Kneisel presented three movements from different sonatas for violin solo by the great John Sebastian Bach (1685-1750). In certain directions the art of music has not progressed since the days of its immortal patriarch and one is that of writing for the violin alone. Mr. Kneisel not only possesses the technical rescources but the temperament and understanding to make the sonatas eloquent with a living voice as few players are able to do.

The quartet in E minor by Friedrich Smetana (1824-1884) was the most humanly interesting number of the program. Smetana was a sufferer for seven years from partial, gradually increasing deafness until in 1874 he became stone deaf and continued so until his death in a mad-house in Prague. This quartet, a cycle of symphonic poems, "My Fatherland," and an opera, "The Secret," were written during this period of total deafness.

Owing to the reported illness of Mr. Schroider, Mr. d'Archambault supplied his place at the 'cello desk, with great satisfaction.

Sumner Salter.

Class Elections and Managerships

In a communication which appears in this issue, Gargoyle presents for the consideration of the college two proposals. The first is a set of by-laws intended to introduce system and fairness in class elections. The second is a recommendation of changes in the method of choosing managers of the college athletic teams. Both will be voted upon at a college meeting on Monday evening, when the first proposition will be considered in its entirety. Immediately following, the provisions of the second as amendments to the constitutions of the three associations will be brought up for decision. If these measures are passed, the college will substitute in its class elections, system for uncertainty, and fairness for unfairness. The provisions affecting athletic managerships will supplement the "no-deal" rule, recently adopted, and fortify it against any possible violation in the future by removing the necessity of electioneering.

It is safe to assume that any one who stops to consider the methods by which class officers are elected at present, will see the necessity of a change. The fact that no uniform method of procedure obtains in class elections frequently leads to results as unsatisfactory as they are unjust. The class president, by exercising his privilege of appointing the time of an election, has a power which he can use, and has used, to the disadvantage of a particular candidate, or a group of men to which he is opposed. We can recall several instances in which such an action has generated "bad blood" in the class.

In addition to this, there exists an uncertainty regarding the extent of the suffrage in boards and committees—notably the Gul. board. Section 2 of article IV is perhaps the most radical change from present methods. It provides that nominations shall be by ballot. This clause should prevent the exclusion of eligible candidates, easily overlooked when a motion is made that nominations be closed. The proposal as a whole seems to cover every necessary case. We believe its adoption will place the class election on a basis that is simple and satisfactory as well as fair to every member of the class.

The proposed amendments to the constitutions of the three major athletic associations are designed to insure a square election of the managers. The anti-combination agreement is evidently open to several interpretations in regard to electioneering. If the names of all candidates are published in this paper, there will be no need of personal soliciting, under the guise of "just letting you know that he is running." It is also plain that this plan gives sufficient time to the college to consider all candidates, and for this reason should tend to the choice of more efficient managers. To the student himself, the proposal has distinct advantages over present methods. All who wish to run can be candidates. One who does not wish to be a candidate, is not forced into the election by his friends.

As a class election, the basketball managership does not receive its proper amount of consideration from the college. Its relative importance with the three major branches of athletics is sufficient in itself to warrant placing this election on the same basis as the others. The choice by the sophomore class remains as a relic of the time when basketball received little or no support from the college body.

On the other hand, golf, hockey and tennis are distinctly minor sports. Only to a very slight extent do they depend directly on the college for financial support. They must look to the athletic council, which should be given the power of appointing managers whom it believes will use good judgment in expending its funds.

Two Recommendations—Class Elections and Athletic Managerships

The senior society presents to the college for consideration the following set of by-laws concerning class elections:

ARTICLE I.

PURPOSE.—These by-laws are designed to correct certain abuses current at the election of class officers and committees in Williams college, by providing specific times for the holding of such elections, and specified rules for the government thereof.

ARTICLE II.

THE ELECTIONS CONCERNED.—Sec. 1. These by-laws shall apply to the election of the president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer of each class; class baseball and football managers; the supper committees of the junior, sophomore and freshman classes; the sophomore prom. committee; the Gul board; the senior class day officers.

SEC. 2. The sophomore prom. committee shall be composed of five men, who shall meet and elect by majority vote a chairman from their own number and ten additional members.

SEC. 3. The Gul board shall be composed of five editors and two artists; each member of which shall vote in the election of an editor-in-chief from their own number, and of a manager, to be chosen from the class at large.

SEC. 4. The senior class day officers shall be: class day president, two marshals, a class poet, an ivy poet, a class orator, an orator to the lower classes, a pipe orator, an ivy orator, and a library orator, a prophet, a prophet on prophet, a historian, a permanent secretary, an editor of the class book; a class photograph committee of three members, who shall choose their own chairman; a class day committee consisting of five members, who shall meet and elect by majority vote a chairman from their own number, an auxiliary senior prom. committee of ten additional members, and a class supper committee of three members.

ARTICLE III.

SEC. 1. Elections for president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer of each class, except in the case of the freshman class, shall be held during the first week of the college year. The freshman class shall elect its officers in the fourth week of the college year, and until such election has taken place, the junior president shall act as president of the freshman class.

SEC. 2. The freshman and sophomore classes shall elect their respective football managers in the second week of the college year. Until such election has taken place, the assistant manager of the 'varsity football team shall act as manager of the freshman team, and shall arrange a schedule of games therefor.

SEC. 3. All classes shall elect their respective baseball managers during the last week of January.

SEC. 4. The junior, sophomore and freshman classes shall elect their respective supper committees during the first week of May.

SEC. 5. The sophomore class shall elect its prom. committee during the last week of January, and its Gul board during the last week of March.

SEC. 6. The senior class shall elect its class day officers during the second week of December.

ARTICLE IV.

GOVERNMENT OF ELECTIONS.—SEC. 1. It shall be the duty of the president of each class to give notice at least two days before the holding of the election of any office specified in Article II, Section 1, of these by-laws.

SEC. 2. Nomination of candidates for these offices shall be exclusively by ballot.

SEC. 3. No proxies shall be voted at any election covered by these by-laws.

SEC. 4. A majority shall elect, except

ARTICLE V.

SEC. 1. These by-laws go into effect immediately after ratification by majority vote of a college meeting.

SEC. 2. Elections for the offices specified in Article II, Section 1, shall not be valid unless conducted according to these by-laws.

SEC. 3. These by-laws may be amended by a two-thirds vote of those present at a college meeting.

Gargoyle also recommends the following changes in the method of electing managers of athletic teams:

1. That an amendment be made to Article II. Section 1 of the constitutions of the football, baseball, and track associations to read:

SEC. 1. The vice-president shall be elected at the annual meting and in the following manner: The incoming junior class shall hold a class meeting upon notice of the president of this association, who shall give such notice in The Williams Record at least two weeks in advance, and shall then specify the method of election according to the terms of this section. Thereupon every man of the incoming junior class who wishes to become a candidate for this office shall hand his name to the president of this association, who shall publish all such names in The Williams Record at least one week prior to the time set for the election. The class shall ballot solely on the names so published. The ballots shall then be sealed up by the tellers and delivered to the president of the association. At the regular meeting of the association, the ballots shall be opened and counted. The members shall then ballot upon the names of the persons receiving the three highest number of votes. A majority shall elect.

2. That the basketball manager be elected by the college, in the same manner as the football manager, as specified in the above amendment to Article II. Section I. of the constitution of the football association.

3. That the golf, hockey and tennis managers be appointed by the athletic council.

Wedding of A. C. Barrell '97

Miss Etta Lucy Smith, daughter of Hon. and Mrs. Wellington Smith of Lee, was married on Tuesday evening to Alanon Colburn Barrell, '97. The wedding took place in the First Congregational Church of Lee. Rev. Henry Wilds Smith, pastor of the church, officiated, assisted by an uncle of the bride, Rev. Charles B. Bullard '75 of East Orange, N. J. The best man was the groom's brother, George B. Barrell '98 of Buffalo, and the ushers were Arthur F. Hebard 1900 of Brooklyn, Dr. Ray Connor '97 of Detroit, William E. Greene '97 of Cleveland, Harry D. Nims '98 of New York city and Wellington B. Smith 1901, a brother of the bride.

NEW YORK ALUMNI

Banquet Held Feb. 2—Speeches by Prominent Men

One of the most successful and most largely attended Williams banquets ever held in New York, was that of the New York Alumni Association, at Delmonico's Friday evening, February 2. Two hundred Williams men and guests were present.

The presiding officer was Dr. Hamilton Wright Mabie, president of the association. In opening he regretted that The Hon. Joseph H. Choate, who was expected, was unable to be present. Dr. John Haskell Hewitt was introduced. He spoke on topics of interest to Williams alumni. Among other things he said:

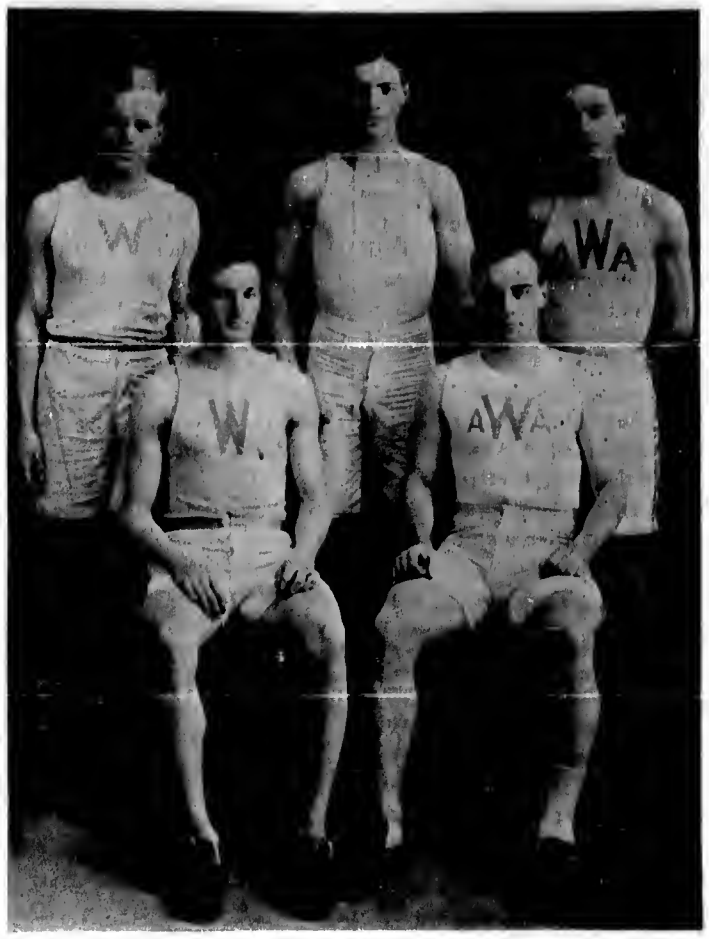
"We are keeping quiet up at Williams about the matter of football. We have found that football is a good game and we propose to keep it with certain reformations of the rules.

"You may be interested to know that the honor system has worked splendidly at our college. If you old fellows would go back to the math. room you would miss the old familiar sign 'No borrowing and no lending in this room.'" He strongly advocated a return to the old time classical methods of education where possible in college life.

Dr. Mabie said that he favored the big colleges making their own playing rules for football and leaving the little colleges alone. "In my time, they made the big boys play by themselves."

Dr. William Goodell Frost, president of Berea College, Ky., a prominent benefactor of the poor whites of the south, told of the manners and customs of Appalachian America.

The next speaker was Dr. John H. Finley, president of the College of the City of New York. He gave some very interesting definitions of several matters of collegiate interest, a few of which follow:



"Football—a conflict engaged in by students on a gridiron in the autumn and by college presidents and professors around a table in the winter months. It is played according to rules dictated by the President of the United States."

"A college catalogue is a publication designed to conceal information from those who have never had the benefit of a college education."

"Culture (a traditional product of academic training) is what remains when what you learned in college has been forgotten."

"An LL. D. is what Dr. Mabie is."

The verses of a new Williams song, composed by Talcott M. Banks '90 were sung and proved to have unusual merit.

WILLIAMS RELAY TEAM

A WILLIAMS VICTORY

Exciting Relay With Wesleyan—Brilliant Finish by Hurlbut

Williams defeated Wesleyan in the 1560-yard relay race at the 17th annual games of the B. A. A. in Mechanics Hall, Boston, Saturday night. The Purple won out in the last lap by 6 yards in the most closely contested relay of the evening. The time was 3 m. 14 1-5 s.

Griswold '06 drew the pole, but was passed by Kent who finished a yard in the lead. Osterhout '06 overtook Gray at the first corner and gave Ayers '06, running against Smith, a lead of two yards. Again Wesleyan drew ahead and Hurlbut '07, though five yards behind, caught Captain McCormack at the end of the first lap, and passed him in the middle of the second. Williams won by six yards.

In the other races, Brown, Williams' opponent at Troy Feb. 21, defeated Amherst by 6 yards in 3 m. 13 3-5s. Horrax '09, who secured third in the handicap high jump with an actual jump of 5 ft. 7 1-2 in. (handicap 5 in.), was the only individual Williams entry to be placed. Leavitt, ex-'07, running from scratch, was second in the 45-yard high hurdles, Hill of Yale, with 7 ft. handicap, winning by a foot, in 6 seconds.

Rev. Harry Pinco Dewey, D. D. will address the Y. M. C. A. in Jesup Hall next Sunday evening at 7:15.

FOR ENTRANCE ENGLISH

Conference at Providence to Secure Uniform Requirements

A conference of the New England colleges on the proposed entrance requirements in English was held in Providence Friday and Saturday, January 26 and 27. Delegates were present from about twenty colleges and universities. A permanent organization was formed to discuss matters connected with school and college English. Prof. Winchester of Wesleyan was elected president and a committee of eight was appointed to act regarding the immediate problem of the proposed requirement: Prof. Cross, (Yale) chairman; Prof. Maxey, (Williams) secretary; Profs. Winchester, (Wesleyan), Emery, (Dartmouth), Churchill, (Amherst), Damon, (Brown), Mitchell, (Bowdoin), and Stevens, (Mt. Holyoke). The committee will hold a meeting at Springfield Feb. 23 and 24.

The Providence conference discussed at length the problem of preparatory English and while opinion varied on matters of detail, it was the general feeling that the colleges must demand greater attention to form and methods of expression. It was impossible to formulate details of possible changes within the limits of time, and the committee was appointed to outline and submit plans to the various New England colleges, as well as to the next session of the national conference on uniform entrance requirements in English.

MUNICIPAL POLITICS

Addresses by New York Men—Charles M. Jesup Tonight

The college good government club will begin tonight its series of political meetings, addressed by men well-known in municipal politics. Charles M. Jesup of New York city will be the speaker. Mr. Jesup is a member of the executive committee of the College Men's Political Association of New York city and the originator of the movement for the consolidation of student political clubs in the colleges of the east.

The subject of his address will be "The Citizen and his Relation to the Country's Future." Mr. Jesup will come to Williams from Amherst, where he addressed the good government club there on the previous evening. Tomorrow evening he will speak at Dartmouth before the Dartmouth good government club. The meeting will be at 8 o'clock, in Jesup Hall, and opportunity for an informal discussion on the evening's question will be given before Mr. Jesup speaks.

On Friday evening, March 9, Frederick W. Hinrichs, a prominent New York lawyer, will address the club. His topic will be "Political Work and its Rewards."

Of the invitations sent out by the club officers to secure speakers for the next few months, but one speaker will be unable to come, according to the replies which have been thus far received. Homer Folk, a member of the New York state legislature, who was to have spoken before the club in March, has written that his duties at the capitol will prevent him from coming to Williamstown.

Thursday evening, March 15, Owen R. Lovejoy, of New York city, a member of the national child labor committee, will be at Williamstown to address the club. He will take as his topic, "The Status of Child Labor in the United States."

Baseball Cage Nearly Ready

The floor of the cage is now smoothed off sufficiently for batting practice, and will probably admit of fielding practice by the end of the week. The new batting device which has arrived for the use of the team will be installed soon. It consists of a baseball attached to floor and ceiling by means of rubber cords, batted on the same principle as a punching bag is hit. It will afford practice on curves of all sorts.

Philadelphia Alumni Dinner

The Williams Alumni Association of Philadelphia will hold its annual dinner this evening at 6:30 in the Bellevue-Stratford, Philadelphia. Prof. Wahl will represent the college.

WILLIAMS 25; YALE 9

The Blue Defeated at Springfield in Slow Basketball Game

Williams played its poorest game of the season against Yale in the Whitney rink, Springfield, Saturday night, but the Blue, likewise not up to its usual form, was easily defeated 25 to 9. Many fouls were called on each team, and Neild's accuracy in turning them into points was in direct contrast with Rockwell's. The Yale five did more guarding than passing.

The score at the end of the first half was 13-3 in favor of Williams, a long throw from back of the center by Neild, and a shot by Cowell when completely covered being the best bits of individual work. There were 22 fouls in the second half. The game was slow and uninteresting.

Williams	Yale
Gardner lf,	rg, Noyes, Barrows
Neild rf,	lg, Rockwell
Tower c,	c, Fargo
Blaisdell lg,	rf, Anderson
Cowell rg,	lf, Clifford, Fowler

Score: Williams 25, Yale 9. Baskets from floor, Cowell 6, Neild; Rockwell, Anderson. Baskets from foul, Neild 11; Rockwell 4, Clifford. Referee and umpire, Waters of Fitchburg Y. M. C. A. Timers, Eldred '05 and P. C. Smith, jr. Time, 20-minute halves.

Williams 22, Fitchburg 13

On Wednesday, January 31, Williams defeated Fitchburg Y. M. C. A. at basketball in Lasell Gymnasium 22 to 13. Fitchburg plays much the same style of game as Williams, and in the first half their short passes, hard blocking, and great speed earned them a lead of one point, the score being 11 to 10. Williams' team play was poor and two of the baskets shot were sensational; W. Syme, the visitors' star center, shot a pretty basket with his left hand from near the center.

Fitchburg was unable to keep up the pace in the second half, and scored only on fouls. Williams' passes were no longer constantly intercepted after the first few minutes, and two goals by Cowell gave the Purple a 4-point lead. Neild scored on a one-handed pick-up and Gardner, after missing several easy shots, batted the ball in on a missed goal from foul. Two minutes before time was called Mologhan, in jumping to catch a pass, struck his head against one of the iron wheels controlling the ventilating apparatus, and was stunned for several minutes.

The contest for the Lehman Cup, which is held annually for all-round proficiency in track athletics, will take place in the gymnasium on Saturday, March 3.

HOCKEY

Williams Wins and Loses at Albany—Defeated by Princeton

The hockey team was defeated 5-3 by the Albany Hockey club, at Albany, February 2. Williams started off at a whirlwind rate, and caged the first shot, which was soon matched by Albany. The home team secured two more before the close of the half, making the score 3-1.

In the second half Williams tied the score, but again two more points were made by the Hockey club, giving the victory to Albany. Captain Rudd, Stower and Brady excelled for Williams and Burlingame for Albany.

Princeton 4; Williams 3

Williams lost the hockey game with Princeton at Albany Friday night, after an exciting contest. The final score was 4—3. Williams started the game in aggressive style. This fast work, combined with accurate passing and shooting, brought three tallies in the first half, while Princeton could make but one.

In the second half the greater endurance of Princeton players told in their favor. Two goals from scrimmage tied the score. Lewis' shot from the side placed Princeton in the lead. Princeton shot at the net again and again and only the brilliant work of Stower at goal prevented a larger score. Goals were shot as follows: Lewis 2, C. Brown 2, Wilcox, Coxe, Dillon.

Williams 2; Albany 1

The hockey team balanced its earlier defeat by winning from the Albany Hockey club 2-1 Saturday night at Albany. All the scoring was done in the first half. The puck was in Williams territory most of the time during the first half but good work at goal prevented scores. Rudd carried the puck down the rink for the first point and Wilcox caged the second. Goold scored for Albany. The second half was featureless.

D. P. Brown Elected Hockey Capt.

At a meeting of the hockey team held Tuesday, Downing P. Brown 1908 was elected captain for next year.

Resolution of Athletic Council

The following resolution has been passed unanimously by the athletic council.

Resolved: That in the opinion of the athletic council, captains of Williams athletic teams should observe greater care not to bring upon the college the stigma of unsportsmanlike conduct by too hasty withdrawal of their teams during progress of a game.

And that a copy of this resolution be printed in The Williams Record.

IMMIGRATION

Mr. John Willis Baer Advocates Giving Immigrants a Chance

At the evening meeting of the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday, February 4, an address was delivered by John Willis Baer, who recently resigned the secretaryship of the Presbyterian board of home missions to accept the presidency of Occidental college, Los Angeles, Cal. Mr. Baer spoke on the immigration problem. He said that those who advocated the "barbed-wire fence" were not true American patriots, but Jingoes.

Still, some restriction is necessary, and the tests of health and literacy seem the most effective in weeding out undesirable elements. The great trouble at present is the congestion of immigrants in the large eastern cities. They should be distributed over the south and west where they are needed. It is a many-sided and difficult question, but American spirit can settle it. "Give a man that's a man a chance in God's country. If we dare not, let's quit."

Additional House-Party Guests

In addition to the list of house-party guests already published in The Record, the following guests will attend: Delta Kappa Epsilon, Miss Christine Hayward, of New York city; Miss Edith Lawrence, of Staten Island, N. Y.; Mrs. Henry Hopkins and Mrs. M. N. Wetmore, of Williamstown; Mrs. Elder, of Brooklyn: Delta Psi, Mrs. Richard Leake, of Albany; Mrs. Gallatin, of New York city; Miss Leake and Miss Georgiana Leake of Albany: Kappa Alpha, Miss Mabel Curry, of Cambridge, Mass.

The following guests will be unable to be present: Delta Kappa Epsilon, Mrs. A. H. Hanson, of Chicago: Kappa Alpha, Miss Harriet Doughty, of Williamstown; Miss Isabel Strong, of Cleveland, O.: Delta Psi, Mrs. Danforth Geer, of Hoosick Falls, N. Y.; Miss O'Hare, of Rochester, N. Y.; Miss Merritt, of Washington, D. C.; Miss Milnor, of Chicago; Miss Ballard, of Pittsfield; Miss Huntress, of Lowell.

Lectures by Faculty

The first of a series of lectures, arranged for the benefit of the Girls' Missionary society of the Congregational church, was given by Prof. Kellogg Saturday evening, on "Meaning of Color in Animals and Plants." The remaining lectures will be given as follows: Feb. 20, Prof. Russell, "Hypnotism and Double Consciousness;" March 6, Prof. Goodrich, "Queen Louise of Prussia"; March 20, Judge Sanborn G. Tenney '86, "From Suez to Sinai;" March 31, Prof. McElfresh, "Various Kinds of Rays;" April 3, Prof. Cleland, "Some Remarkable Extinct Animals."

AT ALBANY

Northern N. Y. Alumni Banquet—F. Hopkinson Smith Attended

The Williams Alumni Association of Northern New York held its annual banquet Thursday evening at the Fort Orange club, Albany. It was well attended.

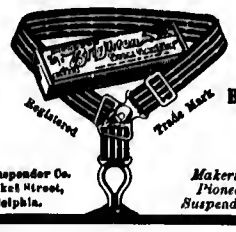
At the business meeting the following officers were elected: President, Justin Kellogg '65 of Troy; vice-presidents, Hugh P. Blackinton ex-'87 of Hoosick Falls, and Joseph W. Bott '83 of Albany; secretary, Frank C. Huyck ex-'98 of Albany; treasurer, William S. Miller '90 of Troy; executive committee, Walter H. Cluett ex-'93 of Troy, Fred E. Draper '95 of Troy, Dr. Frederick S. Cox '89 of Albany, Dr. Herbert L. Towne '94 of Schenectady and Arthur C. Sayles '99 of Albany.

The banquet was held in the club dining room. The Empire quartet of Troy sang during dinner. G. H. Thacher ex-'72 was toastmaster. Prof. Leverett W. Spring '63 represented the college. He said that Williams would take no radical action regarding football. The theory at Williams is to give the student as much liberty as possible unless it interferes with college interests. President Hopkins sent a message of greeting by telephone. After the dinner Mr. F. Hopkinson Smith told several humorous stories.

Subject for David A. Wells Prize

The subject for the David Ames Wells prize competition has been announced as follows: "The origin and growth of the power of the English national council and Parliament to levy taxes, from the time of the Norman conquest to the enactment of the Bill of Rights, with a statement of the constitutional law governing taxation by the authority of the United States."

Notices of intending competition must reach Prof. Nelson by March 27. The essays must be sent to Prof. Nelson before March 15, 1907, and the prize of $500 in gold will be awarded, if a suitable essay be presented, at Commencement 1907. The competition is open to members of the class of 1903, and to members of the classes of 1904, 1905 and 1906, who have taken Economics and one of Prof. Nelson's courses.



Paper by Dr. Howard

The meeting of the Scientific association, postponed from February 1, was held in the Biological Laboratory Saturday evening, February 10. Asst.-Prof. Howard read a paper on the physiological effect upon human beings of different rays, such as the cathode, Roentgen, and ultra-violet. The next meeting of the association will be held March 1, when Prof. Mears will describe some of the problems of physical chemistry.

Lacedaemon and Sandy Pylos

Prof. Howes gave an interesting illustrated lecture on "Lacedaemon and Sandy Pylos" before the classical society Tuesday evening in Griffin Hall.

Prof. Howes told the story of a trip from Athens overland to Sparta by railroad and bicycle, showing excellent slides of points of historical and national interest along the way. He further showed a number of slides of places of historic importance and natural beauty in Sparta, that being to his mind the most picturesque of Greek lands. From Sparta he journeyed over mountain ranges to sandy Pylos, the home of Nestor. Among his views of this region was the famous cave of Nestor. Prof. Howes enlivened his lecture by many interesting anecdotes of the less romantic but thoroughly interesting and amusing features of modern Greek life.

The A. A. U. Dictum

In playing the Fitchburg Y. M. C. A. basketball team, on January 31, Williams contested with a team not registered or sanctioned by the A. A. U. In consequence the A. A. U. "suspended" the Williams team. Williams is not a member of the Athletic Union. This action means that any team in the A. A. U. which plays Williams forfeits its membership. The "suspension" is a matter of little importance and does not affect the standing of the Williams five.

To Elect to Phi Beta Kappa

The Gamma of Massachusetts chapter of Phi Beta Kappa will meet on February 24, to consider marks and elect members from the class of 1906. One-twelfth of the senior class will be chosen at this time, and after the final examinations in June the highest twelfth of the remainder of the class will be elected. It is probable that six will be chosen at the first election.

'96—The engagement is announced of Miss Charlotte Hopkins, daughter of Col. Archibald Hopkins '62, and niece of President Hopkins, to Dr. Henry Stuart Patterson.

COLLEGE NOTES

Baseball candidates were called out for the first battery practice Tuesday.

At the beginning of the second half-year 429 men are registered.

Elliott ex-1907, who resigned from college last year, has returned to college and re-entered with the class of 1908.

Halley, Hobson '06, Cramer '07, Fowler, Schenck, and J. S. Williams '09 have left college.

Dean Stanley Johnson of Burlington, Mich., has entered the class of 1908 from Olivet college.

The athletic council has decided to pay the expenses of the golf team to the intercollegiate tournament.

The next two concerts of the mandolin club will be given at Pittsfield, February 20, and Albany, February 22.

The date for the tri-collegiate debates, at Dartmouth's request, has been changed from Saturday, March 3, to Monday, March 5.

At a 1908 class meeting February 1, Brady, Douglass, Griswold, Rising, and Slattery were elected to the sophomore prom. committee.

The following alumni have been in town recently: Hubbell '74, Hurd '02, Hatch '03, Heermance, Hun, Kitchel and Williams '04, Appell, Eldred and Stern '05, Knowles ex-'07.

A. H. Thompson 1907, has left college and will go into partnership with Kincaid ex-1907, to operate the Hatton Grange Farm, Albermarle County, Virginia.

At the Y. M. C. A. meeting last Sunday evening, the Rev. Dr. Eckmann of New York city was the speaker. His subject was the consecration of one's talents to the accomplishment of some practical object.

At a concert to be given this evening in Odd Fellows Hall, Blackinton, for the benefit of St. Andrews' chapel, Blackinton, Mrs. George E. Howes, and Mr. John B. Lord 1905, will sing. Birdsall 1907 will play, and Pierce 1907 will read.

The following songs by Mr. Salter are being published by G. Thirmer and company of New York city: "Come Holy Spirit"—a sacred song, "The Shadows of the Evening Hours"—anthem, "Goodnight," and a nonsense verse, "Banderjacket." The last two are two-part songs for female voices.

Senator Dolliver of Iowa will speak at the Methodist church, North Adams, on February 19. In a letter to Mr. G. A. Hastings, president of the Methodist Men's Social Union, President Hopkins characterizes Senator Dolliver as "not only an entertaining and instructive talker, but a . . . genuine orator," and a public man whose "patriotism is of the right stamp."

OBITUARY

'64—Rev. Timothy Grenville Darling, D.D., professor of Christian theology in Auburn Theological seminary, died of appendicitis at his home in Auburn, N. Y., Saturday, Feb. 2. Dr. Darling was born at Nassau, Bahamas, in 1843, the son of the American consul there. He prepared at Williston seminary and after graduating from Williams in the class of 1864, attended Princeton and Union Theological seminaries. After receiving his degree he became assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Baltimore, Md. He next accepted the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church at Schenectady, N. Y., and was on the faculty of Union college. In 1888, Dr. Darling accepted the chair of sacred rhetoric and pastoral theology in Auburn seminary, which he held until 1891, when he became the Richards professor of Christian theology. He received the degree of D.D. from Williams in 1879.

THE SUPREME QUALITIES

Sacrifice and Consecration—Dr. Mabie Spoke at Vesper Service

Hamilton Wright Mabie, L. H. D., LL. D., '67, spoke at the vesper service last evening. He said in part as follows:

Sacrifice and consecration, were the two supreme qualities in that greatest of human lives, and are the two supreme qualities in every great human life.

They are being continually reincarnated in individuals. Thirty-two years ago, a young man, peculiarly fitted by natural talents for his chosen profession, with a brilliant future before him, was informed, on his graduation from a professional school, that he was suffering from a disease then believed incurable. He went into the wilderness, became the first authority in his profession, and surrounded himself, in the laboratory he built, with a body of young experts. He built a sanitarium, and through his influence two others have now been erected near. This man, with sympathy, purity and affection in his nature, became through suffering, sacrifice and consecration a true priest of God. He made his life noble.

A life is beautiful, yes, decent, in the exact degree in which giving exceeds selling in it. The soul of a man's work is character, temperament, idealism. No man has a right to sell these; society cannot buy them. These two, sacrifice and consecration, fuse all a man's powers, make him at last a reincarnation of Him who was the best of men, in whom these powers were realized in the highest degree.

WILLIAMS WON

Fast Basketball Game with Colgate—Score 27 to 22

Williams defeated Colgate in Lasell Gymnasium Saturday afternoon by the score of 27-22 in a game reflecting fairly the relative merits of the two teams. Through Neild's accurate foul-shooting, the Purple obtained a lead of three points in the first half, and in consequence played a long passing game in the second half, taking long shots at the baaket and simply striving to keep the ball away from the Colgate end of the floor. This style of play, coupled with two long throws of the familiar type by Neild and further steady work from the foul line, outbalanced Runge's individual brilliancy and gave the game to Williams.

Colgate centered their play about Knapp and Runge. The latter, in his last appearance against a Williams team, strengthened the respect felt by all who have played against him as an athlete who plays hard from start to finish, and all the time with rare good nature. Against men endeavoring merely to keep him from scoring, he shot five baskets. Colgate played a blocking game which caused rough work by both teams. Referee Waters was twice obliged to warn Capt. Greene of Colgate.

Stowell shot the first basket of the game, but Gardner made a one-handed shot from the side. The lead see-sawed until near the close of the first half, when a basket by Gardner, and two goals from foul by Neild gave Williams a lead. In the second half Williams at one time led by a score of 19-18, but Neild's second fine long shot, an easy basket by Gardner, and Colgate's inability to score consistently from the foul line gave Williams a safe lead. 24 fouls were called on Williams, 21 on Colgate. Warren E. Lisle, Williams ex-'07, Colgate's assistant basketball manager, accompanied the team.

THE CITIZEN'S DUTY

A Strong Address by Mr. Charles M. Jesup of New York City

Mr. Charles M. Jesup of New York, a prominent banker, a nephew of the donor of Jesup Hall, and one of the most influential members of the campaign committee which elected William Travers Jerome, addressed the Good Government club in Jesup Hall Thursday evening. He spoke on "The Citizen and his Relation to his Country", and emphasized the nature of the duty now devolving upon college men, to shirk which means lack of patriotism.

He told of the personal influence of Washington, and of the purpose and ideals of Lincoln upon the past and present of our country. The present condition of our country, however, is full of danger as well as of promise. Its vast prosperity is a menace; the tremendous accumulation of wealth a hazard. The apathy of good men in public life is the creator of "bossism" and "graft." All the best men in politics are God-fearing men, and the first requisite of a citizen who has the future of his country at heart is that he should be God-fearing. The principle in business life is becoming "Get money honestly if you can, but get money." We follow the golden calf instead of the golden rule.

The first duty of college men is to find out what is being done in their own wards or districts, to find out the qualifications of the men who are running for office at primaries and caucuses. The newly-formed college men's political club movement, originated at Yale, is for this purpose. It aims to secure the co-operation of every college and university in the land, for good government and good citizenship. It is planned to form a federation and hold conventions of delegates.

After the address a meeting of members of the Williams Good Government club was held. Mr. Jesup outlined a few of the features of the movement and made several suggestions for the furtherance of the work here. He emphasised the necessity of absolute non-partisanship of the club, and suggested limited membership. Linen 1907 was elected vice-president in place of A. H. Thompson 1907.

The sophomore prom. committee has elected as chairman Richard Bradley Rising, of Springfield. Auxiliary committees will be appointed later.

VOL. 19 FEBRUARY 19, 1906, No. 57

The Academic Spirit

The love of study, solely for itself, may be termed the true academic spirit. In an effort to attain this a college has much to contend against. The conditions which lead to neglect of the curriculum or spasmodic effort, resulting in a superficiality of knowledge and inadequate training, are present in a more or less pronounced degree in all colleges. On the part of the student, in addition to the interests outside college, most noticeable is the tendency to give too much time and thought to undergraduate organizations. At Williams this condition is prominent, but perhaps not general. There are too many "one-man jobs." The fault can be corrected by co-operation and system.

The cultivation of a love for study may meet with two obstacles in the curriculum itself. The method of instruction in one course may be so loose that it has no value in training and in imparting to the student knowledge of the subject. The requirements in another may be so stringent that other courses suffer in consequence. Such seems to be the feeling of a majority of the men who have come under the instruction of the French department in this college this year. The much-to-be-desired attitude towards the curriculum is not like the gift of poetic song, but can be created where it is not already present. It can also, be nourished into growth —by the proper food. So can it be choked off, or hampered in its development by a hostile environment. There is a limit to the amount of work a man can do in a stated time and anything beyond that point is a discouragement to study. In addition, make a course interesting and a revolution is effected, from indifference to eagerness and earnestness.

The problem is evidently one of adjustment of conditions. The student must not have too many avocations. Any concern he has in undergraduate affairs must be distinctly of this character. The faculty should recognize the existence of interests which men in college are bound to have among themselves. Though subordinate to the main business of college, they are valuable as a part of education, which is discipline of mind and character.

The grades for the first half year are now being sent out. The attitude taken by many men in college towards these marks is in direct antagonism to the true academic spirit. Too many are playing a game. If their grade is lower than the term before, they express regret that they didn't play their cards differently. The length to which some will go to reach a high standing presents several curious and disagreeable features. One man drops a course, not because he has too many hours, or the subject is distasteful to him, but because he fears he will not get an A. Another registers in a course, not because he likes the instructor, but because he says he has a "drag." In the scramble for marks, the object overshadows the surest and only honorable method of obtaining them.

Of "bootlicking," we wish less could be said. It is a process of obtaining something for nothing. One who is actuated by the right spirit in his work, can look at the "bootlick" with a feeling of disgust and disdain. The practice brings under suspicion many men who are not guilty. If for no other reason than this, it should be condemned. We will not attempt to draw the line between a natural curiosity to learn the result of an examination, and a deliberate attempt to influence the opinion of an instructor. To eliminate the practice may seem impossible. Yet the honor system, which is becoming more firmly fixed on the college every day, endures as the result of a sentiment.

We often hear the remark made, "I hope I can 'pull' a good mark out of this course." While the word may be peculiar to the college man's vocabulary, it nevertheless represents too often an attitude that is unpleasant to contemplate. One might be inclined to think the process involved something of a physical effort. It certainly reflects nothing of the true collegiate spirit.

PENNSYLVANIA ALUMNI

Twenty-Second Annual Meeting—Prof. Wahl Represented Williams

The twenty-second annual meeting and banquet of the Pennsylvania alumni association of Williams college, was held at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel, Philadelphia, on Thursday evening.

The president of the association, Hon. Lewis C. Lillie ex-'59, was toastmaster. Dr. George M. Wahl, representing the college, gave the principal address of the evening, "Williams of Today." He spoke of the material, spiritual and intellectual aspect of the present life at Williams. The many additional improvements in college property of late indicated material prosperity. From the new chapel with its dignified service there might come, he hoped, some strengthening of the sense of reverence, on which, as a great writer has said, it depends whether a man is to become man on all sides. High character was hardly conceivable without spiritual life, of which reverence was one of the main springs and features, and high scholarship was hardly attainable without high character. In order to do its work successfully a college must do all it can for character building as well as mind training. He then spoke of the present system of instruction in the German department in comparison with former years.

J. H. Seymour '79 spoke on "Need of Commons at Williams." Rev. E. Trumbull Lee, D. D., LL. D., spoke on "The Passing of Old Tom McMahon's Coach." After the singing of "Eph Williams," a novel feature was introduced, "Sixty years of Williams," given by graduates of the six decades. Reminiscences of the 40's were told by Hon. Emmons T. Mockridge '46; of the 50's by Hon. Lewis C. Lillie ex-'59; of the 60's by George Hale '65; of the 80's by Dr. J. Dutton Steele '88; of the 90's by Felton Bent '95. The exercises closed with the singing of "The Mountains."

The following alumni were present: Hon. E. T. Mockridge '46; Lewis C. Lillie ex-'59; Dr. T. J. Smith ex-'61; Rev. S. W. Dana, D. D., '61; Hon. E. L. Perkins '63; Dr. George Hale '65; Dr. F. M. A DECIDED HIT

House-Party Presentation of "The Man from Mexico"

Another large house greeted "The Man From Mexico" on its second presentation Saturday night in the Williamstown Opera house. The presence of a large number of fraternity guests made a sympathetic audience which seemed to enjoy immensely seeing how "boys will be girls," and the company scored a decided hit.

Saturday night's production showed several improvements over the first perormance, in North Adams. Pierce '07 as the Tammany sheriff, who was criticised as being a little too savage for his part, had been tamed down and appeared to much better advantage. A change in the make-up of Hazleton '09 added many years to his appearance and did away with the only objection that might be made to his earlier portrayal of Col. Majors, that he was too youthful to have a grown-up daughter. The girls' parts were taken more naturally. Combes '07 was perhaps the best of the four, although Fleischmann '06 in a more difficult role was well received. Carlisle '09 in the comparatively unimportant character of a maid was an imitation that challenged nature. Pennell '09 made a somewhat angular and masculine Nettie Majors.

As leading man and the real fun-maker of the cast Botsford '06 was easily first. His facial expressions were remarkably good mirrors of the feelings he is supposed to have in the face of his perplexities, and his successive appearances provoked more and more applause until the climax in the last scene, the funniest setting in the play. Case '06 had largely conquered his difficulties with the German dialect and was always an appeal to the risibilities of the audience. Wooster '06 was beyond objection in his convict's stripes.

Mr. MacDonald's appearance in a Spanish dance was eagerly awaited, an expectation which he fully justified. He was twice encored. His success was aided by the orchestra, also very much improved over its previous form.

The cast follows:

Benjamin Fitzhew, The Man from Mexico, A. M. Botsford '06
Col. Roderick Majors, E. L. Hazelton '09
Timothy Cook, A. J. Pierce '07
Von Bulow Bismark Schmidt, W. S. Case '06

COLLEGE NOTES

All baseball candidates were called out Friday afternoon, for practice in the cage.

The banquet of the Boston alumni, originally planned for Thursday, Feb. 15, has been postponed until March 1.

The reports from the Chicago and central Ohio alumni banquets were delayed in transmission, arriving too late for Thursday's issue.

The Williams musical clubs will give a concert in Pittsfield at the Pittsfield Opera house on Tuesday evening, February 20. Another concert will be given on Washington's birthday at the Ten Eyck hotel in Albany.

A dance will be held at the Academy of Music after the Pittsfield concert, and in the Ten Eyck ball-room after the concert at Albany.

The third presentation of "The Man from Mexico" will be given by Cap and Bells in the Mahaiwe Opera house at Great Barrington, Mass., on Thursday, February 22nd, at 8:15.

The following alumni have been in town:—Mabie '67, Geer '79, Dewey '84, Ide '98, Doughty '98, Henderson '99, Rossiter '99, Doughty 1903, Bridgewater 1904, Michell 1904, Eldred 1905, Judson 1905, Kellogg ex-'06, Thomson ex-'07, Lisle ex-'07 and Bellamy ex-'08.

House Party Receptions

At the fraternity receptions held Saturday afternoon, the following received:

Delta Psi; Mrs. Henry Loomis Nelson, of Williamstown; Mrs. Herbert S. Ide, of Troy; Mrs. Richard S. Leake, of Albany; Mrs. Butler of Hartford; Mrs. Gaylord, of New Haven.

Kappa Alpha; Mrs. Chas. M. Pinkerton, of Williamstown; Mrs. Frank W. Olds, of Williamstown; Mrs. F. H. Fay, of Auburn, N. Y.; Mrs. F. E. Bowker of Waltham.

Delta Kappa Epsilon; Mrs. S. C. Wooster, of Albany; Mrs. M. N. Wetmore, of Williamstown; Mrs. F. J. Elder, of Brooklyn; Mrs. C. L. Maxey, of Williamstown; Mrs. S. G. Tenney, of Williamstown.

Dances will be held this evening, and the house parties will break up tomorrow morning.

The Imigration Question

At the Y. M. C. A. meeting last night Rev. Dr. Harry Pinneo Dewey '84, of Brooklyn, N. Y., spoke on immigration. The immigrant is dangerous as he keeps apart with his countrymen, and refuses to weld himself into the social whole. He is too apt to translate "liberty" as "license" and thus introduce the influence of anarchy. This tendency must be overcome by education, tempered by true simple religion.

CHICAGO ALUMNI

Banquet Well Attended—Act.-Pres. Judson and Prof. Russell Spoke

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 14:—The twelfth annual dinner of the Williams alumni association of Chicago was held last evening at the Grand Pacific hotel. An unusually large number of Williams alumni, from the classes of 1862 to 1905 were present.

At the business meeting, the following officers were elected for the coming year:—President, Charles A. Heath '82; first vice-president, Scott S. Durand '90; second vice-president, Thomas B. Cowen '96 of Milwaukee, Wis.; third vice-president, John P. Wilson, jr., 1900; secretary-treasurer, Harry B. Leonard '95 (re-elected); executive committee, Henry A. Ramsey '94 of Lake Forest, Ill., Maclay Hoyne '95, Cornelius Lynde 1902, Morton H. Eddy 1903, Clarence J. Goodwillie 1905.

The toastmaster was Hon. Henry W. Austin '88, president of the association. He introduced the principal speaker of the evening, Prof. John E. Russell. Opening his subject with a happy vein of reminiscences, Prof. Russell touched briefly on the purpose and solution of present-day life at Williams, and the significance of the great increase in the teaching force, the student body and the material resources of the college. Especial reference was made to the growth in the spirit of study as opposed to former methods of work. Following the suggestion of Prof. Russell, who referred to Dr. Washington Gladden '59 as the ideal tpye of a Williams man, a congratulatory telegram was sent to him on the occasion of his seventieth birthday.

Prof. Harry Pratt Judson '70, acting president of Chicago university, spoke on "The College Man in Professional Life." Dr. Edward R. Hutchins '62 spoke extemporaneously, eulogizing Mark Hopkins. Rev. Benjamin S. Winchester '89 spoke on "The College as a Non-Professional School," and Richard S. Folsom '94 had as a subject "Twelve Years After Graduation."

Ex-'06—Halley has entered the senior class at Yale.

HELD AT COLUMBUS

Annual Banquet of Williams Alumni of Central Ohio

Columbus, O., Feb. 15—The Williams alumni association of central Ohio held its annual banquet at the Ohio club, Columbus, O., last evening. The guests of honor were Prof. John E. Russell, Dr. W. O. Thompson of the Ohio State university, Mr. E. O. Randall and Mr. William Herbert Page.

At the business meeting, the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Hon. Robert H. Jeffrey '95, mayor of Columbus; vice-president, Guy T. Butler '99 of London, O.; secretary and treasurer, Albert M. Miller 1904 of Columbus (re-elected); executive committee, Charles P. Parkhurst '98 of Columbus.

President Frank T. Cole of the association acted as toastmaster. Prof. Russell responded to a toast on the "Past, Present and Future of Williams College." Other toasts were given by Dr. Thompson, Mr. Randall, Mr. Page and Dr. Washington Gladden '59. An enthusiastic ovation was accorded Prof. Russell. The alumni expressed appreciation that the college had sent a representative to speak. Several of the speakers voiced the idea that it would be of great value for college interests of the locality to organize all college graduates in the vicinity. A motion was passed instructing the secretary to communicate with the secretaries of the alumni associations of other colleges in Columbus, to make a decided effort to bring about a joint meeting of all the college graduates in Central Ohio.

BETTER ELECTION SYSTEM

Gargoyle Regulations Adopted—Prof. Morton Addresses Meeting

The regulations suggested by Gargoyle for the better government of college and class elections were adopted at a college meeting in Jesup Hall last Monday evening, practically as published in The Record. A new section was inserted in Article V as follows:—Sec. 3. A vacancy occurring in any of the offices specified in these by-laws shall be filled in complete accordance with these by-laws, save in respect to the time for holding such elections.

The new regulations by which the basketball manager is to be elected by the college, and the managers of the tennis, hockey and golf teams be appointed by the athletic council were also carried. The amendments to the constitutions of the football, baseball, and track associations, providing for the publication of the names of candidates for the managerships of the principal teams, were passed as printed.

An amendment was also made to the honor system constitution, which goes into effect when ratified by the faculty, providing for the election of honor system committeemen according to the rules governing class elections just adopted.

Prof. Morton spoke on the policy of the French department. He stated that it was his desire to have his department instrumental in raising the standard of scholarship in Williams College. He said that the kind of work prescribed was approved by the best educators throughout the country, and that even now it could not compare favorably in amount with that done in the German gymnasia. American colleges in this respect, he said, are below par. He considered the majority of the papers presented at the semi-annual examination to be below the standard which he had set up for the department, and consequently, he had felt obliged to report failures against the men who had fallen below this standard. The task had been given him of making French the equivalent of Greek as a means of mental training. He had accepted this duty, fully realizing that his efforts would meet with opposition.

Y. M. C. A. Presidents

It is probable that the annual convention of Y. M. C. A. presidents of the eastern colleges and universities will be held at Williamstown, about April 1, lasting three or four days. Williams has extended an invitation for the meeting, and it is likely the offer will be accepted. About seventy-five delegates usually attend.

A DECISIVE GAME

Syracuse Defeated 28-20—Williams Twelth Basketball Victory

Williams and Syracuse, undefeated teams, met in Lasell Gymnasium Wednesday afternoon, and after 40 minutes of close play the Purple was victorious in a clean, fast game by the score of 28-20. For the first 30 minutes of play there was little to choose between the teams; with Syracuse surer at passing, while Williams blocked fiercely and scored on individual work, it looked as if the game might be decided by such bits of luck as Kirchgasser's goal, after a Williams pass that had hit a rope and dropped in front of him.

Williams was leading 11-10 at the beginning of the second half. Tower had scored in the first two minutes by fine work. Redlein had balanced it by a throw from the center and Blaisdell had put the Purple in the lead by an easy shot from under the basket. With the score 17-16 in Williams' favor Cowell, getting free from his opponent, scored first from center, and a moment later on a pass from Tower. A brilliant exhibition of passing by Syracuse ended in a goal by Dollard, but Williams scored twice from the floor and once from foul, a point was awarded for a Syracuse foul as the Purple shot for the basket, and the whistle found Williams 8 points ahead.

The brightest individual work of the game was the first goal by Cowell. Getting the ball away from two Syracuse men, he cleverly dodged a third, and threw the ball cleanly through the hoop. Kirchgasser was of little use to his team except from the foul line. Blaisdell had a hard man to cover in Redlein.

After the game Syracuse challenged Williams to a third contest to be played on a neutral floor.

Line-up and summary:

Williams	Syracuse
Gardner, lf,	rg, Dollard
Neild rf,	lg, Powell
Tower c,	c, Riehl
Blaisdell lg,	rf, Redlein
Cowell rg,	lf, Kirchgasser

Score, Williams 28, Syracuse 20. Baskets from floor, Cowell 4, Tower 3, Gardner 2, Blaisdell; Redlein 3, Kirchgasser, Dollard. Baskets from foul, Neild 7; Kirchgasser 10. Point awarded Williams while shooting for basket, for Syracuse foul. Referee and umpire, Briggs of Springfield Training school. Umpire and referee, Stafford of Auburn, (N. Y.) Y. M. C. A. Timer, Brady '06. Time, two 20-minute periods.

TROY MEET

Williams Wins Relay Race and Gains Largest Number of Points

In the annual athletic carnival held in the State Armory at Troy Wednesday evening, Williams won the relay race against Brown, as well as the shield for the institution scoring the largest number of points in individual events. Williams scored three firsts, a tie for first, three seconds and a third.

The Williams-Brown mile relay was the most hotly contested event of the evening and was won for Williams through Hurlbut's speedy running. At the start, Griswold was set back three yards and was unable to make up the distance against Mayhew. Osterhout gained on Kelly. Ayres was not equal to Honiss, and lost seven yards, leaving Hurlbut about 9 yards behind Thurlow, the Brown captain. Hurlbut drew up on his man in the first two laps, and passed him on the inside at the curve. He maintained his lead, and finished about three feet ahead. The time was 3 min. 34 4-5 sec., an average of under 54 sec. for the individual quarters. B. Mears 1903 won the 1000-yards handicap from the 36-yard mark, running a fast, heady race, and Cowperthwait '06 did steady work in the dashes.

The results of the events in which college men secured places, are as follows:

40-yard dash, novice: won by Cowperthwait '06; second, Dennie of Brown; third, White of Cornell; time, 4 sec.

40-yard dash, handicap: won by Dennie of Brown; second, Cowperthwait '06; third, Northridge of Irish American A. C; time, 3 4-5 sec.

600-yard run, novice: final heat run by Conover '07, Egleston '06, Chapman '07 and Lesser '07 of Williams and Weeks of Yale. Won by Egleston '06; second, Chapman '07; third, Weeks; time, 1 min. 22 1-5 sec.

1000-yard run, handicap, won by B. Mears '03 (36 yds.); second, Van Thun of Xavier A. C. (28 yds.); third, B. P. Allen '08 (44 yds.); time, 2 min. 16 3-5 sec.

Running high jump, handicap: tie between A. M. Brown '07, (3 in.) and Hasbrouck of Yale (3 in.), 5 ft. 7 in.; third, Bacon of Irish American A. C, (6 in.), 5 ft. 3 in.

Shot put, handicap: won by White of Cornell (8 ft.), 42 ft. 11½ in.; second, LaMont '08, (9 ft.), 38 ft. 3½ in.; third, McNamee of Columbia A. C. (6 ft.), 41 ft. 3 in.

Y. M. C. A. OFFICERS

W. M. Clark 1907 Elected President—Report for Past Year

The annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held in Jesup Hall Friday evening. The retiring president, J. E. Perry 1906, gave a short review of the work done and the progress made by the association during the year just closed. He said that the most important departure for the year had been the strengthening of every department of religious work by the presence of Mr. Pettit '05 as general secretary. With six delegates to Nashville, with the conference of eastern college Y. M. C. A. presidents, probably to be held here, and the centennial anniversary of the foreign mission movement, the religious life of the college must receive a powerful stimulus this coming year.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, William Mansfield Clark 1907 of Salisbury, Conn.; vice-president, Boyd McCleary 1907 of Amsterdam, N. Y.; corresponding secretary, James Atkins Bullard 1908 of East Orange, N. J.; recording secretary, Francis Ferris Anderson 1908 of St. Paul, Minn.; treasurer, Henry Wolcott Toll 1909 of Denver, Colo.

1906 Class Meeting

At a meeting of the senior class held at 1:30 this afternoon, Botsford was elected hatchet orator and Nomer orator to introduce the speakers, for the seventeenth of March celebration. A class meeting after the college meeting Friday will elect a member of the class day committee in place of C. Hills, resigned, and a member of the honor system committee, in place of Hobson, resigned. The president of the class was empowered to appoint a committee of five to superintend the March 17th celebration.

Announcement

The Record announces the election of Gerald Mygatt, 1908, of New York city, to the Board of Editors. On the third Thursday in March two more candidates will be elected to the board, who will complete the number chosen from the competition.

Standards of Scholarship

The desire to raise the standard of scholarship at Williams is commendable. Leaving out of consideration, for the moment, the French department, we believe that the past few years have seen an improvement in methods in all branches of instruction, as well as an increased effort on the part of the student to make the most of the courses offered him. That the grade of scholarship has been raised by the C rule is not open to question. A more recent example is offered in the Greek department. In this case there has been a marked betterment in the quality of work done in freshman and sophomore courses. The methods of instruction, which take into account and aim to correct weakness in preparation at the secondary school, are, together with the added element of interest, responsible for an incentive to study in this subject.

We believe that it is not a misstatement to say that the amount of study done at Williams is at present above the average in American colleges. The record of Williams men in the graduate schools seems to point to a thoroughness in the requirements here. The tendency is to demand more of the student. If the increase is uniform in all departments, and reasonable, up to a certain point it will be valuable. If one department is too exacting, the balance will be disturbed, and the attention which the student gives to other subjects must necessarily be less.

The men who have taken French at Williams this year have three principal objections to the courses as they are conducted. The daily assignments are too long, the marks are too low, and too many failures are reported. The amount of work required to prepare one lesson in French seems to be out of proportion to that needed in other courses. While it is inevitable that some subjects will be considered "easy," and others "hard," it is fair that the difference should be kept as small as possible. Though the final mark received in a course is to some of little consequence, to others the grade in every course is a matter of the greatest importance. The scholarship man cannot be conditioned without being in danger of losing the amount of money which keeps him in college. The man who needs a C for his degree is placed at a distinct disadvantage by taking a course in which the marks are so far below the general average.

The facts are that 60 per cent failed in French II and 26 per cent in French I. Men received A and B in some courses and D or failures in French. An investigation would show whether the fault lies with the course or with the students themselves.

An abnormal increase in the requirements in one course will not set a higher standard of scholarship in the college. It is open to question whether the policy of the French department has encouraged study in the language. Piling on work does not promote scholarship; in most cases it forces a man to give up in despair and turn to more sympathetic fields. It has been said that by making all the courses in college more exacting, the students would be "keyed-up" to another standard, would do what they had to do more easily, and would have more time and enjoyment in their social activities. Such a conception is ideal in the extreme. It presupposes a previous training such as exists in no preparatory school in the United States. It would demand entrance requirements to Williams that would reduce the enrollment by one-half.

Scholarship is more valuable at Williams as a formative influence than it is for itself. At a Wesleyan banquet a few days ago the Governor of Connecticut said, "The German university makes the scholar, the English the gentleman, and the American the citizen."

izen." With the last we can agree. Though the American college fosters and encourages high scholarship, this is not its main purpose. If it were, the position of the college man in the world of affairs would be that of an on-looker. A fair comparison cannot be made between the requirements at Williams and those in the German gymnasia. In one case quantity counts, in the other quality. In both cases the preparation and end in view are different.

PHI BETA KAPPA

Six Members Elected from Class of 1906

The annual meeting of Gamma of Massachusetts chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, was held in Hopkins Hall Saturday afternoon, to elect to membership the highest standing twelfth of the senior class. The following members of the class of 1906 were chosen: Charles Henry Brady of Rye, N. Y., Eugene Irving Cowell of Ashburnham, Charles Harrison Demond of Stafford Springs, Conn., George Duryee Hulst of Brooklyn, N. Y., Erwin Briant Leland of Plainfield, N. J., Wilbur Jewell Page of Concord, N. H.

Dartmouth Tonight

Williams meets Dartmouth at basketball in Lasell Gymnasium tonight at 8:00. The Dartmouth five is fast and has been beaten but twice, at Hanover by Colgate (32-27), and by Wesleyan at Middletown on Thursday (28-17). Early in the season they defeated Columbia at New York by the score of 16 to 10.

Dartmouth will play as follows: Russ lf, Grebenstein rf, Lang c, McGrail lg, Rix rg.

Boston Alumni Dinner

The annual dinner of the Williams alumni of Boston will be held at the Exchange Club, Thursday March 1st., at 7:00 o'clock. James D. Colt '84 will preside. Among the speakers of the evening will be Asst.-Prof. Perry, representing the college, Gen. Charles W. Bartlett, democratic candidate for governor last fall, and Rev. John Hopkins Denison '90.

Dramatics at Great Barrington

Cap and Bells gave its third presentation of "The Man from Mexico" at the Mahaiwe theatre, Great Barrington, Thursday evening. The performance was decidedly better than the two previous, the improvement in the work of those taking girls' parts being especially noticeable. In the afternoon a reception was given at the home of Mr. John Church and in the evening, after the performance, a dance was held in the hall above the theatre.

COLLEGE NOTES

Day '09 and Matless '09 are in the infirmary.

McClellan '08 has left college temporarily on account of ill-health.

Mr. W. S. Pettit 1905 spoke at Cushing academy at Ashburnham last evening.

Assignments for examinations in extra work for overcutting during the first semester will be mailed before March 20.

A meeting of the college will be held Friday evening at 7:30, to consider the question of March hazing.

A meeting of the classical society will be held in Lawrence Hall tomorrow evening at 7:30. Four members of the faculty will speak on the different phases of work of the Greeks in the sciences.

Seniors who desire information regarding scholarships and fellowships in post-graduate schools are requested to leave their names with Mr. E. A. Green, secretary to the president.

The Library has received a pamphlet, written by Prof. Cleland, entitled "The Formation of Natural Bridges." It is reprinted from his article in the American Journal of Science of August, 1905.

The Library has also received a pamphlet by Dr. William Bennett Munro, reprinted from the July Queen's Quarterly, on "The Jesuit Relations, Their Value as Historical Material."

The following alumni have been in town recently: Rogers '77, Warren '85, Briggs, '97, Cullinan 1901, Cooper 1903, Hollister, Kennedy 1904, Warner ex-'04, Fulton, Miller, Stocking 1905, Chapman ex-'06, Feeny ex-'07, Newman ex-'08.

Mr. Frank K. Foster, of Boston, who was to have addressed the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall last evening, did not reach Williamstown until 7:30. Owing to the loss in the mails of a letter advising this fact, announcement was made that no meeting could be held.

Mr. Owen R. Lovejoy of New York city, secretary of the National Child Labor Commission, will be unable to speak before the City Government Club Wednesday evening, March 14. His address to the club has been postponed until the following Monday evening, March 19. Mr. Lovejoy will speak on "Child Labor."

The basketball game scheduled with Brown for Saturday, Feb. 24, was cancelled by the Brown management. The Providence team has disbanded for the season.

'97—The engagement was announced on Feb. 17 of Miss Annette Paley, daughter of the late John Paley, of Beloit, Wis., to F. L. Matthews, assistant sales agent in the New York office of the Republic Iron and Steel Co.

TWO CONCERTS

At Pittsfield Tuesday and Albany Thursday Evening

The most successful concerts of the season were held by the musical clubs at the Pittsfield Academy of Music on Tuesday evening, and at the Hotel Ten Eyck in Albany on Thursday evening. Both concerts were well attended by alumni. The members of the clubs were entertained at a tea given by Mrs. Franklin Townsend in Albany, and were present at the dances which followed both of the concerts.

Of the two, the Albany performance was the more successful; the attendance was large, and the enthusiastic applause demanded many encores. The solos by Pevear '07 were received with the greatest favor, and the banjo club scored a decided hit.

There was no change in the program offered at Pittsfield and Albany, with the exception that the monogogue was given by Cantwell '06, at Albany in place of Pierce, '07.

Entrance English Requirements

The committee appointed by the Providence conference of New England colleges to formulate uniform entrance English requirements met in Springfield Friday and Saturday. The following attended: Profs. Cross (Yale), Emory (Dartmouth), Winchester (Wesleyan), Maxcy (Williams), Churchill (Amherst), Damon (Brown), Stevens (Mount Holyoke).

The committee adopted a form of examination, in general according to the plan already adopted at Yale, to be presented to the various New England colleges to take the place of that furnished by the board of uniform entrance requirements. This plan will not go into effect until ratified by the colleges.

First Meet For Lehman Cup

On March 3, the first of the two athletic meets for the Lehman cup will be held. As the object of these events is to develop material for the track team, points are given in the weights and jumps, for every distance above a certain standard, and in the runs for five places.

The events in the contest are as follows: 30-yard dash, 35-yard high hurdle, 35-yard low hurdle, quarter-mile run, half-mile run, mile run, potato race, high jump, pole vault, 16-pound shot put.

Wesleyan Banquet

Eugene I. Cowell '06 represented Williams at the annual Wesleyan college banquet, held in Fayerweather Gymnasium, Middletown, Thursday evening. About 400 were present. The guest of honor was Hon. Henry Roberts, governor of Connecticut. Besides Governor Roberts and Wesleyan alumni, the speakers were William H. Corbin, Yale 1888, Cowell '06 and Guy W. Rogers, Wesleyan '06, president of the college body.

THE FEBRUARY LIT.

Review of Current Number by Dr. John L. Gerig

The space allotted by The Record will hardly suffice for a satisfactory review of the interesting things contained in the present number of the "Lit." We shall only attempt to touch briefly upon the many excellent selections it contains and point out their strong parts as well as their shortcomings.

The stories are all very commendable and rank among the most important features of the issue. In the "Song of the Frozen Seas," Mr. John Adams Lowe has painted in broad strokes the picture of a sailor's sad life in barren Labrador. While the introduction might be improved upon in certain places, the climax has been developed with the skill of an impressionist. The "Return of the Outcast" by Mr. Henry Edward Bedford, jr., is also a very interesting story, the scene of which is laid in South Africa. That the attention of the reader is never permitted to lag is sufficient evidence of the author's ability as a conteur. There are slight crudities in sentence structure—and who is not frequently guilty of them?—which will be easily overcome in the selections that we hope to have henceforth from his pen. Mr. William Richmond Witherell has not attempted more than an ordinary scene of everyday life in his short story of which "Brothers" is the title. Such an apparently simple task is often more difficult of accomplishment because of the necessity of accuracy and brevity of treatment; and in this the author has been quite successful.

The verse, which next commands our attention, is so well-done that one can hardly refrain from regretting that there is not more. Mr. Willard Ansley Gibson reveals a facile pen in his poem entitled "Lyngalon" and deserves praise for his success in dealing with a subject that is naturally more or less obscure. Mr. Bernard Westermann's verses, bearing the title "Senectus Insanabilis," have a very clear ring and are equally strong.

But the most important feature of the entire issue is the allegory "Through the Night", in which Mr. George Burwell Dutton shows his masterful skill at symbolism. The first scene is especially strong and almost recalls Les Aveugles of Maeterlinck. This form of art, which has acquired great popularity in recent years, represents an attempt to reproduce more directly the soul of man. According to the symbolist, man's vision of nature is but a projection of himself which he feels and finds in all things—that all nature is but a symbol of his being and life. This necessitates many changes in language: words must be grouped so as to appeal to the sensation rather than to the intelligence; or, to use a different expression, they must express what we feel rather than what we think. Hence, the repetition of words and phrases, the simplification of the vocabulary, the shortening of sentences, etc. Thus one can see with what difficulties Mr. Dutton has had to contend; and the ease with which he overcomes them deserves especial praise.

Finally, the "suggestions" are very meritorious, and the editorials are instructive and show careful preparation. On the whole, this number is one of the most satisfactory I have ever read.

Proposition for Amherst Debate

Mr. W. H. Webster, Amherst '06, was in town Saturday to present to the Adelphic Union plans for an Amherst-Williams debating agreement. As the Adelphic Union did not consider it practical to enter a third league, the suggestion was made that Amherst join in a triangular league with Williams and Wesleyan, similar to the present Williams-Brown-Dartmouth league.

Williams at Schenectady

The basketball management has scheduled a game with Company F, N. Y. N. G., to be played at the state armory, Schenectady, Saturday evening. The Company F five, better known under the name of the Washington Continentals, is one of the best teams in the country. Early in the season they defeated Syracuse by a good margin, and Colgate 54 to 24. They have not been beaten this year, and have two star players in Lamb and Lennon.

The Schenectady team will line up as follows: Lamb rf, G. Tilden lf, Lennon c, Christian rg, F. Tilden lg.

Resolution on Hazing

The following resolution has been passed by the senior society:

Resolved, that it is the opinion of Gargoyle that March hazing be abolished.

THE FIRST DEFEAT

Williams Outplayed by Dartmouth—Game Won by Grebenstein's Goal

The first break in Williams' series of basketball victories for the season of 1905-1906 came Monday night, when Dartmouth defeated the Purple in Lasell Gymnasium by the score of 11 to 9, Grebenstein scoring the winning basket 10 seconds before time was called. Williams, except for the first few minutes of the first half, was completely outplayed. That Dartmouth, a team of heavy, strong players, should guard closely and fiercely was to be expected; but that Williams passes should go wide of the mark, that Dartmouth players should be left uncovered at critical moments, and that the playing should be in great part at the Dartmouth end of the floor, show that the Williams five were not playing the game of which they are capable. Poor foul-shooting by Neild was balanced by equally poor foul-shooting by Dartmouth.

The game started slow, but Williams had the best of it until after Neild caged the first basket from the side. Alling, uncovered, evened the score. After Grebenstein had missed three times from the foul line and Russ twice, Russ threw the ball through the hoop, while Neild did not succeed in scoring from the foul line until his eighth attempt. Before the half closed Alling shot his second goal from half the length of the floor and Neild caged the ball by a good throw from back of the center with a minute to play. Dartmouth led 6-5 at the end.

Not a point was scored from the floor in the second half until Grebenstein's winning goal just before the whistle, although Tower and Grebenstein narrowly missed hard shots and Russ, uncovered, failed on an easy chance. For Dartmouth Russ put up the best game he has ever played in Williamstown, and McGrail did well. Tower did good work in keeping Lang from securing shots for the basket.

Line-up and summary:

Williams	Dartmouth
Gardner lf,	rg, Alling
Neild rf,	lg, McGrail
Tower c,	c, Lang
Blaisdell lg,	rf, Grebenstein
Cowell rg,	lf, Russ

Score, Dartmouth 11, Williams 9. Baskets from floor, Neild 2; Alling 2, Grebenstein. Baskets from foul, Neild 5; Russ 4, Grebenstein. Referee, Briggs of Springfield Training school. Umpire, Rix of Dartmouth. Timers, Brady '06 and Lane. Time, two 20-minute periods.

FAST BASKETBALL

Williams Defeats Hamilton in Prettiest Game of Year

Williams won easily from Hamilton in Lasell Gymnasium last night in an ideal game from the standpoint of the spectator. The Dartmouth game was the modern basketball-football, last night's contest basketball as its inventor probably wished it to be. Hamilton, a light, fast team, played the style of game best suited to Williams' play. Clean and open, with much brilliant handling of the ball by the Williams five, the game never grew slow or dull. Hamilton guarded well, but passed and caught very poorly. Williams got many chances for baskets, and missed several by narrow margins. The feature of the game was Blaisdell's long shot at the close of the first half from near Hamilton's foul line.

The game was played in Hamilton's territory from the start, but all attempts to score were blocked until Blaisdell tallied from the center of the floor, after eight minutes of play. Sherman and Neild threw fouls. After several minutes of play Cowell threw two baskets in rapid succession from the side, followed by Blaisdell's long shot, making the score 9-1 at the close of the half. Neild and Gardner, shooting well, scored Williams' points in the second half, and Sherman threw Hamilton's only field goal near the close of the game.

Line-up and summary:

Williams	Hamilton
Gardner lf,	rg, Bramley
Neild rf,	lg, Sherman
Tower c,	c, Wilson
Blaisdell lg,	rf, Knolt
Cowell rg,	lf, Sicard

Score, Williams 24, Hamilton 4. Baskets from floor, Neild 4, Gardner 3, Blaisdell 2, Cowell 2; Sherman. Baskets from foul, Neild 2; Sherman 2. Referee and umpire, Briggs of Springfield Training school. Timers, Warner '06, Brokaw of Hamilton. Time, two 20-minute periods.

EARLY SCIENCE

Four Addresses by Faculty Before Classical Society

At a meeting of the Classical Society held in the Library Tuesday evening addresses were given on four phases of Greek Science by members of the faculty; on Greek natural history, by Prof. Clarke, on the astronomical conceptions of Aristotle, by Prof. Milham, on Greek physics, by Dr. Porter, and on Aristotle's contributions to biology, by Dr. Woodruff. The meeting was the most interesting of the year, the different speakers showing clearly the extent of the knowledge of the Greeks in scientific matters, contrasting their inability to get beyond hide-bound conceptions with their occasional coincidence in results with recent investigation. The four addresses were made clear by concrete illustrations of the Greeks' reasoning.

Prof. Clarke showed that the human race passed out of the uncritical inquisitiveness of its childhood at the time of Thales. Anaximander hinted at evolution. Pythagoras conceived the cosmogony accurately, Empedocles dis-

VOL. 19 MARCH 1, 1906 No. 59.

The Basketball Team

The result of the basketball game with Dartmouth was a disappointment, but only by comparison with the previous brilliant work of the team. However the remaining games result, the season has been successful to an unusual degree. The five began the year having lost the surest basket-shooter of a championship team, but the scores of the two seasons show that this handicap has been more than made up. Williams has won from the champions of the intercollegiate league, and beaten two of the strongest eastern teams, Colgate and Wesleyan, both of which defeated the Green.

Only Syracuse, Dartmouth and Williams can be considered claimants for the intercollegiate championship. That Syracuse cancelled its game scheduled in Hanover Feb. 17 is to be regretted. At any rate the Orange must defeat Penn., in their game of this week, to be a candidate for first honors. Dartmouth and Williams meet again at Hanover Wednesday. In outside contests Williams has the better record, and to defeat the Green will give the balance of claim for the championship to the Purple. Win or lose, the five has surmounted difficulties, and played through a season which has kept Williams at its high rank in college basketball.

Hazing and the Seventeenth

At a college meeting last year the student body voted, "That, from now (March 3) until the close of the college year in June, hazing of every sort be abolished." The motion was reconsidered a week later, and the action sustained by a vote larger than before. The feeling which the undergraduates have this year towards hazing will be made known tomorrow night, when the question will be brought before a college meeting for decision. The subject is one of more than local importance, it is of vital interest to the name of Williams. It seems hardly necessary to add that every man in college should be present to exercise his privilege of voting.

Since the question was last decided, The Record has had no reason to change its position, and is opposed to hazing in any form and at any time. The practical disadvantages of the practice would be sufficient cause, if the greater ultimate harm to the reputation of the college were left out of consideration. As an immediate influence hazing has never done any actual good. Its only aim is to show the superiority of the sophomore over the freshman. Hazing has not even been found to be a necessary instrument at Williams to enforce the privileges which belong by custom to the sophomore class.

The movement for fairness in all undergraduate matters is seen in the "no-deal" agreement and the rules governing class and college elections, but it has still to be extended to the abolition of hazing, if the freshman is to enjoy its benefits with the members of other classes. In view of the action taken last year, it is evident that an adverse vote on the question of hazing would be as much an injury to the college as the first was an honor. In fact, it would be an announcement that the students of Williams had decided to encourage a practice which, however mild in form here, is publicly branded as a dangerous element in a college.

The bringing-in of the canes and the March 17th celebration can be made to take the place of hazing as a generator of class spirit. The problem remains for the senior committee to draw up a set of rules that will guarantee a more even trial of skill. It must be admitted that the odds are decidedly against the sophomores. If the issue is doubtful, the support given by both classes will be more general, and will result in more united effort.

It has been argued by the supporters of hazing that the practice should be abolished at all times, if in March. If the sentiment of the meeting favors the discontinuance of hazing because of its evil effects, we believe that fall hazing should go too. In any case, the college can reasonably ask the senior class to abolish the ridiculous custom of Hi Juvenes.

FOR LEHMAN CUP

First Meet to be Held Saturday—Events and Points

The first of the meets for the Lehman cup will be held in the gymnasium and on the board track Saturday, beginning at 2:30 p. m., and the second on the Saturday following. The events and points for each are as follows:

Running high jump: one point for every inch over 4 ft., 6 in.

Putting 16-pound shot: one point for each six inches over 29 ft.

Pole vault: one point for each two inches over 8 ft.

30-yard dash: instead of giving 10 points to the first, 7 to second, 4 to third, 2 to fourth, 1 to fifth, two races will be held and the first five in each race will receive respectively half the above mentioned credit for each place. Therefore one man may receive his full ten points by taking first place in each race.

35-yard hurdle, high and low: as above two races will be run, places in which will receive credit as detailed above.

¼-mile run: 10 points for first, 7 for second, 4 for third, 2 for fourth, 1 for fifth.

½-mile run: same as the quarter mile.

1-mile run: same as the quarter-mile.

Potato race: five potatoes, two yards apart, count as above.

covered the fundamental principles of chemistry, Theophrastus founded botany, Aristotle zoology. Insight rather than experiment ruled Greek speculation, yet so keen was this insight that inquiry followed its path for long afterwards.

Prof. Milham's address was very interesting through the numerous examples given of the sophistry through which the Greeks justified their more curious astronomical conclusions. In Aristotle's time the Greeks were absolutely familiar with the apparent motions of the heavenly bodies. To explain these observed motions, Aristotle had to have fifty-six "crystal spheres." He proved—now by sophistry, and now by reasoning like that of a modern text-book—that the earth was spherical, was at the center of a finite cosmos, and was at rest. Ptolemy's work, the end-product of Greek thought, was free from mysticism and imagination, was purely mechanical and based on observed facts, and was put forward with such dogmatic certainty that for fourteen centuries it was the acknowledged scripture of astronomy.

Dr. Porter said that Aristotle—a typical Greek physicist—observed and classified facts well, but failed in his inability to get hold of ideas appropriate to his facts. He had ideas, but not right ideas. The Greeks grasped the concepts of time, space and motion, but could never get the concept of force. Their chief contribution was an awakened interest in physical phenomena and their causes.

Dr. Woodruff made Aristotle's place in biology clear. He conceived life as an ascending complexity from plants to man. In spite of many inaccuracies, he made stupendous advances in the main branches of biological research. His was, as he says, in large measure a first step, and must be so judged.

Dr. G. H. Putnam at Y. M. C. A.

George Haven Putnam, Litt. D., of the publishing firm of G. P. Putnam's Sons, will address the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall Sunday evening. Dr. Putnam has been interested in work for civil service and municipal reform, and especially for international and domestic copyright. Through his efforts as secretary of the Publisher's Copyright League, he secured the enactment of the international copyright law in 1891, a service for which he received from the French government the cross of the legion of honor. His subject will be "Commercial Morality."

CORNELL UNIVERSITY MEDICAL COLLLEGE, New York City.

The course covering four years begins during the last week in September and continues until June.

A preliminary training in natural science is of great advantage.

All the classes are divided into small sections for recitations, laboratory and clinical beside instruction.

Students are admitted to advanced standing after passing the requisite examinations.

The successful completion of the first year in any College or University recognized by the Regents of the State of New York as maintaining a satisfactory standard is sufficient to satisfy the requirements for admission which have lately been raised.

The annual announcement giving full particulars will be mailed on application.

1907 GULIELMENSIAN

Publication to Appear Before Prom. Week—Cover in Leather

The contract for printing the 1907 Gul has been let to Hausauer and Jones of Buffalo, the cuts to be made by the Electric City Engraving Co., of the same city. This year's book is to be somewhat larger than previous issues to allow of wider margins. It will be bound in brown leather, the covers extending beyond the edge of the book, and will be stamped with plain gold lettering. A departure will be made in the omission of the four class seals. The frontispiece will probably be printed in colors. The alumni have been generous in subscribing for copies and in contributing drawings. Squires '00 and Richards '04 will each be represented by several pieces of work.

The chief complaint against recent Guls has been their late appearance. This year's book, barring unforeseen accidents, will be on sale at least two weeks before the prom. A much larger circulation is assured a book appearing before June 1st, and the editors and manager will make every effort to have the 1907 Gul distributed before the end of the college year.

OBITUARIES

'59—Rev. Martin Luther Berger, D. D., died of apoplexy at his home in Oakland, Cal., on February 6, aged sixty-seven years. Dr. Berger was born at Mellenville, N. Y., Aug. 12, 1839; preparing at Hudson academy and Hudson River Institute, he graduated from Williams in 1859 and from Union Theological seminary in 1862. Ordained in 1863, he was pastor successively at East Millstone, N. J., Fishkill, N. Y., Syracuse, N. Y., San Francisco, Cal., and Hillsdale, N. Y., and for fifteen years was pastor of the Park Congregational church in Cleveland. On account of ill-health he had lived in Oakland, Cal., for some years before his death.

'67—John Howard Cowing, for many years one of Buffalo's prominent citizens, died at Riverside, California, where he had been for some years, on Feb. 22. He was born in Brooklyn, Dec. 20, 1846, prepared for college in that city, and graduated from Williams in 1867. He entered the employ of Tasker, Marvin & Co., bankers, and remained in New York until 1874, when he took up his residence in Buffalo, representing that firm. He became general manager and vice-president of the Buffalo Mutual Gas Light Co, and, when that company was absorbed, in 1897, general manager of the consolidated companies, which position he kept until failing health forced his resignation.

COLLEGE NOTES

Coach Dowd will come to Williamstown as soon as the nets for the baseball cage are delivered.

H. H. Griswold and Sleeper 1908, A. W. Campbell and Harter 1909 are in the infirmary.

R. H. Warner ex-'04, who has been in business in New York city since leaving college, has re-entered college with the senior class.

The senior committee in charge of the March 17th celebration has been appointed as follows: Macnutt, chairman, Appell, Blaisdell, Leland, Page.

Measurements for caps and gowns were taken by Cotrell and Leonard of Albany yesterday afternoon. All seniors who have not ordered can do so through Campbell 1906.

The 1906 alumni number of the college bulletin, which is now in the hands of the printer, will appear during March. In addition to the alphabetical index there will be an arrangement by locality, both states and cities.

The cups won by the relay team and the individual entries at the Troy meet, as well as the shield for the institution scoring the greatest number of points, are on exhibition in P. A. Chambers' window.

The sophomore prom. committee has appointed the sub-committee of twelve, as follows: Atwater, Campbell, Crittenden, Dawson, M. A. Fischer, Knight, Payson, A. G. Reed, Rosenfield, Sawyer, Stone, Webster.

A college meeting will be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 in Jesup Hall to consider the subject of hazing. Immediately after the meeting the senior class will meet to elect a member of the class-day committee and a member of the honor system committee.

NOT ABOLISHED

Motion to Check Hazing Defeated in College Meeting

A meeting of the college body was held in Jesup Hall Friday evening to consider the question of hazing. It was voted (170 to 116) not to abolish hazing from that time until the close of the college year in June.

The meeting was called to order by J. E. Perry, president of the senior class. The discussion was opened by the presentation of the following motion: "That, from now until the close of the college year in June, hazing, including Hi Juvenes, be abolished in Williams college." Morgan '06 and Bixby '06 spoke for the motion, while Case '06 and Scholle '06 opposed. No amendments were offered, nor were any other propositions concerning hazing brought forward at the meeting. The motion was lost by the vote stated above.

Limited to Ten Days

At a meeting of the sophomore class held Saturday noon it was decided that no hazing be done before Wednesday March 7. Case '06 spoke, saying that inasmuch as the action which was taken by the college Friday night was evidently in opposition to the wishes of the faculty and trustees, it would be better to limit the period of hazing; he suggested a week before March 17. Perry '06 stated that a senior committee had been appointed to supervise the hazing and explained its method of procedure. A sophomore hazing committee of six members was elected. Macnutt '06, chairman of the senior cane commitee, read the rules, which are unchanged from last year.

Senior Class Meeting

At a meeting of the senior class Friday evening directly after the college meeting, A. W. McAllister was elected to the honor system committee. W. H. Blaisdell, jr., was elected to the class day committee, in place of C. Hills, resigned.

It was voted that a committee of the senior class draw up and circulate in college a petition to be presented to the trustees, concerning the standard of work required by the French department.

D. M. Hills 1906 was operated on for appendicitis at the Albany City Hospital Sunday morning. He is doing as well as could be expected and will return to college in about two weeks.

TWO DEBATES

On Gate Receipts—Williams Meets Brown and Dartmouth

Williams will tonight meet Dartmouth and Brown in debate, Dartmouth at Williamstown, and Brown at Providence. Dartmouth will at the same time oppose Brown at Hanover. The question, concerning the abolition of gate receipts, has appeared in a past number of The Record. The series between the Green and the Purple at present stands a tie, each side being credited with five victories. Brown is a new opponent.

The Williams teams have been working steadily for nearly two months, the latter part of that time under the guidance of Mr. E. M. Lewis. Although composed largely of inexperienced men, the other colleges are little better off. Perry '06, Case '07 and Matthews '07 have represented Williams in past debates.

The home contest will be held in Jesup Hall at 8 o'clock. President Hopkins will be the presiding officer.

The judges for the Dartmouth debate will be Mr. J. Frederick Eagle, Mr. Herbert Noble and Mr. William B. Whitney, all of New York. Those for the Brown debate will be Prof. I. N. Hollis of Harvard, Prof. Pearson of M. I. T. and Mr. Arthur P. Stone of Boston.

John Kenneth Byard '08, of Fly Creek, N. Y., Lytel William Matthews '07, of Westfield, N.Y., Roy Herbert Case '07 of Canandaigua, N. Y., and Francis Bowes Sayre '09, of South Bethlehem, Pa., alternate, will uphold the affirmative for Williams against P. M. Chase '09, B. E. Spencer '06, A. B. Meservey '06, and W. J. Minsch '07, alternate, of Dartmouth.

The team to debate against Brown, consisting of Henry Wolcott Toll '09, of Denver, Col.; Elmer Philip Groben '08, of Buffalo, N. Y.; Joseph Earl Perry '06, of Shelburne Falls, Mass.; and James Burch Murray '08, of Utica, N. Y. alternate, left Williamstown at 12.58 yesterday. The Brown team consists of George Hurley '06, C. R. Branch '07 and R. N. Dennett '07.

Sophomore Prom. Committee

The revised auxiliary sophomore prom. committee, of ten members, as required by the new rules, has been appointed, as follows: Atwater, Campbell, Crittenden, M. A. Fisher, Gibson, Payson, A. G. Reed, Sawyer, Stone, Webster.

LEHMAN CUP CONTEST

Indoor Events Held Saturday Afternoon—Horrax '09 in Lead

The indoor events of the Lehman cup contest were held in Lasell Gymnasium on Saturday afternoon. The results of these trials give Horrax '09 the lead for the trophy with 25 points; A. Brown '07 is second with 23. The remaining points are distributed as follows: Marshall '08, 20; LaMent '08, 18; M. Brown '07 and Matz '09 12 each; Chapman '07, 11; Bowker '08 and Wadsworth '09, 9 each; B. P. Allen '08, 8; Griswold '06, 4; Ayers '06, 2.

The summary of the events follows:

High Jump. Horrax '09 and A. Brown '07 tied for first, 5 ft. 7 in. M. Brown '07 and Matz '09 tied for second, 5 ft. 6 in. LaMent '08 third, 5 ft. 2 in.

Putting 16 lb. Shot. Won by Marshall '08, 39 ft.; LaMent '08 second, 33 ft. 8 in.; third, Bowker '08, 33 ft. 7 in.

Pole Vault. Won by Horrax '09, 10 ft.; second, A. Brown '07, 9 ft. 6 in.

Potato Race. Won by Chapman '07; second, Wadsworth '09; third B. P. Allen '08.

BY EIGHT POINTS

Williams Beaten by Strong Independent Team at Schenectady

The Washington Continentals defeated Williams by the score of 23 to 15 in the state armory, Schenectady, on Saturday evening. The Schenectady team has defeated Syracuse 60 to 9 and Colgate 54 to 24. Saturday's game was the closest in which they have played this year. Throughout the first half Williams kept close to the Continentals and finished the period two points behind (9-11).

In the last five minutes Williams fairly outplayed the home team. The Schenectady team declared Williams to be the best guarding team they had played against.

Williams passed in good form, but missed many easy shots, in great part owing to the fact that dead screens made any carom shots from the side impossible. Blaisdell played a fine game against Lamb, although fouling often.

Line-up and summary:

Williams	Washington Cont'al
Gardner lf.	rg, Christian
Crawford rf,	lg, F. Tilden, Garroway
Tower c,	c, Lennon
Blaisdell lg,	rf, Lamb
Cowell rg,	lf, G. Tilden

COMMERCIAL MORALITY

Address by G. H. Putnam—"A Square Deal" Necessary

George Haven Putnam, Litt. D., of the New York publishing firm of G. P. Putnam's Sons, addressed the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall last evening, on the subject of "Commercial Morality."

Certain principles of honor and mutual dependence on keeping of faith have in all cases governed human relations. Until recently, practically all pledges and trade contracts were given by word of mouth, and it is evident that faith in honesty was necessary for the conduct of business. In our age all is changed. It is true that a large amount of trading is still carried on, as in Wall street, by oral agreement, but the great mass of business and engagements of all kinds is done in accordance with written contracts, and it seems that in the change we have lost much of the old respect for personal honor. We respect the letter, not the spirit of the law.

Literally, it is not always true that "honesty is the best policy." But even from the selfish standpoint, honesty pays in the end, for some memories are apt to be uncomfortable in later life. But as we think of ourselves, not as individuals, but as members of a business concern, a city, a party, or of society, we must see that honesty in all relations of life is all-important. The struggle between capital and labor, the trust question, the evils of class legislation, could all be lightened by a universal recognition of the old principle of mutual trust in honor, implying consideration for the rights of others.

President Hopkins on Hazing

President Hopkins addressed the college in chapel this morning on the hazing question. He stated that "Williams had received a black eye" by restoring hazing last Friday, and recommended a second college meeting to be held Tuesday evening, to reverse by unanimous vote Friday's action, that the good name of the college may be restored.

The Hazing Question

The opportunity is sometimes given the students of a college to place on their alma mater the mark of high purpose and honor. It is seen in the demand for purity in athletics, and for fair play, and in no less degree in the desire for moderation, that a more sensible adjustment be made between athletics and the curriculum. Affecting the curriculum, we know of no better example than the Honor System, which has been in successful operstion at Williams for nine years. The foundstion of this institution was the recognition of the quality the student must have as the first requisite of education. The undergraduates seldom enough perceive the chances that are offered them to raise their college nearer to its ideal. But the occasions on which they line themselves up with the forces of opposition, are rare indeed.

By voting Friday night not to abolish hazing for the remainder of the college year, the student body has evidently taken a position in favor of the practice. Unless the vote is reversed, the attitude of Williams on this question will be judged from that decision; the status of hazing in this college could hardly be fixed more definitely. This action must come as a surprise and disappointment to the alumni of this college, and others who have an interest in its progress, for the determination to uphold hazing is entirely at variance with the tendency which has been shown by the undergradnates in other matters.

The men who voted against the motion must either have rejected the argument that hazing is harmful to the name of the college ,or decided that it is overbalaneed by the argument that hazing is the only method of teaching the freshman proper respect for men in the classes above him. No one will venture to say that hazing is regarded outside college as a necessary part of training. By their votes the majority seemed to confess that they were unable to secure the observance of college customs in any other way than by hazing.

An opinion has already been expressed in these columns on the immediate influence of hazing, as well as a statement made of what we believe to be the main issue. There is no need to enter further into the practical disadvantages of the practice. If tbe action taken by the college were one which affected only the student-body, the discussion would have ended with the vote. If the question is brought up again, we ask of the undergraduates a more careful consideration of the real issue.

The Baseball Schedule

The baseball schedule, published in the last issue of The Record, assures Williams of an attractive list of games for the season of 1906. The schedule as a whole is creditable to the management. It suffers little when compared to those of former years, and is well adapted to the team which the present prospect seems to offer the Purple this year. If there is any criticism, it should not be made on the side of weakness. for the list contains more than the usual number of games with the leaders in college baseball. That the schedule is inferior to many is due to faculty restriction. Williams is allowed but twenty-one games, is practically limited to two contests on a trip, and is not permitted to play on sny day other than Wednesday or Saturday.

The college should feel more than satisfied with the home list. Besides Dartmouth, Amherst and Wesleyan, Williams meets on Weston Field, among others. Columbia, Syracuse and Trinity. The home schedule is further strengthened by the omission of a preparatory school game, and an increase in the number of contests over last year. Though an early southern trip is ordinarily of great value in developing the nine, it is omitted with good reason this year. The expense of six weeks additional coaching is enough to prevent the trip, which must always be taken at a financial loss.

It is a satisfaction to find Princeton on the schedule. Besides Columbia and Princeton, the list inoludes Yale and Harvard. In playing these four games Williams will probably meet three of the fastest college tenms in the east. The fact that the schedule is a hard one as it now stands should be considered by the management in filling the open date.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

The Record received this morning, too late for publication, a communication from a member of the junior class. The writer objected to President Hopkins' statement in chapel this morning, that the action of the college on hazing was hasty. The writer claims that the vote was taken after a year's observation and discussion of the question. In closing he said, "The faculty controls the curriculum, and should control everything except college custom. But when it tries to control that also, it seems about time for some assertion by the students."

SONG RECITAL

Mr. Gwilym Miles in Sixth Thompson Entertainment

The song recital by Mr. Gwilym Miles in Jesup Hall Thursday evening was the sixth of the Thompson course of entertainments for this year. It is seldom that a program of such variety and contrast, coupled with such command and rendition of tones, as well as a natural interpretation, has been given in Williamstown.

Perhaps the most striking characteristic of Mr. Miles' singing is the element of personality which he puts into it. His wide range of selection, his exquisite rendering of the Prologue from "Pagliacci" and of the oratorio "It is Enough," from the "Elijah," which was added to the program by request; the soft emotion in Starck's "Schlummerlied" and "On the Way to Kew," and the veiled humor in "Molly Malone" —all were so infused with this personality that the evening's entertainment was delightful.

The program was well balanced, the more emotional numbers admirably setting off the lighter ones. Hugo Kaun's conception "My Native Land," received perhaps, from the musician's point of view, the best treatment. "Danny Deever" earned a double encore. The "Pilgrim Song" and the serenade "Don Juan", by Tschaikowsky, coming as they did immediately after the lighter songs, offered a striking contrast. Mr. Frank J. Smith was accompanist.

ALUMNI AT BOSTON

Thirty-Ninth Annual Dinner—Gen. C. W. Bartlett, Dartmouth '69

The thirty-ninth annual dinner of the Williams alumni association of Boston took place at the University club, Thursday evening, March 1. There was a larger attendance than ever before, and the dinner proved to be the most enjoyable in years. James D. Colt '84 was a felicitous presiding officer.

After the invocation by Rev. Dr. Francis N. Peloubet '53, a silent toast was drunk to the memory of the late Judge James M. Barker '60. A letter of regret from President Hopkins was read, characterizing the college as "harmonious, courageous and progressive," and asking the alumni "to help us realize the very best things for Williams."

The first speaker was Gen. Charles W. Bartlett, Dartmouth '69, democratic candidate for governor last fall. After referring to the pleasant relations that have always existed between Dartmouth and Williams, and relating several of his amusing experiences in the recent campaign, he spoke upon the effectiveness of the small college as an instrument of education. He believed in limiting the enrollment, so that every undergraduate should be able to know all his classmates thoroughly and enjoy an extended acquaintance with members of other classes. "No two institutions are nearer alike than Dartmouth and Williams in their effect on student character. Men of these institutions have a great respect for each other, because they have to a great extent the same aims and the same training. Numbers do not count: it is the quality of the men that counts, and the spirit of the institution. The training given at Williams and Dartmouth is unique. If I were not a graduate of Dartmouth I should want to be a graduate of Williams."

Rev. John H. Denison '90, pastor of the Central Congregational church, made a scholarly address upon the real purposes of college education. The last speaker was Asst.-Prof. Lewis Perry '98, who brought the greetings of the college and discussed some of the more prominent problems now before the faculty and the undergraduates.

Among those present were Rev. Dr. Peloubet '53, Rev. Dr. Hutchins '61, Rev. Dr. Dike '63, Rev. Dr. Merriman '63, Rev. Dr. Morley '63, Fitch '70, Dunbar '71, Hooker '71, Kingsley '75, Dewey '76, Gleason '77, Dewey '79, Perry '81, Johnson '83, President Lefavour '83, Colt '84, Dowd '85, Warren '85, Anderson '86, Thomas '86, Warren '86, Fessenden '87, Buck '88, Clarke '89,

CANE REGULATIONS

Practically Identical With Last Year—Cane Contest March 14

The regulations governing the cane contest which will occur on Wednesday afternoon and evening of next week are practically identical with those of last year. Again, every underclassman pledges himself not to "cut" unless by special permission of the Dean.

The procession to chapel on Sunday by the class possessing the canes will be absent as has been the custom for two years past. The "shirt-tail" parade and usual features attending the bonfire on the old campus on Saturday night will end the celebration and there will be no rushes after the burial of the hatchet.

The following rules were drawn up by the senior committee:

1—The canes must not be within the fire limits of Williamstown before the "cane hours" are on.

2—The time limits between which the canes must be brought within the fire limits of Williamstown shall be 5 to 11 p. m., on Wednesday, March 14.

3—The members of both lower classes shall pledge themselves to attend all prescribed college exercises on the day of the cane contest, with the exception of those who receive permission in advance from the Dean, through a senior committee, to be absent on cane business.

4—No Sunday afternoon procession.

5—No rush after procession on Saturday.

6—The attendance on Thursday and Friday and Saturday as well as on Wednesday shall be maintained.

7—The sophomores are not to destroy the transparencies or interfere with the parade in any way until the procession reaches the President's house on the return march.

A committee from the senior class has been chosen rigidly to enforce all regulations and will be responsible for any violation thereof.

'67—Hon. Henry A. Harman, county clerk of Rutland county, Vermont, has recently published a manual of Vermont law, entitled "The Vermont Justice and Public Officer."

LIBRARY ADDITIONS

Facsimile of Shakespeare's Disputed Work—Early Romances

The library secured recently a facsimile copy of the first editions of the poems, and of the disputed work of Shakespeare, published by the Clarendon Press, Oxford, and beautifully bound in leather to match the facsimile copy of the first folio received two years ago. The book is No. 363 of 1000 signed copies, and contains facsimiles of the poems, sonnets, The Passionate Pilgrim, and Pericles, Prince of Tyre, with an introductory essay to each by the editor, Mr. Sidney Lee.

The second important addition, obtained by Mr. Burr, through chance, for a tenth of its real value, is a number of octavo volumes, bound in parchment, of "Ancient English Metrical Romances," published by Joseph Ritson, and revised by Edmund Goldsmid, F. R. H. S., of Edinburgh. This work was limited to 350 copies. The volumes are careful reprints of early romances, antedating Sir Thomas Malory, of the Arthurian legends, Gothic and Welsh ballads, and "The Squyr of Lowe Degree," so popular in Shakespeare's day that in Henry V, he puts it in the mouth of the uneducated soldier Fluellen.

The best general history that has appeared in several years is the "History of All Nations," in 22 volumes, published by Lea Bros. & Co., J. H. Wright, general editor. Volume 21, Colonization of the New World, and volume 22, Independence of the New World, are by John Fiske. A second costly historical work is a "History of Louisiana," in 4 volumes, by Alcée Fortier, Litt. D., of which the library copy is No. 606 of 1000 numbered sets. The work is gotten up regardless of expense, with frontispieces in color, and numerous full-page illustrations in sepia and other tints.

Other books of interest for various reasons are a "Geography of Commerce," by one Spencer Trotter, M. D.; an "Oscan and Umbrian Grammar," by Buck; Santayana's "The Life of Renson," in 4 volumes; the old Tudor translations of Machiavelli's "The Prince", "The Art of War", and "The Florentine History"; a cloth-bound folio volume "The Most Excellent Hugo Grotius his three books, treating of the rights of war and peace," translated by William Evats, B. D., printed in 1682, with an engraving of Grotius laid in; The Diamond Mines of South Africa, by Gardner F. Williams, M. A., manager of the De Beers consolidated mines, in 2 volumes, an expensive work including much interesting matter on the history of famous diamonds, presented by the author; The Law in Shakespeare, by Cushman K. Davis, published in legal form by the West Publishing Co., of St. Paul.

Teams

At Williamstown. Affirmative, Williams: John Kenneth Byard 1908, of Fly Creek, N. Y.; Lytel William Matthews 1907, of Westfield, N. Y.; Roy Herbert Case 1907, of Canandaigua, N. Y.; Franoia Bowes Sayre 1909, of South Bethlehem, Pa., alternate. Negative, Dartmouth: Philip Minot Chase 1909, of Boston: Bertrand Edwin Spencer 1906, of Wilder, Vt.; Arthur Bond Meservey 1906, of Aahland, N. H.; William Joseph Minsch 1907, of Worcester alternate.

At Providence. Affirmative, Brown: A. W. Manchester 1906; George Hurley 1907; C. R. Branch 1907; H. H. Thurlow 1906, alternate. Negative, Williams: Henry Wolcott Toll 1909, of Denver, Col.; Elmer Philip Groben 1908, of Buffalo, N. Y.; Joseph Earl Perry 1906, of Shelburne Falls; James Burch Murray 1908, of Utica, N. Y., alternate.

Dartmouth Beaten in Rebuttal

President Hopkins presided at the debate in Jesup Hall. Williams won on the excellence of the rebuttals, which in every case carried more conviction than the first speeches. Dartmouth's first speeches were the more convincing, owing to the careful summarizing of arguments by each speaker. In rebuttal work Dartmouth made the old mistake of trying to prove too many points. Each Williams debater in rebuttal laid main stress on a single important point, and presented this point in spirited, forceful manner. The judges, Mr. Herbert Noble, Mr. William B. Whitney and Mr. J. Frederick Eagle, all of New York, were out thirty-five minutes. The decision was not unanimous. Before the debate and in the interval before announcement of the decision music was given by the college orchestra.

To Prevent Commercialism

Byard '08 introduced the question for the affirmative, showing that by the proposed plan no money would be obtained from gate receipts and alumni contributions. There is too much money in athletics. Within twenty years athletics have become a commercial enterprise, and the only way to prevent this commercialism is to bring the money receipts to a normal basis.

Chase '09, for Dartmouth, stated that the system would not eliminate the evils in intercollegiate athletics, such as professionalism, the outcome of the inborn desire of Americans to win, graft, extravagance, and the undue honor shown the athlete by the student body.

Matthews '07, Williams second speaker, stated that the proposed plan was intended to cure only the universal evils, commercialism and overexaggeration. He cited four college presidents and seven professors from all parts of the United States that this overexaggeration, distorting student perspective, was directly due to the money derived from gate receipts and alumni contributions.

Spencer '06 continued for Dartmouth. The abolition of gate receipts would mean that the greater part of American intercollegiate athletics would go. We would become largely self-centered. The present system is good; it would be folly to shift the burden onto the students' shoulders.

Closing Speakers

Case '07 closed the debate for Williams with a strong argument. The affirmative's plan, most effective, most permanent, most adaptable, is the best way to make the necessary reduction of athletic expenditures. In no case will the student body be forced to pay more than they can, for the question states that subscriptions shall be voluntary.

Meservey '06 concluded the negative. The system proposed is too radical and is inconsistent. The student pays only a third of the cost of his education. Why should he pay for all the cost of his athletics? A better method is the adoption of faculty control, with endowment where possible, and the professional coach and the training table eliminated.

Dartmouth Arguments Met

Dartmouth opened the rebuttal,

ACTION REVERSED

College Takes a Position Against Hazing During Second Half Year

On Tuesday evening a meeting of the college was held in Jesup Hall to reconsider the question of hazing, upon which action was taken by the student body Friday night. The previous decision, that hazing be not abolished from that time until the end of the college year in June, was reversed when it was voted (199 to 139) that the students of the college should co-operate with the trustees in supressing hazing during the second half year.

The meeting was opened shortly after 7.30 p. m. by H. D. Bixby, vice-president of the senior class, presiding officer in the absence of J. E. Perry, president of the senior class. President Hopkins, who had asked for a reconsideration of the question, spoke to the college. He explained fully the position of the trustees and faculty on the subject of hazing, saying that whether or not there was to be hazing in the college could not properly be decided by the undergraduates; it was a question that the administration had settled. The final position taken by the student body must be one either of co-operation or opposition in enforcing the rules of the college. The president did not enter into the advantages or disadvantages of hazing. He referred to the opinion of the trustees, faculty and alumni, that the action taken Friday night would be harmful to the name of Williams. He spoke for about half an hour, and his remarks were heard with the closest attention.

After President Hopkins had left the meeting the motion was made, "That it is the sentiment of the students of Williams College that hazing be abolished during the second term." An effort to lay the motion on the table was defeated by a ballot vote, 193 to 177. Twenty-three members of the student body, from the senior, junior and sophomore classes, spoke for and against the necessity of reconsideration.

The original motion was amended to read, "That the students of Williams College co-operate with the trustees in suppressing hazing during the second half year." The amended motion was carried on a ballot vote by a majority of 60.

At a meeting of Cap and Bells held in Jesup Hall this afternoon Robbins '06 was elected business manager in place of C. Hills '06, resigned.

A ROUGH GAME

Williams Defeated at Hanover by Score of 26 to 7

Dartmouth defeated Williams in basketball at Hanover last evening by the score of 26 to 7. Williams did not secure a basket from the floor and scored but one point after the first half. The game was very rough, and Dartmouth made its superior weight count, getting free repeatedly in the second half. The work of the official was poor.

Williams' passing was very poor, and Dartmouth's by no means up to the standard exhibited in previous games. Both teams blocked fiercely, and the fouls unseen outnumbered those called. Dartmouth took no long shots, but scored their points invariably from near the basket, after fighting free in a scrimmage. Cowell and Gardner did the best work for Williams, while McGrail was everywhere for Dartmouth and Lang, though slow, was able to get free for shots. The score at the end of the first half was 12-6. Williams played fast at the beginning of the second half.

Line-up and summary:

Williams	Dartmouth
Gardner lf,	rg, Alling
Neild rf,	lg, McGrail
Blaisdell c.	c, Lang
Tower lg,	rf, Grebenstein
Cowell rg,	lf, Russ

Score, Dartmouth 26, Williams 7. Baskets from floor, McGrail 4, Lang 3, Russ 2, Grebenstein. Baskets from foul, Neild 6, Gardner; Grebenstein 5, Russ. Umpire and referee, Hardy, of Cushing academy. Time, two twenty-minute periods.

The Decision on Hazing

The vote of the college Tuesday evening "to co-operate with the trustees in suppressing hazing during the second term," has repaired to some extent the damage done to the name of the college by the previous decision. The students of the college should feel satisfied with the meeting. We wish we could see in the vote a change of opinion on the evils of hazing, but cannot. The majority still seem to feel that the kind of hazing done at Williams is a benefit rather than a harm.

The college body has rid itself of the charge of obstinacy, in showing its willingness to look at the question of hazing from another point of view. A motion to assist in enforcing any rule of the college should have but one outcome when presented to men who evidently agree, upon matriculation, to be governed by the laws of that college. The only source of regret is that 139 undergraduates decided that they ought not to be bound by one of those laws.

As to the meeting itself, the students accomplished something for themselves when they demanded unrestricted discussion of every debatable point. They have not seen fit to do so heretofore. The attitude taken in this partiecular Tuesday night should go far towards making college gatherings more sincere expressions of opinion.

The undergraduates had, up to that meeting, evidently misunderstood the extent of their authority. They had reason to believe they could decide the question of hazing. When the custom was abolished last year, the student body was not notified that it had taken action on a subject beyond its jurisdiction. We are glad the position of the faculty has been made clear.

By passing a motion to "co-operate with the trustees," the student body has relinquished any claim to decide the matter. The practical result of Tuesday's action is that there will be no more hazing during the second semester. It cannot be countenanced by the student body, which voted to abide by a law intended for its benefit, and which does not care to have hazing at Williams identified with hazing at other places.

The Debating Season

The debating season which has just closed, in spite of the fact that it was marked by two defeats and only one victory, cannot be considered a failure. The victory won by Wesleyan last fall has been more than counterbalanced by the results of last Monday's debates. Williams won from Dartmouth, and a halt was called to the series of defeats which characterized last season and the first part of this year. In the debate at Providence it should also be remembered that the decision was not unanimous. The two teams were so evenly matched that the judges had difficulty in coming to a conclusion.

The Purple did not make a mistake in entering the triangular league. When it is considered that both Brown and Dartmouth are more than twice the size of Williams, the result of Monday's contests must be satisfactory. The outlook for next year is particularly bright. There are few branches of intercollegiate competition in which experience counts for so much as in debating. With only one member of the two teams lost by graduation, Williams should start the next year under most favorable circumstances.

Success in the present triangular league should not tempt Williams to extend its debating interests at this time. The proposition has been made for another league, with Amherst and Wesleyan. We believe the college should wait a year, at least, before attempting to meet a fourth team. Williams is by no means restored to its former position in debating, though it seems to have advanced nearer that goal by the present methods. The results have not been such as to warrant branching out to include another contest, nor has there yet been shown to be sufficient material to guarantee four well-balanced teams. In this case it is better to concentrate all efforts for success in the three debates which are scheduled for next year.

LEHMAN CUP EVENTS

Held Yesterday Afternoon—Horrax '09 in Lead by a Point

Three outdoor events of the Lehman cup contest were held on the board track yesterday afternoon. The results of these events gives Horrax '09 the lead with a total of 35 points, A. Brown '07 being second with 34. The remainder of the points are distributed as follows:

Marshall '08 and Chapman '07 20; B. P. Allen '08 and LaMent '08 18; Matz '09 12¾; M. Brown '07 12; Bowker '08 and Wadsworth '09 9; Griswold '06 6; Hurlbut '07 5¼; Conover '07, Ayres '06, M. H. Fisher '08 2; Lapham '07 1.

The summary of events follows:

40-yd. Dash. Final heat, won by Horrax '09; A. Brown '07 second; Chapman '07, third; Lapham '07 fourth; Hurlbut '07 fifth.

40-yd. Low Hurdles. Won by Horrax '09; A. Brown '07 second; Griswold '06 third; Hurlbut '07 and Matz '09 fourth, (dead heat).

Half-mile Run. Won by B. P. Allen '08; Chapman 07 second; Hurlbut '07 third; Conover '07 fourth; A. Brown '07 fifth.

The remaining events, the mile run, quarter-mile run, the second 40-yard dash, and the 40-yard high hurdles, will be run off on the afternoon of Saturday, March 17.

Jackson Concert Tonight

At eight o'clock tonight in Jesup Hall the biennial Jackson concert will be given by the Damrenther quartette, of New York. The quartette is composed of Gustav Damrenther, 1st violin, F. Lorenz Smith, 2nd violin, Josef Kovarik, viola, and Emil Schenck, 'cello.

These concerts are given in the Thompson series, but are due to a fund given by Nathan Jackson, the donor of Jackson Hall. This fund was given many years ago to provide for an annual college banquet. As the college grew larger, it was decided to substitute concerts for the banquets, but the income is insufficient to give them oftener than every two years.

Politics as a Career

Charles W. Hinrichs, one of the most prominent lawyers of New York city, will speak before the college city government club in Jesup Hall at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening. Mr. Hinrichs, who has been an active worker in New York politics for several years past, will take for his subject "Political Work and Its Rewards," and will deal with politics as a career for the college man.

Lecture by Prof. Wahl

The lecture on Frankfort which Prof. Wahl intended to give before the Deutscher Verein tonight has been postponed on account of the Jackson concert to Monday, at 8.00 p. m., probably in the Biological Laboratory. The lecture will be delivered in German.

COLLEGE NOTES

Prof. Wahl gave the first of a series of lectures on modern German literature before the German 3 classes yesterday.

Prof. Mears has filed his name as a candidate for the Williamstown school committee to take the place of Prof. Wild, who has refused a renomination.

P. R. Peters 1906 has resigned the leadership of the Mandolin club. At a meeting of the club Tuesday afternoon A. N. Cowperthwait 1906 was elected leader for the remainder of the year.

Rev. Ralph W. Brokaw D. D., of Utica, N. Y., will preach in the college chapel on next Sunday morning. Dr. Brokaw, formerly of Springfield, Mass., has been for several years pastor of the first Presbyterian church of Utica.

The nets for the baseball cage have been received and put in place. A cinder walk has been constructed from near the corner of the board track to the north door of the cage. Coach Dowd is expected in town next week and will remain about two weeks.

A match shoot was held Wednesday afternoon between the gun club and the North Adams country club resulting in a victory for the latter by the score of 73 to 70, unknown angles. The match took place on the country club's range at Zylonite. There will be a return shoot on the Taconic club range Wednesday.

NOTICES

—Seniors wishing to order caps and gowns are requested to notify Campbell '06 before Saturday, March 10.

Y. M. C. A. Speaker

At the Y. M. C. A. meeting on Sunday evening, James H. Hamilton, Ph. D., head of the University Settlement in New York city, will speak on some subject connected with his work in that institution. Dr. Hamilton is the author of several books and papers on economic and sociological subjects. Graduating from the University of Cincinnati in 1887, he received the degree of Ph. D., from the University of Wisconsin in 1896. In 1896 he became professor of sociology at Syracuse university and held that position until he accepted his present duties with the University Settlement. This institution, the chief of its kind in New York, aims to uplift life on the lower east side by efforts which have no marked religious intention.

ALUMNI NEWS

'67—Dr. Hamilton Wright Mabie has recently published through the American Book Co. an edition of Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar," in the Gateway series of English texts, designed to cover the English requirements for entrance to college; and through Dodd, Mead & Co., "The Great Word." The theme of the latter is love and its place in modern life, and the work is written primarily for young people.

'68—James H. Canfield, LL. D., Litt. D., librarian of Columbia university, will deliver the commencement address at Wellesley college, June 26.

'82—Charles A. Heath delivered the first of the illustrated lectures of the Chicago academy of sciences, in the society assembly hall, on Jan. 26. His subject was "The Cody Route into the Yellowstone Park."

'88—George L. Hubbell is superintendent of the Garden City Co., Garden City, N. Y., controlling the estate of the late A. T. Stewart.

'92—Newton B. Vanderzee has been appointed surrogate judge of Albany county, New York, by Governor Higgins.

1900—John Bray, holder of the college records in the mile and half mile, has been transferred from the Philadelphia to the San Francisco offices of the Western Eelectric Co.

1900—Rev. Marion G. Cole, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Ft. Edward, N. Y., has resigned his pastorate to the Quarterly Conference of the Methodist church. On April 1 he will become associate pastor of the Third Presbyterian church of Chicago.

1901—John M. Birnie, who has been engaged in business since his graduation, has entered the junior class in Harvard Law school.

1902—Richard Jaeckel has been admitted to the firm of H. Jaeckel and Sons, successors to Asch and Jaeckel, 37 Union Square, New York city.

1903—George C. Forrey, jr., has resigned his position with E. M. Campbell & Co., of Indianapolis, to accept the position of Indiana manager for Breed and Harrison, municipal bond dealers of Cincinnati. He will remain at Anderson, Ind.

1905—Robert E. Webster has entered the employ of the Library Bureau Company, at 316 Broadway, New York city.

1905—Henry W. Mellen of Pasadena has entered the employ of the Banking & Trust Company of Los Angeles, Cal.

Ex-'07—The engagement is announced of Miss Jean L. R. Cory, of Brooklyn, to Wilbur Booth Wensley, of Brooklyn, a former member of the class of 1907.

reiterating the burden of proof. Byard made clear that the present evils have grown up under faculty control. Not to quote at length, the main Dartmouth argument that the burden on the student-body would be unbearable was well met by Matthews, who showed that with the expense of athletics reduced, the burden would be less, and in no case could be inordinate, if contributions were voluntary. Case turned Dartmouth's arguments by showing that a decrease in the number of intercollegiate contests was really desirable, and that the Williams plan was in effect to help out the faculty in their task of supervision. The Dartmouth rebuttals failed to meet Williams' points, and suffered through vagueness.

A reception to the debaters of both teams and the judges was held at President Hopkins' residence after the debate.

DEFEATED BY BROWN

The debate with Brown in Providence was held in Sayles Hall, Hon. George T. Brown, Justice of the Rhode Island Superior Court, presiding. The entire debate was very closely contested, and the judges, Prof. Ira N. Hollis of Harvard, Prof. Henry E. Pearson of M. I. T., and Frederick W. Stone of Boston, had difficulty in arriving at a decision. The victory was judged to be Brown's with one dissenting vote.

The Brown representatives gave a descriptive rather than an argumentative debate, and for that reason were much less logical than the Williams speakers. The form of the Brown debate, as well as the delivery, was excellent. The speakers met each other's arguments all the way through, and the debate was probably won for Brown by the rebuttal of their third speaker. A reception was held after the debate at the home of President Faunce.

Evils in Athletics

Manchester '06 opened the debate for Brown by showing that serious evils exist in athletics. Extravagance is the underlying evil of athletics, the "mother of graft," and in this day of attacks on graft the colleges should set the pace.

Toll '09, first negative, showed that the plan was unnecessary, proving by statistics that there is not an overexpenditure in American intercollegiate athletics. Since this plan has the sole object of reducing athletic expenditure, the affirmative must prove general overexpenditure to justify their general change.

Extravagance Impossible

Hurley '07, Brown's second speaker, maintained that extravagance in student support of athletics would be impossible, since there would not be enough money, and student control would not permit it. Those taking part in minor sports would support them personally and colleges would play only their natural opponents.

Continuing for Williams, Groben '08 showed that the advocated measure would fail of reform in the large colleges, where the large student bodies have immense unused resources, as well as in the small colleges, and showed that, at Columbia, the scheme had proved unpracticable and easily evaded.

Overexaggeration of Athletics

Branch '07 concluded for the Providence team. The plan of the affirmative will enable the colleges to strike at overexaggeration of athletics. The athlete is too prominent in college life, a condition as bad for the athlete as his fellows, causing the "win at any cost" spirit.

Perry '06 summed up the Williams case. The affirmative plan, unnecessary and inefficient, is injurious because it imposes an immense burden on the students. A better plan is that of control by the faculty, the body best able to meet local conditions.

Rebuttals

The rebuttals centered largely about the question of overexpenditure. Brown's endeavor to eliminate "a few small colleges, situated in small towns, that would not lose much money anyhow," was well met by Groben, who showed that in ignoring the small colleges, the affirmative was ignoring 70 per cent of the college students in the United States. The rebuttals were generally in good form, and both closing speakers clarified the debate by careful summaries, Williams claiming that Brown had neither proved general evils, nor showed their plan to be the best, while the Brown speaker claimed that their plan "would put athletics on a sane basis."

OBITUARY

'57—Judge Martin Henry Smith died at his home in Suffield, Conn., January 31, of valvular heart disease, ensuing from a severe attack of the grippe. He was born at Suffield, August 5, 1833, prepared for college at Connecticut Literary Institute at Suffield, and graduated from Williams in the class of 1857. After graduation he removed to Kentucky and became principal of Maysville Literary Institute. Removing to Suffield, he was for many years judge of the probate court.

1900—Edwin E. Risley, formerly of Ionia, Mich., has been admitted to the bar, and is practising law in Utica.

DR. HILLIS TO PREACH

In Chapel at 4.00 Thursday Afternoon

Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, pastor of Plymouth church, Brooklyn, will deliver a sermon in the chapel Thursday afternoon at 4.00 o'clock. The townspeople as well as the students are invited. His subject has not been announced. Dr. Hopkins said last evening that probably recitations would not be omitted on that afternoon.

Dr. Hillis comes to Williamstown in connection with a tour he is making this week through Berkshire county, preaching at various places. He has been pastor of the Plymouth church since 1899, when he succeeded Lyman Abbott. Dr. Hillis needs no description. His prominence in religion and literature is well-known. Perhaps the most widely read of his books are "The Investment of Influence," "The Quest of Happiness," and "A Man's Value to Society."

A NEIGHBORHOOD CENTER

Address on Settlement Work by Dr. James H. Hamilton

Dr. James H. Hamilton of the University Settlement in New York city, gave an address at the Y. M. C. A. meeting yesterday evening, on the aims and results of settlement work. Man's life is best spent in serving society, and each citizen should feel a great responsibility to correct social evils. One of the chief aims of settlement work is to develop social responsibility among the people it reaches and thus to help prevent many of the evils which lower morality.

The London settlement is the parent of all similar institutions, the New York settlement founded one year later, in 1886, being the oldest in this country. A settlement should be, primarily, a neighborhood center. That a neighborhood is bettered by having such a center where people may congregate to work for social betterment is indisputable. Economic depression is relieved, money is loaned at low rates, free legal aid is offered, kindergartens are carried on, gymnasiums are conducted, and clubs are formed.

One of the chief duties of settlement workers is to devise laws for the welfare of the people and to see to their enforcement. The settlement accomplishes very little educational work of the ordinary sort; its chief function is to draw out and develop the altruistic spirit in its neighborhood, and to serve as a center for social and economic betterment.

FOR GOOD GOVERNMENT

College Conference at New York Tomorrow

Through the influence of Mr. Henry D. Nims '98, secretary of the College Men's Political Association of New York city, invitation has been sent to the local City Government club to send delegates to a meeting to be held in New York city tomorrow evening for the purpose of consolidating the good government clubs of the various colleges into a regular federation. Nomer '06, president of the club, and Perry '06, vice-president, have been chosen as the delegates and leave for New York tomorrow afternoon to attend this meeting. They will be accompanied by Loomis '06, Chapman '07, Howe '07, Linen '07, Pease '07, and Sayre '09, who are members of the organization.

The Williams men together with the delegations from the twelve other colleges where government clubs have been orgsnized, will be entertained at the City Club, on West 44th street, where a dinner will be given to the visiting delegates by the College Men's Political Association, of New York. Frederick W. Hinrichs, Columbia '74, who addressed the meeting of the City Government Club here on Friday evening, is a director of this organization, and will be one of the speakers on this occasion. It is expected that Mr. Nims, R. Bayard Cutting, Harvard '97, and Charles M. Jesup, who has spoken before the local club will also speak regarding the consolidation of the undergraduate clubs at the colleges represented.

Delegates are expected to be present from Amherst, Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, University of Michigan, New York University, Pennsylvania, Princeton and Yale, where there are student clubs of a political nature.

Jack London Unable to Speak

Nomer '06, president of the City Government Club, has received word from Jack London, the socialistic leader and novelist, stating that he will be unable to come to Williamstown to address the organization on April 6, as invited. Mr. London will be unable to address the club, as he is at present at his home in Glen Ellen, California, to which he has just returned from a four months lecture trip through the eastern states.

THE LAST GAME

Wesleyan Loses to Williams in Featureless Game—Score 20 to 15

The final basketball game of the season, with Wesleyan Saturday afternoon in Lasell Gymnasium, was won by Williams, 20 to 15. The game was fairly clean, but rarely brilliant, the chief interest lying in the closeness of the score. Wesleyan guarded too well to permit of real basketball, and only occasionally, as in the very last of the first half, when Blaisdell tallied after clever passing down the floor by Cowell and Crawford, was fast team-play conspicuous.

Crawford, opposing the poorest man on the Wesleyan five, played the best game for Williams. He shot better than at any time before this year, was speedy, and showed less tendency to wild passes. Captain Cowell, in the last game of his four years experience in Williams basketball, played his usual brilliant game, was the center of the passing, and, as always, missed easy shots for the basket, and caged difficult ones. Gardner missed several easy shots, and Tower and Blaisdell had hard men to cover.

Wesleyan got the lead at the start, White shooting the ball through the net when completely covered. Cowell batted the ball in from a toss-up. Three goals were made in quick succession by Williams, and, though Dearborn shot a one-handed basket from back of center, Williams led 12-8 at the whistle.

Wesleyan fought hard at the beginning of the second half, and at one time was but a single point behind, but, as their passing became poorer, they were obliged to try long shots for the basket. An underhand shot from the side by Crawford, followed by another on a back pass by Tower, gave Williams a good lead, and Gardner's clean basket from right center balanced Dearborn's two goals from foul.

Line-up and summary:

Williams	Wesleyan
Gardner lf,	rg, Campaigne
Crawford rf,	lg, Chamberlin, Downey
Tower c,	c, White
Blaisdell lg,	rf, Taylor
Cowell rg,	lf, Dearborn

Score, Williams 20, Wesleyan 15. Baskets from floor, Crawford 4, Cowell 2, Gardner 2, Blaisdell; Campaigne, White, Taylor, Dearborn. Baskets from foul, Gardner 2; Dearborn 7. Referee, Briggs of Springfield Training school. Umpire, Carlson of Middletown Y. M. C. A. Timers, Brady '06 and Murphy. Time, two 20-minute periods.

BASKETBALL CAPTAIN

Tower '07 Elected to Lead Team for Next Year

At a meeting of the basketball team held Saturday evening Oswald Tower 1907, of North Adams, was elected captain for the season of 1906-1907. Tower prepared for college at Drury academy, where he played on the 1900 and 1901 basketball teams. He entered Williams in the fall of 1903 and at once made left guard on the 'varisty. Last year he played at left guard and this year at center. Tower is not the equal of the rest of the five in basket shooting, but is an excellent passer and blocker, has a thorough knowledge of the game and always works for the team rather than for himself.

Lecture by Prof. Chittenden

Director Russell H. Chittenden of the Sheffield Scientific school, New Haven, will lecture on "Reason and Intelligence versus Custom and Habit in the Nutrition of the Body," tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the Thompson Biological Laboratory. Prof. Chittenden is an authority on food and nutrition, and the results of his remarkable experiments with teachers, soldiers and Yale athletes are of first importance. The college and the public are invited to attend the lecture.

Lecture on "Frankfurt"

At 8:00 tonight Prof. Wahl will give an illustrated lecture in German in the Biological Laboratory. His subject will be "Frankfurt." The lecture is open to all.

Fun and Lawlessness

If Williams had a Harvard Lampoon, or a Princeton Tiger, or a Cornell Widow, a good guess could be made at the interpretation which would be put upon the events that took place in Williamstown Saturday. The visit of the De Rue minstrel troupe and its adventures would have furnished ample material for the pen of cartoonist and wit. We must admit that there was something funny in the entire performance—from the time the parade came to grief in Spring street in the morning until the trembling minstrel players were escorted to the hotel, under the protection of a guard of Williamstown's peaceful citizens.

Nevertheless, it seems that a good time was carried too far. The results have been that the part played by the students has been greatly exaggerated, and that the actions of a comparatively small number, begun in a spirit of fun, ended in the arrest of four undergraduates, bringing a certain amount of disgrace to the student body as a whole. A further injustice is evident when it is known that the men taken into custody were not responsible for the disturbance.

Interference with a minstrel parade is not usually considered a culpable act in a college town. At any rate, we feel certain that the student body would have had little to answer for, if the affair had gone no farther than this.

We can assume that undergraduate sentiment favors the observance of the law, and is not for a moment in sympathy with any violation of it, whether done in a spirit of fun or otherwise. When a person sends in a false alarm of fire, or destroys property, he places himself beyond the reach of college law. Undergraduates were probably responsible for the alarm rung Saturday and the damage done to the hose-house. Such action cannot be too strongly condemned by the student body.

If any feeling of friendship exists between the town and college, it certainly hasn't been exhibited lately. That hostility should be aggravated by the action of any student of the college is much to be regretted. The protection which is afforded the college buildings from fire is poor enough. The Williamstown department with its imperfect apparatus, is the only organized body within a reasonable distance which can be called upon when college property is endangered. Volunteer firemen called to imaginary fires are not likely to be very zealous in the interests of the college.

The Basketball Championship

The college basketball season has closed, and as usual the problem of awarding the eastern intercollegiate championship meets with some difficulty. Yet an examination of the scores seems to give the title to Dartmouth. Williams must yield the honor of last year to the Green, and be content with second place.

Dartmouth's claim is by no means undisputed, for it has not played Syracuse, or Pennsylvania, the head of the intercollegiate league. The Hanover five, however, have won twice from the team which defeated Pennsylvania, and which by that victory, if by no other, has shown its superiority over Syracuse. Further than this, it seems as if sportsmanship to some extent should enter into the decision. If there is any reasonable doubt a team should be willing to defend its claim by a championship game. Syracuse cancelled its contest at Hanover, and Pennsylvania refused Dartmouth's challenge. Colgate is disposed of by the result of its game with Williams. Wesleyan lost twice to the Purple and three times to the Green.

There now remains no necessity for a third game between Williams and Syracuse; it has been announced that such a contest was scheduled, but as yet the Williams athletic council has not given Syracuse an answer. A third game would not decide anything. The defeat of Syracuse on its own floor by Pennsylvania last Thursday, definitely placed Syracuse below Williams in the championship rating. If this is not conceded, there is still no reason for another contest. It has not been the policy of the council to sanction a game to decide a disputed supremacy, except in the case of a championship.

Dr. Bascom For Feiker Bill

Dr. John Bascom spoke before the state senate taxation committee at Boston Friday in favor of State Senator W. H. Feiker's bill providing for the taxation of property of educational institutions, aimed directly at dormitories. In speaking of the heavy taxation burden borne by the people of Williamstown he said that one-third of the property in Williamstown is held by the college and is not subject to taxation; that from the building of a house for the president, the policy of the college has extended to other interests not connected with education. Dr. Bascom argued that the building of dormitories places the college in competition with a class of townspeople whose livelihood consists in taking lodgers.

STUDENTS ARRESTED

Excitement at Williamstown Over Visit of De Rue Minstrels

A parade of the De Rue minstrel troupe was broken up by a number of students on Spring street Saturday noon. A banner was taken from the parade, but returned to its owner shortly afterward. Warrants were sworn out for two students, who left town to escape arrest. Another student was arrested and judged guilty of larceny in court this morning, having robbed one of the paraders of a red cotton tile. A fine of $15. was imposed.

At the performance of the players in the Williamstown opera house Saturday evening about fifty students attended and a further disturbance was created, by interrupting the show with fire crackers and torpedoes. Three more students were arrested by the Williamstown police force, and were imprisoned in the fireman's room beneath the Opera house, which was soon broken into and two of the three rescued. One more was arrested at that time. The fire alarm which was turned in at this time, obviously for the purpose of aiding the prisoners to escape, added to the confusion. Peace was restored by the aid of reinforcements for the police, and the minstrel players were given safe conduct to the hotel.

The case of the four Williams men was tried before Judge Tenney this afternoon, but at a late hour this afternoon was not concluded.

COLLEGE NOTES

NASHVILLE CONVENTION

Five thousand delegates from the various religious associations of all the important schools and colleges of the North American continent, celebrated missionaries, and leaders of Protestant churches constituted the personnel of the Fifth International convention of the student volunteer movement held at Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 28th to March 4th. It was a fitting conclusion to the first hundred years of that powerful movement whose germ sprang into life at Williams College in 1806.

There were brought together the men and forces which are quietly and persistently changing the aspect of the heathen world. The organizers of the movement who are in touch with the whole field, missionaries from their respective districts, and laymen such as Ambassador Durand, presented the missionary cause and excited an enthusiasm that found little emotional expression, but which seemed to take root in conviction. The two elements which seemed most prominent were saneness and earnestness.

From first to last the hospitality of the people of Nashville, and the excellent arrangements of the directors of the convention made the proceedings characterized by smoothness.

The Williams delegates were: 1906, Curtiss, Hulst; 1907, Clark; 1908. Bullard; 1909, H. L. Fisher, Palmer. The following alumni were also present: '02 Spencer, Bloom; '03 Higinbotham; '04 Bacon; '05 Hadley, Hunford.

Why Williams Won the Debate

The president of the Adelphic Union has received a letter from Mr. Herbert Noble, the chairman of the judges of the Williams-Dartmouth debate, giving the reasons for the decision. Mr. Noble says that Dartmouth "showed much greater facility in delivery and exhibited better style," but did not meet the Williams position, offering objections merely of a minor character.

He further says: "In point of logical sequence, we felt that the Williams men had rested their case upon very strong grounds. Upon the question of selecting evidence, our opinion is again with the Williams men, but upon the question of presenting it, our opinion is distinctly with the Dartmouth men. Upon the power in rebuttal, we felt that the Williams men were better."

—The next meeting of the Lit. Board will occur Friday evening, March 16th. All contributions intended for the April number must be in the hands of some member of the Board or left at 6 East College before 5:30 p. m. of that day.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

REWARDS OF POLITICS

Mr. Frederick W. Hinrichs of New York City Spoke Before Good Government Club

The address on "The Rewards of Politics," given by Frederick W. Hinrichs in Jesup Hall Friday evening, was one of the strongest appeals for good government that has been made before the college this year. Mr. Hinrichs is a well-known lawyer and independent of New York city and came at the request of the Good Government club. The attendance was small. The speaker was introduced by Nomer '06, president of the club.

Mr. Hinrichs said that the question of political duties was of paramount importance to every college man, and that the collegian should be fitting himself to play a leading part in the struggle for civic welfare. He cited many instances of the college man's success in politics, particularly in the municipal campaigns in Brooklyn following the presidential election of 1880. In this campaign Seth Low and others organized the young men's Republican club, to work for the city's welfare unmindful of considerations of national politics. "Partisan politics have no place in municipal campaigns," and "A city administration should be a business administration" were the two slogans used then, and they have since become the principles of all thinking men who have to do with city politics.

The work and methods of Mr. Low in connection with this reform movement were spoken of, and that of his successor, Horace Deming. This club, and the Young Men's Democratic club, patterned after it, were instrumental in bringing about the adoption of the new charter of the city of Brooklyn. It became the pattern for the charter of the greater city after the consolidation, and for many other city charters. Mr. Hinrichs described New York, with all its immensity, and diversity of population, as a field for political work, and gave some account of his own experiences while a candidate for the offices of controller, and lieutenant-governor.

There is no more engrossing and absorbing field of work than politics, and the rewards are great. Even though one does not make politics a life-work, still every educated man must play some part in public life, and he must prepare himself for it. The rewards of politics are of two kinds. One is objective—office-holding, salary, fame. But these in themselves are not really of much value. He who makes politics an end in itself, and not a means toward the common good, has a very limited conception of his obligations to his fellow-citizens. The subjective rewards of political work are far greater—the respect and confidence of a large number of one's fellows, and the growth in moral power and force of character resulting from a strong fight in a good cause. These are the true rewards of public life, and will be the guerdon of the young man who cultivates high ideals of his duty to his city and country, and strives his hardest for their realization.

During his stay in Williamstown Mr. Hinrichs was the guest of Prof. Morton.

DANNREUTHER QUARTET

Biennial Jackson Concert by the Violin Quartette of New York

The biennial Jackson concert was given by the Dannreuther violin quartette of New York, in Jesup Hall Thursday evening. The program was even more enjoyable than that given by the Kneisel Quartette, heard here earlier in the year, for while the technique did not possess the brilliant, clear-cut perfection of the Kneisel recital, the interpretation was more sympathetic. It was a difficult program and varied in character; there could hardly be a greater contrast to the work of Mozart, the first number, than the selections from Schumann which closed the recital.

The four movements in D major of Mozart, though exceedingly intricate, were interpreted in a masterly manner. The Grieg romanza, from quartette in G minor, not the least difficult selection, was the most successful of the evening. The second part of this number was the allegretto scherzando from op. 1 of Svendsen, the disciple of Grieg. In the third number, the andante cantable of Tschaikowsky was played with wonderful insight and feeling, and evoked a sympathetic response from the audience.

The beautiful little staccato, "Liebesliedchen" of Taubert, given with rare charm, was second in execution only to the Grieg romanza. The familiar "Traumerei" was played as an encore. The program was concluded by the three movements from the quartette in A major, op. 44 of Schumann. The last of these, in particular, the allegro molto vivace of exceptional difficulty, was as exceptionally well treated.

FRESHMAN CANES IN

Committee Crossed the Line Without Opposition—No Sophomores in Sight

The Sand Springs Road, Near the Station, the Point of Entrance—Canes Had Been Thirty Yards from Line for Two Months—The Sophomore and Freshman Committees and Plans.

At 11.00 last evening the plans of the freshman cane committee came to a successful conclusion, when the six members brought the class canes into the fire district from the house of Mr. James McIntosh, about a quarter of a mile above the switch on the Sand Springs road, in the station district. The distance from Mr. McIntosh's house to the the fire limits is thirty yards.

Sophomore Plans

For weeks the committees from the two classes had been maturing their plans. The defense of the sophomore class was in charge of the following committee: Downing Potter Brown, of Portland, Me., class president; John Kenneth Byard, of Fly Creek, N. Y.; William Niles Elder, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Harold Hawkins LaMent, of Pittsfield; Alexander Gebhart Reed, of Dayton, O.; and Philip Noyes Westcott, of Syracuse, N.Y.

The majority of the class were stationed last evening in squads along eight principal roads, and telephone reports were sent to Reed, at central, from time to time, as usual. 35 of the largest men in the class established headquarters at 22 Morgan Hall. Although there was no definite knowledge it was strongly suspected that the canes were near East mountain, and at 10:30 the company in Morgan Hall set out for the station in drags. Turning to the right instead of the left, they were on the North Hoosac road near the Blackinton line when the canes came in.

Freshman Committee

The 1909 committee was as follows: Clarence Fayette Brown, of Montclair, N. J., class president; Eliot Olmstead Cushing, of East Orange, N. J.; William Henry Hoch, of Worcester; Mahlon Ernest Hopkins, of Fishers, N. Y.; Alan Lichtenhein, of New York city; Charles Desmond Wadsworth, of Dorchester. The committee left town with little difficulty and by 7:30 Tuesday night were all in Mr. McIntosh's house except Brown. Brown went to Bennington Tuesday, came down to Mr. W. R. Stocking's house, in the White Oaks district, Tuesday evening, and joined the rest of the committee at 10.00 last night.

The canes are light, of polished bamboo with silver engraved heads. They were ordered before Christmas by Mr. Harold P. Brown, father of the president of the freshman class, from Harvey and Watts, 387 Broadway, New York, and were expressed to Mr. McIntosh at once. They have been at his house since Jan. 15.

Freshman Plans

The freshman plans were unusually well laid. Brown escaped Tuesday morning. The only class "scrap" of any importance occurred Tuesday noon, between College Hall and Hopkins Hall. At 4.30 Tuesday afternoon the greater part of the freshman class left Williamstown for the east in a body, spread out when they reached the open country, and thus covered the escape of the committee.

Last evening the class met on Weston Field at 9.00. After marching about the outskirts of the town for about an hour, half of them marched to Sand Springs, to be in readiness in case of any interference with the canes. A band of 18 was within 100 yards of the spot where the canes came in.

Meanwhile a "fake" box had been prepared, and shipped from New York city to R. H. Enrich at Petersburg. A sub-committee, consisting of Coleman, Englehard, Enrich, Palmer, Pike and Wilcox left town at 8.30 last night, went to the head of Flora's Glen, where the box had been carried, and brought it without interference down Bee Hill across the golf links to a spot back of the Alpha Delta Phi house.

The real canes were also brought in without the slightest opposition. With the canes divided among the six freshmen in loosely tied bundles of two dozen each, the committee ran from Mr. McIntosh's house to his poultry-yard at 10.54. There they met the senior secret committee, consisting of Bowman, Brady, and S. G. Curtis, and at 11.01 the timers announced the success of the freshmen.

The End Saturday

The festivities of cane week will close Saturday evening with the usual nightshirt parade and bury-

RECEIVED BY PRESIDENT

College Civic Club Delegates at Capitol—Speech by President

Washington, D. C., Mar. 15.—In a speech which was proof of his hearty co-operation with the movement for the consolidation of undergraduate political clubs in the universities and colleges of the country, President Theodore Roosevelt addressed a delegation of 42 students at the White House last evening. On account of the wish of President Roosevelt, publicity had not been given to the fact that student delegates had been invited to Washington.

Delegates were present from Amherst, Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard, Princeton, Yale, University of Michigan, Chicago, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, New York university and Williams. Williams was represented by H. A. Nomer '06, and J. E. Perry '06, L. G. Loomis, jr., '06, C. B. Chapman, '07, E. F. Howe, '07, J. A. Linen, jr., '07, R. L. Pease, '07, and F. B. Sayre, '09.

The Williams delegation left New York Tuesday evening and arrived at Washington early yesterday morning. The party stayed at the Willard Hotel. Yesterday morning was spent in sight-seeing. The party was accompanied by Sereno E. Payne of New York, chairman of the house ways and means committee, Senator Winthrop Murray Crane of Massachusetts, and Elihu Root, secretary of State. The party went through the capitol and saw the senate, the house and the supreme court in session. The party were at the senate during the speech of Senator Rayner on railroad rate regulation.

President Roosevelt received the delegation very informally in his private library at 9.00 last evening. Mr. Jesup introduced the delegates to the president, who spoke a few words to each one. James A. Garfield '85, commissioner of corporations, was present and spoke briefly, following the president. Harry D. Nims '98 was also at the conference.

The president began his speech with reminiscences of his early political life in New York with Mr. Jesup. He advised the delegates to have high ideals, but to be practical in applying them. Collegians are apt to theorize and must descend to the level of ordinary people. Don't go out as "collegians," but learn your department

THE CITY OF FRANKFORT

German Lecture by Prof. G. M. Wahl

On Monday evening in the Biological Laboratory, Prof. Wahl gave an interesting lecture in German to a small audience, on the subject of "Frankfort." The central theme of his talk was to show how important a place that city has played in the history of Germany ever since the opening of the Christian era.

He spoke first of Frankfort in the time of the Romans, and of its proximity to the old Roman limes, along the line of which Emperor William II, with the help of Professor Mommsen, made many excavations, and restored an old castellum Romanum, the so-called Saalburg, situated near Hamburg, and within a short distance from Frankfort. He then traced the history of the city in its main events, from the time of Charlemagne, who held an ecclesiastic council there in 794, to the present day, and its gradual development into one of the foremost commercial and political centres of Germany.

It was here that the German emperors were chosen and crowned, and that Charles V promulgated an ediet during the Reformation. Frankfort is the birthplace of Goethe, the greatest of German poets. It is the spot where, after the Napoleonic times, having become a free city and the centre of the German Union, many of the struggles for political liberty took place, until in 1866 it became Prussian, and where in 1871, the treaty of peace between Germany and France was signed.

The lecture was illustrated with stereopticon slides bearing on these events, representing both ancient and modern Frankfort.

Record Elections

The Record announces the election to the board of two more members, completing the number of those chosen from the candidates. Francis Ferris Anderson 1908, of St. Paul, Minn., and Mark Walton Maclay, jr., 1909, of New York city, were chosen at a meeting held yesterday. This issue is the last of the 1905-1906 board.

The Question of Taxation

The statements reported to have been made recently by Prof. John Bascom before the legislative committee at Boston, concerning taxation at Williams college, should have considerably less weight now that they have been shown to be incorrect. It is a satisfaction to see that exaggerations and misrepresentations, which might influence legislation to the detriment of the college, will not be permitted to go unchallenged. In a communication to The Boston Herald and other papers, Prof. Nelson has stated the true condition of affairs, as revealed by the books of the treasurer.

It is seen that Williams is the only college in Massachusetts which pays taxes and that the amount paid for taxation of professors' houses is a voluntary gift under the law. In the face of these facts it seems surprising that the bill, which is pending, to add a further burden to the sum which Williams already gives, should receive the support it has by the townspeople.

In reply to the contention Dr. Bascom is said to have made, that a college like Williams is of little monetary value to the town in which it is situated, the writer of the letter referred to stated that "were it not for Williams College, Williamstown, as a hamlet, would not exist, or would be merely a small center, with a general store or two for the accommodation of the farmers of the town." Though such an expression may seem speculative, in this case we believe it comes very near the truth. A conservative estimate of the amount of money paid by the college for labor to the inhabitants of the town, and an enumeration of the town business concerns which are supported almost entirely by the students, would indicate to how great an extent the people of Williamstown are directly dependent on the college for their livelihood.

The prosperity of the college means their prosperity. If there should be a falling-off in the enrollment, there would be a corresponding decrease in sales and profits. If the college should become so small that all the students could room in the dormitories which now exist, the loss in rents to the townspeople would be considerable. No one will go so far as to say that Williams would close its doors if the Feiker bill were made law. Yet we believe that a blow would be struck which would certainly check its progress. It is true that the dormitories net a small profit on the investment. Yet Prof. Nelson has pointed out, and it is a matter of common knowledge, that the college, of which the dormitories are only a small part, is run at a loss.

Such an "assault upon education" as the Feiker bill is a matter of deep concern to every undergraduate. If the dormitories are taxed, the tuition and room rent must be raised, for the college cannot count every year on gifts that will balance its deficit. The present cost of living at Williams is above the average. The student of small means in most cases has trouble in getting along; there are few methods of student employment.

If further taxation of college property would tend to decrease the enrollment, it would also change the character of the student-body. Poor men would go where living is cheaper, where the cause of education is assisted by the state, not hampered. At the same time higher room rents and increased tuition would hit equally hard the man of moderate means. This is the one who has a certain amount that he uses for "incidentals" and he would choose a college where his allowance is not all eaten up by the treasurer's bills. This condition would certainly tend toward making of Williams a "rich man's college." At the same time, in competition with the universities, the college would be greatly decreased in size, retaining some of the richer men, but losing the others.

Address on Child Labor

The question of child labor, with its more important issues, will be the subject of an address by Owen R. Lovejoy, of New York city, before the City Government Club in Jesup Hall Monday evening. Mr. Lovejoy is assistant secretary of the board of trustees of the National Child Labor Committee, which has its headquarters in New York. Members of this organization, which is doing valuable work every year in checking the evil of child labor, include Ex-President Grover Cleveland, President Charles W. Rev. Dr. Schauffler will Preach

Rev. Adolphus F. Schauffler, D. D., will preach in the college chapel Sunday morning, and will also address the Y. M. C. A. meeting in the evening. Dr. Schauffler, born in Constantinople, graduated from Williams in 1867; twenty years later he received the degree of D. D. from the University of the City of New York. Since 1873, Dr. Schauffler, who is a Presbyterian clergyman, has been actively engaged in city mission work. He is the secretary of the International Sunday School commission and is the author of several books on Sunday School work. Dr. Schauffler is president of the City Mission and Tract society, a position formerly held by Morris K. Jesup.

ing of the hatchet on the old campus. The parade will be formed in front of the opera house at 7:15 p. m. sharp, and will be headed by the Nichols cadet band of North Adams, followed by the drag, containing the senior March 17th committee, the senior secret committee, and all the speakers.

The parade will march up Main street to the Greylock and back to the old campus. Though the celebration occurs on the anniversary of St. Patrick the committee hope to make the parade a combination of election night and fourth of July. The transparencies are not to be appropriated, by the new rules, until the parade reaches President Hopkins' house on the return march. After reaching the old campus the usual programme will be carried out around the bonfire,—nightshirts will be removed from unwilling wearers, four speeches will be made, and the ceremony will end with the burning of the hatchet.

Lehman Cup Finals

The remaining events of the Lehman cup meet will take place on the board track Saturday afternoon. The events yet to be decided are the 40-yard dash, the high hurdles, the quarter-mile and the mile. The present standing of the highest six competitors, by points, is as follows: Horrax 35, A. Brown 34, Chapman 20, Marshall 20, B. P. Allen 18, LaMent 18.

Baseball Squad Reduced

The first cut in the baseball squad has been made. The following men have been retained: 1906, Neild, Hogan, Gardner, Van Inwegen; 1907, Domett, Ford, Morrison, Osborne, Pierce, Redick, Southworth, C. B. Stewart, Warren; 1908, Gillett, Harmon, Kelley, Mahan, Osterhout, Parker, Stower, Waters; 1909, Perkins, Sears, Williams, Young.

in politics. Find your sphere. Don't expect to be president at the start, but mould yourself to the people, and be ready to give and take. Affiliate with a large party, but be independent therein. The president illustrated his remarks from his own political experiences. During the course of his talk he expressed his views on railroad rates, and the San Domingo and joint statehood questions.

The president spoke for about two hours. At the close of his talk he showed the delegation mementoes of the Spanish war, and treated them with the greatest cordiality and informality. He shook hands with each member of the delegation on leaving.

CIVIC CLUBS ORGANIZE

Delegates from Fourteen Colleges Meet at New York

At a meeting of the undergraduates from fourteen colleges and universities, held Tuesday evening at the City Club, West 44th street, New York city, a permanent organization of the student political clubs was effected.

Harry D. Nims, Williams '98, opened the meeting. Frederick W. Hinrichs and Charles M. Jesup, who recently spoke in Williamstown, gave addresses. A constitution was adopted and it was voted to hold annual meetings to report on the work of the local clubs, addressed by college men prominent in politics. District Attorney Willism Travers Jerome, of New York city, was present at the meeting. The following officers of the consolidated organization were elected: President, W. S. Moorhead, Yale; vice-presidents, O. H. McPherson, Princeton, E. S. Blagden, Harvard, Mechling Blake, Chicago; secretary, C. B. Spencer, Columbia. The name of the organization is the Intercollegiate League of Civic Clubs.

The meeting was held in connection with a dinner, given to the undergraduate delegates from the various colleges. Such a club has long been contemplated and planned for by alumni of the colleges who have engaged in politics and realize the value of getting the college students interested in municipal government. The movement was begun some time ago at Yale, and it is through the efforts of Mr. Harry D. Nims '98 and Mr. W. S. Moorhead, president of the Yale City Government Club, that the consolidated organization was formed.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

DR. CHITTENDEN ON DIET

The Consequences of Habit—What Some Experiments Show

Dr. Russell H. Chittenden, director of the Sheffield Scientific school, lectured Tuesday evening, in the Biological Laboratory, on "Reason and Intelligence versus Custom and Habit in the Nutrition of the body." The first part of the lecture considered the rules governing health and diet, and the relation between them. The great benefits of health to society were clearly shown; "Health in the body is like peace in the state." Temperance, especially in the matter of diet, deserves the first rank in public virtues.

Custom exerts a strong influence upon diet. The Romans preserved the habit of fasting until supper; more than one full meal a day was considered preposterous by them. Moderation in diet promotes health in mind and body: a well-ordered diet plays a great part in the prolongation of life.

Are we to follow the cravings of the appetite? They are mostly the consequences of habit. The quality and quantity of food must, however, be sufficient for all needs; anything taken in excess may be injurious: we "must not burn more fuel than is necessary." Excess means waste and, what is more important, excess entails a useless waste of the tissues and organs.

According to the recognized dietetic standard, established by extensive experiments in Germany, an ordinary man requires 118 grams of proteids, 56 grams of fat, and 500 grams of carbohydrates, per day. Excess in nitrogenous and albuminous foodstuffs is distinctly harmful to the digestive organs.

Dr. Chittenden spoke of his recent experiments to determine whether a man can subsist on very much less than the quantity of proteids required by the standard. He has made his experiments on Yale professors, army soldiers and athletes, over periods varying from several months to two or three years. In the investigations the average intake and output of nitrogen was measured each day and it was found that these men lived on about one-half the required quantity of proteids. Moreover this drop in diet was accompanied in every case by a large increase of strength, and a slight variation in weight.

In conclusion Dr. Chittenden declared as his belief that more harm is done by the improper use of food than by alcoholic stimulants.

'99—The engagement is announced of Miss Leslie Crawford, of Princeton, N. J., to John Gale Hun, Ph. D., instructor of mathematics in Princeton university.

Two Acquitted, One Fined

At the session of the town court held Monday afternoon at 2:00 the three students arrested at the opera house Saturday evening appeared before Judge Tenney. Two were charged with "disturbing an assembly of the people met for a lawful purpose," and the third with "disturbing the peace." Two of the three pleaded not guilty, and were acquitted. The third pleaded guilty. His case was put over until 10:00 Tuesday morning, when he was fined $25.

At the Monday session of the court Judge Tenney stated that he would enforce the full penalty of the law on any one convicted of ringing in a false alarm of fire. President Hopkins asked permission of the court to speak, and said he would add $50 to the $100 offered by the town prudential committee for information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone committing that offense.

Suit to Establish Professorship

Williams college has brought suit in the state supreme court against the attorney-general, to see if it can devote the surplus income received from the fund of $67,150, left it by the will of David Ames Wells, to the establishment of a professorship of political economy to be named after him.

By the terms of Mr. Wells' will, Williams, Harvard and the Springfield city library each received this sum. The gifts to Harvard and Williams were made on the same terms, under which the David Ames Wells prize of $500 is given from the income, for essays on economic subjects. In July, 1902, the trustees voted to use the additional income to found the David A. Wells professorship of political economy, as carrying out the general intention of the will, and are now seeking strict legal sanction for this action.

Classical Society Meeting

At the meeting of the Classical society held in the west wing of the Library Tuesday evening, the Mostellaria of Plautus was read in English by the members. A short introduction was given by Morrill '07, in which he summarized the principal events in the life of Plautus, made a brief analysis of his style, and told the plot of the Mostellaria. The comedy is usually considered the second best of the nineteen extant complete plays of Plautus. After the introduction, the different parts of the play were read by Mr. R. E. Cook '05, Page '06, Reid '06, Wakefield '06, Wilbur '06, Blagbrough '07, Hughes '07, Porter '07, Crittenden '08, Fullerton '08, and Hill '08.

Allen '95, Bacon 1904 and Eldridge ex-'08 have been in town.

Department of Dentistry

As a distinct part of the Medico-Chirurgical College, the Department of Dentistry offers superior advantages to its students. The clinics of the college present wide opportunities for the practical study of general and oral surgery, as well as suppling abundance of material for practical work in the Dental Infirmary. All of the privileges of the students of the Medical Department of the College are accorded to the Dental Students. A complete system of quizzing conducted by the professors free of charge, obviating the expense of private quizzing and preparing the students for examination. BURIAL OF HATCHET

Hostilities Come to an End Between Classes of 1908 and 1909

The Night-Shirt Parade—Struggle for the Transparencies—Speeches of the Four Orators Around the Bonfire—Seventeenth of March Celebration Concluded by Singing "The Mountains."

With the burial of the hatchet on the old campus last Saturday evening, and the gathering of the entire college around the bonfire afterwards, the 1906 cane week ended with entire success. The wet blanket of snow was only a literal one, not figurative, for the cold and wet had little effect on the interest shown. The spectacular parade, the hard-fought battle for the transparencies on West College hill, the harder scramble in the snow and mud about the bonfire, the eloquent speeches of the orators from the lower classes, and a hatchet orstion that Mark Twain would have been proud to own, brought the seventeenth to its closing scene. At the conclusion of the final oration, as the hatchet blazed on the fire, the classes formed around the dying embers, gave cheers for one another, and the March 17th celebration concluded with a long yell for the college and the singing of "The Mountains."

The Parade

The night-shirt parade started from the opera house in a blaze of glory at 7.48 p. m., headed by Nichols' Cadet band of North Adams. In the drag containing the senior March 17th committee, the senior secret committee and the speakers, were the following: Appell, Blaisdell, Botsford, Bowman, Brady, Clapp, Cowell, Curtis, Hogan, Kenney, Leland, Macnutt, Nomer, Page and Schell, 1906, J. H. Fischer 1908 and K. J. Howe 1909. The freshman class, attired in night-shirts and liberally provided with red lights and Roman candles, followed in ranks of four.

The illuminating feature of the parade was the four transparencies, though hardly up to previous standards of artistic and humorous merit. The shortcomings of 1908 and the achievements of 1909 bore the illustrative burden, but the sophomore who labors while he slumbers, and other references, too personal for publication, were also prominent. On the return march, opposite the president's house, the transparencies were attacked by the sophomores, and disappeared after a good defense.

1909 CANE COMMITTEE

Fight Around the Bonfire

Aronnd the huge bonfire on the old campus the underclassmen formed two circles, the freshmen nearer the fire. At a given signal, the circles locked and the mud, snow and night-shirts mingled. At the conclusion of about half the usual time about twice the usnal number of night-shirts had refused to part company with their owners.

Initial Speech

After the lsst vestige of conflict had subsided Harold Adin Nomer '06, of Plsinfield, N. J., made the initial speech.

He began by extending the greetings of the college to all present. "The men of 1908 have always shown themselves men of nerve and spirit, I repeat it, men of nerve." In introducing the speakers, he said that the sophomores had always been good boasters, bnt (at the close of the freshman orator's speech) "if the sophomores are good boasters the freshmen are good exaggerators." He finished by introducing the sophomore orator.

Sophomore Orator

John Herman Fischer 1908, of Weeping Water, Neb., rose amid cheers from his classmates. His speech soared to heights of oratory to which abstracts can do no justice, and was long on the wing.

"A blight has fallen upon the college in the advent of 1909, which some day, we hope, will become worthy of the title of class. * * * The freshness of 1909 is monumental, their timorons spirit, unequal to the task of starting bonfires, well shown when they mistake a passing train for a band of sophomores. * * * * I would

THE VALUE OF DECISION

Sermon by Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, of Brooklyn

Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, pastor of Plymouth church, Brooklyn, preached the third sermon of the series which he gave in Berkshire county, Thursday afternoon at four o'clock in the chapel, before about 250 students and townspeople.

Dr. Hillis took as his text Christ's reply to the rich young ruler and its effect, as found in Mark 10: 17-23, and began by outlining the Bible story, laying emphasis on its conclusion: "And he was sad at that saying, and went away grieved; for he had great possessions."

The rich young ruler did not go away angry, he was merely grieved. He admitted, as so many of us do, that Christ was right, but still he was not willing to give up his all. He did not stand by his convictions. In the same way Daniel Webster, in reaching for the glitter of the presidential nomination against the advice of his friends, was the rich young ruler, as was Stephen A. Douglas in the Grand Pacific hotel in Chicago in 1859-60.

It took some time for the ruler to see that Christ was just and he intended to make his noble sacrifice—"on the morrow." He lacked decision, he procrastinated.

There is always this difference between two equally talented men; one postpones, the other rises up quickly, girds himself, and acts. "There are so many people who arrive at the station anywhere from fifteen minutes to six months after the train goes out." It was indecision, then, which destroyed this noble boy. More people are

LIT. ELECTIONS

Six New Members Chosen—Dutton '07 Re-elected Editor-in-Chief

At a meeting of the Literary Monthly board held Friday evening George Burwell Dutton 1907, of Buffalo, N. Y., was re-elected editor-in-chief, and Otis Chamberlain Morrill 1907, of Portland, Ore., elected business manager, for the coming year.

The following new members were elected to the board: William Mansfield Clark 1907, of Salisbury, Conn.; William Richmond Witherell 1907, of North Adams; Willard Ansley Gibson 1908, of Salamanca, N. Y.; Stanton Budington Leeds 1908, of New York city; Gerald Mygatt 1908, of New York city; and Bernard Westermann 1908, of Overbrook, Pa.

Mission Work in New York

Dr. A.F. Schauffler'67 spoke in reminiscent vein on his life-work in connection with the New York city mission, before the Y. M. C. A. in Jesup Hall last evening.

He opened by summarizing the grave problems which confront that city. Passing on to methods of mission work he remarked that the meetings never induced sleep such as he had witnessed in chapel services here.

His advice to college men was that those who have the desire and capacity for the ministry, take up that work when fitted for it. For the right man there are boundless opportunities anywhere for mission service and equally unlimited satisfaction in practical results.

VOL. 20 MARCH 19, 1906 No. 1.

The New Board

With this issue The Record passes into the hands of the 1906-1907 board. The activities of a college paper fall naturally under two heads, news and editorials, and there may possibly be some interest to know the purpose of the new board in each.

It must always be remembered, in the conduct of a college paper, that it serves two distinct bodies—alumni and students. When close to student activities, it is hard to give the alumni a proportional place. Again, with the increase of college activities, the problem of compression of news into the available space has become acute. To meet these two difficulties, after Easter the paper will be enlarged to ten pages instead of eight by the printing of four extra columns of news in an inserted sheet.

In securing news, there are three sources from which The Record should receive co operation; faculty, alumni and student body. It is useless, however, to request this without showing how it may be given. The proceedings of the administration, and the news of the faculty obviously cannot be reported by a student board of editors, but are at the same time of the greatest news value. During the past year certain departments of the college, particularly that of the dean and the director of music, have helped to remedy this defect. If sufficient news of this character, such as addresses given by members of the faculty, faculty publications, administrative decisions, etc., can be secured, they will be placed under the special head of Faculty News.

The second source is the alumni, and particularly the class secretaries. The third is the student body. A year's experience has shown the wisdom of eliminating from the calendar events not of interest to the entire college. Now The Record, as a semi-weekly, cannot hope to take the place of the daily blackboard bulletins, but at the same time should supplement them by affording that often-needed second reminder of such minor college events as rehearsals, practices, meetings of organizations, etc. No board of eleven men can hope to be in constant contact with the leaders of all branches of student activity any more than they can with alumni and faculty, consequently the paper must depend on other sources than itself for this information.

The editorials of an ordinary newspaper are expressions purely of personal opinion. The peculiar situation of a college paper makes it necessary, in addition, that its editorial department express the point of view of the majority of the student body, to explain their attitude to the faculty, the town, the alumni and the outside world. These two necessities are not incompatible. If the opinion of The Record and that of the majority of the student body clash, it is certainly possible to express the trend of opinion of the majority of the college, and give the board's personal opinion as well.

In carrying this out, The Record will try to avoid two pitfalls, hasty, careless criticism, and unfairness. Because of the first pitfall the old "Stroller" was abolished; it gave too tempting a chance for veiled "knocking." The Record will try to present as fairly as possible both sides of every controversy, in deciding between them. Only by so doing can it make the opinions of the majority of the student body carry any weight. However, as a person who makes up his mind for one side cannot be absolutely impartial, the value of communications from the other side can be seen at once. Such communications are welcomed. In this connection it is to be hoped that faculty communications may be more frequent, if for nothing else, to further the present harmony between student body and faculty by a clear statement of faculty position.

We wish to compliment the board which has just retired for what it has done for The Record. While to the board of two years ago the college owes that a semi-weekly was made possible, to the board of 1905-1906 is owed the newspaper energy and system introduced into the news department, and an editorial department characterized by moderation and sound sense. To carry out this efficiency in securing news and conservatism in editorials will be the aim of the present board.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

Editor of the Record,
Sir:—

It is quite fitting that those concerned with a college should be warmly interested in anything which pertains to its prosperity. The question in reference to college taxation now before the legislature by the action of college towns, is one not easily grasped in its full breadth. It suggests at once many opinions while but few of them reach the principles involved.

One may be strongly in favor of taking collegiate education under the guidance of the State, and still find little to be commended in the aid rendered by Massachusetts to her colleges. She has exempted them from taxation, but has laid the burdens of the exemption not on the state but on the towns which entertain the colleges. As far as Williams College is concerned, a decision was reached in the courts a few years ago which narrowed the exemption, subjecting dwellings owned by the college to the same liabilities as other forms of property.

The towns interested are now asking for a law which shall confirm and extend this exemption to this degree: "No real property, owned and occupied by any educational, literary or scientific institution, which is used or appropriated, wholly or in part, for residential, commercial or mercantile purposes or for dormitories, boarding houses, or for the dispensing of food or meals, shall be exempt from taxation."

This bill, if passed, would settle, at least, for the present, the relation of college property to town interests. The primary possessions of the college would still remain exempt from town burdens, but the accessory enterprises on which the colleges, from time to time, are wont to enter, would come under the ordinary obligations of other forms of property.

This adjustment is hastily objected to because the colleges are educational in their purpose and look exclusively to the general welfare. To this, the towns reply: A college is intended to serve and does serve, a large territory. The town where it is situated is only a small portion of that territory, and has no other rights and privileges than those which belong to every part of it. It is beyond the strength of the town to have any considerable portion of its resources removed from taxation. If this is desirable, it is the office of the state to accept and perform this duty.

It is further objected that a college brings to a town many social and intellectual advantages, and that these constitute a compensation for exemption. The response comes that these gains, whatever they are, are not to be bought or sold, that it is, at least, as blessed to give as to receive, and this intercourse must be allowed to rise to and to rest on its own plane. When one asks for a reward for the beneficence of his presence, a doubt is raised as to that beneficence. Men rarely take anything from others without finding a good reason for it in the profiting of those thus robbed. In slavery times, slavery was justified by the fact that the benighted negro was brought from the dark continent into a Christian country. A portion of those same people would now fling the negro, neck and heels, back into Africa from the same Christian land, if they could.

"But much money is brought into town by faculty and students." When you paid for your dinner, did you ever have a quarter returned to you, because it was so good of you to buy it? If this idea were fully carried out, every first settler or group of settlers would be put under tribute to every succeeding settler or group of settlers for keeping them company. The natural conditions of commerce know no such rule. Reciprocity, absolute and complete, is the law of trade. All that town and college off this basis equality, entangles their relations. The towns have been so long subdued by this sense of receiving, that they no longer ask for equality, but only that the scales may not be made, more and more, to settle against them.

If Prof. Nelson had been present at the hearing, which was lengthy and constantly assuming new phases, he would hardly have found any one of his criticisms applicable. As, however, the report was brief and disjointed, it is not strange that he should have mistaken the tone of the remarks made, and their bearing. It is well, however, to remember that if one makes haste to get in, he incurs the liability of running against the doorpost.

JOHN BASCOM.

Editor of The Record:—Permit me to express an admiration for the manner in which the administration just retiring from office has directed the policy of The Williams Record. Following the able editor of last year, the chairman from 1906 has rendered the news department of the paper unusually efficient, and editorially has done much to lead and stimulate a wise college spirit. This service to Williams is a great one, and for it the retiring editor-in-chief deserves the thorough appreciation of the college.

Yours truly,

have you carry away with you as a precious gem in the casket of memory the fact that we, the class of 1908, are the first class in the entire history of the college that has ever won the sweater rush." He concluded by dilating upon other 1908 exploits and victories.

At the conclusion of his speech, Nomer introduced the freshman speaker, Kenneth Jenkins Howe, of Mount Vernon, N. Y. "1909 will not bear the name of class because 1908 has already disgraced that name." The victories of the freshmen in the rushes, the thrilling description of the sophomore battery work in the interclass game, 1909's never-equalled-in-six-years track victory, and the subsequent rushes when "the sophomores found that the Spring street mud was dirty," were told amid yells, appreciative and otherwise.

He bewailed the "lack of an appropriate liquid in which to drink to the class that has always been beaten, has been beaten tonight and always will be beaten—1908! 'To the victors belong the spoils,' but the victors, 1909, don't want 1908 because they are too much spoiled."

The Hatchet Buried

Alfred Miller Botsford '06 closed the program with the hatchet oration, given in a particularly happy vein. His speech began with a number of pat jokes and easily carried off the honors of the evening. He said in part:

Ladies and gentlemen, for I will call you gentlemen in spite of the Boston Transcript—the hostilities (laughter) are over and we come to burn the hatchet. I want to compliment the sophomores on the noble way in which they allowed their irrepressible Lilliputian to escape, borne aloft on the shoulders of his faithful Swain. I am surprised the sophomores couldn't find the canes; the winner of the Dempsey cup, that taxidermist who is always stuffing people, told the fellows where they were. The wily German knew where both the real and the fake box were, only he was in a quandary as to which was which. The other morning he saw that he had to either shave hurriedly or cut chapel. He didn't know whether to cut and shave or shave and cut. I am sorry the audience tonight is so cold. But what if it is zero; zero is nothing. As Judge Tenney said to the student law-breakers, it's a fine day. Closing in serious vein, he urged the two lower classes to put aside class rivalry and all be members of Williams college. "As I throw this hatchet into the fire and the metal melts and fuses into one lump, so may your petty differences also melt away and may you fuse into the body of Williams men."

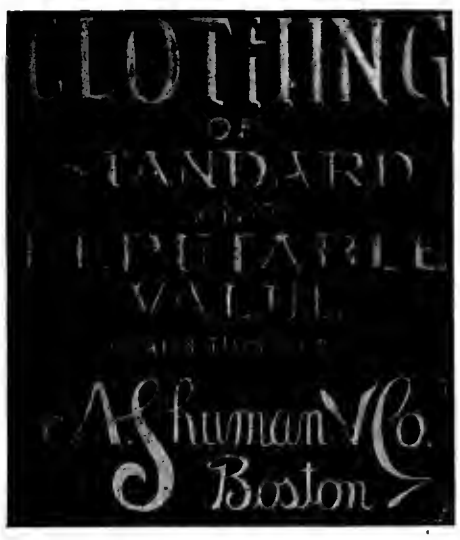
THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.



Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

swayed today by indecision than by any other forces. Today there are too many devotees at the shrine in the temple of "Tomorrow," on the street "By and by," in the city called "Never."

"Is our age losing its power to do heroic things?" Great jurists now spend months of labor trying to dodge the laws. Politicians get rid of strong opponents by bribery. Not many rich men are philanthropists. The few men that are not snared by these corrupting influences should be considered great. Wendell Phillips was such a man. He did not act as the young ruler did. Rich in the strength of a noble purpose, he stood for his convictions and his ideals.

We must not betray our great missions. Every time a man resists temptation or firmly renounces a sin he is taking a step toward greatness. "God's hopes are all centered on the occasional rich young ruler with power to rise up, forsake all, and follow Jesus Christ."

THE BASEBALL TEAM

Next Cut at Easter—Coach Dowd on the Material

The early beginning of baseball practice, combined with the facilities afforded by the new cage, has brought the work of the squad well along at present. The next cut in the squad will probably be taken directly before the Easter recess when twenty-two or twenty-three men will be retained.

The baseball cage has been divided by a long net down the center, providing for practice by two squads at the same time. The cage is not wide enough for an infield, but is long enough to practice the throw from catcher to second, and from short to the plate. Other nets protect the side-walls and skylights.

Coach Dowd left town Saturday after a stay of a week. He will return April 9, and will remain here the rest of the season. When seen Saturday, he expressed himself as very much pleased with the better opportunity for practice given by the cage. With reference to the material in the squad he said:

"The material which has appeared so far doesn't seem to me anything more that ordinary, although they are doing well for the time of year. The boys need lots of work, and lots of teaching, before they will make a team. The thing I am going to try to teach them first is speed. They mustn't be so clumsy, and must move around faster and more like ball-players. I haven't seen enough of the boys to judge them as individuals, but the best man of the new material today is Young. The team must have some good 'stickers'. The things that most emphasis ought to be laid on in the cage are batting and base-running."

THE TEAM

SUCCESSFUL SEASON

1906 Basketball Team Second only to Dartmouth—14 Games Won

The 1906 basketball five concluded a successful season with fourteen victories and one tie game to its credit out of the eighteen games played. But one college team defeated Williams. In comparison with last year's championship five, the present team played better basketball at the beginning of the season, although never reaching such a degree of ability as seen in the Minnesota game last year, and only in the last two weeks did the play fall below championship quality. The defeat of this season's intercollegiate league champions and the victories over Syracuse and Colgate, place the Purple second only to Dartmouth in the college basketball ranking.

After rolling up the largest score of the season against Worcester Polytechnic in the first game, the Pennsylvania team, which later won the intercollegiate championship, though at one time 6 points ahead, were finally passed in one of the best contests of the year. A large score was made against M. I. T. On the western trip occurred the Syracuse game, which ended with Williams' withdrawal from the floor with the score 17 to 17, and on the following night an easy win from Rochester. Victories over Tufts and Williston followed, although the latter five, by their close guarding, left the contest in doubt until the last few minutes of play. Wesleyan was beaten in Middletown, and the Fitchburg Y. M. C. A. met a like fate after a close first half.

VOL. 20 MARCH 22, 1906 No. 2.

The Basketball Season

Few Williams teams ever started a season with better prospects than the 1906 basketball five. Four players remained of the team which had won a national championship, three of which had played together for three years, and all for two. Disappointment in the new material at the start was balanced by the development of a previously untried player to the same standard as the four experienced men. The season marked the passing of the veterans of 1906, the class to which Williams basketball owes more than to any other save 1903.

In the hard games of the last two weeks of play, the team failed to fulfill the hopes aroused by its excellent work in the preceding two months. The reason for this falling off seems to have been that the team was overtrained, and for this poor condition that the season was too long. There is no branch of athletics in which endurance is more necessary for victory than basketball. A team relying on speed, like Williams, is more affected by poor condition then a team relying on weight and guarding ability, like Dartmouth. Further, the number of weeks over which a schedule is extended makes more difference than the number of games in those weeks. In making out the schedule for next year, the management would do well to keep this in mind and compress the games into smaller compass.

The outlook for next season, as poor as that for this was good, should also be considered. One brilliant player cannot make a team. Williams can hardly hope to develop four men from the players in college, but must rely on new material. However, even if the best of new material should be secured, a championship team can not be expected from men playing together for the first year. That the 1906 team had played long together was one reason for its strength. Next year's schedule should not be made too difficult for the team's ability.

Dartmouth's claim to the championship of the East has already been discussed in these columns. Of the remaining teams, of those in the intercollegiate league U. of P. alone is in the class with Syracuse, Colgate, Williams and Wesleyan. Wesleyan twice lost to Williams, U. of P., Colgate and Syracuse once. Further, Syracuse's claims are lessened by a defeat by U. of P., and Colgate's by a defeat by Syracuse. Comparative scores, then, would place Williams above all other eastern colleges but Dartmouth.

Although the defeats at the hands of Dartmouth were disappointing, one need only ask himself how many Williams athletic teams have held second rank among the colleges of the east, to see that the basketball season of 1905-1906 has been well above Williams' athletic standard. Many of us have, perhaps, hitched our basketball wagon to too bright a star. We have let ourselves be dazzled into expecting too much. It is a safe statement that ten years hence the 1906 five will be ranked among Williams' best basketball teams.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

To the Editor of The Record:—

I ask for a small part of your space for a response to Doctor Bascom's communication in your issue of the 19th March.

I expressly stated in my article to which Doctor Bascom alludes that I had then no intention of arguing the merits of the measure before the legislature. I simply desired to correct some misstatements of fact which Doctor Bascom was reported, in the North Adams Transcript, to have made. These misstatements, it seemed to me, as it seemed to the President of the college, and to all the members of the faculty with whom I have conversed, and to some trustees from whom I have heard, were calculated to do injury to the college. Doctor Bascom upbraids me for rushing hastily into the controversy. I at least had and took the necessary time to find from the treasurer's office that his statements of so-called facts were not true; Doctor Bascom did not have, or did not take, the time to find the truth before he made his argument before the committee on taxation.

Now that I have had more time, and have read Doctor Bascom's two letters, I have nothing to withdraw. Whatever may be Doctor Bascom's theory, or theories, as to the taxation of college property, he made the speech in controversy in behalf of a bill permitting the towns in which colleges are situated to tax their dormitories. He sustained his arguments by certain statements which I have shown to be untrue. Doctor Bascom was not as well informed as he might have been if he had made the inquiry which I, in my haste, did not forget to make.

It is only necessary to add that Doctor Bascom has not replied to my assertion that his facts were incorrect; on the contrary he admits impliedly in his communication to The Record the truth of my assertions. And yet there has been no such withdrawal of the false statements as I have expected. It is sincerely to be hoped that the friends of the measure are unwilling to take advantage of misrepresentations, which may have been made in ignorance, but which were intended for the support of a measure which, if it become a law, will impair the usefulness of colleges, or make education more expensive to students, a measure, therefore, which is an assault upon education.

Mr. Leland Powers Tonight

Mr. Leland Powers, impersonator, of Boston, well known to Williams men as one of the most successful of those who appear each year in the Thompson course, will present tonight in the last entertainment of the season a dramatization of Charles Dickens' "Bleak House" in which he will assume ten different character roles. Although this has been characterized as Dickens' most loosely constructed novel, yet it is also the most theatrical, and hence offers the largest opportunity of any of his novels for dramatic impersonations.

Lecture by Prof. Wilson Tomorrow

Through the liberality of a member of the class of 1882, Prof. Edmund B. Wilson, of Columbia, has been secured to lecture on "The Key to the Mechanism of Heredity" in the Biological Laboratory tomorrow evening at 8.00 o'clock. The lecture is open to townspeople as well as students and faculty.

Prof. Wilson is an authority on heredity, his book "The Cell in Development and Inheritance" being the standard work in this subject. While Prof. Clarke was on leave of absence in Naples in 1884, his courses in Williams were given by Prof. Wilson, whose portrait hangs in the library on the second floor of the Biological Laboratory.

Successful Season

The development of the team reached its highest point in the middle of February when Yale, Brown, Colgate and Syracuse were successively defeated. The Purple won from the Blue at Springfield in a very poor game; the Colgate contest, though faster and closer, was notable for the large number of fouls called on both teams. The twelfth victory was won from Syracuse in probably the fastest home game of the year.

In the concluding games of the season the work of the team was erratic. The first defeat on the home floor in two years was inflicted by Dartmouth, in the last 10 seconds of play. With the team in form again, a very clean game was won from Hamilton, and the strong Washington Continentals defeated Williams by but eight points. Dartmouth decisively disposed of Williams' championship hopes by winning a rough, poorly officialled game 26 to 7 at Hanover, and, in another poor contest, the team brought the season to a close on March 10 by winning from Wesleyan.

INDIVIDUAL CRITICISM

Captain Cowell is absolutely unequalled at handling the ball and breaking away for shots, but is a poor basket-shooter, especially from easy chances. He has been the pivot around which the play of the team centered during the past season, and, always excepting Vose 1903, is Williams' most brilliant basketball player.

Blaisdell has played a consistent, effectual blocking game, often against the best men on the opposing five, and is an accurate shot in a pinch. Although playing at back guard throughout the season, he has played a fair passing game. His worst fault is an unintentional tendency toward roughness.

Gardner plays an unusually good guarding game for a forward, and for three years has had the fewest number of goals scored on him. Usually an accurate passer and a sure shot, his work toward the end of the season fell off, and he missed many easy chances.

Neild takes many long sensational shots with surprising success, is a good passer, but the poorest guarder of the regular five. His work from the foul line, especially steady and accurate in critical moments, has won Williams many games.

Captain-elect Tower is unexcelled at guarding. Though often against bigger men than himself, he allows his opponents few shots, and seems tireless. Though the poorest shot on the team, playing at center this year he has outscored his opponents more than three to one.

CAPTAIN COWELL

THE TEAM

EUGENE IRVING COWELL 1906, of Ashburnham, captain of the 1904 and 1906 basketball teams, prepared for college at Cushing academy, where he played two years on the school team. Cowell has played on the Williams five for four years, the first year at left guard and the remaining years at right guard. Of the 80 basketball games played by Williams since he entered college, he has taken part in all but six, four of which were at the beginning of Freshman year, and in the last two years has been out of the game but one minute of playing time. Age, 20 years, 10 months; height, 5 feet, 11½ inches; weight, 169 pounds.

WARREN HEZEKIAH BLAISDELL, JR., 1906, of Chelmsford Center, Mass., prepared at the Chelmsford High school. During his sophomore, junior and senior years he played a good game at right guard on his class team, and this year made left guard on the 'varsity. Age, 21 years, 3 months; height, 5 feet, 11 inches; weight, 168 pounds.

DANIEL FRANCIS GARDNER 1906, of Pownal, Vt., prepared for Williams at Vermont academy at Saxton River, where he was on the team for two years. During freshman year he took part in three games, and has played left forward the other three years of his course, playing in all but two games. Age, 22 years, 3 months; height, 5 feet, 11 inches; weight, 156 pounds.

FRANK ROLLINSON NEILD 1906, of Holyoke, Mass., played on the Williston seminary team for four years, and was twice cap-

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

President Hopkins on Taxation

President Hopkins spoke on Tuesday before the legislative committee on taxation in Boston, on the bill regarding the taxation of college property.

He spoke from the standpoint of a citizen, and said that the prosperity of the town depended on the prosperity of the college, which depended on gifts from men outside the state. Taxation would have the effect of taxing those gifts. Nothing has been exempted from taxation since the president's house, while taxes have been paid on professors' houses when, according to a supreme court decision, it was unnecessary. This has caused a good understanding between college and town.

Dr. C. F. Goss to Speak

Rev. Charles Frederick Goss, D. D., pastor of the Avondale Presbyterian church of Cincinnati, O., will preach at the morning chapel service next Sunday and will address the Y. M. C. A. in the evening. Dr. Goss graduated from Hamilton in the class of '73 and later took his doctor's degree at Auburn Theological seminary. He contributes extensively to both religious and secular periodicals, and is the author of the religious novel, "The Redemption of David Corson."

PRESIDENTS TO MEET

Conference of Y. M. C. A. Leaders April 5-8—Topics of Discussion

In response to an invitation extended some time ago, it has been decided that the annual conference of newly elected student Y. M. C. A. presidents will be held in Williamstown, beginning Thursday evening, April 5th, and continuing through the following Sunday, April 8. Delegates from New England, New York, New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware have been invited, including, besides the student presidents, general secretaries of associations, secretaries of city student movements, and state secretaries.

The sessions, which will be held in Jesup Hall, will be addressed by former association presidents and by secretaries related to the general student movement. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the duties, responsibilities and methods of work of the men who lead college associations, to make clear their relation as presidents to all branches of activity of such organizations, and to promote co-operation among those who are to lead the work in eastern colleges.

Among the topics discussed will be: "The Controlling Purpose of the Student Association," "The Association President; his Preparation and his Work," "The Co-operation of the Faculty in the Work of the Association," "The Place of Religious Meetings in the Association," "The Enlistment of Freshmen," "The Promotion of Bible Study among Students," "How Make the Nashville Convention Effective in our Colleges," "The Relation of Students to World-Wide Evangelization," "The World-Wide Student Movement."

BLEAK HOUSE

Finished Presentation by Leland Powers of Scenes from Dickens

Leland Powers renewed his already strong hold on Williams men Tuesday evening in Jesup Hall, when he gave his arrangement of a portion of Dickens' "Bleak House," the entertainment being the last of the Thompson course for the year. Mr. Powers' popularity was shown by the hearty applause which greeted him as he stepped on the stage, his effect on the large audience by the tense silence during the many tragic scenes. His choice of a selection was most happy, giving as it did a wide range for impersonation. It hardly seemed possible that Dickens would "stage" so well.

Mr. Powers impersonated ten characters, of whom perhaps Mr. Tulkinghorn, Hortense and Mr. Guppy were the best. It is rather difficult to use anything but superlatives in speaking of Mr. Powers' art. His knowledge of life is abundant and his humor and pathos ring true. He never permits caricature, and in his most dramatic scenes, conveys enough sense of repressed power to keep him from being melodramatic.

The arrangement from the novel was divided into four parts, the strong scene between Mr. Tulkinghorn and Hortense, and the climax at the end of the first part receiving the heartiest applause.

Sir Leicester Dedlock, the proud, loyal baronet; Lady Dedlock, a complex character whose noble spirit is torn as others come to know her secret—both these were represented with true appreciation. Inspector Bucket, Rosa, and Mrs. Rouncewell, though unimportant personages, were clearly differentiated. Esther Summerson alone seemed somewhat colorless, and this was a true reflection of the character in the novel.

Jo, the London crossing-sweeper, who leads the disguised Lady Dedlock to her first husband's grave, kept the whole audience in laughter, as did also the fawning, conceited Cockney lawyer Guppy, who tells every thing "in strict confidence". The coarse, sly, loud-mouthed Frenchwoman Hortense, who in the end takes revenge for her "ill-treatment" at the hands of Mr. Tulkinghorn by murdering him, was far removed from the quiet, laconic, dignified attorney of the Dedlocks.

It is far more difficult to impersonate adequately such a character as Tulkinghorn than characters with pronounced peculiarities, as Guppy and the French maid, and that Mr. Powers was at his best in impersoneting the old lawyer is high measure of his art.

REVIEW OF LIT.

Dr. Wetmore Comments on March Number of the Monthly

The most important contribution to the Literary Monthly for this month is the essay by Shepard Ashman Morgan, entitled "The Greater Fraternity." It is a very thoughtful piece of work and deserves an equally thoughtful reading on the part of every Williams man. A satisfactory review of this essay alone would more than fill the space allowed in The Record for this review. Suffice it to say here that Mr. Morgan describes some of the evils of the fraternity system as worked out in other colleges, and he calls our attention to some dangers that Williams must avoid.

The essay clearly shows, a fact recognized by everyone, that the fraternity system at Williams is on a safe foundation and is not likely to be endangered by any of the evils mentioned. "Williams must always stand first, then may come the fraternities." Such is, I believe, the determination of every fraternity man in Williams College.

Bernard Westermann's two poems show much delicacy of feeling and poetic thought. One enjoys the melody of "Euryale" from the opening verses

"Stone upon stone, the towers stand Back from the sea and the golden sand."

to the end.

In his second poem, "Liebestraum," which is particularly fine in its conception and style, the author touches a chord in every heart. Our attention is attracted by the first lines

"Longing is born in the dreamland,
Whither we flee away
Out of the striving present,
Out of the lime-light of day."

No one can fail to enjoy the entire thirty verses.

The poem by Stanton Budington Leeds, entitled "Till Thou Return," is most charming. It is full of sentiment and its rhythm carries us along, enchanted, to the close of the last verse. Mr. Leeds also has has a very pretty little stanza on "The Wind of Evening" in the department of the magazine called Suggestions.

The number opens with Graham Ryle's story of the Far North, "Extreme Occasion." One who takes delight in the stories of Jules of the Great Heart will read this story with interest. It is

LECTURE ON HEREDITY

Dr. E. B. Wilson of Columbia Discusses Its Scientific Position

Through the generosity of Ira J. Geer '82, of Chicago, a lecture was delivered by Dr. E. B. Wilson of Columbia, on the subject "The Key to the Mechanism of Heredity" in the Biological Laboratory Friday evening. His discussion was upon some of the more recently discovered phenomena of biology. The principle of heredity is one of the most important factors in human welfare and progress. Dr. Wilson defined heredity as the native characteristics which are implanted in us from birth; hereditary characteristics, however, are to be distinguished from those which are developed through training, such as the use of the vocal organs or of the limbs.

A hereditary constitution consists of individual units which behave as such, and which may be called hereditary units. Dr. Wilson discussed three phases of the main topic, the presence of unit characters, the fact that these unit characters sometimes cease activity only to appear in future generations, and the fact that when two characters are combined, one often dominates, while the other remains recessive.

The presence of latent characteristics was illustrated by charts showing the results of the cross-fertilization of certain plants; experiments with hybrid guinea pigs were explained with the use of lantern-slides. Taken collectively, such experiments show that inheritance is not the vague process heretofore supposed, but that there is a fixed law of heredity. Experiment has sought to find the proof of hereditary unit character in investigating the number of "chromosomes" in each nucleus or cell, and it has been found that there are equal numbers of these bodies from each parent in a cell, after fertilization. Hereditary characteristics are supposed to proceed individually from the various "chromosomes" of a cell.

In general Dr. Wilson showed the manner in which the subject was treated by scientists of today, with the broad results they have arrived at. In conclusion he predicted that within the next twenty years a much clearer insight will probably be obtained into this naturally complex branch of biology.

VOL. 20 MARCH 26, 1906 No. 3

Freshmen in Athletics

Athletic eligibility has been a burning question since last fall. The football rules committee which met in New York in December authorized a sub-committee to draw up eligibility rules for the entire country, and these rules will be presented within a week. Recently, on March 8 Brown excluded from athletics "all students in their first year of residence." On Wednesday last a faculty ruling was announced at Amherst prohibiting freshmen "from representing Amherst college on 'varsity athletic teams after this year." On Saturday, coach Reid of Harvard held a conference with the Dartmouth authorities on this point, and the subject is now under consideration at Wesleyan. Clearly the question of freshmen in athletics must come before this college as well.

The colleges which have made this radical step have done so, according to their statements, for two main reasons, to stop commercialism and to raise standards of scholarship. Any rule that can check the scouring of preparatory schools for athletes will be welcomed, but this rule cannot do all predicted for it along this line. It will have no effect on far the largest class of athletes, men who come to college primarily for a college education.

There is, however, a very small class of college men who have little hopes of graduation, but can make an athletic name for themselves. Such men could not say "I will just pass the entrance exams. and slide through as long as I can." Forced to spend a year out of athletics, they would not be interested in coming to college. These are the men who are the easiest bait for athletic "proselyters."

The testimony of the West, where a six-months eligibility rule is in effect among the "big nine", would not even support the rule on this point. Experience seems to have shown that the athlete will take his disqualification medicine and then, by staying five years, take part in intercollegiate athletics the full time allowed. It is not probable that the East, with different athletic standards, would go to such lengths as this, but the rule should be coupled with one limiting representation to three years to make its effect certain.

The new rule must stand or fall on the question of scholarship. The case of those opposing it is not weak. They claim that habits of study are largely formed in the preparatory school before coming to college, and the amount of time spent on curriculum work varies very little with the amount of outside work, except in extreme cases.

This view does not seem to give enough place to the formative influence of the college. Freshman year is for many a year of adjustment, and therefore dangerous. It is easy to feel that the only way to rise above one's fellows is to become an athletic hero, at the expense of the curriculum, if necessary. This temptation is strongest at freshman year, just at the time when the demands of the curriculum are greatest, and the first impressions are made upon the faculty. The combination has kept many good men from continuing in athletics, and continuing in college. After a certain limit has been reached, the more athletics, the less study.

Viewed from the stand-point of athletics alone, the rule will hurt the small college more than the large because of the scantier material, will help it more because it will help do away with the large college evil of "proselyting." It will be noticed that all the athletic evils it affects are at a minimum in the small college, and particularly in Williams. The benefit the rule affords to scholarship outweighs the objections brought against it.

The question cannot be decided for the Purple on its merits alone, if the other colleges which are rivals of Williams abolish freshmen from intercollegiate athletics. Not to follow this lead would be to invite here the undesirable element in athletics that in the past has gone elsewhere. Williams' eligibility rules must continue to be kept as strict as those of its opponents. In case of adoption of the rule by Wesleyan and Dartmouth, the athletic ideals of the college would demand a similar adoption here. A step which Williams might not need to take for its own interests would be forced upon it as one of the body of New England small colleges.

Editor of The Record,

Sir:—In regard to the late discussion that has arisen in the college concerning the abolishing of hazing, I should like to say a word. It is not in criticism of the stand taken, but the manner in which it was arrived at. It seems absolutely ridiculous that a body of men of the caliber that Williams students are should vote for a motion one day and the next against it; an outsider might think Williams was a girls' college. It is better indeed to admit you are in the wrong and to change, than to persist in the wrong course after your eyes are opened, but it is best to take plenty of time before coming to a final decision as you are more likely to be in the right.

My suggestion is that in deciding any question that involves the policy of the college as much as the one under discussion, the student body should be addressed by a member of the faculty before and not after the vote is taken, and shown just what stand they take and their reasons for it. Under such circumstances the decision arrived at would be satisfactory to both faculty and student body and a second meeting would be unnecessary.

Medal from St. Louis Exhibition

The library has received from the board of judges of the Louisinna Purchase exposition at St. Louis in 1904 a bronze, shield-shaped medal, for deposit with the other exposition medals in the Library. The obverse bears a representation of Louisinna, as a female figure, putting off the cloak of France and receiving a drapery of the American flag from the hands of Columbia. The reverse bears an American eagle. The medal was struck off at the Philadelphia mint.

Review of Lit.

forceful in expression and well told, though one might wish that the author had made a little greater effort to handle the dialect, or else had omitted it entirely. It is also hard to believe that a man of ordinary intelligence would give a revolver to a man clearly half insane and then lie calmly down to sleep not far away.

The longest story of the month is "Monsieur le Concierge, Detective," by Alfred Phineas Hanchett, Jr. It is altogether a pleasing tale and one that will hold the reader's interest throughout. The conclusion is a complete surprise and is most effective.

"The Gods Decide," a story by Gerald Mygatt, is cleverly written and no reader could put it aside unfinished after once beginning it. Doubtless this is the most dramatic story of the month. In some respects it reminds us of Weir Mitchell's "Autobiography of a Thief." No one can admire the ethics of the "hero" in either story, and both stories are unpleasant, like so many others of the present day.

The dialect piece, "Over the Hills," under the head of Suggestions, is amusing, though the dialect itself is faulty in many places. The scene is clearly New England, but the author is not a Connecticut Yankee at any rate. The reviewer wonders that, towards the end of the journey, the old man did not lean over and exclaim: "Say mister, if the world is as big the other way from my house as it is this, it must be a whacker!"

The departments are equally good. Mr. Lowe's short article on Kellogg Hall must bring up pleasant memories to many a Williams alumnus. The editor of "Sanctum" gives deserved praise to our Honor System, and such student loyalty to Williams as shown after President Hopkins' convincing speech of March 6. Mr. Morgan's timely article in "Chat" should be read by every undergraduate and particularly by every freshman. The editor of the "Sign of the Shears" has a bone to pick with an illogical writer in the Yale Lit. Surely this department, as conducted by the Williams Literary Monthly is interesting and notable.

ALUMNI NEWS

'44—Hon. Marshall Wilcox, the oldest practicing lawyer in Massachusetts, celebrated his 85th birthday on March 19. Mr. Wilcox has practiced law since his admission to the bar in 1847.

'81—Bliss Perry, L. H. D., has been offered an appointment to the faculty of Harvard university as professor of English literature. Even if he accepts, he will not leave the editorship of the Atlantic Monthly, and will not take up academic work until March 1, 1907. The only previous incumbents of the professorship to be held by Dr. Perry have been George Ticknor, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, and James Russell Lowell.

Ex-'88—The wedding of Mrs. Susan Andrews Field, widow of Cyrus W. Field, Jr., and Franklin Wells Graves, took place on February 22, in the Reformed church at Greenville, Westchester county, New York. Mr. Graves was a member of the class of 1888 at Williams, and after leaving college was for a number of years a financial writer in New York city. He recently became a member of the New York Stock Exchange, and is heavily interested in Mexican mining properties.

OBITUARIES

Ex-'52—Colonel William Fessenden Allen died at his home in Honolulu, Hawaii, on February 5, aged seventy-three. Colonel Allen was born in Brattleboro, Vt., in 1832, the son of Elijah H. Allen. He attended Williams for two years in the class of 1852. When his father was appointed United States minister to the Sandwich Islands, Mr. Allen accompanied him, and has lived in the islands since. Col. Allen was a leader in philanthropy on the island, and served as collector of the port of Honolulu for many years. He was at one time a member of the staff of King Kalakaua.

'94—Eugene Richard White, one of the most brilliant newspaper writers in western New York died of appendicitis in the Sisters' Hospital, at Niagara Falls, N. Y., Friday, aged thirty-four years. Mr. White was born at Buffalo, July 19, 1872, prepared at Burr and Burton seminary, Vermont, and graduated from Williams in 1894. While in college he was assistant editor-in-chief of the Weekly, an editor of the Lit., chairman of the Gul., and wrote a Williams play, "The Courting of the Colonel," a burlesque on the founder of the college. After graduation he was reporter successively for the Buffalo Express, Buffalo News, and the Buffalo Enquirer. In 1899 he became editor of the Niagara Falls Daily Gazette, and at the time of his death was both editor and chief owner. He wrote much for Scribner's, Harper's and the Atlantic; and published a book of verses, "Songs of Good Fighting," which has received wide commendation.

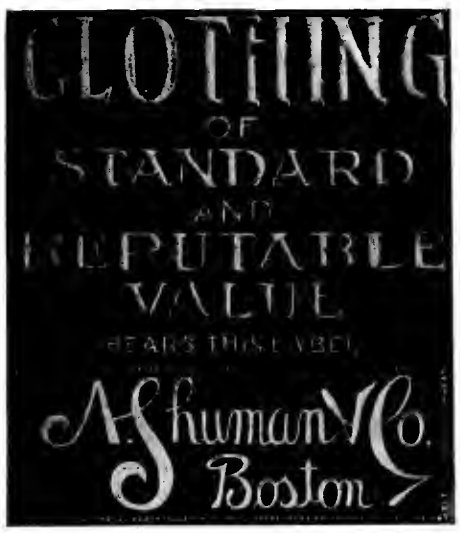
THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.



Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

North Adams, Mass.

Address by Dr. Goss

Dr. Chas. F. Goss, who preached in chapel Sunday morning, spoke before the Y. M. C. A. in Jesup Hall last evening. He defined progress as "conquest of the bad by the good, of the good by the better, and of the better by the best". In the material world it is especially true that men who have had superior advantages seldom choose voluntarily the inferior, for which they feel a natural revulsion. It is the tragedy of life that this law does not operate so universally when applied to morals.

Reversion, atavism, and degeneration are moral tendencies with which everyone must reckon. However, redemption need not be despised of by the man who, like Paul, will so devote himself to high ideals that former temptations become distasteful. Deep-rooted depravity can easily be checked by mere determination to reform: "spiritual displacement" by those principles embodied in Christ's life is what will give the largest possible incentive to noble living.

Insurance and Advertising

The college library has recently received two books on modern business methods of more than ordinary interest. "The Life Insurance Company," by William Alexander, one of the Equitable Life Alexanders, and "Modern Advertising," by E. E. Calkins and Ralph Holden. Mr. Alexander pleads for serious consideration of his subject, beginning in these words: "Charles Lamb, while at the East India House, is said to have written on the fly-leaf of one of his ledgers, 'This book is full of interest.' And many people would also regard as a jest a similar inscription in a book on life insurance."

"Modern Advertising," to any one intending to enter business, is particularly valuable, treating of the history of advertising, with numerous illustration of type styles and forceful advertising "copy". The difference between the crude cuts used in the clothing business as late as 1890 and the artistic modern wash-drawings of Mr. J. C. Leydendecker, is especially noticeable.

Curtiss '06 General Secretary

William Hanford Curtiss 1906, of Olean, N.Y., has been appointed general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. for the ensuing year. The committee of appointments, elected last June by the alumni, is composed of D. Chauncey Brewer '86 of Boston, Rev. Adolphus F. Schauffler, D. D., '67 of New York city, and Prof. Henry Loomis Nelson '67.

Ex-'08—W. H. Holmes is in the sophomore class at the University of Missouri.

NEW LEAGUE PROPOSED

Debates with Amherst and Wesleyan Voted by Adelphic Union

The Adelphic Union decided last night to accept provisionally Amherst's offer for a tricollegiate debating league for next year. Mr. W. H. Webster, for Amherst, proposed a dual debating league with Williams early last October to take the place of a similar league between Amherst and Bowdoin. The Adelphic Union suggested that a triangular league be formed, with Wesleyan for the third college and a conference was held between Mr. Webster and officers of the Adelphic Union early this month.

At the meeting of the Union last evening letters were read from Mr. Webster and from Mr. J. M. O'Neill of Dartmouth. Amherst desired to complete arrangements for a triangular league next year, and Dartmouth to renew this years' relations with Williams. After considerable discussion the following motion was carried: Resolved; that the president of the Adelphic Union be authorized to complete negotiations with Amherst and Wesleyan for a triangular debating league for 1906—1907.

A motion to permit men who have been on a previous 'varsity team to enter the second preliminaries without having gone through the first trials was carried. Case '07 was elected as the Williams delegate to the proposed Brown-Dartmouth-Williams debating conference. A motion that in next year's final trials, the candidates should be told which side of the question they were to defend, but that the elimination trials be otherwise the same as those this season, was carried.

After the Adelphic Union adjourned, both Philotechnian and Philologian elected quarterly officers, as follows: Philotechnian, president, McGown '06; vice-president, Hulst '06; secretary, Wheeler '07; critic, Stanley '07. Philologian, president, Scholle '06; vice-president, Matthews '07; secretary, Byard '08.

Election of Gul. Board

A 1908 class meeting will be held in Jesup Hall tonight at 7.30, to elect the Gul. board of five regular editors and two art editors for next year.

Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, pastor of Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, who preached in the chapel a week ago Thursday, will occupy the college pulpit Sunday, May 20th, as provisionally announced some time ago.

LEHMAN CUP FINALS

Horrax '09 Wins Trophy—A. Brown '07 Second

Gilbert Horrax 1909, of Montclair, N. J., won the seventh Lehman cup contest as a result of the concluding events, held yesterday afternoon on the board track. Horrax' total of points was 49; A. M. Brown 1907, of Troy, N. Y., again won the cup for the second place, with 38½ points. The cups were first offered in 1900, and have been won in 1900 and 1901 by Paul Potter '01, in 1902 by J. F. O'Neill '02, in 1903 by L. G. Blackmer '03, in 1904 by R. G. Leavitt ex-'07 and in 1905 by W. A. Newell '05. The cups are given by Herbert H. Lehman '99, 'varsity track manager in that year.

The indoor events were held on March 3, and on the following Wednesday, March 7, the 40-yd. dash, 40-yd. low hurdles and the half-mile were run off. There were eleven events in the competition, two more than last year, and out of this number Horrax won the pole vault, one of the 40-yd. dashes, and the 40-yd. high and low hurdles, besdes tieing for first in the high jump. Sixteen men obtained points. In the shot put Marshall '08, with a put of 39 ft., exceeded the distance made in any of the other Lehman cup performances.

The mile run was the least interesting of the events yesterday, as only two of the starters finished, and the winner gained over a lap on his opponent. The quarter-mile was run in good time.

The summary of points gives Horrax '09 49; A. Brown '07, 38½; Chapman '07, 33; B. P. Allen '08, 28; Marshall '08, 20; Lament '08, 18; Hurlbut '07, 15½; Matz '09, 12½; M. Brown '07, 12; Bowker '08 and Wadsworth '09, 9; Griswold '06 and Ayers '06, 6; Cowperthwait '06, 5½; Lapham '07, 3; Conover '07 and Fisher '08, 2.

The summary of events held yesterday follows:

40-yd. dash. Won by Chapman '07; second, Cowperthwait '06; third, Horrax '09; fourth, A. Brown '07.

40-yd. high hurdles. Won by Horrax '09; second, A. Brown '07; third, Lapham '07.

Quarter-mile run. Won by Hurlbut '07; second, Horrax '09; third, Ayers '06; fourth, Cowperthwait '06; fifth, Chapman '07.

One-mile run. Won by B. P. Allen '08; second, Chapman '07.

THE GARFIELD CLASS

Fiftieth Reunion of 1856—The First Amherst-Williams Banquet

The class of 1856, which celebrates the semi-centennial anniversary of its graduation at Williamstown this June, contained among its members the most widely-known alumnus of the college, President James Abram Garfield, and the man who was most generous in gifts to the college, Frederick Ferris Thompson.

Of the fourteen members of the class now living, eight are expected to be present at Williamstown. Nine of the members live in New York state, and the remaining five in Virginia, Missouri, Iowa, Maine and Pennsylvania. The headquarters of the class will be at the Richmond Hotel, North Adams, and the reunion banquet will be held there Tuesday evening, June 26.

Six of the members surviving are lawyers, four miniaters, two teachers, one a doctor, and one a civil engineer. Among these are Hon. James Gilfillan, treasurer of the United States under President Hayes, and Hon. Silas P. Hubbell, formerly United States consul at St. Johns. Of forty-six graduates of 1856, fifteen saw service in the Union armies in the Civil war. William R. Baxter fell in the battle of Brice's Cross-roads in 1864, Charles E. Halsey, an army surgeon, died of disease contracted in the service in 1862, and Amos B. Shattuck was mortally wounded in the battle of Fredericksburg in 1862. James A. Garfield was major-general, Ferris Jacobs a brevet brigadier-general.

While in college the class participated in an event probably as yet unparalleled in American college history. During the autumn of their senior year (Oct. 15, 1855), the entire class of 1856 and the entire Amherst class of 1856, fifty in each, met at the parsonage in Charlemont and went in procession to the top of the near-by mountain at that day called Pocumtuck. A twenty-foot American flag, presented to the class by the young women of Williamstown, was used at this occasion, and will be used at Commencement this June. After various exercises the classes went to Shelburne Falls, where a banquet was held, at which toasts were given to both colleges.

At the inauguration of President Garfield, March 4, 1881, a reunion of the class was held at Washington. The twenty-fifth reunion of the class was held at Williamstown

FEIKER BILL UPHELD

$500 Voted for Committee at Town Meeting—No-License Majority

At the annual Williamstown town meeting, held in the Opera house Monday, the town voted that it is in favor of the passage of the Feiker bill for the taxation of college dormitories, and elected a committee, of which Clarence M. Smith ex-'77 and Samuel P. Blagden, Jr., ex-'96, are among the members, to represent the town in the interests of the bill. $500 was appropriated for the committee's expenses. Notice was served yesterday on the selectmen to the effect that this appropriation was illegal, as not being a reasonable and proper expense for the general welfare of the town. Mr. C. M. Smith, town counsel, was in Boston yesterday and today with Mr. Blagden, representing the town at the last public hearing before the taxation committee. No action will be taken until he has been consulted.

Torrey's woods were accepted by the town for a public park, and placed in the hands of a committee of which President Hopkins is to be a member. The Williams men elected to town offices were George W. Grundy ex-'97, re-elected town clerk; Samuel P. Blagden, Jr., ex-'96, selectman; Prof. Leverett Mears, school commissioner for three years; Charles S. Cole '70, auditor. The town voted no-license, 361 to 233. At the organization meeting of the school committee, held yesterday, W. G. Mitchell '70 was reappointed superintendent of schools for the coming year.

Date of Sophomore Prom.

The Sophomore prom. will be given in the Gymnasium on May 29. The supplementary dance will be held Wednesday, May 30, at the Greylock. Other arrangements have not yet been completed.

VOL. 20 MARCH 29, 1906 No. 4

The Proposed Debating League

Last evening the Adelphic Union decided to propose to Amherst and Wesleyan a tricollegiate debating league similar to that now in force between Williams, Dartmouth and Brown. Williams already has yearly debates with Wesleyan and, so far far as it has been made known, sentiment in Amherst is in favor of the proposed agreement. There is little doubt that the league will be formed.

At first sight this might seem too long a step forward. There must certainly be good reasons to justify the college in entering a second tricollegiate debating league so soon after the adoption of the present one. Is there enough debating material in college to justify the step? Five of the eight men who debated in March were underclassmen. This, however, it may be argued, is unusual, is not a condition that will be repeated in succeeding classes. The answer to this lies in the fact that this growth of material seems due more to increase of interest in debating, caused by the chance given by the two tricollegiate debates to make a varsity team, than to an original excellence of material in the under classes. With this interest strengthened by a second series of debates, the college, as far as men to represent it goes, would be justified in entering the proposed agreement.

Does a second debating league mean too great an amount of work for those taking part? This is the vital point. Williams debates Wesleyan now. The proposed scheme adds but one debate to those now held. The debates early this month were more satisfactory to the debating team than any held in the past few years. The experience of the past year has shown how much easier it is for two teams to get up a debate, working on opposite sides of a question, than it is for one team, with only the alternate, who knows he will get no chance to speak, to develop the side of the opponent.

The question is covered more completely, and the work done more thoroughly because the two teams have a definite end in view—upholding their side on the night of the final battle. Work in rebuttal, the speeches in which a debate is usually won or lost, has proved to be more careful and satisfactory because of this same keen competition. Confidence in work done is given which makes for success. In short, instead of finding the work of two debates too much, the experience of this month's contest has shown a real gain in effectiveness. A triangular league with Wesleyan and Amherst would result in more thorough preparation than the present dual league with Wesleyan.

If this new agreement is ratified by the other colleges, the debaters should receive more honor from the college body. To expatiate on the work done by the debaters is trite, but the work remains, and is none the more easy because it is largely unrecognized and unappreciated. The additional league will mean, for the four or five best debaters, at least, constant mental labor for practically the whole year.

In the final analysis, of course, the test for the bestowal of college honor in any one activity must be the benefit to the college from it rather than the work put into it. However, by entering this second league, the debating interests of Williams will become more widespread than those of any other New England college. The college will hold a position in the debating world, in comparison with the other New England colleges, analagous to the position in the athletic world of Bowdoin, in comparison with the other Maine colleges, and for the same reason, diversity and number of contests. This debating world unfortunately has slight importance among undergraduates, but among the collalumni it has far more than supposed. A greater college respect should be felt for those who, by hard work, are to maintain this position in that world.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

Williamstown, March 27, 1906.
Editor of the Record:—

I notice in your editorial in the issue of The Record of March 26th the following statement: "The football rules committee which met in New York in December authorized a sub-committee to draw up eligibility rules for the entire country". This gives expression to an error apparently so prevalent that I would like space in your columns for a correction. The fact is that the Committee on football rules is but a part of a very wide movement and subordinate to the officers of the organization representing that movement. At the National Intercollegiate Football Conference held in New York on December 28, 1905, it was voted that the organization be made permanent and that its work be carried on by an Executive Committee, consisting of a President, Vice-President, Secretary, and four other members, who should report on general eligibility rules to govern intercollegiate athletics. This Executive Committee has prepared a Constitution and By-laws for the permanent organization, which will probably be known as the Athletic Association of the Colleges and Universities of the United States, together with eligibility rules to be recommended to the different colleges and universities. The Committee on football rules, that is, such part of it as was appointed by the National Football Conference, is responsible to the Executive Committee.

The proposed Constitution and By-laws for the permanent organization, and the suggested eligibility rules are now being printed, and will, it is hoped, be distributed among the different institutions within a few days.

Very truly yours,
Henry D. Wild

July 5, 1881, three days after Garfield's assassination as he was leaving Washington for Williams. Rev. John W. Lane, secretary of Amherst '56, had invited the president to the 25th reunion of that class, in memory of the friendly meeting at Charlemont. The Amherst reunion occured several days before that at Williamstown, and had the president accepted Mr. Lane's invitation he would have escaped the shot that caused his death.

Mr. Lane has suggested a reunion of the two classes this June, and the famous meeting fifty years ago will be commemorated by the few that survive. Mr. Lane has been invited to speak at the alumni meeting here in June.

Call for Track Candidates

A call is issued for all candidates for the track team to report on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the gymnasium. A large squad should report at this time, as but five weeks remain before the first meet, on May 5th. No cut will be made in the squad until after Easter. The work of the squad will consist in daily setting up exercises in the gymnasium and jogging as soon as the condition of the roads will permit. Men will be expected to report at 3 o'clock on Wednesdays and Saturdays and at 3 or 4 on other days.

COLLEGE NOTES

D. M. Hills 1906 has gone to Greenwich, Conn. He will resume college work after the Easter recess.

The 1906 Y. M. C. A. handbook committee is composed of the following men: Witherell '07, chairman: M. Brown' 07, Murray '08, Westermann '08, and Sayre '09; Payson '08, business manager.

Hulst 1906, one of the delegates who attended the student volunteer conference at Nashville, addressed the Epworth league of the North Adams M. E. Church Tuesday night. He spoke of the work of the convention, giving different phases of the missionary movement.

New Richmond Hotel Building

Work Begun on Berkshire Hall

The work of construction on Berkshire Hall was begun this week, and with the return of settled weather will be pushed as rapidly as possible. By a change of plans, the three entrances to the dormitory will be on the west side, instead of opening, one on the east side, and one each on the north and south ends. This change was made because of the excessive grade at the north end.

The main entrance will be upon the west side, and its three glass-fronted doors will be approached by a stoop with steps on either side. The roof will be nearly flat, surrounded on the sides with panels, like that on East and South Colleges. The dormitory will have a lower facing of granite. Practically all of the material is on the ground, and the contractors, L. D. Willcutt and Sons of Boston, hope that the building will be completed by the middle of August.

Room Rents in New Dormitories

The schedule of prices for rooms in the new dormitories, Berkshire Hall and South College extension, has been completed. Berkshire Hall is in three sections. In the south end are six double rooms with the same conveniences and at the same prices as the rooms in West College. In the middle section there are six double rooms and three single rooms. Each man in a double room pays $60 a year and in a single room $35 a year. Triple rooms can be made if desired. In the north end there are fifteen single rooms ranging in price from $45 to $90. The six double rooms in South College extension are at the same price as those in West College.

Deutscher Verein Plays

The Deutscher Verein is at work on two plays for presentation in the near future The plays selected are "Post Festum" by Ernst Wichert and "Muller als Sundenbock" by Benedix. Parts have been assigned for Post Festum" as follows;

General a D. von Oberberg	Klauser '07
Mathilde, seine Frau	Hazen '08
Frida, seine Tochter	von Witzleben '09
Emila von Tautern	Baemeister '08
Proffessor Walther Stern	Winston '08
Regierungs-Assessor Fritz von Brunner	Sternberger '07
Ein Dienstmadchen	Ford '08

The second play will be given shortly after the first. The cast, which has not been fully selected, will be announced later.

'99—Dana L. Spring has opened a law office in Buffalo.

'99—Ralph L. Wood, who formerly taught in Troy, is now teaching in Waverley, Pa.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a priee merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the finanicial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

1906 ALUMNI REGISTER

2334 Alumni Living—Important Innovation in Index

The Alumni register for 1906, number 2 of series 3 of the Williams college bulletin, has just been issued. The pamphlet is 96 pages long, and is superior in typography, accurateness, appearance and scope, to that of last year. It is for circulation among the alumni of the college alone, and is not for general distribution.

The register gives the names and addresses of 2334 living graduates of the college. The oldest living graduate is the Hon. William Rankin, LL. D., '31, of Newark, N. J.; the second oldest, Rev. Thomas Wright '35, of Fenton Mich., and the third, Hon. Thomas Nelson '36, of New York city. Two of the alumni are over ninety years old, eleven are between eighty-five and ninety, and thirty-one are between eighty and eighty-five. There are eighteen foreign missionaries among the alumni.

A very valuable innovation is made in this number of the register. Besides the usual alumni index alphabetically by classes, there has been added an index of all alumni by the places of their residence, the alumni being arranged by classes in each locality, and the places alphabetically under the states. From this it is seen that the states containing the greatest number of Williams men are New York with 503, Massachusetts with 307, and Illinois with 133. New Jersey, Connecticut, Ohio and Pennsylvania follow in the order mentioned. Williams men reside in every stste and territory of the Union except Arizona, Arkansas, Nevada and Montana. Williams graduates are living in Argentine, Chili, Guatemala, Africa, China, India, and Turkey, besides in European nations. Of the localities New York city is far in the lead in number of graduates with 351. Strangely enough Chicago has 82 to Boston's 81. 46 alumni are living in Williamstown.

Dr. Henry E. Cobb Sunday

Rev. Henry Evertson Cobb, D. D., will preach in the chapel Sunday morning and will address the Y. M. C. A. meeting at Jesup Hall in the evening. Dr. Cobb has been pastor of the Collegiate Reformed Church, West End avenue and 77th street, New York city, for the last fifteen years. With the exception of last year, when he was unable to come to Williamstown on account of illness, he has preached to the students regularly for several winters. He is an effective speaker and his popularity here in the past has been attested by the number of times he has filled the college pulpit.

OBITUARY

'45—Rev. Charles Jewett Collins, D. D., died at his home, 301 West 107th street, New York city, on March 18, aged 80 years. Rev. Mr. Collins was born at Wilkesbarre, Pa., on June 25, 1825, and graduated from Williams in the class of 1845, with Phi Beta Kappa rank. From 1848 to 1851 he was tutor at Williams college, and in 1854 received his degree from Princeton Theological seminary. For ten years he was pastor of the Presbyterian church at Danville, Pa., and was then principal of the Collegiate Preparatory School at Princeton. He was superintendent of schools at Wilkesbarre, Pa., and founded the well kown Bradford school at Rye, N. Y. He retired from active work some years ago, and has since lived in New York city. He was the donor of the old paintings on the walls of the faculty room in Hopkins Hall, which are the only pictures now in existence of the college as it was sixty years ago.

Y. M. C. A. CONFERENCE

List of Prominent Speakers—Reception to Delegates Thursday

The program for the Y. M. C. A. convention to be held in Williamstown April 5-8 is not yet completed. Most of the sessions will be conferences and informal discussions by the presidents and general secretaries of the Associations represented, the discussions being introduced briefly by the main speakers. The sessions will be held in Jesup Hall. Among the speakers will be H. P. Andersen of the executive department of the International Y. M. C. A. committee; Clayton S. Cooper, of the Bible Study Department; F. P. Turner of the Student Volunteer Movement; W. H. Tinker of the Students' Club, New York city; Prof. L. H. Miller, assistant professor of biblical languages in Princeton university.

A reception in honor of the delegates will be held in Jesup Hall Thursday evening, to which the faculty and the members of the various association committees will be invited. On Saturday morning a discussion on "The Enlistment of Freshmen" will be informally conducted. On Sunday afternoon a meeting open to the college as well as to the conference delegates will probably be held, and it is hoped that F. Boyd Edwards 1900 will address the meeting. The number at the convention will probably be less than in former years, because of the recent widely-attended student volunteer conference at Nashville. About eighty delegates will attend.

At the opening meeting in Jesup Hall at 7:45 Thursday evening the convention will be welcomed by President Hopkins. An address will be given by Prof. Russell on "The College World a Battle Ground of Great Forces."

Baseball Election

Candidates for the position of vice-president and assistant manager of the baseball association will hand their names to Eugene M. Hoyne '07 before noon of Sunday, April 8.

The annual meeting of the Williams College Baseball association for election to the above office will be held Tuesday, May 1, at 7:30 p. m. Meeting of the class of 1908 for nomination from the names presented will be held Tuesday, May 1, at 1:30 p. m.

A. W. McAllister, Mgr.

At the 1908 meeting last Thursday Atwater was elected manager of the class baseball team.

1906 FOOTBALL RULES

Ten Yards in Three Downs—Forward Passes—Opinions of Captains

At the close of an all-day session held at the Murray Hill hotel, New York city, Saturday, the American intercollegiate football rules committee, the consolidation of the old football rules committee and the rules committee appointed by the national intercollegiate football conference Dec. 28, announced its revision of the football rules for 1906. Ten of the members of the committee were present. Another meeting will be held in New York city April 14, at which the rules will be finally passed upon in the re-edited and codified form as presented by Mr. Walter Camp and Mr. William T. Reid, Jr., but the only changes now to be made are verbal ones.

The principal changes made in the rules are the following:—Ten yards to be gained in three downs, one foward pass permitted except over the goal line; increased power for the officials; two umpires instead of one; six men on the scrimmage line and not more than six on defense; no hurdling in the open field or in the line; all players on side after a kick as soon as the ball strikes the ground; halves limited to thirty minutes.

"Striking with the fist or elbows, kneeing, kicking, striking the runner carrying the ball in the face with the heel of the hand * * * and roughing the fullback after he has kicked the ball" are punished by disqualification for the rest of the game and loss of half the distance to the goal line, with a recommendation of disqualification from football for one year, after a second offense. "Piling up, tripping, tackling the runner out of bounds and all other acts of unnecessary roughness" are punished by a 15—yard penalty. Tackling below the knees is prohibited, and a strict definition of holding given.

The referee shall not be allowed to rotate the ball before measuring to its forward point on a down. The referee is obliged to impose penalties for violations of the rules reported to him by umpires or linesmen. A penalty of fifteen yards is given for coaching from the side lines.

"The ball shall be considered dead when any portion of the person of the runner with the ball, except his hands or feet, touches the ground when in the grasp of an opponent."

H. D. Bixby, captain of the 1905 team, commented on the rules

MISSION CENTENNIAL

At Haystack Monument Next October—History of Mission Park

The one-hundredth anniversary of the inception of the American foreign mission movement will be observed at Williamstown this fall by a convention commemorating the original haystack prayer-meeting in August, 1806.

A committee, of which Dr. Cornelius H. Patton of Boston, one of the secretaries of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, is a member, will meet at Williamstown on April 9, to formulate definite plans for the centennial celebration. Dr. Patton preaches in Williamstown on April 8. President Hopkins is vice-president of the board. It is expected that a convention of the American Board will be held at North Adams and Williamstown in October, and that special services will be conducted in Mission Park.

On a warm afternoon in August, 1806, five Williams students gathered in a maple grove in Sloan's Meadow, now Mission Park, for an open-air prayer-meeting. A passing rain-storm drove them for shelter beneath a haystack and here Mills announced to his companions the idea of going out as foreign missionaries for the evangelization of the world. The five men present at that meeting, whose names are on the present monument, were Samuel J. Mills 1809, Byram Green 1808, Harvey Loomis 1809, James Richards 1809, and Francis LeBaron Robbins 1808. It was from this prayer-meeting beneath the haystack that the great foreign mission movement has grown.

In 1852 a movement was started to purchase the land upon which the meeting took place, and in 1855 the land was bought from funds, nine-tenths of which were subscribed by alumni and one-tenth from undergraduates. On August 5, 1856, a missionary jubilee was held on the spot, commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the meeting. Addresses were made by Hon. David Dudley Field, LL. D., '25, Prof. Albert Hopkins '26, Rev. Chester Dewey, D. D., '36, President Mark Hopkins '24, Rev. Dr. Rufus Anderson, senior secretary of the American Board, Gov. George N. Briggs of Massachusetts, Rev. Dr. Stephen H. Tyng '58 of New York city, and a number of early graduates and returned missionaries.

The present Mission Park monument was dedicated on Baccalaur-

INTERCLASS DEBATE

Between 1908 and 1909 After Easter—Question of Summer Nines

In response to a challenge sent to 1909 by 1908, the second annual interclass debate between the lower classes will be held directly after the Easter recess. Trial debates for both teams will be held on Friday, April 6, in the Biological Laboratory. Those who wish to compete in the trials should sign their names to the notice in Hopkins Hall as soon as possible, or hand them to the respective class debating managers, Knight 1908 and Sayre 1909. As 'varsity debaters are ineligible by the terms of the agreement, a larger number of men should come out. The question for debate follows:

Resolved; that college ball players should be allowed to play on summer baseball teams.

Dr. Ferry Back This Week

Word has been received from Prof. Ferry that he will return to Williamstown to resume his college work some time this week. Prof. and Mrs. Ferry reached New York March 21, on the Konig Albert of the Norddeutscher Lloyd line. They have been abroad since December, spending most of the time in Italy and on the Riviera. They have been in Washington since their return, and are now at Saratoga.

A Mososaur Coming

The geology department has just received the skull of a mososaur, which will be placed on exhibition in Clark Hall. This reptile lived in the Cretaceous period, and attained a length of 25 or 30 feet. The bones were found in the chalk deposits of Kansas, and were restored to their present conditions hrough the kindness of the American Museum of Natural History, in New York city.

The New Football Rules

The football rules announced Saturday by the consolidated rules committee must be satisfactory to those who have been nrging the reform of the game. The committee cannot be accused of doing its work hastily. Five long sessions, covering eight days, have been held during the last three months, and the rules announced show that all the more important schemes have been considered.

The committee did not try to reform intercollegiate athletics, nor all the evils that arise from football, but merely the game. That an extravagant amount of money has been made from football or an extravagant interest in the game aroused were not problems for a body revising rules. The main charges against the game have been that brutality is common, easy and unpunished, that there are too many mass plays, and that the game is not interesting enough for the spectator.

The new rules seem to incorporate the best suggestions made against these objections. As for brutality, the more flagrant offenses are met with a disqualification penalty, with loss of half the distance from the goal line. A provision that the ball is dead as soon as any part of the runner but his hands or feet touches the ground takes away the occasion for the injuries coming from "piling up". The tackle in the open, which has caused more numerous but less serious injuries, becomes less dangerous when hurdling and tackling below the knees are prohibited.

The provisions with regard to opening the game seem less effective. Will it open up the game to require ten yards in three downs? In the 1903 Yale-Princeton game, in which the score was 11 to 6, both teams averaged over ten yards per three downs. This is not an isolated instance. To come nearer home, in the Amherst-Williams game last fall, Amherst averaged ten yards, excluding Shattuck's long run from the calculation. Amherst's style of play was hardly the open style of game. Under the new rules, the offense has been strengthened by the forward pass, the defense weakened by allowing only six men in the scrimmage line. It would seem all the more likely that ten yards can be averaged in three line plays.

On the other hand, in a game played under what were essentially the rules as revised between two evenly-matched college teams in Kansas on Christmas day, but seven first downs were made. The Washburn College Review for Jan. 9, 1906, states that "the ten yards in three downs was too much for either team" and that the game was "very tame to spectators."

Perhaps the ten-yard rule will strike the happy medium between these two. There is nothing in the new rules to show that it is going to be any easier to gain around the ends than it is through the line. However, when the present five-yard rule was adopted, it seemed so radical to all but Mr. Camp that it could only be introduced on trial. Perhaps his ten-yard rule is another stroke of football genius, but it does not look so on paper.

To consider the rules in detail is impossible, but a few others deserve comment. That a kicked ball which touches the ground can be secured by either side will further weaken the defense by forcing that more than one man be kept far back of the line, and will make the ends the most responsible positions on the team. The provision that a ball cannot be rotated to determine its forward point in measuring improves a rule that has caused endless disputes between teams and officials.

It is easy to theorize about the work of the committee, but nothing can really be known until fall. The committee have met the technical objections of the critics by adopting the best of the critics, own suggestions. Their work has been careful, thorough, inclusive. They have done what they could to eliminate the worst points of the game.

Santry 1909 was operated on in Boston yesterday for appendicitis. The operation was entirely successful.

ILLEGAL ELECTION

1908 Gul. Board Will be Chosen Again Thursday

At a meeting of the sophomore class held in Jesup Hall Thursday evening, the five regular editors of the Gul. board and the business manager were chosen. The election was illegal. By Article II, Section 1, of the election regulations adopted by the college Feb. 19, the Gul. board is included among the organizations affected. Nominations for the regular editors at the meeting were not by ballot, as stipulated by article IV, section 2. The business manager was not elected by the board, as required by article II, section 3, but by the class. The election will be held over, Thursday noon, at 1.30.

The men chosen were Elmer Philip Groben, of Buffalo, N. Y.; Stanton Budington Leeds, of New York city; Gerald Mygatt, of New York city; David Burnet Scott, of New York city; William Ernest Slattery, of North Troy, N. Y.; Harold Conant Payson, of Portland, Me., business manager.

The preliminary report upon the shellfisheries of Massachusetts by the commissioners has recently been published by the state. The report is submitted by David. L. Belding 1905 and sets forth a series of experiments to determine the most practical methods of increasing the yield of shellfish under different conditions of tides, currents, etc., besides facts in the life history of the edible mollusks.

In closing his introduction to the report proper, the chairman of the committee. George W. Field, Ph. D. says, "The work upon the food mollusks has been carried on under the general direction of the chairman and immediately in charge of Prof. James L. Kellogg of Williams college, perhaps the best authority on this continent upon the clam nnd oyster. The work has been carried on, with great credit to himself and to the satisfaction of all, by the biologist to the commission, D. L. Belding, A. B., assisted by Mr. R. L. Buffum and others."

TEACHERS OF CLASSICS

Conference in Springfield April 6—Dr. Howes Committee Chairman

A conference of the classical teachers of New England will be held in Springfield, Mass., on April 6 and 7. The conference is the result of a vote passed at a meeting of college instructors of Greek held Oct. 28, 1905 "that a committee be appointed to arrange for a general conference of the classical teachers of New England, with a view to the formation of a New England Classical Association". The headquarters of the conference will be at Cooley's Hotel, at which the April 6 meeting will be held. The sessions on April 7 will take place at the High School.

The committee in charge consists of Professors George E. Howes (Williams), chairman, Allen R. Benner (Andover), Julia H. Caverno (Smith), Charles U. Clark (Yale), Charles B. Gulick (Harvard), Harley Roberts (Taft School). Besides discussing the advisability of forming a classical association, papers will be read on classical subjects by instructors in colleges and high schools, including Professor Heidel of Wesleyan, Professor Manatt of Brown, and Professor Burton of Dartmouth.

Concluding Organ Recital

Mr. Sumner Salter, assisted by Mr. Michael Banner, violinist, of New York city, will give the last of the series of three organ recitals in the chapel tomorrow evening, at 7.30. Mr. Banner formerly played under Theodore Thomas, the noted orchestra leader, and does much solo work in New York.

The program is as follows:

Suite Gothique — Boellmann
Introduction—Choral
Menuet Gothique
Priere de Notre Dame
Toccata

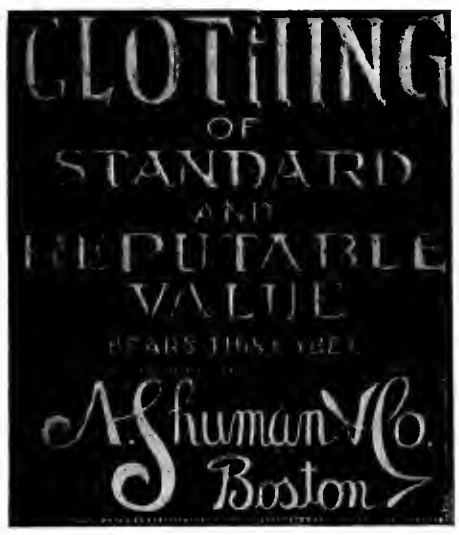
THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.



Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

1906 Football Rules

Continued from page 1, col. 2 as follows: "It is rather hard to critioise the rules before seeing how they work. I don't know whether the attempt at making the game more open will be successful or not. The forward pass rule, meant evidently to aid open play, seems to be changing the character of the game a little too much, making it more like association football. The heavy penalties and the disqualifications will make the game less rough if the officials will be able to see the fouling. For this purpose the extra umpire is a welcome addition. The rule forbidding hurdling ought to help the new game immensely. The new code will be rather tough on the coaches, who will practically have to relearn the game. On the whole the new rules, putting a premium as they do on tricky and fast play, should prove of great benefit to a light team such as Williams generally has".

Captain Waters' opinion of the committee's changes follows:

"The new football rules, which have just been made public by the committee, have undoubtedly solved the problem in regard to opening the play. With ten yards to gain in three downs, a team must resort to more end plays than heretofore, and, as Prof. Russell suggests, a premium will be placed on the punting game. This will serve to make the play more interesting from the spectator's point of view, but there is a question as to whether the danger of injuries to players will be lessened. This of course cannot be demonstrated until next fall. It is a question whether more men are injured in mass or in end plays.

"The other revisions in the rules are perhaps of less importance than the above, but there has been a much-needed effort made to make the game less rough. Heavy penalties are to be inflicted for all slugging and unnecessary roughness. The danger of injuries has been lessened by forbidding hurdling of any kind and this ought to make the game more interesting for the spectator. With forward passes allowed and more end plays and punting, football should be a much faster game.

"In regard to the scores next fall, it can only be shown by practical application of the rules whether the defense has been weakened enough, by allowing only six men in the line, to make any material difference in the points. It would seem, judging from past experience, that the small colleges would have a better chance against the larger ones."

'05—J. Joseph McCarty has left the employment of the Pennsylvania Steel Co., and taken up a position with the First National Bank, of Corning, N. Y.

cate Sunday, July 28, 1867. Addresses were made by President Mark Hopkins, Hon. William E. Dodge, a trustee, Rev. Marshall D. Sanders '46, a returned missionary, Rev. Robert Russell Booth '49 of New York, and the donor of the monument, Hon. Harvey Rice '24, of Cleveland, O.

Open-air prayer-meetings have been held in Mission Park every year, usually on the afternoon of Baccalaureate Sunday, since 1857. Rev. Robert Russell Booth, D. D., LL. D., '49, presided over the meetings until that of last year, conducted by Rev. Charles Augustus Stoddard '54, of New York.

Trip by Taxation Committee

The Massachusetts Legislature committee on taxation is planning a tour of college towns of the state, to investigate the conditions in relation to Senate bill No. 106 for the taxation of college dormitories. If the trip is made, Williamstown will be visited next week.

The committee is composed of Senator Seiberlich of Suffolk, chairman; Senators Garfield of Plymouth, Chase of Bristol, and MacCleod of Middlesex; Representatives Davenport of Malden, Morse of Haverhill, Williams of Attleboro, Barber of Lynn, Hilliard of Braintree, Birch of Milford, Hull of Milton, Mack of Boston, Stowe of Springfield, Shields of Boston and Mooney of Boston. It will be noticed that no man on the committtee comes from further west than Springfield.

The order authorizing the trip has passed the Senate, and has been referred to the committee on the rules in the House.

The Force of Character

Dr. H. E. Cobb of New York city, spoke before the Y. M. C. A. in Jesup Hall last evening. He contrasted the "Kingdom of Heaven" as conceived by John the Baptist and Christ. Christ anticipated a transformed world in which men help their follows not so much by words as by the uplifting force of character. The greatest sermons are not those delivered in pulpits, but preached by the lives of men who have the courage of their convictions. That life is useless which does not, by its fidelity to its ideals, inspire confidence and sympathy in those with whom it comes in contact. This "silent influence" is the greatest force within man's control.

Y. M. C. A. PRESIDENTS

First Meeting Tonight—Delegates and Conference Hours

At 7:45 this evening the annual conference of the college Y. M. C. A. presidents and association leaders will begin with a meeting in the Biological Laboratory. Delegates will be present from all the New England states, New York, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland. Thirty-nine delegates will attend. In addition secretaries of the student department of the international committee of Young Men's Christian Associations and secretaries of the general committee will be present. In the absence of John R. Mott, now in Europe, H. P. Andersen, of the executive department of the committee, will preside over the meeting.

As at present arranged, the conference hours of the presidents will be as follows: Thursday evening, April 5, 7:45—9:15; Friday morning, April 6, 9:00—12:00; Friday afternoon, 2:00—4:15; Friday evening, 7:30—9:30; Saturday morning, April 7, 9:00—12:00; Saturday evening, 7:30—9:00; before chapel Sunday morning, Sunday afternoon, and Sunday evening 7:30—9:00.

The place of the opening meeting this evening has been changed from Jesup Hall to the Biological Laboratory. The delegates will be welcomed by President Hopkins and addresses given by Prof. Russell, as announced in the last number of The Record, and by H. P. Andersen, on "The World Student Movement." After the meeting a reception to the delegates will be held in Jesup Hall, to which are invited the faculty, the chairmen of the old Y. M. C. A. committees and the chairmen and members of the new committees.

The program for Friday morning is not yet settled. At the Friday afternoon meeting Clayton S. Cooper, international secretary for Bible Study, will lead the conference in the discussion of Bible study. Friday evening F. P. Turner, secretary of the student volunteer movement, will lead the discussion of Missions.

Saturday morning's program is not completed. At the Saturday evening meeting addresses will be given by E. Boyd Edwards '00, catcher of the 1899 and 1900 baseball teams, Prof. L. H. Miller of Princeton, and W. H. Tinker of Amherst.

A devotional service will be held in Jesup Hall before chapel Sunday morning, led by Prof.

GUL. ELECTIONS

Board of Editors Chosen by 1908 This Afternoon

At a meeting of the class of 1908 held in Jesup Hall at 1.30 this afternoon the following men were elected to the Gul. Board:—Willard Ansley Gibson, of Salamanca, N. Y.; Elmer Philip Groben, of Buffalo, N. Y.; Stanton Budington Leede, of New York city; David Burnet Scott, of New York city; Bernard Westermann, of Overbrook, Pa.; Gerald Mygatt, of New York city and Glenn Nelson Rowell, of Keene, N. H., art editors.

First Outdoor Baseball Game

The first outdoor baseball game of the year was played between the first and second teams of the baseball squad on the Blackinton diamond yesterday afternoon. Five and one-half innings were played, during which neither team scored. The fielding work of both nines was good, considering the condition of the field and the lack of previous outdoor practice. The 'varsity worked without an error. In hitting, there was an unexpected weakness, only three hits being made. The teams lined up as follows:

'Varsity; Waters c, Williams p, Harman 1b, Kelley 2b, Neild 3b, Young ss, Hogan lf, Warren cf, Pierce, Redick rf.

2nd team—Southworth, Morrison, Bates c, Meare '03, VanInwegen p, Gardner, D. Brown 1b, Osterhout 2b, Domett 3b, Wadsworth ss, Stower lf, Osborne cf, Ford, Gillett rf.

Trials for Interclass Debate

The trials for the 1908-1909 debate will be held tomorrow evening at 7.15 p. m. in Philotechnian Hall, the freshman trials preceding the sophomore trials. The judges are to be Prof. J. E. Russell, Asst.-Prof. Lewis Perry, and Mr. B. J. Rees. The method of trial will be the same for both teams. Each speaker will be given five minutes to speak, including rebuttal, and from the candidates, three debaters and an alternate will be chosen.

Philotechnian-Philologian

The Philotechnian and Philologian societies will hold a debate on the evening of May 2, in one of the society halls, probably with faculty judges. The contest will be informal, and largely extemporaneous, as the question, to be selected by a joint committee, will not be made known until the day before the debate. The following men have been elected to form the two opposing teams:—Philotechnian, Case '06, Hulst '06, and Sayre '09; alternate, Bullard '08; Philologian, Nomer '06, Case '07, and Matthews '07; alternate, Bynrd '08.

PLANS OF 1906

What Members of the Senior Class Will Do After Graduation

The statistics of the senior class book reveal this information concerning the plans of the members of 1906 after graduation:

Barrett will enter the Medical school at Johns Hopkins university.

Bowen will teach school in North Adams.

Brady will enter the general Theological seminary in New York city in preparation for the Episcopal clergy.

Brown will probably enter Harvard Law school.

Cantwell will study law.

Cowell will either study medicine or enter business at Ashburnham.

Cowperthwait will enter the furniture business in New York city.

Curtiss will be resident general secretary of the Williams Y. M. C. A.

Day will study law at Batavia.

Fitch will study medicine at Utica, N. Y.

Gardner will enter Harvard Law school.

Gunther will teach one year and then take up the study of law.

D. M. Hills will enter the mining business in Colorado.

Hoyt will enter the employ of the Outlook Company, New York city.

Hulst will study for the ministry of the Reformed church.

Kenney will enter Harvard Law school.

Knox will enter the employ of the chemical firm of H. K. Mulford Company, Philadelphia.

Leland will either enter business or practice medicine at Plainfield, N. J.

Little will take up advanced work in Geology, probably at Yale.

Lowe will be student librarian of Williams college.

Lowry will probably enter business at Akron, O.

McAllister will enter the banking business at Spencer, Iowa.

McGown will enter the hardware business at Cooperstown, N. Y.

Macnutt will enter the employ of the Western Electric Company in New York city.

Miller will study law.

VOL. 20 APRIL 5, 1906 No. 6

Williams and College Missions

The religious year just begun is to be notable for two things, the convention of college Young Men's Christian Association presidents which begins tomorrow, and the celebration of the one-hundredth anniversary of the haystack meeting, in October. That the meeting around the haystack in what is now Mission Park started the American foreign missionary movement is well-known to all Williams men, that it also started independently the mission movement among college Christian associations is not so well-known.

Briefly summarized, the links of the chain are as follows: Apparently the efforts of these Williams students to start an intercollegiate mission movement failed. However, a pamphlet written by one of these men who went to the mission field induced Dr. John Soudder to become a foreign missionary, who in turn led James Brainerd Taylor into Christian work. The Philadelphian society, founded at Princeton by Taylor, united with the Young Men's Christian Associations in 1876 and at once took the lead in intercollegiate work, started at a convention at Louisville in 1877. At first no intercollegiate mission movement was thought of, but in 1878 a member of the Louisville convention, hearing of the effort and apparent failure of the Haystack men, said, "Let the students in these closing years of the century consummate what our fellow students in the early part attempted. Let us engraft the mission idea upon the intercollegiate movement."

He wrote to President Mark Hopkins, and in consequence H. P. Perkins '79, then preparing for mission work, was sent to the Baltimore convention in 1879. The result of his earnest appeal to the delegates was the inauguration of the mission department of the college Y. M. C. A. The intercollegiate movement which the haystack men had not been able to bring about directly had come to pass indirectly, when strengthened by further inspiration from the college where the force of the ideals of these men had lived on. Williams can lay direct claim to be the source of the intercollegiate missionary movement as well as the greater American mission movement.

We like to feel that there is something in the environment, in the inspiring uplift of the purple hills, which made the Christian spirit stronger here than elsewhere. May the members of this convention of Young Men's Christian Association presidents gain a like spiritual inspiration for the discussion of those religious problems among the most important in the life of every college today.

The Colgate Honor System

By a vote of over two to one the students of Colgate have put themselves on record as desiring the adoption of the honor system. The exact system has not yet been decided upon, but the proposed constitution has been printed in The Madisonensis, the college paper. We congratulate Colgate on the spirit of this step, but the letter of the system proposed seems to negative the end desired. As a college in which the system has been in successful use for ten years, we can venture a few words of advice.

In two important articles the Colgate constitution differs from that at Williams. Article IV, Section 1, reads: "In case of reported frauds in examinations, the committee * * * shall conduct a formal investigation * * * . In case of conviction * * * * the penalty shall be, for the first offense, reprimand by the committee, and for the second offense, a recommendation to the Faculty of separation from college." This practically says, "You can cheat as much as you want to until you have been caught once."

Article V, Section 1, reads as follows: "Should a student happen to see a man cribbing, he shall be expected to reprimand him personally at once, and obliged to report this reprimand to the committee. Two such reports demand an investigation according to Article IV."

That the obligatory report to the committee—the only method of ensuring enforcement by the students—is included, is admirable, but look at its qualifications! Two reports for an investigation, two convictions for dismissal! To call a system an "honor" system which will allow without penalty a man to be caught cheating three times and convicted once is a queer idea of honor. These articles, which give a positive temptation to dishonesty, must be altered, for Colgate's honor system to become successful by becoming an honor system in spirit.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

Editor of The Record,

Sir:—The new football rules should be a disappointment to those who desire and have been looking for a real improvement in this game. All things considered, football played under these rules will be a less desirable game than was the game under the old rules.

The worst feature in the present game, and the feature to which are to be traced most of the evils of the game, is the use of mass plays. The new rules, so far from discouraging the employment of these plays, distinctly encourage their continuance. They do so by strengthening the offense and weakening the defense in the scrimmage. The required gain of ten yards instead of five yards will not seriously diminish the resort to mass formations, such as the tandem. These plays will become more strenuous and more destructive to the weaker team; since they will be employed to gain six, seven and even more yards instead of the hitherto necessary five yards. There can be no great improvement in football so long as mass plays are allowed.

The most serious objection to our American game in its present form, is the severe physical strains to which the players are subjected, and the liability to injuries that is inseparable from the game as it is played at the present time. No student can safely or successfully play this game, who does not give himself almost as severe a training and toughening of his muscles and sinews as the gladiator or the prize fighter needs. I think a game which makes such demands upon the energies and the time of a student, has no place in an institution devoted to liberal education.

atudents are going to protest in mass meeting and if necessary, I understand, appeal to the trustees.

"It seems to me, whatever merit there may be in it for the larger institutions which have either the money or disposition improperly to induce material, it is unnecessary and unwise for the smaller colleges, and to adopt it would be playing right in the hands of the big colleges, for most healthy boys have athletic ambitions and, even if possesing no 'varsity qualifications, would in many cases prefer the institution which would permit them on teams freshman year if otherwise eligible.

"I think if the smaller colleges do not adopt the rule, they will gain largely in point of numbers at the expense of the overshadowing universities, and that it is poor business policy to throw away such a valuable advantage."

COLLEGE NOTES

The musical clubs will give an informal concert at the opening session of the Y. M. C. A. conference in Jesup Hall this evening.

The training table will begin next Wednesday. Coach Dowd will arrive Saturday.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

BASKETBALL CAPTAINS

Leaders of Chief College Fives for Next Season

The list of next year's captains of the basketball teams from the colleges usually on Williams' schedule and the other strong college fives is nearly completed. A majority are forwards and men from 1908.

Dartmouth has elected George Warren Grebenstein '07, center and right forward, a 'varsity player of three years' experience. He shot the winning goal in the decisive game against Willisms at Williamstown in February.

George M. Flint, '08 D, a forward, has been re-elected by Pennsylvania. Flint scored more points that any other player in the intercollegiate league.

Wesleyan's choice is G. E. White '08, the center of this year's team.

David D. Stowell '07 will lead Colgate. He has been a member of the 'varsity for the past three years, and has shown steady improvement in the position of left forward.

Ernest R. Halliday '08, who made the 'varsity this year for the first time as guard, is the choice of Princeton. He is a steady, aggressive player.

C. W. Cuthel '07, of Columbia Law school, succeeds Hurley '08. Cuthel has played forward for three years on the 'varsity teams.

Other captains are: Syracuse, George L. Redlein' 08, forward; Hamilton, Oscar Kuolt '07, forward; Trinity, E. J. Donnelly '08, guard; Oberlin, Wm. Most, Jr., '07, center; Yale, Haskell Noyes '08, guard.

1906 CLASS BOOK

To Appear May 15—Several New Features Introduced

The contract for the 1906 class book has been let to the Tuttle, Morehouse and Taylor Co., of New Haven, Conn., the printers of the college catalogue and of most of the work for Yale and the State of Connecticut. The book will follow the general plan of the Yale books, while still adhering to the traditions of our own publications. Especial attention will be paid to the half-tones, the plates for which will be made by the Stoddard-Brown Co., of New York city. The half-tones will be printed on thin paper and pasted on the pages, as in the 1902 book, the best in recent years from a printer's standpoint.

A new feature will be the use of red ink in printing part of the title page as well as the names of the class on the biography pages. The book will be cloth-bound, with a red basket-pattern cover, ornamented by a design incorporating the chapel tower. A table showing every vote cast for most popular man, etc., etc., is a new feature in the book. The book is expected to be ready for distribution by May 15, 1906.

Gun Club Shoots

The college gun club defeated the North Adams team yesterday afternoon in a return shoot at the home traps on the golf links, winning by the score of 82 to 73. An uncertain southerly wind made Fitch's perfect shooting all the more remarkable. The match is the first won from North Adams by the local club in two years.

The detailed score follows:

Prof. Kellogg	22	Graves	21
Geer '07	18	McHale	18
Fitch '06	25	Pratt	21
L. vP. Allen' 08	17	Fogg	13
	82		73

The shoot for the Sercomb cup will be held on two half holidays in May. No one will be allowed to compete who has not taken part in at least five local shoots of this college year.

Pictures in Jesup Hall

CONFERENCE MEETINGS

Held During Four Days—Sessions Closed Yesterday

The annual conference of college Y. M. C. A. presidents and association leaders came to an end last evening with the address of Rev. F. Boyd Edwards '00 at the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall. The convention was not so largely attended as in recent years, but over fifty representatives were present. The conference meetings were very informal, and gained much of their value from the fact that the majority of the delegates took an active part in the discussion.

Opening Meeting

President Hopkins gave a brief address of welcome at the first session of the conference, on Thursday evening in the Biological Laboratory, emphasizing the fact that such a conference is entirely spontaneous. Prof. Russell was the first speaker, taking as his subject "The College World a Battle-ground of Great Forces." He discussed the good and bad forces which affect the college man. College men are living in the future; anything which is fitted to open the great gates of life rouses in them a ready response. A lack of strenuousness, an unwillingness to submit to criticism, and a love of ease are forces which affect adversely. Too many men adopt as their maxim, "Do that which is expedient." In conclusion Prof. Russell proclaimed it one of the chief duties of college life to stand as an exponent of the genuine life in the world.

The last speaker, Mr. H. P. Andersen, discussed the features of the world-wide student movement. He reviewed the important epochs in the history of the Association. In 1877 several students at Princeton took the initial steps in the organization of a united college Y. M. C. A. The chain of events shows that the haystack meeting in Williamstown in 1806 had a marked influence on this formation of the Christian Association seventy years later. Less than thirty years ago the mission department of the Y. M. C. A. was organized, and in 1884 the different corresponding organizations throughout the world were amalgamated under the name of the Christian Federation.

Reception to Delegates

An informal reception was held in Jesup Hall for the delegates after the conference meeting. Light

HOW SAVE THE TREES?

Interesting Lecture on Insect Pests —Danger to Williamstown

Prof. W. L. Underwood, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, gave one of the most interesting lectures of the year on "The Ravages of Gipsy and Brown-Tail Moths," in the Biological Laboratory on Friday evening before a small audience. The lantern slides were of unusual excellence, showing well the damage caused by the animals in the eastern part of the state. Prof. Underwood outlined the history of the pest, told his experiences in trying to save the trees upon his property, and explained the methods of exterminating the moths.

The gipsy moth was introduced into this country by a Frenchman in 1868, to breed a new silk worm, and first spread through accident. Since that time the insect has spread so rapidly that legislative methods have been found necessary if its extermination is to be accomplished. The brown-tail moth has penetrated as far as the Connecticut river and Greenfied, and a visitation may be expected in the Berkshires this summer.

The golden-brown nests of the gipsy moth are deposited in every conceivable place and contain from four to five hundred eggs. The caterpillars, grayish-brown and hairy, are three inches in length when full-grown. Although showing especial preference for deciduous trees, the caterpillar will occasionally attack evergreens. Thousands of trees are denuded by them each year in Massachusetts.

The brown-tail caterpillars are reddish-brown, hairy, with two prominent orange spots, and attain a length of one to one and a half inches. When the human skin is brought in contact with the hairs on the caterpillar a serious irritation occurs, and a welt or rash results.

Several equally efficient agents for the extermination of the pest are used. Creosote is often applied to the nests, and kerosene sprayed upon the foliage. Trees are also well protected by putting a girdle of some sticky substance around the trunk. Whole sections of land may be protected by encircling the area with a narrow strip of hay saturated with crude oil.

The moth pest is serious, and in view of the fact that Williamstown is likely to be affected this summer, is a problem that must be studied and met, to save the shade trees.

Track Insignia

At the meeting of the athletic council to be held immediately after the Easter vacation, the question of insignia for the relay team will come up for discussion. The consensus of college opinion seems to be that the relay team are deserving of the letter. That a single victory against Dartmouth has in the past been awarded by the bestowal of a letter certainly affords a precedent for a similar gift at the close of a season marked by two victories and no defeats. Wesleyan is as much a natural rival of the Purple as Dartmouth, Brown as large a college and as hard to defeat. The honor of the letter seems due the members of the 1906 relay team.

The one argument that has seemed applicable against granting this for the work this winter would come from comparison with last spring's track work. Track work in the spring is harder than that in the winter; the season is longer, the training more severe and undergone by a greater number of candidates. Last spring's track team was not lacking in ability. The five firsts won in the Dartmouth meet showed its strength more truly than the thirteen points won at Worcester. That but three "W"s should be given in the spring and four in the winter seems to some inconsistent.

If this argument were based on any consistent policy, we might sympathize with it. However, the trouble lies with the action last spring, and, back of that, with the constitution of the track association. In football and baseball a man who plays in the last games with Amherst and Wesleyan is sure of his letter, except in extraordinary cases, and in track a point-winner at the Worcester meet is likewise certain. The constitution of the track association awards this letter to every man on the team "who shall have scored a point in a championship meet". This wording compelled that each point-winner in the Dartmouth meet of 1904 be awarded the "W", if the letter was to be given for that meet, and dissatisfaction over the seventeen letters in that year may have helped in causing a swing as far the other way in 1905. To have awarded it in the Dartmouth meet last year, under the wording of the constitution, would have given eleven men "W"s who did not win their letter at Worcester.

There should be some amendment to the constitution by which it would be possible—to take last year's case—to strike a medium between three and fourteen, for the over-conservatism of the one is just as unsatisfactory as the over-liberality of the other. This medium could be reached by an amendment awarding the letter to those winning first place in a dual "championship meet", in addition to those winning points in the Worcester meet. This amendment could scarcely be objected to on the grounds of awarding the "W" to too many—but four more would have received it in 1905—or on the ground of lowering the standard of ability, for Dartmouth, Amherst and Wesleyan are all certainly strong enough in track to make "W" ability necessary to get the letter. At any rate, the athletic council always retains a check on the award through deciding what is a championship meet and what is not. Such an amendment would give a deserved honor to a number of athletes, able to win first in a meet between two colleges, but not able to get points in a meet where nine others compete.

The natural tendency in the award of a letter is to give it to too many. The athletic council, however, has always shown itself able to maintain a proper conservatism in opposing such a policy. The system proposed will give them an opportunity to maintain this conservatism without being forced into the present unjust di-

'Varsity Defeated Second Team

On Saturday afternoon the first nine inning game was played between the first and second teams of the baseball squad on the Blackinton grounds. The fielding work was not as good as that of Wednesday. In batting there was a slight improvement. Coach Dowd was on the field and paid especial attention to the batting. The work of the pitchers, in the cold weather, was poor. Warren made a three-base hit in the eighth inning.

The batting order and score by innings follows:

'Varsity	Second Team
Wadsworth, 2b	Osterhout, 3b
Warren, cf	Domett, ss
Young, ss	Osborne, lf
Gardner, 1b	Kelley, 2b
Neild, 3b	D. Brown, rf
Pierce, Southworth, rf	Redick, cf
Hogan, lf	Harman, 1b
Waters, c	Bates, c
Williams, Sears, Pierce, p	Mears, Ford, p

'Varsity	4 2 0 0 1 0 2 1 2	12	10 2
2d Team	0 3 0 0 0 0 0 1 0	4	8 7

Easter Baseball Plans

The entire baseball squad, with the exception of those who receive special permission from Capt. Neild, will be kept in town over the Easter recess. Regular practice will be held mornings on the old campus, and afternoons at Blackinton until Weston Field gets into condition. A game will be played with Blackinton Saturday afternoon.

Prof. Cleland in Bermuda

Prof. Cleland is planning a trip to the Bermudas during the Easter vacation to study the interesting coralline and eand formations of the island. The Bermuda group is built of coral formed upon the craters of two sunken volcanoes, and offers an interesting field for geological research. Prof. Cleland will leave April 12, and will be back by April 23. He expects to obtain some lantern slides, and to give an illustrated lecture on Bermudas after his return.

Conference Meetings

refreshments were served. During the reception the musical clubs gave "The Royal Purple" and "Come Fill Your Glasses Up." The Glee Club sang the "Bells of St. Michael's Tower" and the Banjo Club played a selection entitled "College Life." The reception was concluded with "The Mountains".

The Conference Sessions

At the Friday morning meeting the duties of Association presidents were considered. Charles W. Gilkey led the discussion. At the session Friday afternoon Clayton S. Cooper, international secretary for bible study, introduced the discussion of bible study work. Friday evening's meeting was led by F. P. Turner, on the subject of Missions.

At Saturday morning's session the enlistment of freshmen was discussed, general secretary Pettit opening the discussion. In the afternoon no sessions were held. President Hopkins accompanied the delegates to the points of interest about the campus, and spoke briefly at the Haystack monument.

Addresses Saturday Evening

At the meeting in Jesup Hall Saturday evening, open to the college, F. Boyd Edwards 1900, Prof. L. H. Miller of Princeton and Mr. W. H. Tinker of Amherst gave addresses.

The first address was by Mr. Edwards. The greatest thing in the world is personality, and this we must develop. Are we willing to be nobodies in Christ's service? We must use our personality and take a stand. The only way to get this personality and power is through the contagion of Jesus Christ.

Prof. L. H. Miller spoke on the relation between the faculty and the Y. M. C. A. The ideal relationship between the two is of course harmony and co-operation—an ideal which does not exist. A faculty may be divided into four groups: the few who co-operate with the movement, the many who are passively favorable, the number who ignore the Y. M. C. A. and the few who are unfavorable toward it. To secure the help of certain of these men the association must enlist the best men in college and thus compel the regard of all.

Mr. W. H. Tinker gave a few suggestions to Y. M. C. A. presidents, advising them to master the history of their college association and of the whole movement. Remember that you are working for the future, and try chiefly to arouse interest.

True Strength in God

Prof. Miller spoke before the closing meeting of the conference yesterday afternoon on "Truth".

Several of the conference delegates remained to hear Rev. F. Boyd Edwards '00, who addressed the Y. M. C. A. in Jesup Hall last evening. True strength is in God, and where human means fail, the answer to any problem must be sought from Him. Because of man's control over the elements of nature, and his insight into the mysteries of chemistry, astronomy, and surgery, the average student is led to believe that man's absolute power over this world is a question of only a little more experiment and insight. But, although progress is continually being made in all lines of work, this very progress only discloses more field for advance. In every subject, a point is reached where no human strength avails and where the only answer is God. "We see not yet all things, but we see Jesus."

Additional Delegates

In addition to the list published in the last number of the Record, the following delegates were present:

Albany Medical college; W. C. Porter.

Amherst college; C. H. White.

Bates college; Mr. Jackson.

Colgate university; G. H. Simmons.

Mt. Hermon Academy; Dixon Van Blarcom.

New York university; C. M. Keefer.

Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute; H. C. Childs.

University of Vermont; C. F. Northrup.

John Hopkins university was not represented, and T. A. D. Jones, J. H. Twitchell and Frank Weinecker of Yale, and C. F. Chamberlain of New York university were not present.

The Haystack Centennial

The following men have been appointed to the committee in charge of the Haystack Centennial celebration to be held next October: Professors Hewitt, Mears, Milham and Wild. The committee met this morning to discuss plans. Prof. Mears was elected chairman. Four or five townspeople, members of the Congregational church, were present, and will probably be chosen as a second committee. There are prospects of a large meeting next fall. The centennial will probably be celebrated by the younger men, of whom Rev. Mr. Mott will be in charge.

For Relief of Japan

President Roosevelt has issued an appeal to the American people for the relief of the famine in northern Japan. At present Berkshire county has failed to respond, and Mrs. Henry Hopkins, a member of the Berkshire county division of the National Red Cross association, will receive and forward any contributions for the help of the suffering Japanese.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

Interclass Debating Trials

The trials for both the 1908 and 1909 interclass debating teams were held Friday evening in Philotechnian Hall. From the fourteen freshmen and six sophomores who contested, the judges, Prof. Russell, Asst.-Prof. Perry, and Mr. Rees, chose the following teams: 1908, McIntyre, H. Johnson, L. Fowle; Baemeister, alternate; 1909, Ernst, Pike, Robb; Maclay, alternate.

The time for the final debate has not yet been definitely fixed, but will probably be ten days to two weeks after Easter Monday. The question will be slightly different in wording from that used in the trials.

Dr. Gerig at Columbia

Dr. John Lawrence Gerig, instructor in French, will join the teaching staff of Columbia university next fall as lecturer on the Romance languages and Celtic philology. He will spend the summer in southern France, where he will be engaged in editing, in company with M. Picot of the French Academy, the hitherto unpublished biographical (Latin) letters of Antoine Arlier, documents which throw much light upon important events of the earlier part of the sixteenth century. He expects to publish the book within a year.

Mr. Ray Leaves Saturday

Mr. John Arthur Ray, instructor in French, will sail Saturday on the "Philadelphia" of the American line for Paris, where he will spend the summer. He goes to sustain his thesis written a year ago and to take the final examinations for the degree of "Docteur de l'U. Paris".

Dean's Notice

—The Easter vacation commences at 12:30 p. m. on Wednesday, April 11, 1906, and extends, through Wednesday, April 18, 1906, all regular college exercises being resumed at 8:15 o'clock Thursday morning, April 19, 1906.

Attention is hereby called to the following extract from the Administrative Rules:

"9. Absence before Christmas and Easter vacations—Attendance on the last college exercises before the Christmas and Easter vacations is required. Any student failing to fulfill this requirement, and not excused from the same by the Dean, will not only be charged with the consecutive absences thus incurred but will also have his allowance for the next semester diminished by a like amount. In no case will a student be permitted, in connection with any vacation, to exceed his allowance of absence in any department."

COLLEGE NOTES

Work will be begun on the college tennis courts as soon as the ground is in condition.

The New England intercollegiate tennis tournament will be held at Longwood, May 28, 29 and 30.

The following alumni have been in town: R. C. Seaver, F. G Squires 1900, Chase, Herrick 1904, Thing 1905, Stewart and Welch ex-'07.

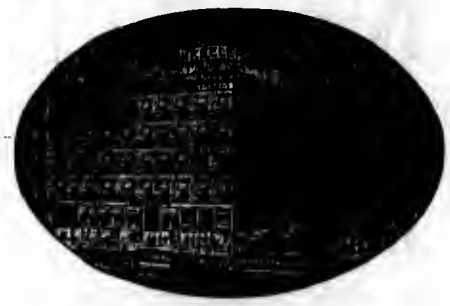
At a 1907 class meeting Saturday noon Townsend was elected class baseball manager. Domett has been chosen class baseball captain.

A letter was received last week by the basketball management from John R. Boyle, chairman of the registration committee of the A. A. U., stating that the Williams basketball team was suspended for playing the Washington Continentals at Schenectady on March 3.

On his return to Williamstown Friday evening, Dean Ferry was cheered and serenaded at his residence on Main street by a body of students. Dr. Ferry spoke briefly, thanking them for the welcome. The students then marched to Prof. Wild's residence on Southworth avenue, where cheers were given for the retiring dean.

Classical Association Formed

About 150 teachers of the classics in New England schools and colleges held a meeting at Springfield Friday and Saturday, at which the classical association of New England was formed. From Williams, Professors Hewitt, Howes, and Wild, and Assistant-Professors Clark and Wetmore were present.



The following officers were elected: President, Prof. Charles D. Adams (Dartmouth); vice-president. Prof. Charles H. Forbes (Andover); secretary-treasurer, George E. Howes (Williams); members of the executive committee, the officers and Rev. Thomas E. Murphy (Holy Cross) and Miss Charlotte Gulliver (Norwich, Conn.) for two years, and Prof. Helen Searles (Mt. Holyoke) and James J. Robinson (Lakeville, Conn.) for one year.

This executive committee will meet again in Springfield in about a month to decide on the place for next year's conference and to take up the details of the work. Many teachers who could not attend the conference have applied for admission to the association, and it is expected that its final membership will number several hundred.

'71—George E. McLean, Ph. D., LL. D., president of Iowa State university, has accepted an invitation to speak as the representative of the colleges and universities of the west at the inauguration of President Houston, of the University of Texas, on April 17.

FIRST BASEBALL GAME

With Union on Weston Field Saturday—The Line-up

Williams will meet Union at 2:30 p. m. Saturday on Weston Field, in the opening game of the season for both teams.

Dr. H. L. Towne '94, who is an English instructor at Union, has coached the latter's team this year. D. H. Osborne '05, who is in the Union Technical school, will probably take part in the game. Weston Field is quite dry, except near third base, and in the grass back of second. The line-up follows:

UNION; Hildreth ss, Rider 1b, capt., Hagar cf, Diver or Perry 3b, Burgin lf, Osborne or Baylies rf, Davis p, Harvey 2b, Vogt c.

WILLIAMS; Ford or Pierce p, Waters c, Harman or Gardner 1b, Wadsworth 2b, Young ss, Neild 3b, Hogan lf, Warren cf, Osterhout or Gardner rf.

ON THE DIAMOND

Even Break with Town Team—Yesterday's Game

In the game yesterday afternoon at Blackinton the baseball team made up for its defeat Saturday by defeating the Williamstown Athletics by a score of 15 to 7, in a loosely played and uninteresting contest. The 'varsity showed better form than hitherto and were charged with only five errors. They hit well, although many of the safe drives were fluky. The Athletics did not play anywhere near their game of Wednesday.

Williams scored first, Osterhout and Young crossing the plate on a double by Neild, and a little later Gardner and Neild came home on Waters' single. The Athletics tied the score in the third inning, but Harman's well-placed single with the bases full, and Wadsworth's two-base hit, placed the Purple three runs in the lead. The Athletics tied the score again in the fifth, but Waters scored on a single and errors by Keefe and Mears. Seven more runs were scored by the 'varsity.

Young at short-stop and Harman at first base played in good form, and Neild did well at both bat and field. Sears pitched well after the fifth. For the Athletics Prof. Lewis excelled at the bat.

Score by innings:

Athletics	0 1 3 0 3 0 0 0 0—	7	11	11
Williams	4 0 3 0 1 6 1 0 x—	15	15	5

'Varsity Beaten Saturday

A team composed of faculty, alumni, ex-professionals, town talent and students defeated the 'varsity 7 to 6 on the Blackinton diamond in November weather Saturday wholly because of wretched work by the infield. Ford pitched the first five innings, and was in good form, but one hit being made off him. A tendency to wildness toward the close got him into bad holes twice. Pierce, who

For Next Year's Football Coaching—Head Coach Not Yet Chosen

The Yale system of football coaching, begun under Morris Ely two years ago and continued by Mr. Ely and J. A. Hatch '03 last year, will be continued in 1906. Two plans have been under consideration for some time, one of a head coach with numerous assistants, the other, first proposed by L. L. Draper '00, of several coaches who should meet in New York before the football season began, determine upon the method of coaching, and divide up the coaching season in Williamstown between them. It has now been definitely decided to adopt the Yale system entire, except that last year's captain will not necessarily come back as next year's coach.

The coaching force for 1906 will, then, consist of a single head coach, with numerous other coaches from the alumni and others to assist him, that there may be always at least two coaches on the field. The head coach has not yet been definitely selected. Mr. Morris Ely, head coach for the last two years, will be unable to give any time to football coaching next fall owing to his law practice. The matter will be further discussed at the meeting of the athletic council called for April 28.

Northern N. Y. Alumni Gathering

The Williams alumni association of Northern New York held its annual smoker at the Troy Club, at Troy, N. Y., Thursday evening, April 12. A large number of alumni from Troy, Albany and vicinity attended. The president of the association, Justin Kellogg '65, was the presiding officer. The committee in charge consisted of the officers of the association and the executive committee, which was elected at the annual banquet held at Albany. The committee was as follows: President, Justin Kellogg '65 of Troy; vice-presidents, Hugh P. Blackinton ex-'87 of Hoosick Falls, and J. Warren Bott '85 of Albany; secretary, Frank C. Huyck ex-'96 of Albany; treasurer, W. S. Elder '90 of Troy; executive committee, Walter H. Cluett '93 of Troy, Fred E. Draper, Jr., '95 of Troy, Dr. Fred J. Cox '89 of Albany, Arthur P. Sayles '99 of Albany and Prof. Herbert L. Towne '94 of Schenectady.

Rev. Mr. J. H. Denison to Preach

Rev. John Hopkins Denison '90 will preach in the chapel Sunday morning and address the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall Sunday evening. Mr. Denison, the son of Rev. Dr. John H. Denison '62 of Williamstown, is pastor of the Central Congregational church, of Boston. He was for some time first assistant pastor of the Madison Square Presbyterian church, of New York city, under Dr. Parkhurst, and was later pastor of the Church of Sea and Land on the lower East side, in that city.

EASTER BASEBALL

Eleven Men at Training Table—Capt. Neild on Prospects

The work of the baseball squad has come along fast during vacation week. The weather has permitted morning practice on the old campus and the soft diamond at Blackinton has been used afternoons. Reports of the games played will be found in another column. Training table began a week ago, with the following, besides coach Dowd: Gardner, Hogan, Captain Neild 1906; Ford, Pierce, Warren 1907; Harman, Osterhout, Waters 1908; Wadsworth, Young 1909. In regard to the prospects of the season as a whole, and the work of the different candidates to date, Captain Neild says:

"The weather has kept the baseball squad in the cage later than usual this year but thanks to our new cage the squad has not felt the handicap as much as it would have done in previous years. The prospect for a good team is not as encouraging as it was last year at this time. However, the squad is working hard under the direction of Coach Dowd, and we are hoping for the best. We should have as good a fielding team as last year and if we can back up our pitchers by hitting we should win the majority of our games.

"For catcher the team is fortunate in having Waters to fill in the gap behind the bat left by the graduation of Captain McCarty. Southworth and Bates are the other catchers. Ford and Pierce are the leading candidates for pitchers with Sears and Williams as reserves. For first base Gardner and Harman are the candidates. The latter is the best fielder while Gardner appears to be the best hitter. For second base Wadsworth is the leading candidate, and at short stop Young is doing the best work. For the outfield Hogan and Warren of last year's team will probably play left and center field respectively with Osterhout as leading candidate for right."

Boston Alumni Smoker

The Williams alumni association of Boston will hold its last smoker of the season at the University club, 270 Beacon street, Boston, Saturday, April 21, at 7:30 p. m. An entertainment will be given by Mr. John Thomas, a well-known humorist, and others, following which a business meeting will be held to formulate plans for next season. All graduates and all present and former undergraduates and teachers of the college are invited. The charge for non-members is $1.75. The committee in charge consists of James R. Dunbar '71, Macgregor Jenkins '90, Irvin McD. Garfield '93, Olcott O. Partridge '94, Romney Spring '94, Edward A. Watson '97, James F. Bacon '98, Philip R. Dunbar 1900.

TRIP OF MUSICAL CLUBS

Unusually Successful Concert at Englewood

The first of the two concerts given on the New York trip was held in the Berkeley Lyceum, 44th St., near Fifth avenue, Monday evening, April 16. The audience was very small owing to the fact that tickets were not put on sale at the box-office until late in the afternoon of the same day. The entertainment started at 8:45. The numbers were given smoothly, perhaps the best work being done by the banjo club. The solos by Pevear 1907 received much applause. The imitations and monologue by Pierce 1907 were funny and well appreciated.

The attendance at the second concert, held Tuesday evening at the Lyceum, Englewood, N. J. was large. The work of the clubs was far superior to that at New York Monday and compared very favorably with that of the Cornell and Yale clubs, which appear in Englewood every year. The concert was easily the best given by the clubs this year. The work of the reader, and of Gale '06 and Smith '07 in their swing and exchange banjo duet, received the most applause. About seventy-five alumni and students were on the stage at the singing of "The Mountains" at the close. The members of the clubs were entertained at the houses of alumni and and townspeople, and a dance was held in the Englewood armory after the concert. Van Baar's orchestra of New York furnished the music. The decorations in the armory were in yellow and white bunting with the 1905 basketball championship banner hung across the end of the hall.

Freshmen to Oppose Summer Ball

At a meeting of the freshman debating team held before vacation, it was decided that the wording of the question remain unchanged. The negative of the question was chosen; i. e., opposing summer baseball, and Ernst elected captain. The debaters will speak in the following order: Robb, Pike, Ernst.

A Suggestion for History 8

The early history of the college is, we venture, practically unknown to the average undergraduate. Beyond the fact that Ephraim Williams founded the college and Mark Hopkins made it, he can recollect little except such occasional events as the haystack meeting and the story of Bryant and "Thanatopsis." Nor is this a slur on the undergraduate, for its cause is lack of opportunity rather than lack of interest. Information is hard to run down and poorly classified. Of the standard histories, the accurate one stops fifty years back, the more detailed one is too critical and too hard to get hold of for general use.

The few short articles that have appeared in the Lit. this year have merely whetted our appetite for more. The rebellion of 1808, the dark days when the college came near moving to Amherst, the story of the old Gym.—a multitude of subjects and episodes suggest themselves on which information should be more wide-spread. That even in recent years, such events as the story of Goodrich Hall and the origin of the March seventeenth celebration are generally unknown, shows that something is needed to keep our college history from oblivion.

The Record can scarcely ask for a chair of the "History of Williams College," or a new history of the college, although the latter, at any rate, is sorely needed. In these days when next year's new courses are being whipped into shape before announcement, however, we do suggest that no more popular course could be given than one on this topic. If every American should know his own country's history first, every college man should know his alma mater's history by the same reasoning. Perhaps such a "History 8" would be too popular, would not be hard enough to be "practical", but educational value does not depend alone on the difficulty of the subject taught. At any rate let us ask for at least a series of lectures on the subject, for something to shed light on this darkness where there should be no darkness.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

Editor of The Record:

Recently there came into my hands a copy of the constitution and by-laws of the Intercollegiate Athletic Association; and the reading of it has suggested this question: after all, what are the necessary and the proper qualifications for playing in intercollegiate games? Now, at the risk of being tried and banned because of dangerous heresy, and woeful defection from the cause of pure, amateur athletics, I am going to give to this question, what, in my opinion, is a sufficient answer, and I do so by saying:

1. A player in intercollegiate games should be a bona fide student in the college he represents. A bona fide student is a student who has presented satisfactory qualifications at his entrance into college, and who is maintaining satisfactory scholarship in college.

2. Players in intercollegiate games should be the best athletes in college; they should represent the best athletic ideals of the college.

3. Players in intercollegiate games should represent worthy ideals of gentlemanly and sportsmanlike conduct. They should always play a clean and manly game. They should prefer to lose a game to winning it by unfair means. And now comes the head and front of my heresy; I do not believe that any other qualifications whatsoever are necessary or expedient. I will not attempt at this time to justify this belief of mine; I will only say that it is a conclusion to which I have been led from rather intimate connection with college athletics during a period of more than twenty years. I have ventured to make this statement in the hope that it will provoke a more thoughtful and a more thorough discussion of this matter of college athletics.

A NATURE NUMBER

Review of April Literary Monthly by Prof. Howes

Any one who attached himself to the Williams community for the first time last fall, whether as a student or as a member of the Faculty, received perhaps as one of his strongest impressions, during his first few days, the feeling that traditionally, at least, the "Mountains" formed one of the most potent factors in the education and development of the best that is in man. One of the first songs that he heard was "The Mountains." In the Y. M. C. A. reception he was welcomed by President Hopkins who told him that the best influences at Williams were the men and the mountains, and that he should cultivate both. Soon came "Mountain Day," and many availed themselves of the opportunity of becoming acquainted with Greylook.

Such an issue as the April number of the Monthly would hardly be possible, surely it would not be probable, except in a college with a beautiful outlook upon Nature. Evidently the "mountains" and the valleys and the brooks and the woods do awaken in us a feeling for the beautiful in Nature. Of the seven numbers in the Monthly four—two in prose and two in verse—are directly inspired by a love for the beauties in Nature, while a fifth is a most sympathetic appreciation of a poet of Nature.

The first of these sketches is entitled "The Phantom of the Glen Brook," by Shepard Ashman Morgan. The writer, we do not hesitate to say, has climbed the mountains and roamed the hills and penetrated the woods. His ideal of young womanhood, Margaret Hale, though she is "The Phantom of the Glen Brook", is only one figure in his broad view of Nature. Two sentences especially showed the writer's skill. We are cleverly introduced to her by the words: "Margaret Hale rode well." Again, as young Bruce sees her down the bridle path, after he has been wondering whether there might not be in the trees and mountains a wood maiden, a "quintessence of this green and blue creation", he refers to her, not by name, but more subtly by an earlier description, here repeated, "The more substantial part of the vision was clad in a garment which seemed to partake of the soft and unobtrusive shade which one finds on the under side of the hemlock bough."

I suppose the reviewer's duty is to discriminate. There seems a desire for antithesis in the expression, "balancing the relative merits of energetic contemplation and contemplative energy." As I said before, however, the sketch is a fine bit of description of Nature.

Spring Street, Williamstown

The second "Nature Study" is "The Children of the Pool," by G. M. Objectively, the sketch is merely outlined; subjectively, it betrays the heart in sympathy with Nature in her quieter moods.

The other two tributes to Nature are in verse. "The Awakening," by W. A. G., is especially appropriate to the season. There seems to be a verse lacking in the second stanza. "Chiaroscuro," by Stanton Budington Leeds, is a dainty bit of verse, in which the skies above, rather than the lower aspects of Nature, have furnished the inspiration.

The literary criticism in the issue appears in "The Prophet of the Unfulfilled Hope," by Stanton Budington Leeds. One is not surprised to find the writer of the verse just referred to as the sympathetic critic or rather interpreter of a poet of Nature, Edward Rowland Sill. Our interpreter tells us, "Only a few are acquainted with the facts of his life and likewise in the great world of literature only a few know his work." As the present reviewer, in both these respects, would have to be counted, not among the "few" but among the many, it were idle to attempt to criticize. He may say, however, that the impression from the sketch is of a man of strong poetic feeling entering into the spirit of the poetry of another. We are glad to note, in the writer himself, both religious tolerance and optimism. Is there not, however, a little of dogmatism, out of harmony with his religious tolerance, in this sentence, "Among Sill's shorter verse 'The Fool's Prayer' is best known, but those who esteem it his best are mere superficial critics not acqueinted with his work as a whole, the whole that breathes of the man himself."(The itstics are the reviewer's). The best tribute to the worth of the sketch is, perhaps, the statement that the writer brings before us a poet who, we realize, was close to Nature in her various moods, and makes us eager to turn to his poems themselves.

The one real tale in the issue is "The Consummation," by William Richmond Witherell. This takes me back to my college days. I have just discovered Poe. I read one after another his subtle, weird tales, from The Gold Bug to The Murders in the Rue Morgue, The Mystery of Marie Roget, etc. I wonder if the present writer has not saturated himself with Poe. The story has a distinctly Poe flavor.

The story is well told, is really a psychological study. One could wish, however, the omission of the grotesque feature of the ghoulish banquet on the murdered man's heart. I query whether the probability of such a weird tale, which carries with it extreme improbability, is strengthened by the statement of the narrator, "I am resolved to make this an exact truthful narrative."

Another bit of poetry, subtler than the nature verses, is found in "Ways Forgot," by Bernard Westermann. This grows upon one stronger with each re-reading. It is the darkness groping for the light.

All in all, a worthy number, largely a reflection of the atmosphere and natural advantages of Williams College.

See Me About a Position.

I want to have a personal talk with every Williams College 1906 man who will be in the market for a good position in business or technical work on or after July 1st.

If you will call and see me at the New Richmond House, North Adams, Mass., at any time to suit your convenience, from April 27th to 28th, inclusive (afternoon or evening), I can tell you frankly just what the prospects are of securing the sort of position you want and are fitted to fill. I can give you full information concerning a great many of the best opportunities for young college men in all lines of work in the United States and several foreign countries.

It will pay you, I feel sure, to see me before deciding definitely what to do after graduation.

pitched the last four innings, was hit hard, but none of the runs made off him were earned, the 'varsity making three errors in the seventh and two in the eighth and ninth. Mr. Lewis, who had taken kindly to Pierce's delivery in the other innings, struck out with one out and two on bases in the ninth.

At the bat the 'varsity, against good pitching, made few hits, but made them count. In the ninth with two out and two runs to tie, Pierce got a hit, stole second and third and scored on an error off Wadsworth. On a low throw to second Wadsworth made third and was called out at the plate by a poor decision.

GREEK ATHLETICS

Discussed by the Classical Society—A Fifty-five Foot Jump

At the meeting of the Classical Society held in the Library Monday evening, April 9th, "Greek and Roman Athletics" were discussed. Neild '06 read a paper dealing with the place of bodily training in the social systems of the various Greek tribes and the different systems adopted by them. The principal "track events" of the Olympic games were described—running and jumping. A record of 55 feet in the broad jump has come down to us.

Gardner '06 dealt with the more strenuous exercises of boxing and wrestling, showing how these events differed from the modern out growth. The two best known contests were the Pancration, a promiscuous rough and tumble fight, and the Pentathlon, an "all-round championship" in which only a versatile athlete could expect victory. In this last throwing the quoit and spear-hurling were introduced. Discus throwing and ball playing were also popular. Training was carried on by the Greeks and the professional gymnasts of the Roman games even more strictly and scientifically than today. A brief discussion of several main points followedhe reading of the papers.

It was voted to elect officers at the final meeting of the society, on May 8. The meeting for April 24, at which Greek music was to have been one of the topics for discussion, will probably be postponed until May 1st, that Mr. J. B. Lord 1905 can be present to assist.

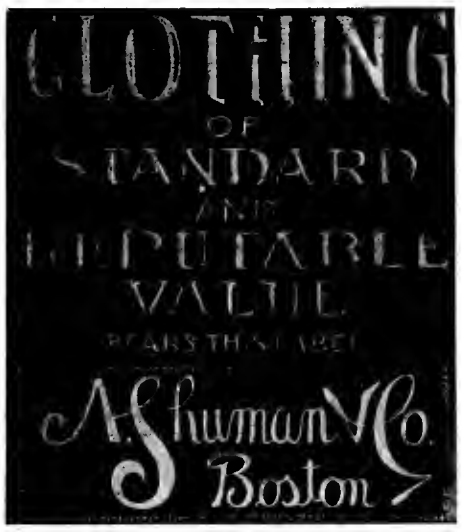
THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.



Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

Specimens from the Bad Lands

The recent arrival of several new specimens which have undergone restoration at the American Museum of Natural History, has completed that portion of the geological collection which consists of fossils from the Bad Lands, of South Dakota. These were procured several years ago by Prof. Cleland and, with the exception of the skull of the Mososaur described a short time ago, formed the Wells collection.

Most prominent among them is the complete skull and jaws of a Titanotherium, a huge herbivorous animal resembling a rhinoceros, nearly as large as an elephant, with a saddle-shaped horned skull. The brain cavity is very small, denoting a low order of intelligence. A set of casts shows the animal as it existed in life, and illustrates clearly the development of the horns. The college now possesses an almost complete skeleton of this monster.

Another specimen is the skull of a Caenopus, an early species of rhinoceros. This species flourished in North America several million years ago, but finally became extinct probably owing to the increase of cold. Besides these the skulls of the Elotherium, a hog-like creature, the Oreodon, a connecting link between the deer and the hog, and ancestors of the giraffe and hog have been secured.

TWENTIETH REUNION

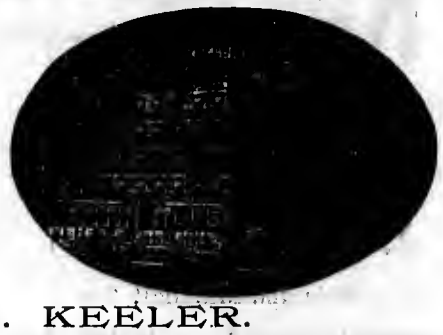
To be Held by 1886 Next Commencement—48 Members Living

The class of 1886, which will celebrate the twentieth anniversary of its graduation at Williamstown this June, is making extensive plans for the reunion. Of the fifty-two graduated from Williams twenty years ago this June, forty-eight are now alive, and it is expected that thirty-eight of these will be present at the reunion.

The plans for the reunion are in the hands of a committee of five, composed of Edgar C. Leonard of Albany, John B. Carse of New York city, Rev. C. B. F. Pease of Plantsville, Conn., Theodore M. Taft of New York city, Judge Sanborn G. Tenney of Williamstown, and D. Chauncey Brewer of Boston. The committee has engaged for class headquarters the old Walters house, next to the Alpha Delta Phi house at 106 Main street. The reunion banquet will be held at the Greylock hotel Tuesday evening, June 26. The men of '86 will make themselves known by means of some distinctive headgear bearing their numerals.

The twenty year class, graduating fifty-two strong, has lost four men by deaths, Edward L. Dixon, Walter D. Mapes, John Person and William H. Smith. The forty-eight members are distributed in twelve states of the Union, and in France. The class contains more lawyers than members of any other profession, there being twelve, including the class secretary, George W. Anderson, a Boston school commissioner; D. Chauncey Brewer, to whose efforts is due the present system of a resident general Y. M. C. A. secretary, and Judge Tenney of Williamstown. There are nine ministers and eight teachers in the class, including Dean Appleby of the Minnesota School of Mines, Paul C. Ransom, headmaster of the Florida and Adirondack school, and William M. Marvin, principal of the Portland, Me., High school. There are seven manufacturers, including Josiah M. Lasell, one of the donors of Lasell Gymnasium, four doctors and eight in miscellaneous lines of work.

COLLEGE NOTES



President Hopkins preached in the Lee Congregational Church on Easter Sunday.

The old board track on the old campus has been taken up and sold. A new track will be built next winter with more rounded corners. The matter will come up before the athletic council for consideration at their meeting called for April 28.

There is strong probability of a baseball game with Manhattan on Weston Field on Saturday, April 28, the first open date. Manhattan plays Yale Thursday; and, if they can schedule another game for Friday, will play in Williamstown Saturday.

The basketball management has received a letter from the collegiate basketball rules committee requesting the opinion of Williams upon their rules for this year. The more important rules on which criticism is requested are dribbling and allowing the player first touching ball out of bounds to retain possession of it.

AID FROM COLLEGE

For Victims of California Disaster —$334.50 Contributed

At the first collection ever taken in the Thompson Memorial chapel, made at vesper service yesterday for the benefit of the victims of the San Francisco disaster $334.50 was contributed by the students and faculty present in cash and pledges. Further subscriptions made to Curtiss '06, to President Hopkins, or to Mr. A. E. Evans, at the Williamstown National bank, by those who were absent or were not then able to give what they felt like contributing, if given before tomorrow night, can be sent at once to San Francisco.

Similar collections were taken in all the town churches yesterday. The money contributed will be sent through Mr. Evans Tuesday to Governor Curtis Guild, Jr., who will turn it over to Kidder, Peabody and Co., the treasurers of the fund, by whom it will be shipped at once to California. It is urged that all college subscriptions be given to Curtiss '06 or to President Hopkins that the exact mount can be determined separately from the amount sent by the town.

Statues from Mrs. Thompson

President Hopkins is in receipt of a letter from Mr. Edward Robinson, assistant director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, stating that three statues have been sent to the college as a gift of Mrs. Frederick F. Thompson. The statues, from the Giustiniani collection, are of Mercury, of Septimus Severus and of a warrior. A fourth, damaged in packing, is being repaired and will be sent as soon as possible. A large part of the Giustinani collection was given to the Metropolitan museum by Mrs. Thompson. The statues will not be unpacked until Prof. Rice returns from Europe. The statues are genuine specimens of ancient art, but not for the classic period. The place of the statues is as yet wholly undecided.

Springfield T. S. Wednesday

Williams will meet the Springfield Y. M. C. A. Training School in the second baseball game of the season at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday, on Weston Field. Every team which has played against the Training school nine has scored over ten runs. Purinton, catcher of the Springfield nine, is a former Bates college captain. The batting-orders of both teams follow:

WILLIAMS: Wadsworth 2b, Warren cf, Young ss, Neild 3b, Hogan lf, Osterhout rf, Waters c, Harman 1b, Pierce p.

SPRINGFIELD T. S: Honhart ss, Cobb rf. Purinton c, Gray 3b, Wright cf, Hawkes 2b, Prettyman 1b, Bookland lf, Lawson or Shean p.

A GOOD BEGINNING

Williams Shuts Out Union in First Game of Season Saturday

In the opening game of the season Williams shut out Union Saturday afternoon by the comfortable score of 8 to 0. The game was notably free from misplays, only two errors being charged to the Purple and three to the visitors. The game was won in the first inning when Williams scored seven runs and made five out of its eight hits. After the fourth inning the interest flagged, for no further runs were made and only one safe hit was sent from the bat.

Prof. Russell threw the first ball across the plate and Ford promptly retired the batter on strikes. In Williams' half the first three men bunted safely. A passed ball, a gift, a wild throw by the shortstop, and hits by Ford and Warren produced seven tallies. Williams' last run came in the fourth on a hard drive by Osterbont, after Neild and Hogan had drawn bases on balls.

Williams fielded snappily, a stop of a hard grounder by Wadsworth featuring, although Union's tendency to hit into the air made chances easy. Ford was very wild, but did good work in pulling himself out of tight holes in the third and fourth. The work on the bases was not so good as the score would indicate, as Union's catcher was unable to prevent base-stealing. The Union team showed little baseball ability, except in the box and at second base. D. H. Osborne '05 entered the game in the sixth inning, but had no chance to distinguish himself.

OUR KNOWLEDGE OF GOD

Powerful Address Before Y.M.C.A. by Rev. J. H. Denison '90

Rev. John Hopkins Denison '90, pastor of the Central Congregational church, of Boston, spoke before the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall last evening on "Our Knowledge of God." The address was unusually powerful and carried conviction by its earnestness.

He said that most people who professed themselves Christians had a very hazy idea of what God was like. One man expressed his conception by saying that he thought of God as "an oblong blur." This is the trouble with present-day Christianity. Unless a man has a deep conviction of what God means to him, he has not faith, and can accomplish nothing. Most of us are polytheists, in that we conceive our ideas of God from several totally different aspects. Four of these different connections are clearly marked in modern thought.

The first is the God of Power, the Great Unknown the hem of Whose robe is sometimes touched by the questioning fingers of the scientist. Each day, almost, discloses some new mystery, which leads us to wonder at the infinite Power that moves the world. Another idea is the God of Beauty, the God of poetry and art. The glories of the sunset, the majesty of the mountains and the limitless power of the sea have always moved mankind to feelings of reverence and awe, which stir vague longings to know of the Father who keeps His children in this wonderful world.

We have our beliefs also in the God of Righteousness. A man's ideal of conduct is really his God, whether the ideal be high or low. Lastly there is the God of Religion. This to many is the "oblong blur". Many people go through the forms of worship, and subscribe to a creed, who do not know what they worship, and whose religious life is not sincere. Their attitude is that of a boy to a rich uncle whose whims and crotchets must be humored, in order to obtain favors.

But before we can have faith, we must combine these four conceptions of a God of power, of beauty, of righteousness, and of religion, into one Vision which shall embrace them all, such as the vision of Isaiah. The only way to thus attain the sense of the reality of the Universal God, which realization alone is faith, is to see the vision through the eyes of Jesus Christ, who saw clearly, while we unaided, can only grope.

BUILDING OPERATIONS

Walls of Berkshire Hall Up By June —Contractor Smedley in Town

With the present force of 48 men at work and a continuance of favorable weather, it is expected that Berkshire Hall will be ready for roofing by the end of May. Although the girders are in place, the floors will not be laid until the walls are up. The building will not be painted to correspond with East and South, but will be left in the natural dark red of the brick, with white marble facings around the four sides just beneath the first-floor windows and below the eaves of the roof. All of the windows are to be trimmed with white marble, those on the west side second floor living large marble arches over them. The facing of the roof parapet will be terra-cotta with inlaid festoon panels. Each of the Western entrances will have marble porticos, flanked by two marble columns, and there will be a marble entrance on the north end. A retaining wall and terrace are to be built north of the building, and The Hermitage, now used a as a chart house, will be torn down after the dormitory is finished.

The dormitory will be strictly fire-proof. It will be divided into three entirely separate divisions by brick fire-walls. The flooring will be composed of two alternate layers of concrete and wood, the stairways will be of iron frame-work, with black slate treads, and the roof will be concrete with a tar and gravel covering. The outer bricks are of a very hard variety best adapted to resisting fire. The steam-fitting will be done by Cleghorn & Co., the plumbing by Wells & Newton, and the plaster-work by McIntosh —all Boston firms. It is confidently expected that Berkshire Hall will be completed by August 15 and ready for occupancy next Fall.

With the return of Mr. Smedley, who has been at Pinehurst, N. C., recovering from an attack of typhoid fever, work on South college and the swimming tank has been resumed. It is expected that the middle of next week will see the South college extension built to the first floor. Specifications have been sent out for the concrete work and tiling, and until these contracts have been sub-let it will be impossible to give an iden of the time when the pool will be completed.

The Spirit of Sympathy

Those of the college body who contributed over three hundred dollars in a few minutes to aid those injured in the San Francisco disaster made a notable expression of their feeling for their suffering fellow-men. College men suffer in the eyes of the world because the world believes them to hold a bit aloof from other mortals. In no more fitting way could Williams men go to prove in this great crisis that they are members of "The Greater Fraternity", that they can show a nobler spirit than "college spirit", than by the action of yesterday. There still remains an opportunity for those unable to be present at yesterday's vesper service to give some expression to the sympathy which must be in their hearts if they are members of this greater brotherhood. The fund should be raised to as large an amount as possible before tomorrow night.

The 1905-1906 Lit.

With the current number the 1905-1906 Lit. editors turn over the monthly to a new board. Now that the balance can be struck, we can see that the past year has been one of progress. The Lit., while losing none of its old-time dignity, has kept itself interesting to the college, and made itself a Williams publication in something more than name by keeping local color in its articles. For some it has been made more readable by publication of stories which, if not so deep, or of such great literary value as more studied efforts, charm by light handling of plot. We mention "In the Parlor Car" and "The Secretary and the Gunboat" as the best examples of this type. As a whole, however, the short stories have lacked originality, and the more thoughtful shown a surprising turn toward the pessimistic. Perhaps the best developed was "The Man in the Gallery."

Each board must be superior in something. Two years ago the thoughtful philosophical essay was predominant, this year it has been rare. We trust that the new board will be able to remedy this scarcity, while continuing the intelligent literary criticism of 1905-6. The successful allegory was a notable effort for an undergraduate publication.

The Monthly's verse has been its leading feature. Its range has been unusual, from the many melodious descriptive poems of nature to the more ambitious narrative and philosophical verse, and its quality uniformly high. Perhaps the best of the year was the dramatic poem "Until He Cometh." To choose the best of the poems of nature would be difficult. Sanctum, in interpreting the literary and scholastic side of college life, has broadened the field of the Lit. Its stand has been bold, its treatment of difficult topics, in reminding us of college ideals from which we may be falling away, unconventional and eminently sane.

The work of publishing the monthly is not, we trust, so unappreciated as it appears on the surface. Sanctum's "easy chair" is an editorial fiction, especially when there are but two helpers instead of the usual six. Sanctum does not do his work out doors, we cannot enter his den and see the busy hours he employs in pruning and remodeling contributions — and Sanctum would not want us there if we could— but it is to these hours that the excellence of the form of the literary matter the past year is due. Inspiration may be a will-o'-the-wisp, but good literary expression grows only by careful tending. No artist can bring out the inspiration in him without technique, and in technique the Lit. has come very close to its ideal goal in the year just past.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

Editor of the Record:

In connection with the deliberations of the collegiate basketball rules committee concerning the rules for next year, for which Williams has been asked to offer suggestions, the following proposals have occurred to me as the simplest means of doing away with the evils which have grown up in the playing of the game.

1. No player shall attempt to take possession of the ball while it is in the hands of another player.

2. Guarding shall consist solely in intercepting the passage of the ball from the player who is being guarded to some other player.

3. In guarding, no player shall use any part of his person to interfere with the free movement of the player he is guarding or to move this player out of his position.

4. The player who is being guarded must pass the ball before the official shall have counted three, otherwise the ball shall go into the possession of the player who is guarding him.

I suggest the following advantages from the adoption of these proposed regulations:

1. They will eliminate practically every occasion for rough and illegitimate playing.

2. They will greatly reduce the number of fouls during the game.

3. They will materially increase the speed of the game.

4. They will greatly facilitate a satisfactory direction of the game by the officials.

5. They will do much to make basketball the sort of game it was designed to be; a game in which quickness in judgment and action, accuracy in throwing the ball, and team work are to be the essential factors; rather than weight, brute strength, and ability to sustain hard physical shocks and strains, which are the most important factors in the game as it is now played.

A. MITCHELL '07 IN FINALS

In Golf Tournament at Lakewood —L. Mitchell '07 Qualifies

A. L. White of Harvard, the 1904 intercollegiate champion, defeated Ardo W. Mitchell '07 in the final round of the open golf tournament held at Lakewood, N. J., Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the first big tournament of the year in the north. There were 82 golfers in the tournament, including Pierre A. Proal of Seabright. W. T. West of Princeton, a semi-finalist in the 1904 national amateur championship, Fred Herreshoff of Yale, a runner-up in the national championship: Howard J. Gee of Princeton and others.

In the qualifying round A. Mitchell was second with 162. L. Mitchell '07 fifth with 166. L. Mitchell was beaten in the first round by D. C. Clark, Jr., of Princeton. 1 up. 21 holes. A. Mitchell played good golf in the preliminary rounds, winning his way to the finals by defeating C. L. Tappin of Garden City. In the final round Mitchell drove poorly, but outplayed White at the short game. With the match all square and four holes to play, Mitchell went off his game, and White won 3 up and 1 to go. The cards follow:

White:	Out—6 4 6 5 4 4 6 5 6—46
	In—3 4 4 5 5 4 5 5 x—35
Mitchell:	Out—4 4 6 5 4 5 5 6 6—45
	In—5 4 5 4 4 5 6 6 x—39

On account of the absence of one of the members of the freshman debating team, the date of the interclass debate has not yet been fixed. The sophomore debaters will speak in the following order: Johnson, Fowle, McIntyre. The latter has been elected captain.

112TH COMMENCEMENT

Program of Events for Graduation Week Announced

The program of events for Commencement week in June is now completed with the exception of the time of the dedication of the Gargoyle Gate. No exercises will be held in connection with Berkshire Hall.

The one hundred and twelfth Commencement of the college will take place on Wednesday, June 27. Examinations end June 20. The alumni meeting, held for forty years in the old chapel, will be held for the first time in Jesup Hall. The alumni baseball game, usually played on the Monday preceding Commencement, conflicts with a 'varsity game at Amherst on that day, and will be played on the afternoon of Commencement day. The dedication of the Gargoyle Gate was postponed from last year on account of rain. The principal events are as follows:—

SATURDAY, JUNE 23. Afternoon: Amherst-Williams baseball game, Weston Field. Evening: Graves Prize speaking contest. Congregational church.

SUNDAY, JUNE 24. Morning: Baccalaureate sermon by President Hopkins. Afternoon: Open air prayer-meeting, Mission Park.

MONDAY, JUNE 25. Annual June meeting of Board of Trustees. Afternoon: Williams-Amherst baseball game, Pratt Field, Amherst. Evening: "Moonlights" Rhetorical exhibition, Congregational church: Musical clubs concert, Library campus.

TUESDAY, JUNE 26. Class day. Morning: Annual meeting of the Williams College Alumni Association, in Jesup Hall, presided over by Charles T. Barney '70. Afternoon: Alumni class reunions: 1906 class day exercises: Williams-Wesleyan baseball game, Middletown. Evening: Reunion banquets of classes of 1856, 1866, 1871, 1876, 1881, 1886, 1891, 1896, 1901, and 1904, in Pittsfield, Williamstown and North Adams: Senior prom., in Lasell Gymnasium.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 27. Commencement Day. Morning: Annual Phi Beta Kappa meeting: Commencement exercises, Congregational church Noon: Alumni banquet, Lasell Gymnasium. Afternoon: Alumni baseball game, Weston Field.

THURSDAY, JUNE 28. Evening: Banquet of class of 1906, Greylock Hotel.

See Me About a Position.

I want to have a personal talk with every Williams College man who will be in the market for a good position in business or technical work on or after July 1st.

If you will call and see me at the New Richmond House, North Adams, Mass., at any time to suit your convenience, from April 27th to 28th, inclusive (afternoon or evening), I can tell you frankly just what the prospects are of securing the sort of position you want and are fitted to fill. I can give you full information concerning a great many of the best opportunities for young college men in all lines of work in the United States and several foreign countries.

It will pay you, I feel sure, to see me before deciding definitely what to do after graduation.

S. R. MILLER,
Representing HAPGOODS.

Committee to Investigate Courses

A committee of five members of the faculty, consisting of Professors Nelson (chairman), Clarke, Howes, Morton and Wahl, has been appointed to investigate the relative amount of time spent by the students on their various courses, and on their college interests outside of the class room. This action was taken to accomplish three results: to ascertain the relative time spent by students on their different courses and whether there is a great discrepancy between the work required by some departments and that required by others; to give instructors an idea of how much time is required in the preparation of the work they assign; and to find out whether an undue amount of time is spent by students upon their athletic and other outside interests. A similar investigation was conducted by Harvard three years ago.

The committee has sent out blanks to men of every grade of scholarship in every course in college. The results will be very carefully tabulated and will show the average amount of work put by an "A man" upon a course, by a "B man", and so on. An exhaustive report of the findings of the committee will be made to the president.

Smith '02 Asst. Editor Atlantic

During the absence of Bliss Perry '81, editor of the Atlantic Monthly, the present assistant editor will take up his work. Harry J. Smith '02, who has been on the Atlantic's staff for several months, will temporarily assume the duties of assistant editor. Mr. Perry has obtained leave of absence for six months, and will sail on July 4 for an extensive European tour.

Boston Alumni Smoker

The closing meeting of the year of the Boston alumni was held at the University club, 270 Beacon street, Boston, Saturday. The program was as announced in the last issue of The Record. The attendance was small. After the smoker a short business meeting was held at which plans for next year were discussed.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

The N. E. I. A. A. track meet will be held on Worcester Oval May 18 and 19. The place of the meet was not settled until the involved financial dispute resulting from poor local management at Worcester last year was adjusted.

O. R. Lovejoy, of New York, of the National Child Labor Commission, will be unable to address the Good Government Club. Only one more address will be given before the club this year, probably by Herbert B. Clark '03, of North Adams. A meeting of the club will be held soon for the purpose of electing officers for next year.

At the ordination on Thursday of G. M. Bryant as pastor of the Church of Christ, the famous church in White Oaks founded and so long maintained by Prof. Albert Hopkins '27, President Hopkins was moderator, and among those present were Dr. Bascom, Prof. Wild and Rev. W. R. Stocking ex-'69.

Taxation Trip Before Legislature

After a long struggle the Massachusetts legislature committee on taxation secured on Thursday by a vote of 9 to 7 its order to travel to the state college towns, including Williamstown, to investigate local conditions. This was considered the first sign of victory for the supporters of the Feiker bill, at present in the hands of that committee. On Saturday, however, house chairman Davenport brought it about that the order was laid on the table until today. There is much friction between the house leaders and the committee in charge of the bill.

OBITUARIES

'55—Hon. Henry William Seymour, a prominent lawyer and member of Congress, died at his home in Washington, D. C., on April 7, aged 72. Mr. Seymour was born at Brockport, N. Y., July 21, 1834. He attended the Brockport Collegiate institute and Canandaigua academy and graduated from Williams in the class of 1855. Entering the law office of Hill, Cogger and Porter at Albany, he at the same time attended the Albany Law school, and was admitted to the bar in 1856. He was subsequently engaged in the manufacture of reapers at Lockport, in the lumber business and in farming. Removing to Michigan, he was elected to the State House of Representatives from Cheboygan in 1880; in 1882 he was elected state senator from the same district, and was re-elected in 1886. At the death of Seth C. Moffett, he was elected to the national House of Representatives, and represented the Michigan district in the 50th Congress, from 1887 to 1889.

'57—General Merritt Andrews Barber, LL. D., a retired army officer, died at his home, 1464 Broadway, Watervliet, N. Y., Thursday, at the age of 69 years. He was born at Pownal, Vt., July 31, 1836, the son of Benjamin Barber. After graduation, he studied law at the Ohio State Law college, graduating in 1859, and practiced law at Pownal. Entering the Civil war as a private, he became lieutenant of the 10th Vermont regiment. In 1864 he was commissioned captain and assistant adjutant general, U. S. A. He participated in the Antietam, Gettysburg, and Wilderness campaigns, Sherman's Shenandoah campaign, was wounded at Fisher's Hill, and was at the storming of Petersburg, Lee's surrender and Johnston's surrender. At the close of the war he was mustered out of service, and later was brevetted captain U. S. V. for bravery at the Wilderness and Major of U. S. V. Entering the regular service, he became assistant adjutant general and lieutenant colonel. In the war with Spain, he was assistant adjutant general, and finally adjutant general under General Otis in the Philippines. In 1901 Williams conferred upon him the degree of LL. D. He is survived by a cousin, Hon. Daniel J. Barber '59 of North Adams.

The Moonlights

The Sophomore and Junior orations for the Moonlight contest will be due April 30. Ten speakers are appointed equally from the Junior and Sophomore classes who deliver original orations on the evening before Commencement in competition for five prizes. The prizes are appropriated from the income of a fund given by Elizur Smith, Esq., of Lee, Mass.

Van Vechten Prize Contest

Seniors intending to enter the Vechten prize speaking contest must hand in their names at once to Mr. Lewis. A meeting will be held for all contestants in 16 Jesup Hall Wednesday at 2 o'clock sharp. THE ATHLETIC COUNCIL

Important Meeting Sat'day—Freshman Eligibility Unquestioned

An important meeting of the Athletic Council will be held Saturday evening at 7:30 in Jesup Hall. Besides the eight members of the council in Williamstown, Irvin M. Garfield '92, of Boston, will be present, as well as, from New York, President Henry W. Banks '85 and James A. Hatch 03, last year's assistant football coach, representing the Alumni Athletic Association. F. E. Draper, Jr., '95, of Troy, will probably be unable to attend.

The first important matter to be taken up at the meeting will be the question of joining the Intercollegiate Athletic Association of the United States, formed as a result of the National Intercollegiate Football Conference held in New York Dec. 28 of last year. The question of football coaching for next year will be considered and the basketball and track insignia voted on. The usual number of appropriations will be voted, ordinary and extraordinary, and in this connection decision will be made as to a new board track, if time remains. It is given out that probably the question of freshmen in athletics will not be considered, as nothing very definite on this matter has been heard from any colleges but Amherst and Brown.

ON NEW YORK STAGE

Cap and Bells at Carnegie Lyceum To-morrow

Cap and Bells will give its New York city performance of "The Man from Mexico" tomorrow evening, at the Carnegie Lyceum, 57th St. and Seventh Avenue, at 8:15 o'clock. Efforts have been made by the management to make this show the best staged and best attended of the year, and a large number of alumni have signified their intention of being present. The best reserved seats are $1.50.

S. R. Pevear 1907 will sing during the intermissions and the Lyceum orchestra, under the direction of James C. Bradford, will give the following program:

Overture—Hungarian Lustspiel Kelar Bela
Intermezzo—"Naila" Delibes
Selections—"Mlle. Modiste" Herbert
Characteristic—"Whispering Flowers" F. V. Blon
Ballet Music—"Faust" Gounod
"March Hongroise" Berlolz

Money for San Francisco

The student subscriptions for the aid of the California disaster victims have aggregated to date $344 in cash and $13 in pledges. The total amount contributed by the town and students has reached the sum of $711.13. The money was forwarded this morning to the Boston headquarters of the Massachusetts Association for the relief of California, by whom it will be sent to San Francisco.

FARCICAL CONTEST

Springfield Training School Gives Nine Poor Practice

In a seven-inning game that was only interesting in the number of tallies by the home team, Williams defeated the Springfield Training School on Weston Field yesterday afternoon by the score of 20 to 1. Williams solved the delivery of the Springfield pitchers to the amount of fifteen hits, the visitors being compelled to use three different men in the box. The large score was due in part to the nine errors charged to the visitors, and the sins of omission that turned many of Williams' slow grounders and short flies into hits.

In Williams' half of the first inning, a bunt, a short liner, a base line grounder, a gift, and a hard drive to center-field, intermingled with errors, gave four runs. Springfield made its first hit in the third but the batter was retired by Wadsworth after a sensational catch, while trying to steal second. The visitors secured their only run in the fourth inning when Purinton came in on Hawkes' single and an error.

Williams played fast ball in the field, and in the fourth a fine running catch of a hard drive by Osterhout saved runs. Pierce's delivery was effective, allowing but four hits and one walk to first. The visitors' pitchers were wild, and lacked speed; Gray at third did their best work.

WORK OF TRACK TEAM

Over Fifty Candidates Out—Trial Meet on Saturday

The track squad has been at work daily since the Easter recess on Weston Field. The track is in good condition for so early in the season, except for the 220-yard straightaway, which is still soft at the upper end. Much work will be necessary to put this in condition for the Wesleyan meet. On Saturday a trial meet will be held to determine what men shall be entered in the dual meets with Wesleyan and M. I. T. on the two following Saturdays. It is probable that the first three men in each event will be entered in the Wesleyan meet. Of last year's Worcester point winners, Griswold and Marshall alone remain, while Ayers'06, A. Brown, M. Brown, Hurlbut '07, B. P. Allen, Clark and LaMent '08 of last year's team are out again. Of the men not on last year's team the best work being at present is being done by Cowperthwait in the 100, by Blaisdell in the discus, by Allen in the two-mile and by Horrax. The work of the high jumpers has been consistent.

Prospects can be better determined after the trial meet than before it. The list of candidates and the events in which they are competing, follows:

100 and 220-yd dashes: Cowperthwait, Holroyd 1906; Hill, McGown, 1907; Clark, Watters 1908; Green, Gutterson, Woodfin, 1909.

440-yd. dash: Osterhout 1906; Andrews, Hurlbut, Wells, 1907, Johnston, Keith, 1909.

880-yd. run: Egleston 1906; Chapman, Conover, Keith, Stocking, 1907; D. S. Johnson 1908; Holmes, Hopkins, Wilcox, 1909.

One-mile run: Ayers 1906; Lesser 1907; B. P. Allen, Deyo, Goodbody, Leeds 1908; Palmer 1909.

Two-mile run: Davis 1906; A. J. Allen, Hompe, Wilder 1907; Bullard 1908; Bonner, Fisher 1909.

120-yd. hurdles: Griswold 1906; A. Brown, Lapham 1907; Horrax 1909.

220-yd. hurdles: Griswold 1906; A. Brown, Lapham 1907; Mayer 1909.

High jump: A. Brown, M. Brown 1907; Atwater, Horrax, Matz, Swain 1909.

Broad jump: Griswold 1906; A. Brown 1907; Horrax, Jenkins 1909.

Pole vault, A. Brown 1907; L. Fowle 1908; Horrax 1909.

Weights: Blaisdell 1906; Bowker, LaMent, Marshall 1908; C. Brown, Swain 1909.

Training table will begin Saturday.

COMMITTEE COMING

Legislators in Williamstown by End of the Week

After a prolonged struggle the Massachusetts legislature committee on taxtation has finally secured permission from the legislature to make its tour of investigation of conditions in Massachusetts college towns, with reference to the college taxation bill. Last week Friday, the committee voted by 9-7 to take the trip, but on Saturday chairman Davenport procured delay of consideration until Monday. On that day the legislature took up the matter, and after hearing both sides of the question argued by members of the committee, finally voted to alow the committee to take its trip. The committee will visit Amherst, South Hadley, Northampton, Northfield and Gill, and will probably reach Williamstown at the end of this week. They had not left Boston by noon of today.

Track Candidates

The following men have signified their intention of becoming candidates for sophomore assistant track manager:

F. F. Anderson
F. E. Bowker, Jr.

VOL. 20 APRIL 26, 1906 No. 10

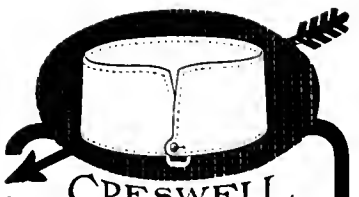
An Interclass Track Meet

In 1896 Mr. Willard E. Hoyt '92 presented the track association with the Hoyt cup, to be competed for yearly in an interclass meet, and in the same year the Gargoyle cup was given for the athlete scoring the greatest number of points in a similar meet. These two meets were combined in 1898. Each of the cups was to be permanently held by the class or individual winning it three times in succession, and accordingly in 1901 the Hoyt cup became the property of the class of 1901 and the Gargoyle cup of Paul Potter '01. In 1902 a similar meet was held, and 1904 won the class championship, and L. G. Blackmer '03 the individual championship. Since then no such meets have been held.

In the old days these contests occurred late in the season, after all the other track events, and as a result the better athletes had often broken training, the poorer had little incentive to compete, and a few star men monopolized entries and points. The general interest was so low in one of the meets that the only men entered in the hundred were two of the three who now hold the Williams record in that event.

The prime purpose of any track games between undergraduates of one college is, under present conditions, to secure material for track meets with other colleges. Thus all the track activities of the fall and spring center on the Worcester meet. The preliminary meet, then, which can get the most men out and get them working hardest, is the best one for the team. The trouble with the old contest was one of time, not kind. Even class rivalry could not be expected to keep the second-string athletes interested in a meet which closed a season instead of giving them a chance to qualify for events in the immediate future. To add another meet to the present list would be impractical. What could be done, however, and what The Record believes would be a benefit to track athletics, would be to retain this old interclass meet in the track schedule in place of the spring trial meet.

The main advantage of this plan is obvious. The incentive in the present meet to the place-winner is the opportunity of representing his college in the next dual and subsequent meets. By making the contest a class contest class rivalry is added, and class rivalry means much at Williams. The place-winner has this same opportunity as before, if the meet comes at the right time, and at the same time each man is struggling to do the best he can to help his class and himself win. Not only would the rivalry be keener and the men work harder, but a class track captain, too, could get out men that a 'varsity captain could not reach.



There are some obvious objections advanced to this form of meet. The star man, by competing in more events than he could in a dual or Worcester meet might keep good second-string men from securing places. To be sure but three men can be entered in the sprints and hurdles in dual meets. However, the present system is not cut and dried. If there are so many good men in one event that one of them is shut out in the trials (not a very common occurrence), that fact will not keep that man from being entered at Worcester. The struggle for an individual championship proves to have excellent results in the Lehman Cup contest, why should it not have equally good results in an interclass meet? It is too late for any such system to be adopted for Saturday's trials, and to have an interclass meet at the end of the season would be of little advantage, but The Record feels that in another season such an interclass meet like that last held in 1902 could well be restored to a place in the track schedule.

Room Drawings

Present occupants of college rooms may retain them for next year by signing with Dr. Parsons before next Tuesday, May 1. Berkshire Hall will add accomodations for thirty scholarship men and twelve others. The central and north sections of Berkshire Hall will be open to scholarship men.

Dr. P. S. Moxom to Preach Sunday

Dr. Philip S. Moxom, pastor of the South Congregational church in Springfield, will preach at the morning chapel service next Sunday, and address the evening meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Dr. Moxom occupies the college pulpit regularly at Amherst, Bowdoin, Cornell, Dartmouth and Yale and has been heard at Williams several times before. He graduated in 1879 from the University of Rochester, where he had also studied theology, and from which he took his A. M. degree in 1882. Ten years later the D. D. degree was conferred on him by Brown. Before his call to Springfield in 1894 he occupied Baptist pulpits in Cleveland and Boston. He preached before the World's Peace Congress, and has been identified with all the late Peace Congresses. Dr. Moxom is also a corporate member of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions.

He has published the following works: "The Aim of Life", "Jerusalem to Nicaea," "The Church in the First Three Centuries", "The Religion of Hope".

Committee on Scholarship Honors

Asst.-Profs. M. N. Wetmore and D. T. Clark have been appointed by the faculty a committee to ascertain by correspondence the systems existent in other colleges of awarding honors and distinctions for high scholarship. The specific object is to learn whether any other modes of conferring scholarship honors are in operation, than the election of Phi Beta Kappa and the award of special prizes. The effect such awards have in other colleges in stimulating study and promoting scholarship will also be ascertained. The report of the findings of the committee will probably be submitted to the faculty at its next meeting, Monday evening, May 7.

COLLEGE NOTES

D. M. Hills 1906 has returned to college.

Winslow 1907, Frank and Howe 1908, have resigned from college.

The 1906 cap and gown picture was taken on the chapel steps yesterday noon.

Gillett has been elected captain of the sophomore class baseball team.

Domett 1907 has been appointed official scorer for the home games of the baseball association.

There will be a meeting of all interested in the camera club in Jesup Hall Saturday at 1:15.

At the weekly roll-off held on the Olympian alleys last night Murphy '07 and Moffitt '07 tied for third at 267, candle pins.

Case, Loomis, Morgan, Nomer and Perry 1906 have entered their names for the VanVechten prize speaking contest, which will be held Monday evening, May 7.

Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, of Brooklyn, will be unable to occupy the college pulpit May 20, as planned. His place will be taken by Prof. Edward C. Moore of Harvard.

Word has been received from Bruce ex-'08, who is a student at the University of California, and whose family lived in San Francisco, that he was not injured in the earthquake or fire.

The attendance at the Cap and Bells performance of the "Man from Mexico" at the opera house last night, given for the benefit of the Good Will club, was large. S. R. Pevear 1907 sang between the acts.

Cowperthwait has been chosen chairman of the senior smoker committee in place of Hogan, resigned. A smoker will be held in the reading room in Jesup Hall some evening next week if possible.

H. Livingston 1905 has given the following books to the library: Pollard's "Life of Thomas Cranmer", Gladden's "Witnesses of Light," and Wheeler's "Daniel Webster, the Expounding of the Constitution."

At a recent meeting of the Scientific Association, Prof. Milham read a paper on "Extra-Tropical Cyclones." He traced the causes, attendant circumstances and general features of the storms and entered into a brief discussion of the work of the weather forecasting bureaus.

1907 Begins With Victory

In the first class baseball game of the season, played on Weston Field after the varsity game yesterday afternoon, 1907 defeated 1906 by the score of 12 to 5. Tower, who started to pitch for the juniors, proved ineffective and was replaced in the third inning by Hoyne. The features of the game were Schell' shome run to the football bleachers, the longest hit made on Weston Field this year, and the pitching of Hoyne, who struck out the entire side in the fourth.

The score by innings:

1907	3	4	0	3	1	1	—	12	8	4
1906	0	1	4	0	0	0	—	5	5	6

Batteries—1906, Bassett and Kenney; 1907, Tower, Hoyne and Southworth. Umpire—Mears '08.

See Me About a Position.

I want to have a personal talk with every Williams College 1906 man who will be in the market for a good position in business or technical work on or after July 1st.

If you will call and see me at the New Richmond House, North Adams, Mass., at any time to suit your convenience, from April 27th to 28th, inclusive (afternoon or evening), I can tell you frankly just what the prospects are of securing the sort of position you want and are fitted to fill. I can give you full information concerning a great many of the best opportunities for young college men in all lines of work in the United States and several foreign countries.

It will pay you, I feel sure, to see me before deciding definitely what to do after graduation.

S. R. MILLER,
Representing HAPGOODS.

Work on Swiming Tank

Contracts for the work on the swimming tank have been sublet by Mr. Smedley and it is expected by him that the pool will be ready for use in six weeks. The pool will be lined throughout with two inches of concrete, over which enamel bricks will be laid, and the whole will be reinforced with expanded metal. The measurements have been slightly changed. The tank will be 60 by 22 feet and will have a depth at the east end of 7 feet 8 inches and at the west end of 4 feet 10 inches. On the eastern end a platform 15 feet 6 inches wide is now being built, and a four foot walk will extend along the entire northern side.

The long delay in the construction of the pool has been due partly to a change in plans which called for a four-foot widening of the tank and the shoring of the roof with large girders, as well as to the illness of Mr. Smedley.

Episcopal Students Conference

The conference of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew will be held in Trinity Church, Boston, tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday. Circulars were sent to all Episcopalian students in New England colleges, and at least one delegate from the Church students' Missionary Association of each one of these colleges as well as from Princeton will probably attend. Gardiner '09 will represent Williams at the conference.

Addresses will be made at the convention by Rev. Alexander Mann, pastor of Trinity church, by New England district bishops, headmasters of several New England Episcopal schools, and officers of the brotherhood. Among the topics of college interest to be discussed are. "The Needs of the College Student and How to Meet Them", "What Should be the Aim of a College Church Society", "How can the College Chapel be made more of a help to the Development of the Spiritual Life?" Devotional meetings will be held on Saturday and Sunday, and the conference will close at 4 p. m. Sunday with a sermon by the Right Reverend A. C. A. Hall, Bishop of Burlington, Vt.

Williams Shoots Straightest

The gun club held a match shoot with North Adams at the Zylonite range yesterday afternoon, winning by a score of 74 to 64. The weather conditions were most unfavorable, but on the whole the scores were good. The men shot as follows:

North Adams		Williams
Graves	17	Dr. Kellogg	22
Pratt	18	Geer '07	16
Hodge	15	Fitch '06	18
Krum	14	L. Allen '08	18
	64		74

During the four years of the Williams gun club it has shot against North Adams six times, the score now being three matches all. This was the first match won from North Adams at their home traps. Today Dr. Kellogg broke 79 of a total of 84 pigeons, the last 31 consecutively.

—The regular class prayer meetings will be held Friday evening at 7:15. Subject and references: The Spiritual Kingdom; Matt 5, 19-34. Leaders: 1906, Wakefield; 1907, Russell; 1908, Hazen; 1909, W. S. Pettit '05.

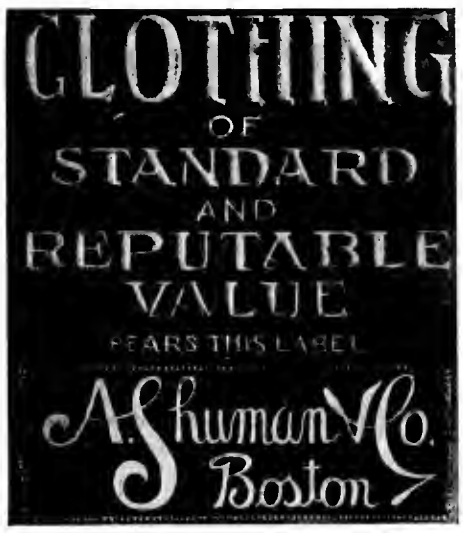
THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.



Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

NORTHFIELD CONFERENCE

From June 22 to July 1—Expense, Program, Recreation, and Speakers

On June 22, the Friday immediately after the closing Wednesday of the June examinations, the annual Northfield student conference will convene in East Northfield, Mass. At this conference delegations, numbering in all 600 or 700 men, will be present from almost every college in the East. This year the date of meeting has been placed a week earlier than usual, and as a result many colleges are planning for very large delegations.

Williams occupied the same desirable quarters in Marquand Hall for several years in succession until last year, when those rooms were allotted to Columbia on account of the latter's larger delegations This year the choice of rooms will be given to the colleges in accordance with the amount of registration fees which they have paid in by May 14. This means that if Williams has by May 14 a larger paid registration than Columbia or any other institution, Williams will secure previous choice of rooms, consequently it is important that within the next two weeks and a half as many men as possible shall definitely decide to go.

The conference opens Friday evening, June 22, and closes Sunday evening, July 1. If a delegate cannot stay the entire ten days, it is well worth his while to attend for as long as he can.

The conference expenses are as follows: Registration fee, $5 for the 10 days or 60 cents a day; board $9 for the 10 days or $1 per day; room $3 for the 10 days or proportionately less for a shorter period. For the many who room in excellent tents provided by the conference this last item is somewhat reduced. The railroad grants a one and one-third fare for the round trip and, counting possible incidentals and the fare from Williamstown and return, the necessary additional expenses would be between $3 and $3.50 for each man. There are available several waiterships by which men who desire to do so can earn their board.

The conference consists of Bible classes, mission classes, classes of immigration and social problems—meeting at 8:30 a. m. and 9:30 a. m. daily—and a platform meeting in the great auditorium in the morning; in the afternoons a tennis tournament open to all the delegates, a baseball tournament between teams of all the larger delegations, a golf tournament, a track meet, and various other forms of recreation; in the evenings a short meeting where various professions are considered, and then the chief platform meeting of the day. Each delegate goes to such meetings as he chooses, and only when he chooses. The leaders and speakers are all men of notable ability and prominence. Among them are Robert E. Speer, Rt. Rev. C. S. Anderson, Bishop of Chicago, Dr. Endicott Peabody of Groton School, Rev. Henry Sloane Coffin of New York and others. A definite program is not yet made out.

The general secretary of the association states that he will appreciate it, if men who expect to attend the conference will notify him at once.

FOOTBALL COACH CHOSEN

Offer Made to Hatch 1903—Council Grants Relay "W"s

At their meeting in Jesup Hall Saturday evening the Athletic Council voted to have James A. Hatch 1903 as head football coach for next year. Mr. Hatch's name was recommended by both the captain and manager of next year's team. He will accept the position, if possible, but was unable to state definitely Saturday night whether his law practice in New York city would enable him to take it up or not. He will communicate his decision to the council within at least a month. No appropriations for salary of a coach will be made until the football schedule for next year is handed in, nor was any action taken with reference to an assistant coach or coaches.

It was decided that Williams join the Intercollegiate Athletic Association of the United States, the association formed by the colleges who met in connection with the revision of football rules in New York last December. By taking this stand the college particularly subscribes itself (in article VI. of the constitution) "to enact and enforce such measures as may be necessary to prevent violations of the principles of amateur sport such as" (a) proselyting, which is strictly defined, (b) playing of those not amateurs, (c) playing of those not bona-fide students in good and regular standing, (d) improper and unsportsmanlike conduct of contestants, coaches, assistants, or student body. The college still retains its eligibility rules, the association merely suggesting a minimum. None of the big four, which have largely directed collegiate athletics in past years, have yet joined the association, nor have Amherst, Dartmouth or Wesleyan.

The usual appropriations were made, including about $100, for necessary repairs made on Weston Field. The "W" was given to the four members of the 'varsity relay team, which defeated Wesleyan and Brown: Ayers, Griswold Osterhout 1906; Hurlbut 1907. The question of ratifying the recommendation of the basketball captain and manager for granting the "B W B" to members of the team was not brought before the council.

Cap and Bells at New York

Cap and Bells gave its New York city performance of "The Man from Mexico" Friday evening at the Carnegie Lyceum, 57th street and Seventh avenue. The show was given very smoothly, the work of Botsford 1906 receiving the usual hearty appreciation. The Spanish dance, by Combes 1906 was encored, as were the solos between the acts by Pevear 1907, with piano accompaniment by Yarnelle 1907. The house was well-filled, a large number of alumni being present.

TRIAL TRACK MEET

Held on Weston Field Saturday—Well-Contested Races

The trial meet to determine the entries for the Wesleyan meet next Saturday was held on Weston Field Saturday afternoon with more men competing than ever before. No times or distances were given out for publication. The closest races of the day were the two-mile and 220-yd. dash, while the work of the high jumpers was good. The quarter was particularly hard-fought, the two leaders falling when near the tape, and all the races but the low hurdles were well contested. The distances in the weight events were poorer than expected. Horrax '09 did the best individual work, winning first in the high hurdles and high jump and second in the broad jump. Counting points for the first three places, 1908 leads with 34 points, followed by 1909 with 30. 1906 had 27 and 1907, 17.

The summary follows:

100 yd. dash: 1st, Cowperthwait '06; 2nd, Watters, '08; 3rd, Green '09.

220-yd dash: 1st, Clark '08; 2nd, Watters '08; 3rd, Cowperthwait '06.

440-yd. dash: 1st, Johnston '09; 2nd, Hopkins '09; 3rd, Wells, '07.

880.-yd. run: 1st, Ayers '06; Eggleston '06; 3rd, Conover '07.

One-mile run: 1st, B. P. Allen '08; 2nd, Lesser '07; 3rd, Goodbody '08.

Two-mile run: 1st, Bonner '09; 2nd, Davis '07; 3rd, Allen '07.

120-yd. hurdles: 1st, Horrax '09; 2nd, Griswold '06; 3rd, A. Brown '07.

220-yd. hurdles: 1st, Griswold '06; 2nd, Lapham '07; 3rd, Dodd '09.

High jump: 1st, Horrax '09; 2nd, A. Brown '07; 3rd, Atwater '09.

Broad jump: 1st, A. Brown '07; 2nd, Horrax '09; 3rd, Jenkins '09.

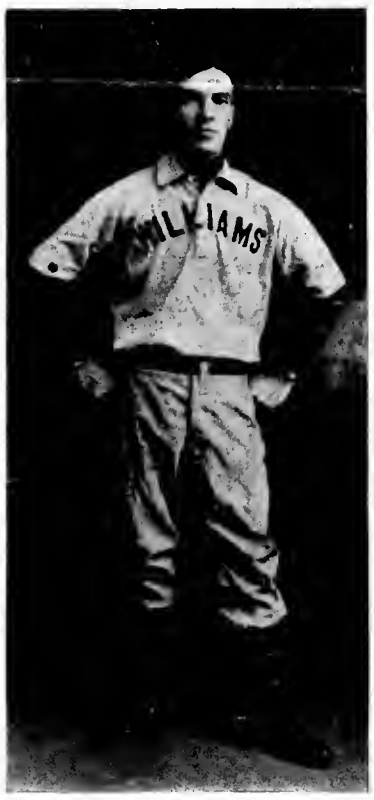
Shot put: 1st, Marshall '08; 2nd, LaMent '08; 3rd, Swain '09.

Discus throw: 1st, Blaisdell '06; 2nd, LaMent '08; 3rd, Bowker '08.

Hammer throw: 1st, LaMent '08; 2nd, Swain '09; 3rd, Lapham '07.

Track Training Table

The following men were taken on the track training table at Mrs. Murphy's Saturday evening: Ayers, Cowperthwait, Egleston, Griswold (capt.), Osterhout 1906; A. M. Brown, Chapman, Davis, Hurlbut, Lesser 1907; B. P. Allen, LaMent, Marshall, Watters 1908; Horrax 1909.



Baseball Election

The annual meeting for the election of an assistant-manager and vice-president of the baseball association will be held in Jesup Hall tomorrow evening, at 7:30. A meeting of the sophomore class will be held to-morrow at 1:30 for nomination of candidates.

'VARSITY IMPROVES

Second Team Defeated 8 to 3 in Fast Game

In a contest which showed a high quality of baseball the 'varsity team took a game from the second team Saturday afternoon on Weston Field, by a score of 8 to 3. The 'varsity lined out seven hits, but the runs scored were due rather to the poor support that Pierce received than to poor pitching. Pierce struck out eleven men while his team mates made four errors. The 'varsity, playing an errorless game, supported Ford's somewhat erratic pitching in snappy fashion

CAPTAIN NEILD

Warren, second man up for the 'varsity in the first inning, sent out a two-bagger, and Hogan opened the 'varsity's half of the third with the first three-base hit of the season. The heaviest hitting occurred in the sixth inning, when Osterhout went to second on a long drive, and three singles followed. The second team tied the score in the second inning, Redick and Gardner crossing the plate after Southworth's single to right field. Their only other run came in in the fifth when Stower scored on a wild pitch. Ford allowed four bases on balls, while Pierce gave six men passes. Redick used the bat well, securing three hits, and Warren excelled at the bat for the 'varsity. Waters threw well, but had three passed balls.

AN ALUMNI GROVE

1906 Inaugurates College Custom—Nomer Speaker at Alumni Banquet

At a senior class meeting Thursday evening the question of having an alumni grove, where each graduating class should plant a tree, was discussed. The grove will probably be situated at the south-east corner of Weston Field near the football bleachers. The following committee was appointed to confer with President Hopkins on the subject: Loomis, Lowe, Morgan (chairman). In addition to planting a tree the class will hold the usual ivy celebration this year.

Arrangements were made that five members of the faculty, including President Hopkins, give Sunday afternoon talks to the seniors during the spring. Nomer was chosen to speak for 1906 at the annual Commencement alumni banquet.

Freshman Baseball Schedule

The freshman baseball team has arranged the following schedule: May 9, Troy High, at Williamstown; May 16, Pittsfield High, at Williamstown; May 19, R. P. I. Freshmen, at Williamstown; June 2, Amherst Freshmen, at Amherst.

VOL. 20 APRIL 30, 1906 No. 11

Rewards For Scholarship

A committee of the faculty will report at the May meeting of that body concerning an improvement in the present system of rewards for scholarship. The committee has been working to find out what systems are in use in other colleges along two lines: systems by which all high-standing men can be grouped in some broad scholarship classification each year, and systems by which high scholarship in a single particular subject can receive recognition.

Each college has its own system of awards for high standing, outside of cash prizes. At Michigan, for example, no grades are given at all. At Amherst and Wesleyan prescribed work outside the curriculum in particular subjects becomes a basis for awards of honors in those subjects, and at Amherst honorable mention may be given without this outside work. Dartmouth and Princeton have the scholarship classification system. The former college prints in its catalogue a list of all in the three lower classes who have averaged 92, as "Rufus Choate Scholars". Princeton awards "high general honors" and "high honors" at the end of each year for the work done in that year.

No Williams man who does not hold a scholarship has any chance of knowing from the college how he averages with others until the end of his senior year. By figuring from his semester marks he can get only a rough idea, for not even the scholarship holder can estimate accurately the group in which his grades place him. Again, the only classification of high-standing men in the catalogue, that of the scholarship men, conveys a wrong impression to the casual reader. It is easy to get the idea that this list of one-sixth of the college is the honor list of the whole college. Some plan of publishing at the end of each year groups of those of the highest rank in all classes would give the man who does not hold a scholarship recognition for his curriculum efforts, and would lessen his temptation to ease up, more or less unconsciously, on scholastic ideals.

The second part of the committee's work effects everybody. Phi Beta Kappa awaits only those who keep high scholarship in everything. Williams offers no honors in individual departments of study except in connection with prizes. Here, too, some departments are over-prized, in others there are no prizes at all. There are fourteen rhetorical prizes available, and seventeen in the classics. In all the sciences but three prizes are offered, in history but two, in government one, in philosophy and economics none.

This, of course, is not the fault of the college, since gifts for such objects are made for prizes in specified subjects. What Williams can do, however, is to award honors and honorable mentions for special excellence. Without overlooking the fact that in a college broad culture ought to have the greater emphasis, special excellence requires in a more limited field the more concentrated use of the powers of the mind. The curriculum aims for a special education, combined with a general education. Phi Beta Kappa and Commencement appointments are given for the high rank of the many who excel generally, in all studies alike. Why not, then, give honors for the high rank of the many who excel specially, and give them in each one of the particular studies?

Neither of these lines along which the committee is working will cost the college pocket-book anything. There is some faculty sentiment in favor of the system. The faculty can surely secure more work from those who wish to lay greatest emphasis on curriculum work by adopting it, and more will wish to lay greatest emphasis there when they see more glory by so doing. From the student side, all A and B men will know accurately whether they gain or lose each year, the brilliant specialist whose standing in other subjects may be low will receive proper recognition, and the five-sixths that do not hold scholarships will have a chance to get representation in the "honor list".

Classical Society Meeting

A meeting of the olassical society will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the choir room in the basement of the chapel. Mr. Salter will treat Greek music, and will explain the subject by piano accompaniment. Mrs. Howes and Mr. John Bright Lord 1905 and Pevear 1907 will assist him.

Papers will be read on "Some Comparisons BetweenRoumanian, Umbrian and Classical Latin", by Dr. Gerig, and on "Aristotle's Contributions to the Theory of the State", by Mr. P. Smith.

The musical program follows:

1—First Pythic Ode of Pindar (500 B.C.) Mr. J. B. Lord 1905

2.—Fragment of Chorus from the Orestes of Euripides (5th century B. C) Mr. J. B. Lord 1905

3.—Delphic Hymn to Apollo (278 B. C.) Pevear 1907

4—Two Homeric Hymns (200 B. C.) (a) To Demeter
(b) To Aphrodite
Mrs. G. E. Howes

5—Seikilos Ode (1st century A. D.)

Hymn to Nemesis by Mesomedes (2nd century A. D.)
Mrs. G. E. Howes.

Rooms For Next Year

The allotment of dormitory rooms for the next college year will begin Wednesday, when members of 1907 will meet at 2 p. m., in 4 Hopkins Hall to draw lots for choice of rooms. Drawing for remaining rooms by members of 1908 (and '07-'09 couples) will occur Saturday, May 5th, same place and hour, and for 1909 the following Wednesday. In the faculty room at the same hour on May 3d and 7th respectively, pairs composed of men from '07 and '08, and '08 and '09 will be offered choice of rooms still open. On May 10th reservations may be made by men who intend to room with prospective freshmen.

The opening of Berkshire Hall, with accomodations for 42 men, and of South College extension, with accommodations for 14 men, will increase the total dormitory capacity to 267. No changes in rentals are announced, except that $72 will be the price of College Hall rooms formerly costing $80. Prices of rooms for Berkshire Hall and South College extension have already been announced. "The payment of one-half the yearly rental when the assignment is made is required of all who take rooms" (1905-1906 catalogue, p. 106). No applicants will be allowed to secure rooms until they present a receipt from the treasurer.

Amherst Freshmen Can Compete

The action of the Amherst faculty, debarring freshmen from intercollegiate athletics, has been laid on the table by them for one year. In its place a student committee will be appointed to look after the curriculum work for freshmen athletes, and stricter scholarship requirements will be demanded from any freshman who represents the college, not only on athletic teams, but on any club or publication.

The debate between the Philologian and Philotechnian societies, scheduled for Wednesday, has been postponed indefinitely owing to the sophomore-freshman contest the same evening.

University of Vermont Wednesday

Williams will meet the University of Vermont in the third baseball game of the season at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday, on Weston Field. Williams has met Vermont but once before in baseball, winning from them in 1894 by the score of 6-0, although in 1904 the score was 3-0 in Vermont's favor when rain stopped the game in the second inning.

The batting-orders of both teams follow:

U. OF V.: Gardner 3b, Collison 2b, Campbell p, Peek cf, Kibbe c, Whitney 1b, Williams ss, Collins lf, Berry rf.

WILLIAMS—Wadsworth 2b, Warren cf, Young ss, Neild 3b, Hogan lf, Osterhout rf, Waters c, Harman 1b, Ford p.

New Baseball Score-Books

The baseball score-book will probably be on sale for the Vermont game, Wednesday. It will contain eight pages, including the line-ups of the teams, the baseball schedule, scores of games and a cut of Capt. Neild. The cover will be in purple and gold with a conventional design by Reid '06.

Another Freshman Victory

The second game of the interclass baseball series was played between 1908 and 1909 on Weston Field Saturday afternoon after the 'varsity-second team game, the freshmen winning after a typical class-game struggle by the score of 10 to 9. Towards the end Sears pitched well, while Gillett was erratic. Moies played a strong game behind the bat, putting out four men by his accurate throws to second. Tifft's home run and the strong brace taken by 1908 in the last half of the sixth inning provoked much enthusiasm.

The score by innings:

1908	2 0 2 0 2 3—	9	7	5
1909	5 0 0 2 3 0—10	8	2

Batteries—1908, Gillett and Moies; 1909, Sears and Nelson. Umpire—Southworth 1907.

Y. M. C. A. Handbook

The Y. M. C. A. handbook, which is expected to appear in June, though much similar to those of former years, will have several new features. There will be a map of the college and if possible a cut of Berkshire Hall. Instead of a daily diary there will be a memorandum, thus cutting down the number of pages and permitting of a better quality of paper and workmanship. The cover will be in black leather, with "Williams" in gold lettering. The contract is not yet placed.

Golf Match Wednesday

The golf team will hold its first match of the season against the North Adams Country Club on the latter's links at 3:00 p. m. Wednesday. The team will be composed of Clapp 1906; A. Mitchell, L. Mitchell, Gregory 1907; Lynde 1908; Wilcox 1909. The entire schedule is not yet approved by the faculty committee.

Interclass Debate.

The second annual interclass debate will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30, in Jesup Hall, between 1908 and 1909. The question chosen, that of summer ball playing, in view of recent action by Brown and Cornell, is one of great interest to the college, and is distinctly two-sided.

The 1908 debaters will speak in the following order: L. Fowle, Johnson, Capt. McIntyre, 1909, opposing summer ball, will speak as follows: Robb, Pike, Capt. Ernst, Bachmeister is alternate for 1908, Maclay for 1909. The judges are not yet chosen.

History Teachers Meet

Prof. Goodrich represented Williams at the annual meeting of the New England Historical Teachers association, held in the Center Church, Hartford, Conn., on Friday and Saturday. At the opening meeting on Friday evening, Prof. J. H. Robinson of Columbia, the author of the "History of Western Europe" used in History I, made an address on "The Fall of Rome." The chief subject discussed was the history papers of the college entrance examination board, of which Williams has recently become a member.

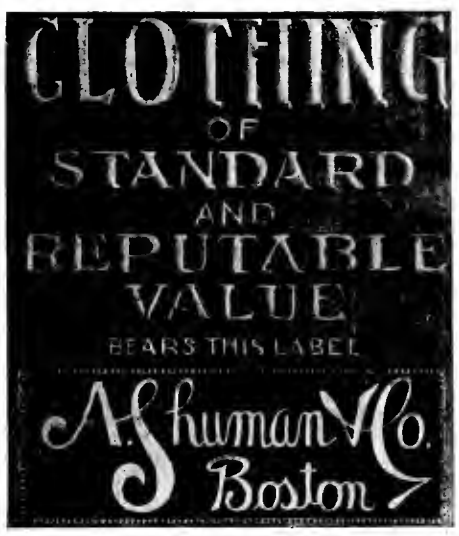
THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.



Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

COLLEGE NOTES

A. W. Campbell '09 has left college.

The gun club held a practice shoot on the Taconic range Saturday afternoon.

The classes in Geology took a trip to the North Adams natural bridge Saturday afternoon.

Bridgman 1909 drew the cover design for the senior class-book, a sketch of the chapel tower.

There will be a 1909 class meeting in Jesup Hall Wednesday at 1:15 for the election of the class supper committee.

A senior smoker will be held tomorrow evening in Jesup Hall at 8:30. The double quartet will sing. This will take the place of any May night celebration.

The Netherleigh has elected Waller 1907 baseball captain and Witherell 1907 manager. A schedule of local games will be arranged.

NOTICES

—The courts of the tennis association have been put in condition and are now being used. Under the present system, the tennis association is under the supervision of the Athletic Council, which appoints the manager. All students wishing to use the courts must obtain tickets from the manager. These tickets cost $2. and entitle the holder to use the courts for the rest of the year.

James A. Linen, Jr., mgr.

—All those who wish to hand in drawings for the 1908 Gul. will please see personally Mygatt or Rowell before May 15, so that work may be discussed and assignments arranged. Men are also urged to hand in all interesting photographs from about college, especially those suitable for grinds. Acknowledgment will be given for accepted work.

—The election of an assistant-manager of the musical association will be held Wednesday, May 9. All candidates are requested to hand their names to W. S. Wooster 1907, manager, on or before May 5.

Y. M. C. A. Meeting

Dr. Philip S. Moxom of Springfield addressed the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall yesterday evening on what might be called the parable of the vacuum. He spoke briefly of the demons of old times who were held responsible for all evil, and gave Jesus' parable of the demon which, after having been driven from a man, returned again with seven others and re-occupied him. Dr. Moxom drew from this the lesson that action is necessary to growth. A man must use his body, mind and soul methodically to have them grow. Growth in faith is gained by exercise of heart toward God. On the other hand, if unexercised, the moral power will retrograde.

The mind and soul must be occupied by something, and if not good that something will certainly be bad. Thus with weeds, if you cut them out, they will return. The only way to exterminate them is to plant good seeds to take their place. A man who turns from sin will in the end, unless he occupies himself with good, slip back seven-fold. The price of progress is continued endeavor.

PROM. PLANS

Color Scheme Yellow and White—Forty-two Dances

The arrangements for the annual Sophomore Prom., to be held in Lasell Gymnasium Tuesday evening, May 29, are nearing completion. All except the minor contracts have been placed, and the decorations definitely planned. The general color scheme will be yellow and white, and the bunting will be draped up to a cluster of lights in the center of the roof as in former years. A new feature will be the use of electrically-lit Japanese lanterns, which will be hung singly and in strings, the latter following the bunting and drapery. The pillars will be twined with greens. Gioscia's orchestra will furnish the music, and the many minor details, such as palms, rugs, cosy-corners and flags, will be much the same as last year. There will be forty-two dances, with no extras.

The contracts have been placed as follows: Decorations, Murray of Springfield; lighting, Costine of North Adams; stationery, Charles Elliott and Co. of Philadelphia; catering, Lucas of Troy (to be served by T. H. Halla); music, Gioscia of Albany.

College Not Visited

The legislative committee on taxation has completed its tour of investigation with reference to the college dormitory taxation bill, and Williamstown was omitted from the itinerary. The committee arrived in Northampton Thursday evening and visited Smith, Amherst and Mount Holyoke Friday. On Saturday it visited Northfield and Mount Hermon. The committee's final order to travel did not allow them to visit Williamstown.

Theatre Attractions

The Richmond—Vaudeville all the week, except Saturday. Saturday afternoon and evening, Eddie Foy in "The Earl and the Girl".

The Empire—Thursday afternoon, Sousa's band; Friday evening, Howard Kyle in "Her American Prince"; Saturday afternoon and evening, "A Foxy Tramp".

Frank Daniels will appear May 10th at the Empire in "Sergeant Brue; at the Richmond a probable booking early in June is Mrs. Leslie Carter in "Zaza."

SPRING GOLF SCHEDULE

Team Plays Yale, Harvard and Princeton—Eleven Matches

The spring schedule, approved by the faculty committee this afternoon, follows. Asst.-Mgr. Jaeckel has arranged ten contests, five away from home. The date for the alumni match is not definitely decided. The team will meet three of the members of the intercollegiate league on a trip to be taken in May; Princeton, Pennsylvania and Yale, the intercollegiate champions. A match with Columbia is being arranged.

The five members of the team which won the New England intercollegiate championship at Wollaston last fall from Dartmouth, Brown, Amherst, Bowdoin and M. I. T., are all in college. Captain Clapp 1906 put out A. Mitchell 1907 in the finals for the individual championship at that tournament. A. Mitchell 1907 played in the national championship tournament, and was only beaten in a hard match in the final round of the Lakewood tournament this spring. in which many of the leading golfers of the intercollegiate league took part. Wilcox 1909 was metropolitan champion in 1904. The other members of the team. who have played for three years, are L. Mitchell 1907 and Gregory 1907.

The schedule:

Sat., May 5, Harvard at Williamstown.

Wed., May 9, Open.

Sat., May 12, Island Golf Club at Troy.

Thurs., May 17, Princeton at Princeton.

Fri., May 18, Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Sat., May 19, Yale at Garden City.

Sat., May 26, Mt. Anthony Golf Club at Williamstown.

Sat., June 2, Springfield Country Club at Williamstown.

Wed., June 6, Mt. Anthony Golf Club at Bennington.

Sat., June 9, Tekoa Golf Club at Williamstown.

Tues., June 23, Williams alumni at Williamstown.

Williams-Harvard Golf Match

The Williams golf team will meet Harvard on the Taconic club course Saturday. Harvard defeated Williams at Wollaston last spring 11½ to 1½. Among the prominent players on their team are Fay Ingalls, who has played for three years, Pierre A. Proal, Jr., and A. L. White, intercollegiate champion in 1904 and the winner of the recent Lakewood tournament.

FIRST AMHERST GAME

Purple and White to be Played at Amherst—The Batting Order

Williams meets Amherst on the Pratt Field diamond, Saturday, in the first game of the series of four between the two colleges. Amherst possesses practically a veteran nine, the positions of catcher and left field being the only ones at which new men are playing this year. McRae, in his last year's form, is a strong factor in the box; Yale managed to get but two hits from him in the game which Amherst won 1-0 at the opening of the season.

In last year's series Amherst won four out of the five games played; in 1904 Williams won the two scheduled by a wide margin. Since 1883 Williams and Amherst have met each other at baseball 74 times, 39 of which were Williams victories, but since 1894 Williams has won 22 games to Amherst's 13.

The batting orders of both teams follow:

WILLIAMS: Wadsworth 2b, Warren cf, Young ss, Neild 3b, Hogan lf, Osterhout rf, Waters c, Harman 1b, Ford and Pierce p

AMHERST: Wheeler cf, Palmer 1b, Storke 3b, Beach ss, Shattuck rf, Spring c, McRae p, Jones lf, Allaire 2b.

LEAVITT WINS HURDLES

Former Williams Track Captain Secures Olympic Honors

At the finals of the 110 meter hurdles (120 yds. 10¾ in.) in the Olympic games in the stadium at Athens, Tuesday, Robert G. Leavitt ex '07, elected track captain at the end of last year's season, won first place in 16 1-5 seconds. A. H. Healey of England was second, and Duncker of Germany third. One other American was in the finals, Hugo Friend of the University of Chicago. The hurdles were stationary.

At the college meeting held Tuesday evening a committee was appointed to express to Leavitt the appreciation of the college, and the following cablegram was sent yesterday morning:

"Robert G. Leavitt.

"Care United States Athletic Team.

"Athens, Greece.

"Williams college sends heartiest congratulations."

Sunday's Preacher

Rev. Howard Chandler Robbins, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church of Englewood, N. J., will preach at the morning chapel service next Sunday. Rev. Mr. Robbins graduated from Yale in the class of '99 and from Cambridge (Episcopal) Theological Seminary in 1903. Before going to Englewood he was assistant rector of St. Peter's in Morristown, N. J. No word has yet been received as to whether he will be able to address the Y. M. C. A. meeting or not.

MUSIC OF THE GREEKS

Topic at Classical Society Meeting —Weirdness a Characteristic

At the classical society meeting held in the choir rooom in the basement of the chapel yesterday evening Mr. Sumner Salter spoke on the development and phases of Greek music. In the piano illustrations of the music he was assisted by Prof. T. C. Smith on the bassoon, LaMent 1908 on the violin, and by solos by Mrs. G. E. Howes, Mr. J. B. Lord 1905, and Pevear 1907.

Greek music is generally considered to be alone in ugliness, but to understand it we must divest ourselves of our modern ideas of music and think in terms of lyre, cithra, and flute. The only real fragment of Greek music extant is a part of the chorus of the Orestes of Euripides, which has signs for instrumental accompaniment of the voice. Ancient music was never for instruments alone; they merely accompanied singing. The character of the music was weird, the weirdness largely taking the place of harmony, and the whole cast in a minor strain. The Gregorian chants perhaps follow the old Greek model more than does any other mediaeval or modern style.

Greek music was the handmaid of poetry. It was considered false taste to use the flute or lyre otherwise than as accompaniment to song. The Greeks evolved an exact system, using even quarter tones and five time, which we cannot get. Perhaps the reason moderns cannot appreciate this accurate but intricate music is that it is too refined for our ears. At first only three notes were in use, then notes were added singly and in groups until there were thirty or more. At last an octave series came in. Mr. Salter spoke at length on the growth of the scale and of the tetrachord, the basis of Greek music.

As regards the notation, in reading music the singer had the words and the inflections to guide him, but for instruments the old Dorian letters were used, their different positions indicating the tones required. The various keys were used to express different moods and feelings.

The other illustrations were characterized by the same weirdness shown in the Orestes, all being peculiar in that they ended on the dominant note, rather than on the tonic note as modern music does. The selections by Mrs. Howes were enthusiastically encored. The music sung by Lord and Pevear was of a character demanding vocal gymnastics rather than musical interpretation.

In closing Mr. Salter played the present Grecian national hymn, showing the great change between their ancient and modern music. The readings by Mr. P. Smith and Dr. Gerig were postponed on account of the lateness of the hour until the next meeting of the society.

VOL. 20 MAY 3, 1906 No. 12

The Golf Schedule

The golf schedule ratified by the athletic committee yesterday is the hardest any Williams golf team has ever undertaken. The four strongest members of the intercollegiate league are played, two of them on their home grounds and one on a neutral course, and the strongest club team in Massachusetts west of Worcester is on the list.

So difficult a schedule could only be justified by unusual excellence of material. The position in which Williams golf has been placed by the men on the present team in the last two years is exceptional. That a publication like the Illustrated Outdoor News should suggest editorially that Williams, New England intercollegiate league champion, meet Yale, the intercollegiate league champion, to find out which is the best college golf team in the East, is testimony from an unprejudiced witness.

The feature of the schedule is the May trip, on which matches will be played with Princeton, U. of P., and Yale. The team cannot expect to win the majority of these matches. The men on the large college teams have had more tournament experience, and better opportunities for practice this year. To play three of the of the best teams in any line of sport in successive days, and two of them under local conditions with which they are absolutely familiar, is a hard proposition for any team. While victories over both Yale and Princeton, which met in the finals of the last intercollegiate championship, would give the team a claim to first rank in college golf, such a double victory is not to be hoped for. The significant fact is that these matches are possible.

If the season of the team is to be successful, practically all the other matches are to be won. That more contests with local clubs and colleges in the New England league could not be arranged to make the schedule less difficult is to be regretted, but all efforts to secure such matches have failed. The team has been forced into these matches with colleges which are out of our class in major sports.

The Northfield Conference

The Northfield conference, held this year immediately after college closes, is a source of deep inspiration to many from its religious side alone. Those connected with religious interests of colleges find there the best speakers of the day, and in the conference room become filled with ideas which help them make their colleges better.

However, the majority of men at the conference are there on a vacation, what might be called a week's play under religious auspices, and even those who attend for more strictly religious reasons get most good from association with their fellow-collegians. Over half a hundred men from all the eastern colleges go to Northfield. There is no other intercollegiate gathering so large. The opportunity to meet these men, the best types of the student-bodies, to get hold of new ideas and new view-points of old ideas, is something that is given nowhere else. This personal association counts for far more than the more formal religious influence.

The religion a man cannot help from getting there is not driven into him, but is rather absorbed with the atmosphere of the place. Nobody has to attend a meeting unless he wants to, but you cannot help wanting to. It is a healthy kind of religion, bred out of association with right-thinking fellows. If you consider religion to mean a dogma and a creed, it is not religion at all, but simply goodness. Every Williams undergraduate would gain by attending the conference. He would come back a broader, better man, more able to do the college good.

Graves Prize Essays Announced

The Graves prizes for essays written by members of the senior class on assigned subjects have been awarded to the following four men: Albert Francis Buchanan of Indianapolis, Ind., subject, Paolo Sarpi; Charles Henry Brady of Rye, N. Y., subject, St. Francis of Assissi; John Adams Lowe of Fitchburg, St. Francis of Assisai; Wilbur Jewell Page of Concord, N. H., subject, The Ethics of Modern Business.

A prize of $80 is awarded with the other prizes at Commencement "to the student who shall deliver his essay in the most effective manner before a public audience." The prize-speaking contest comes the evening of Saturday, June 23.

DUAL TRACK MEET

Wesleyan vs. Williams on Weston Field Saturday

Williams will meet Wesleyan in a dual track meet on Weston Field Saturday afternoon. For Wesleyan Kent in the sprints, Capt. Benson in the two-mile, and Dearborn in the weights have done the best work. Benson is good for around 10.20 in the two-mile, and Dearborn was but fifteen inches behind a New England intercollegiate record in the discus at Worcester last year. Williams will be especially strong in the hurdles, pole vault and high jump. The runs should be closely contested. The following estimate, somewhat conservative, gives the meet to Williams by a safe margin.

CAPTAIN GRISWOLD

Fire Stops Smoker

The first senior smoker was held on the steps of Jesup Hall immediately after the college meeting Tuesday evening. Cheers were given for Leavitt ex-'07, and plans for a second outdoor smoker were discussed. As the class was marching about the campus in single file singing, an alarm was rung in for a fire off Belden Avenue, near Hemlock Brook, and the smoker broke up. The effective work of a student bucket-brigade got the fire under control.

RAIN STOPS GAME

Sharp Contest with Vermont Ends with Score a Tie

With the score standing 2-2, the game between Williams and the University of Vermont yesterday afternoon on Weston Field was called on account of rain after four and one-half innings of play. The game was fast, and the teams evenly matched. The visitors hit the ball hard, but sharp, brilliant fielding in tight places prevented more runs. Williams obtained but one hit, but it came at the right time.

University of Vermont, first at bat, opened the game with three hits and a run. Gardner reached third on an error by Warren, and crossed the plate on Campbell's line fly to center, which was misjudged. A sharp throw by Wadsworth after a hard stop cut off Campbell at the plate. Williams' two runs were brought in after two were out, when Young was hit, the visitors' short stop fumbled Neild's grounder, and Hogan's single got by the center fielder, Young and Neild scoring. Rain interrupted the game for a few minutes at the end of the third inning, but play was resumed and Vermont tied the score on a wild throw to first after a bunt. The game was declared "off" by Umpire Jeffrey after Vermont had been retired in the fifth inning.

The score by innings follows:

Vermont	1	0	0	1	0	2	7	2
Williams	2	0	0	0	x	2	1	3

Williams Defeats North Adams

The college golf team played the first match of the season yesterday afternoon against the North Adams Country Club team at North Adams. Williams won easily 13 to 2. Nassau system. H. P. Drysdale '97 headed the North Adams team. Rain interfered with the play to some extent, yet all the matches but one were finished. Wilcox 1909 won the first round and the match from Potter and was one hole ahead on the second round when the match was called on account of rain. The two best scores of the afternoon were made by members of the college team, 77 and 79 for eighteen holes. The score follows:

Williams		North Adams
A. Mitchell '07	3	Drysdale	0
E. A. Clapp '06	3	Noble	0
L. Mitchell '07	2	Brown	0
H. Wilcox '09	2	Potter	0

Address by H. B. Clark '03

Mr. Herbert B. Clark 1903, of the North Adams common council, will address the Good Government Club at Jesup Hall next Thursday evening, May 10. He will take for his subject: "Municipal ownership of public utilities in the United States". As a councilman in the city of North Adams, Mr. Clark waged a successful campaign against municipal ownership at the election last year, and is a representative of his party especially opposed to any form of municipal control.

In Second Annual Interclass Debate Last Evening

The freshmen, supporting the negative of the question, were victorious in the second annual interclass debate held in Jesup Hall last night. The subject, "Resolved, that 'varsity ball players should be allowed to play on summer baseball teams," was presented in such a manner as to leave little choice between the relative merits of the teams. The general arguments were emphasized by considerable repetition, and neither of the teams was very strong in rebuttal. A notable omission was the failure of either team to define the subject.

The affirmative in general showed that present evils of summer baseball are not done away with, that abolition of summer ball is not the solution of the problem, and that there are manifold benefits of summer ball to players.

The negative argued that other sports would be contaminated by professionalism in baseball, and that this profesionalism would thwart the main objects of intercollegiate athletics. For the affirmative McIntyre did well in the general argument and Johnson excelled in the rebuttal. Robb did the best work for the negative.

The judges, Mr. Lewis, Prof. T. C. Smith and Prof. McElfresh, were out about five minutes.

Freshman Oratorical Preliminaries

The following freshmen have been chosen to take part in the preliminaries to the annual oratorical contest: Botteford, Carlisle, Dodd, Ernst, Eurich, Hanson, Hazelton, Hill, K. J. Howe, Johnston, Klauser, Menard, Noehren, Robb, Russell, Sayre, Sterne, Toll, von Witzleben, Westen, Westbrook, Wood. The preliminaries will take place about May 14, and the final about May 21.

Mission Anniversary Oct. 9-12

The American Board of Foreign Missions has accepted the invitation of the churches of North Adams to hold its annual meeting in that city next October. The meetings will be held from October 9 to 12. On Wednesday, Oct. 10, there will be special services in Williamstown, in celebration of the 100th anniversary of the founding of Foreign Missions in August 1806. Meetings will held in the chapel in the morning and at the haystack monument in Mission Park in the afternoon.

A meeting of the general committee for the celebration in Williamstown, consisting of Prof. Mears, Rev. Mr. Clayton and Mrs. Wild, was held last evening and the various matters of business pertaining to that event were assigned to six sub-committees, which have not yet definitely organized.

NOTICES

—All candidates for the position of assistant business manager and assistant stage manager of Cap and Bells are requested to hand their names to Botsford 1906 before Friday.

—The Van Vechten speakers are requested to meet Mr. Lewis for a moment immediately after chapel Saturday morning.

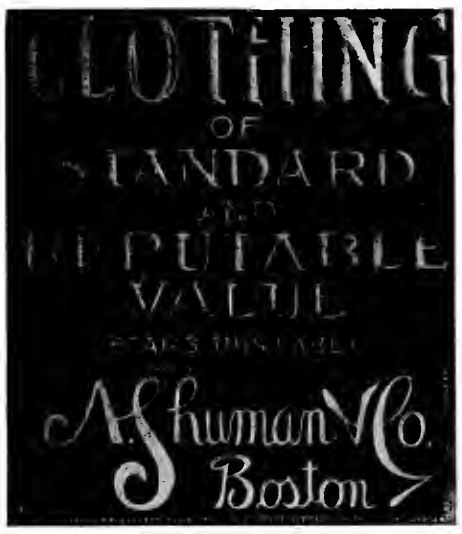
THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.



Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

TENNIS

Schedule of Four Tournaments—The Prospects

In spite of the loss of a strong player in Northrop 1905, the tennis team gives promise of another successful season this spring. Smith 1906, New England intercollegiate singles champion in 1904, and with Northrop winner of the doubles championship last year, will captain a team strengthened by new material. Besides Westcott 1908, who played last year, Linen 1907, who was not in college last spring, and T. K. Thompson 1908, who entered this year from the University of Minnesota, are candidates with much tournament experience.

With relation to the other colleges in the triangular league Dartmouth shows a strong team, while Wesleyan seems to be somewhat weaker. The Amherst team will probably not be up to last year's standard. Fanning of M. I. T., last year's New England intercollegiate singles champion, will play in the tournament again this year. The schedule, approved yesterday by the faculty committee, follows. All the matches, except one with the faculty on a date as yet undecided, will be out of town.

May 16, Springfield Country Club, at Springfield.

May 25 and 26, Triangular Tournament at Middletown. (Dartmouth, Wesleyan and Williams).

May 28, 29, and 30, New England Intercollegiate tournament, at the Longwood Cricket Club, Boston.

June 9, Amherst at Amherst.

COLLEGE NOTES

Dr. Pratt will speak before the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall Sunday evening, May 20.

President Hopkins left for New York today on college business, and will speak before the students of Mt. Holyoke college Sunday.

The spring handicap golf tournament will begin Monday. Handicaps will be posted in the clubhouse, and the chart of holes at which strokes may be taken.

The annual meeting of the Intercollegiate Basketball association was held this week at Columbia University. The University of Pennsylvania was formally awarded the championship for the season of 1905-06. The membership will be unchanged for next year.

Mr. W. S. Pettit 1905 read a paper on "The Religious Condition in the College" before the monthly meeting of the ministers' club of Williamstown Monday.

Cap and Bells will give "The Man from Mexico" at the Pi Eta club-house, Cambridge, Wednesday evening, May 9. The Pi Eta Society is largely a dramatic club and has a private theatre connected with its club-house.

An article by Dr. Pratt, entitled "Types of Religious Belief," which appeared in the March number of the American Journal of Religious Psychology and Education, has recently been reprinted in pamphlet form. This embodies the results of much investigtion by means of printed circulars widely sent out, inquiring about religious ideas and experiences. It is to form a chapter in a book Dr.

Purple and White Shut Out on Pratt Field—Ford Fans Twelve

Williams shut out Amherst Saturday, 2 to 0, on Pratt Field in a brilliant game of baseball. The Purple won by Ford's baffling pitching, which retired 12 men and allowed one scratch hit, and by two hits and base-running in the second. The fielding of both teams was sharp. Waters' accurate throwing allowed no stolen bases, Warren covered half the field in center, and Young, in the last play of the game, made a lightning stop and throw to first for a double play. The Amherst pitchers were located frequently, but only five safe hits were scored, all clean drives. Newell made two lucky stops and Hogan was robbed of three hits by sensational catches. The outcome of the game was never in doubt.

The two runs were made in the second. Osterhout walked and took second on Waters' sacrifice. Harman's single gave him third, and he came home after McRae had caught Ford's long fly to left. Wadsworth then scored Harman on a two-bagger. McRae replaced Newell as pitcher in the third, and allowed but one hit. Jones made Amherst's hit on a slow roller toward third in the eighth and reached second on a sacrifice; only one other Amherst man got as far.

WESLEYAN

Track Meet Won from Red and Black, 79 Points to 47

Williams defeated Wesleyan Saturday afternoon in a dual track meet on Weston Field, 79 points to 47, exactly the same score as the Dartmouth meet of last year. Williams won nine firsts, eight seconds and ten thirds, scoring in each event. In the 880-yd. run, high hurdles and high jump, Williams secured all three places. The rain of the morning made the track slow but the times made were, on the whole, good. Horrax got 14 points, and Griswold 10 for Williams. Kent, McCormick and Dearborn made 34 of Wesleyan's 47 points.

CAPTAIN BENSON OF WESLEYAN

The surprise of the day was the defeat of Capt. Benson of Wesleyan in the two-mile. Tired out by the hard race in the mile, which B. P. Allen won by a good spirt at the finish, he started off fast, running the first half in 5.10. He was not able to stand the pace, and was passed by Bonner and Davis on the last lap, Bonner winning out by a yard in fast time. The time in the half was the best of the day, Ayers and Eggleston, a yard apart at the finish, winning ensily. The finals of the dashes were close and Kent chased Griswold out well in the low hurdles.

The field events were not so closely contested. Dearborn threw the discus eighteen feet beyond the Williams record, and also won the hammer and was second in the shot. Bowker, in the discus, made second on his last throw, and Kent of Wesleyan won the broad jump in the same way.

The officials were: referee, P. H. Hurley of Worcester; starter, H. L. Dadmun of Worcester;

HARVARD

Williams Defeats Crimson Golfers 23 1-2 to 0—Best Ball of 73

The golf match with the Harvard team, played on the links of the Taconic club, Saturday afternoon, resulted in a victory for Williams by the unexpectedly large score of 23½ to 0. Tuxedo system of scoring, a point for the match and half a point for every hole up. On the morning rounds of eighteen holes, individual match play, Williams scored 15 points, Harvard 0; in the afternoon rounds of eighteen holes, four ball foursomes, the score was Williams 8½, Harvard 0.

Although the course was not in the best of condition, the greens were smooth and true. The Cambridge team was handicapped by the absence of Pierre A. Proal, who usually plays No. 3. Throughout the match the Williams players were in exceptionally good form, while most of the Harvard golfers, especially in the individual matches, were off their game. Three holes were made in the unusual score of 2, one of them, the seventh, having a bogey of 4, by Wilder of Harvard, squaring his match with L. Mitchell. The White-A. Mitchell match carried the gallery in the morning. The Harvard captain led by a single hole going out, but saved himself from defeat by accurate putting on the seventeenth and eighteenth. Wilcox 1909 made the best rounds in the individual match, scoring 40-41, 81; Gregory 1907 had no difficulty with Hickox.

In the afternoon White and Ingalls were paired against Clapp and Wilcox, who took the lead at the first hole, were three ahead at the end of the first nine holes, and finished eight up, having a best ball of 73. Wilcox scored a 39 and Clapp a 38. White had a 39 on the first round, while Ingalls was not in form. The best ball of the two Williams players follows:

4 5 4 3 3 5 3 3 5—35
4 5 5 3 4 5 3 4 5—38—73

A. Mitchell played the most consistent game in the afternoon, with an 81.

The score follows:

TO MANAGE TRACK TEAM

W. E. Slattery '08 Chosen Sophomore Assistant

At a college meeting held Thursday evening in Jesup Hall, William Ernest Slattery of North Troy, N. Y., was elected sophomore assistant manager of the track association. He will become assistant manager next fall and will be 'varsity manager in 1908. Slattery prepared for college at the Troy Academy, from which he graduated in 1903. He is a member of the sophomore prom. committee.

During the track election a ballot was taken on the nominations for assistant manager of the debating association, and James Atkins Bullard of East Orange, N. J., was elected. Bullard resigned Friday.

Sunday Speakers

The following members of the faculty will give Sunday afternoon talks to the seniors: Dr. Bascom, May 13; Dr. F. H. Howard, May 20; President Hopkins, May 27; Dr. Franklin Carter, June 3.

A Williams Day

Amherst had a veteran team in Saturday's line-up, Williams but three players of two years 'varsity experience. Amherst started the year with one of the best amateur pitchers in New England still in college as well as an experienced second-string man, Williams' two candidates had pitched in but five full games of college baseball. That in spite of these handicaps the nine was able to defeat Amherst on Pratt Field in the first game of the series shows hard work in practice, and is particularly gratifying. Though Ford's pitching was the prime cause of Amherst's defeat, for Captain Neild's men thus early in the season to play with but one error in the enemy's country shows that the team was playing ball all the time. The nine has the confidence of the college. It is early to get too enthusiastic, but if the present ability in the field and the box can be supplemented by equal ability at the bat, an old-time season is to be hoped for.

Meanwhile it was all purple in Williamstown. The track men surprised the college not so much by the size of their victory as by the quality of their performances and the evenness of the ability shown. The trouble with Williams in track in the past has been a lack of second-string men. That nineteen men won points is an encouraging sign for next Saturday's meet with a team that always wins on seconds and thirds. The golf team's victory was the most decisive and least expected of any. Harvard ranks just as high in golf as in the major sports and is defeated just as seldom.

Not in three years has the Purple won so many important victories in one day as on Saturday. Baseball, track, and golf have all started the season right. It certainly was a Williams day.

Williams Songs

During the past year our nearest colleges have been singularly fortunate in the advent of the song-writing spirit. A Wesleyan sub-freshman wrote in "While We Shout Victory" what to our mind is the most successful of the many songs of the Red and Black, in combining tuneful melody with a yell-rythm that makes it a musical cheer. Amherst undergraduates have written "Lord Geoffrey Amherst" and, still more recently, "Here's to Amherst". Not since the writing of the "Alma Mater Song" by D. W. Marvin '01, has a catchy new song been written by an undergraduate. Perhaps the fault is not with the musical geniuses. Certainly no attention was paid to the song written by T. M. Banks '90 last fall to the dignified, inspiring tune of the Russian national air—a song better than any number of parodies of popular tunes written to be used on a single occasion.

College songs are of two kinds, the hymns and the slogans. Williams has many of the first kind, the "Alma Mater Song" and "The Royal Purple" are on the border line, while even "Come Fill Your Glasses Up," the only real Williams rallying song we can claim, is written to borrowed music. Even "The Grand Old Duke" might have been a Dartmouth song as well as a Williams one, had not fate perhaps thought it more fitting for those so much more used to marching up hills and down.

Williams needs more slogans, songs truly localized, with a swing and a dash to them that can make them as effective as cheers. There is a good field for any undergraduate that can compose—and there must be some—to do something for the college right here. The Record claims no musical genius, but it does feel competent, if it cannot write a rallying song, to try to revive an old one we do not use. We refer particularly to the third verse of "The Royal Purple". For the benefit of freshmen and others to whom it is not familiar or readily accessible, we have been asked to quote the verse in these columns:

"They may lead us ov'ry inning,
We keep them hard at work;
And with little chance of winning,
We not a moment shirk.
They may be batting strongly,
Their fielding may be great;

You reason matters wrongly,
The ninth will make all straight.
Some vaunt the crimson, etc."

One game out of every six in the big leagues last year was decided in the ninth. We will probably see a ninth or two on Weston Field that will need to be made straight in baseball this year, and can use here an effective supplement to organized cheering.

SPRING TRUSTEE MEETING

Will be Held in Williamstown Next Thursday

The regular spring meeting of the board of trustees will be held during the morning and afternoon of next Thursday, May 10, at President Hopkins' residence. The reports of all the different members of the faculty have been printed and copies sent to each of the trustees. These will be considered at the meeting, and the routine appropriations made. The honorary degrees given at Commencement will be decided upon, although these are never announced until the day before Commencement. Promotions will be made, arrangements for new instructors announced, and leaves of absence granted by the trustees at this meeting.

There will be no special business of an important nature like the consideration of the new dormitory last year, to come up. During the year the two oldest in point of service of the permanent trustees have died, Hon. James Madison Barker, L. L. D., '60, of Pittsfield, a member of the committee on grounds, buildings and improvements, on Oct. 2, 1905; and Rev. Robert Russell Booth, D. D., L. L. D., '49, of New York city, a member of the executive committee, on Nov. 23, 1905. Rev. Dr. Booth had been a trustee thirty-nine years. It is probable that any action with reference to new trustees will be confined to the discussion of candidates, and the election put over until the Commencement week meeting on June 25.

Basketball Election

All candidates for the position of vice-president and assistant manager of the basketball association are requested to hand their names to Manager Moies on or before Sunday, May 13.

A meeting of the class of 1908 for nomination of candidates for the above offices will be held on Monday, May 21, at 1:30 p. m., and a college meeting for election of assistant manager on that date at 7:30 p. m.

C. P. Moies, football manager.

Cap and Bells Officers

At a meeting of Cap and Bells held Friday evening in Jesup Hall the following officers were elected for next year: President, Jaeckel 1907; executive committee, Combes 1907, Jaeckel 1907, Pierce 1907; assistant business manager, Webster 1908; assistant stage manager, MacLaren 1908. It was voted to give a loving cup to Donald McDonald as an appreciation of his services as coach of the cast this season.

Votes Veer

On Thursday morning the Massachusetts Legislature committee on taxation held an executive session to decide on the report to be made to the legislature on the Feiker bill for taxing revenue-yielding college property. At the morning meeting the committee voted 9-6 to recommend reference to the next session of the legislature. Those close to the leaders in the legislature had considered that such an adverse report would kill the bill. Shortly afterwards, through the efforts of Senator Feiker, two members of the committee changed their votes, and by a vote of 8-7, the committee decided to report the bill favorably to the legislature, with this amendment, however, that dormitories be exempted from taxation. This would tax presidents' and professors' houses, athletic fields, farms, infirmaries, etc., including every property yielding revenue to the colleges except dormitories. Thursday afternoon, however, the committee decided upon another reconsideration and by a vote of 9-6 determined to report adversely again.

Extemporaneous Speaking Contest

At 8 o'clock tonight in Jesup Hall, the annual contest for the A. V. W. Van Vechten extemporaneous speaking prize will be held. This prize, amounting to seventy dollars, which was established by Mr. A. V. W. Van Vechten of the class of 1847, is open only to seniors. The candidates will come to Jesup Hall one hour before they are scheduled to speak, and receive from Mr. Lewis a list of ten subjects of general or peculiar college interest, from which to choose one. The decision of the three judges is not made public until Commencement. Mr. Van Vechten has recently published a list of the winners of the prize.

Y. M. C. A. Meeting

Rev. Howard Chandler Robbins, rector of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal church of Englewood, N. J., spoke before the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall last night. He took as his text the words of the Assyrian sorcerer, "How shall I curse whom the Lord hath not cursed? How shall I defy whom the Lord hath not defied?" in reproving the present day tendency to give ear "to the man with the muck-rake."

Meeting of Worcester Alumni

The fourth annual meeting of the Williams alumni association of Worcester county will be held at the Worcester club, Worcester, on Friday evening at 7:00 o'clock. It is expected that President Hopkins will represent the college. The question as to the future of the organization will be brought before this meeting. The president of the association, G. Stanley Hall, Ph. D., L. L. D., '67, president of Clark University, will preside.

'97—Lyman H. Toombs has recently accepted a position with the law department of the Title Guarantee and Trust Co., New York city.

'95.—William B. Frear has been elected president of the Troy High school alumni association, one of the first associations of High school alumni ever formed.

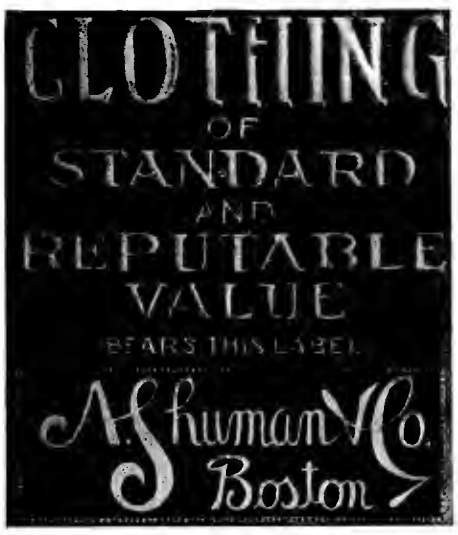
THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.



Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

THE EASTERN TRIP

Purple Plays Andover Tomorrow and Harvard Wednesday

The Williams team left on the 3:50 train this afternoon for an eastern trip in which Andover will be played on Brother's Field tomorrow, and Harvard on Soldiers' Field, Wednesday. Williams has won but one victory out of the five games played with Andover in recent years. The Purple won in 1898 by the score of 2-1; in the last three years, Andover has won consecutively. Lanigan, who pitched against Williams the last two years, will probably be in the box tomorrow.

Since 1893 Harvard has won 16 games to Williams' 4, usually by a wide margin. Harvard was defeated in 1894, 13-11; in 1896, 2-1; in 1899, 6-4; and in 1901, 5-4, the last two in Cambridge. The Crimson was defeated on April 28 by Dartmouth in a game lost because of Skillin's pitching and Harvard errors.

The batting orders of the teams follow:

WILLIAMS: Wadsworth 2b, Warren cf, Young ss, Neild 3b, Hogan lf, Osterhout rf, Waters c, Harman 1b, Pierce (at Andover), Ford (at Harvard) p.

ANDOVER: Murphy lf, H. Merritt 3b, Fels ss, B. Reilly 2b, Gunning 1b, Daly rf, Lanigan cf or p, Jones or Hennessey c, J. Reilly p. or cf.

HARVARD: Dexter lf, Leonard 3b, Stephenson c, McCall 2b, Burr 1b, McCarty rf, Hellman cf, Hartford or Castle p. Harvey ss.

Classical Society Meeting

The program for the Classical Society meeting, to be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the west wing of the library, will include the papers by Dr. Gerig on "A Few Comparisons of Roumanian, Umbrian, and Classical Latin" and by Mr. Preserved Smith on "Aristotle's Contributions to the Theory of the State", which were omitted at the last meeting. In addition papers will be read by Durfee '07 on "The Development of Roman Tactics and Roman Contributions to the Art of War", and by Buffinton '07 on "The History of the Gladiatorial Shows". In case it is decided to hold no other meeting later in the month, the annual election of officers will follow.

The last copy for the 1910 "freshman bible" has been sent to the printer and it is expected that the book will be out by June. The contract has been awarded to the Excelsior Printing Co., North Adams.

The Williamstown High School beat the 1907 class team on the High School grounds Thursday afternoon by the score of 17 to 6. Tower, pitching for 1907, was knocked out of the box and was replaced by Hoyne, after which no runs were made.

The tiling for the swimming pool is in charge of the Bradley, Currier Co., of New York. The Mitchell Co., of Boston, have the contract for the plumbing, and Franklin, also of Boston, will install the heating apparatus. The concrete work will be in charge of the Eastern Expanded Metal Co., of Boston.

A large number of students went to the station Saturday night to meet the team on its return from Amherst. After marching up from the station in front of the drag containing the nine, a stop was made at the old campus, where a bonfire had been built. Speeches were made by each of the team and Mgr. McAllister. Another celebration was held later in the evening.

HARVARD BEATEN 5-2

1906 Team Wins Greatest Baseball Victory in Five Years Wednesday

Williams Plays Errorless Ball—Ford Again Strikes Out Twelve—Long Hit by Warren, Fast Base-Running and Harvard Misplays in Third Inning—Attempted Steal Home Fails in Ninth.

For the first time in five years, Williams defeated Harvard in baseball yesterday 5-2 on Soldiers' Field. The team played an errorless game, and made their hits count. Ford, after a bit of wildness in the second, pitched strongly, struck out twelve men, and kept Harvard's nine hits scattered.

The third inning won the game. Waters walked, and Harman followed him to first on an error. Hartford struck out Ford and Wadsworth, but Warren came to time with a hit good for three bases that produced two tallies; but as he overran first he had only time to get back to the base again before the ball was fielded in. Young got a base on balls, Warren and Young made a pretty double steal, and Stephenson's passed ball let Warren in. Harvard began to throw the ball around, Hartford went into the air, and a gift to Nield, an error by Harvey, and a hit by Hogan sent two more men into the run column. Castle went into the box in the fourth and held Williams safe, striking out six of the last eight men that faced him.

A double and a single in the third scored Leonard for Harvard, and two more hits in the fifth gave him another run. Castle, first up in the ninth, sent out a two-base hit and took third on an out, but was caught by Ford and Waters in an attempt to steal home. Warren's hitting and base running featured for Williams; Ford gave the fielders few hard chances. Both pitchers, when not striking batsmen out, made them hit into the air. Harvard's stolen base was due to interference by Stephenson with Waters' throw. Leonard did the best work for the Crimson, while Capt. Stephenson dropped two third strikes and had one passed ball.

MEETING OF TRUSTEES

Routine Business Considered—Mr. Lewis and Dr. Hardy Promoted

The regular spring meeting of the Board of Trustees was held in the seminar room, Griffin Hall, this forenoon. The session commenced at 9 and adjourned at 1:40 o'clock. The following members of the board were present, besides Pres. Hopkins, who presided: Rev. William Wisner Adams, D. D., '55, of Fall River; Rev. Daniel Merriman, D. D., '63, of Worcester; Francis Lynde Stetson, M. A., '67, of New York city; William Henry Hollister, Jr., B. A., '70, of Troy, N. Y.; Pres. Henry Lefavour, Ph. D., LL. D., '83, of Boston; Rev. Harry Pinneo Dewey, D. D., '84, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Hon. Bently Wirt Warren, B. A., '85 of Boston; and Hon. James Robert Dunbar, B. A., '71, of Brookline.

Only routine business was considered, and no gifts were announced, or special appropriations made. The question of the election of new trustees was not discussed. Samuel E. Allen 1903 was appointed instructor in English. Mr. Allen comes from the Case School of Applied Sciences, Cleveland, O., where he has been at the head of the English department. An instructor in German was appointed, whose name is as yet not given out for publication.

The appointment was announced as instructor of French of M. Albert L. Guérard, of Paris, France. M. Guérard was secured by Prof. Morton while in Europe last summer from Emile Legouis, the professor of English literature at the Sorbonne. As teachers in France are pensioned after a long unbroken term of service under the government, arrangement was made by which M. Guérard's year at Williams will count the same as if he was working in France. He will assist Asst.-Prof. Weston in the course in Old French Literature, French 5, and will also teach part of French 2 and French 3. He speaks both English and French.

Dr. James Graham Hardy was promoted to the newly-created office of associate professor, of Mathematics. An associate professor will rank as a full professor, but will differ from a full professor in not being the head of the department. Mr. Edward Morgan Lewis was made assistant professor of Public Speaking and Oratory. Mr. Elmer Irwin Shepard was granted leave of absence for next year.

Ass't. Prof. Perry was granted fifteen months' leave of absence for next year. He will travel in France and Switzerland during the summer and fall, and will remain in France next winter attending lectures on literature at the Sorbonne. In the spring he intends to go to England and then to one of the colleges at Oxford in order to make a further study of English literature. He will remain in England until his return.

M. I. T. MEET SATURDAY

On Brookline Oval—Technology Records and Probable Points

Williams will meet the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in a dual track meet at 2:00 p. m., on the Brookline Oval, Brookline, Saturday. The Williams track team of twenty-three men will leave at 12:58 tomorrow. The team will stop at the Copley Square Hotel while in Boston, and will return to Williamstown Saturday night on the 10:53 train. The following men will be taken on the trip: Ayers, Cowperthwait, Egleston, Griswold 1906; A. J. Allen, A. Brown, M. Brown, Chapman, Conover, Davis, Hurlbut, Lesser, Wells, Wilder 1907; B. P. Allen, Bowker, Clark, LaMent, Marshall, Watters 1908; Bonner, Horrax, Swain 1909.

The Technology team contains four star athletes in Buckingham, Callaway, Knapp and Farrington, but has lost from last year's Worcester point-winners Capt. Lightner, the old Harvard sprinter. The team is not evenly balanced. It is weak in the sprints, with 10 4-5s. this year's best effort in the 100. Buckingham ran third to 4.36 3-5 at Worcester last year, and has done 4.44 this year. Callaway did the two-mile in 10.25 in 1904 and 1905, was fourth to 10.12 4-5 last year, and has done 10.25 3-5 this year. Clapp, their other two-miler, is about to leave to take up technical work in Chicago. Noyes, their best hurdler, has been unable to compete in any events this year, leaving M. I. T. weak here. As their best low hurdle time is 29 2-5, second can be given to Williams if A. Brown and Griswold both start. Wilson, fourth to 2.01 1-5 at Worcester in the half, is entered, though he has not taken part in any meets this year.

In the weights mention should be made of Capt. Knapp's hammer throw of 126ft., 7 in., at Worcester last year. Nisbet has a mark of 98 ft., 8 in., in the discus. The figuring for the jumps needs a word of explanation. Farrington, with a record of 5ft., 9 in., in the high jump, and 10 ft., 3 in. done at Worcester in the pole vault, is a consistent performer. He should at least tie for first in the high jump, on which basis points have been estimated. Orr, with a vault of 10 ft. in competition on April 21, is given third in the pole vault. Other records of Technology men are 55 s. in the quarter, 2.07 4-5 in the 880, 17 3-5s. in the high hurdles, 19 ft., 8 in., in the broad jump and 35 ft., 3½ in., in the shot.

The following estimate, conservative except in the sprints, gives Willisms the meet by a very close margin:

	Williams	M.I.T.
100-yd. dash	3	6
220-yd. dash	3	6
440-yd. dash	5	4
880-yd. run	6	3
One-mile run	3	6
Two-mile run	4	5
120-yd. hurdles	8	1
220-yd. hurdles	5	4
High jump	5	4
Broad jump	8	1
Pole vault	3	6
Shot put	5	4
Hammer throw	3	6
Discus throw	3	6

N. E. I. A. A. Meet at Brookline

A meeting of the N. E. I. A. A. was held at Boston Saturday, at which the place for this year's championship track meet, to be held May 18 and 19, was discussed. Williams was unable to be represented. As no satisfactory final settlement of last year's involved accounts had been made by the Worcester management, it was decided to hold the games this year at Brookline Oval, Brookline, under the auspices of the M. I. T. This is the same track on which the Williams-Technology dual meet will be held Saturday. The track is a quarter of a mile long, with 220-yd. straightaway. The grandstand and bleachers sent about 1800 people, and the track house is equipped with shower-baths and lockers.

The Harvard Game

For the second time within five days the baseball team has won a remarkable victory. Yesterday was the first time the Purple has flouted above the Crimson on Soldiers' Field since 1901. Timely hitting and zeros in the error column show why baseball stock has gone above par. Three successive out-of-town games have wrecked neither fielding nor batting averages.

Syracuse, Yale, Dartmouth, Vermont, Wesleyan, Princeton and Amherst, the games of the hardest part of the schedule are to follow. The nine is confident of itself. Add to this that the college continue to make clear—and loud—its confidence in the nine, and the victory over Harvard, in itself enough to redeem some seasons, should be only a prelude to further success on the diamond.

Vandalism

It has been brought to our attention that cases of vandalism in the Library are becoming altogether too frequent. On preparing periodicals for binding recently it was found that an entire story had been cut out from the March 1905 Scribner's, and several pages of pictures from the April Cosmopolitan. Two numbers of the Lit. had to be secured from outside sources. It has been found necessary to keep a duplicate file of The Record to guard against this mutilation, and so examples might be multiplied.

The library affords a free reading-room for periodicals. Its files are only valuable in proportion to their completeness. Their mutilation is not a penal offense because it is too petty, so petty that any but petty men ought to be above it. That every year there are one or two in college who do it is all the more remarkable. It would seem that a man's sense of common decency would keep him from such acts of vandalism.

BOOK NOTICES

Biography of Samuel J. Mills 1809

The Pilgrim Press, of Boston, has recently published "Samuel J. Mills, Missionary Pathfinder, Pioneer and Promoter", by Rev. T. C. Richards '87. Mills graduated from Williams in the class of 1809, and was the moving spirit of the five who met under the haystack in 1806 and there started what became the foreign missionary movement. Mills later went to Andover, and, with Adoniram Judson, drew up a petition which led to a favorable report for the institution of a "Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions". He went on two missionary journeys in the United States, and died at sea, while returning from a trip to Africa, June 15, 1818.

This first extended biographical account of the real founder of American foreign missions is the result of much patient research work in a large amount of hitherto uncollected material. In the part dealing with Mills' life up to 1809 particular emphasis is laid on the formative influence of Litchfield County, in Connecticut, where Mills was born, and the two strangely mingled dominant traits of Mills' character, a remarkable power of earnest leadership, and great modesty. Mills' college life is treated in much detail, and the haystack meeting fully described. His aim and spirit are best described by his own words:—"Let us go over and help them!"—"We can do it, if we will." Though his more active religious life lasted but twelve years, his influence by both character and career was profound. The book is attractively gotten up, with purple cloth binding, and a Williams seal on the cover.

New Book by Prof. Russell

Prof. Russell has just issued his new text-book "An Elementary Logic", a 250-page 12mo, published by the Macmillan Company, New York. It aims to give a briefer and simpler treatment of the subject of logic than any book heretofore issued, and will be used as a text-book in Philosophy 5 at Williams next year.

Especial effort has been made to omit all technical and extraneous matter, and to present the pertinent facts clearly and definitely. As deductive logic is the logic of consistency, and inductive logic the logic of science, the main division of the book is into two parts along these respective lines. The first part, the logic of consistency, discusses concept, division, definition and classification, judgment, the logic of propositions, reasoning, the syllogism, and deductive inference. The second part, the logic of science, treats of the ascertainment of causal connection by observation and experiment, hypotheses, the calculation of chances, generalization from experience and analogy, and fallacies. At the end are a number of practical exercises and questions for the use of instructors in illustrating principles of reasoning.

Although Prof. Russell states in his preface his indebtedness to John Stuart Mill's "Logic", he has made departures from prevailing methods in four branches of the study: inductive logic, judgment, syllogism and fallacies. The book affords in clear, concise and tangible form, without masses of topics too perplexing for a beginner, an elementary study of the principles of logic.

AFTER THIRTY YEARS

Reunion of the Class of 1876 This Commencement

The class of 1876 will celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of its graduation at Commencement at Williamstown this June. The class will have its reunion banquet at the Greylock hotel on Tuesday evening, June 26. Not enough members of the class will be present to warrant securing a house for headquarters, but the class will have some insignia in the way of hats and badges. It is expected that about fifteen members will be present.

The class of 1876 was small, graduating but thirty-seven, and of these, five have died. George K. Thompson in 1890, Dr. Roswell P. Collin in 1891, Prof. Hosmer C. Hill in 1896 and Stanley R. Kitchell in 1900. The present members of the class reside in fourteen states of the Union, and in Turkey. The occupations are divided as follows, nine lawyers, six teachers, four manufacturers, four ministers, three doctors, three editors, and three in miscellaneous lines of work. Among the better-known of its members are Rev. Lyndon S. Crawford, a missionary at Trebizond, Turkey; Francis H. Dewey of Worcester; Rev. James F. Eaton, a former president of Whitman college; Prof. John H. Haynes, formerly principal of Williamstown High school, United States Consul at Bagdad, and general manager of the Wolf expedition to Babylonia; Dr. Frank W. Olds of Williamstown; Clarence B. Roote, principal of Northampton High school; and corporation counsel George B. Wellington of New York city. Rev. Charles W. Huntington, D. D., of Toledo, is class secretary.

Trip to Helderberg Mountains

Weather permitting, on Friday and Saturday, Dr. Cleland and about fifteen members of Geology 1. will make the fourth annual trip to the Helderberg mountains in Albany County, N. Y., southwest of Albany, in the northern end of the Catskills. Those on the trip will leave Friday afternoon and spend the night in Albany. The party will drive fifteen miles from Voorheesville to New Salem, where the "Bear Trail" begins. The region offers wide opportunities for the study of limestone fossils, glacial boulders, and sink-holes, and the "Indian Ladder" is one of the most picturesque bits of scenery in the state. The party will return late Saturday night.

LONE RUN WINS GAME

Usual Result at Andover—Error Decides Pitcher's Battle

Andover added another to her successive list of victories over Williams by inflicting the first defeat of the season on Brothers' Field Tuesday. But a single run was needed, as Andover fielded faultlessly, and Lanigan allowed but two hits. Pierce was effective in the box, striking out eight, allowing Andover but five safe drives and steady in critical moments.

The game was lost, in general, because of weakness at the bat, in particular, because of the lone error of the game, in inning five. Fels, first man up stretched a single into a two-bagger, the ball hitting third base and bounding out to left field. Pierce then struck out the next two men. Daly sent a hard fly to left field which was dropped by Otsterhout after he had got the ball squarely in his hands after a long run, and Fels scored from second base before the ball got home. Only two Williams men reached second during the game. Nield in the fifth and Waters in the eighth. Nield got part way to third, but was tagged out.

SYRACUSE SATURDAY

First Home Game with Experienced Team—Pierce will Pitch

Williams meets Syracuse Saturday, on Weston Field, in the fourth home game of the season, and the first home game with a first class team. The Syracuse nine have had considerable experience this season, having opened the year early in April and already played 12 games. The Orange players have been on a New England trip this week, which will be concluded by a game with Amherst tomorrow and the Williams game Saturday.

For the four times that Syracuse and Williams have met on the diamond the honors are even. The last game, in 1903, was won by Syracuse 7-2.

The batting orders of both teams follow:

WILLIAMS: Wadsworth 2b, Warren cf, Young ss, Neild 3b, Hogan lf, Osterhout rf, Southworth or Waters c, Harman 1b, Pierce p.

SYRACUSE: Rutherford ss, Ryan cf, Scully 3b, Madden lf, Wilbur 1b, DuBrois rf, Wheeler 2b, McBirney or Watkey p, Davis or Dollard c.

COLLEGE NOTES

Merrill '92, Allen '95 and Stoddard 1900 have been in town.

The handicaps of the Metropolitan Golf association have been announced. Wilcox 1909 is handicapped at 4, the same number of strokes as Robert Abbot of Yale, the intercollegiate champion.

A meeting of the executive committee of the New England Classical association will be held in Springfield on Saturday. Prof. Howes, secretary-treasurer of the association, is a member of the committee, and will attend.

About half the college marched to the station early this morning to meet the team on the 5:35 train. Captain Nield responded to the cheering with a short speech.

The following is the complete list of rooms reserved for next year up to this noon: 7, 8, 10, 11, 13, 14, 16 B. H.; 9 C. H.; 3, 4, 6, 7, 12, 15, 17, 23, 24 E. C.; 1, 4, 5, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 16, 17, 18, 28, 29, 32, 37, 38 M. H.; 2, 3, 8, 10, 11, 12, S. C.; 15 W. C.

The regular spring meeting of the New England Intercollegiate Golf association will be held at the Adams House, Boston, on Friday, May 18, at 7:30 p. m.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the Esst; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

CLOSING MEETING

Four Papers Read Before Classical Society—Blagbrough '07 President

The last meeting of the Classical Society for the year, held Tuesday evening, proved of unusual interest. At the conclusion of the program, the officers for next year were elected, as follows: President, Blagbrough' 07; secretary, Coleman'08; faculty adviser, Asst.-Prof. D. T. Clark; members of the executive committee, Buffinton '07 and Bullard '08.

Dr. Gerig opened with a short account of the differences between Classical Latin and the kindred Umbrian and Roumanian. The latter is the farthest removed of the Romance languages from the parent, largely through the influence of Slavic tongues. Our knowledge of Umbrian and Oscan is derived from a few inscriptions and tablets, from which sources complex grammars have been written. The most noteworthy deviations from the Latin are the change of "l" to "rsh", the substitution of "p" and "b" for the "qu" and "g" sounds, and of "ht" for "ct". There was no word for "yes."

Mr. Preserved Smith, discussing "Aristotle's Contributions to the Theory of the State", called attention to the government of Greeek city-states in Aristotle's time, as well as the political theories of his contemporaries—the most important influences affecting Aristotle's views. Aristotle made politics a science, an end rather than a means, applied historical and comparative methods to his study of it, and estnblished theories of the origin of the state and of sovereignty as dependent on local economic conditions, which are still held.

Durfee '07 read an interesting account of Rome's chief war machine, the legion, in the successive stages of its development, including the significant facts known about Roman cavalry and artillery. The Romans were preeminent in tactics and, at times, in unexampled discipline. Buffinton '07 read a history of the growth of the gladiatorial shows from 264 B. C., the year of the first contests in Rome, down through the huge public games which engrossed and debased the city in Augustus' time. The degrading influence of the shows was an important cause of Rome's fall. The papers were the best contributions of the year from members of the student-body.

Communion Service Next Sunday

The sermon in the Thompson Memorial chapel next Sunday morning will be given by Rev. Dr. Albert J. Lyman, pastor of the South Congregational church of Brooklyn, N. Y., following which the Lord'e supper will be observed. Dr. Lyman will conduct a service in the basement of the chapel at 7:30 Saturday evening, preparatory to the Communion service. Rev. Dr. Lyman is one of the best-known ministers in Brooklyn, having been pastor of his church, which now has over twelve hundred members, since 1874. Dr. Lyman is one of the college preachers whose ability and popularity results in his preaching here each year. Dr. Lyman will also address the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall Sunday evening.

VAN VECHTEN CONTEST

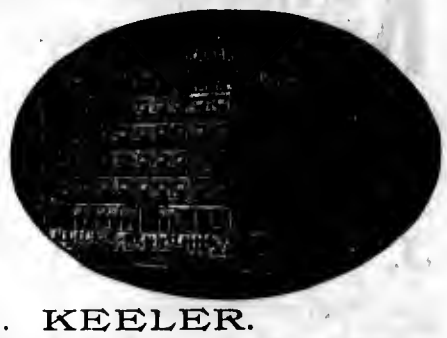
Held in Jesup Hall Monday—Orations Generally Good

The VanVechten Prize speaking contest was held in Jesup Hall Monday evening before a small audience, six men participating. Judge S. G. Tenney '86 presided, and the judges were Rev. Dr. Busfield of North Adams, Rev. William E. Foley and Judge Tenney of Williamstown. The winner will be announced on the Commencement stage.

The first speaker, H. A. Scholle, took for his subject "Should freshmen be debarred from college athletics?" He maintained that such a system would do harm. The modern idea of playing to win would keep men through freshmen year, and "proselyting" would be greater, as athletes would demand more inducements. The system would injure the small college more than the large. Scholle spoke well, but did not seem to treat his subject appreciatively.

W. H. Curtiss spoke on "The religious life at Williams". The main trouble with our religious life is reluctance to show religious feeling. There is also a lack of faculty co-operation as well as a need of a definite basis for the Y. M. C. A. The needs must be met by a good, earnest corps of workers. Curtiss was in sympathy with his subject, but his delivery was characterized by some repetition.

J. E. Perry spoke on the subject "Why not teach?" The questions before a college man are his life's aim and his life's work. Teaching wields a greater influence than any other profession; it affects the growing mind. Perry's style was quite oratorical, and his speech well thought out.



H. A. Nomer gave "A criticism of the United States Senate". We like to think of the Seuate as a model body, but can we fairly do this? Those who compose it put business first and national interests second. The attitude of the Senate is selfish, in that it has blocked every important reform movement this year. It has been encroaching on the functions of the House. Something must be done. Put into the Senate good men, elected by popular vote. Nomer spoke fluently and clearly, and seemed to have complete knowledge of his subject.

"Why not teach?" was again treated by S. A. Morgan. The benefits of teaching are many—study, time for travel, a country life, and congenial companions. These are nothing compared to the benefits the teacher can render others. He moulds men in their formative age and may add to the world's knowledge. He has time to be kind. Morgan spoke slowly, choosing his words with care, but was not forceful.

W. S. Case concluded by arguing that freshmen be debarred from college athletics. Such a course would do away with two evils—"proselyting" and the bad effect of too much athletics in college. The adoption of this system would bring back the old tradition—the man picking the college, not the college picking the man. Case spoke directly and simply, but perhaps a trifle too informally.

CLOSE TRACK MEET

Williams Defeats M. I. T. 66 2-3 to 59 1-3—Discus Record Broken

Williams defeated M. I. T. Saturday afternoon on Tech Field, Brookline, in a meet which was not decided until the last event had been finished. The final score was 66 2-3 points to 59 1-3. A Williams record was broken by LaMent, who threw the discus 103 ft. 1½ in., 2 ft. 1½ in., better than the former record, made by Anderson 1900 in a triangular meet on June 1, 1900.

M. I. T. won first place in all the runs except the two-mile, while Williams won the hurdles and all the field events but the hammer throw. Each event was closely contested, the 440-yd. dash and two-mile run furnishing the best races of the day. The 440-yd. dash was even racing between Howe, Blackburn, and Gould of M. I. T. and Hurlbut of Williams to within fifteen yards of the finish, when Hurlbut, who has been in poor condition, fell and did not finish. Callaway of M.I.T. was picked to win the two-mile. He led in the last lap until near the finish when Bonner passed him, and won by about 10 yards in fast time.

In the last event, the low hurdles, Williams won all three places and the meet. Horrax did the best individual work, scoring 17 points by one first and four seconds.

Summary of Events

100-yd. dash—Richards T, 1st; Williams T, 2nd; Cowperthwait W, 3d. Time, 10 2-5.

THE THIRD SHUT-OUT

Syracuse Beaten 7-0—Errorless Game with Timely Hits

Syracuse was shut out on Weston Field Saturday by a score of 7-0, making four runs scored against the team in six full games. The game was the third shut-out of the season, and the second in succession in which no errors were made. Pierce pitched a steady game, allowing four hits and no passes and sending seven men to the bench. But one Syracuse man passed first.

The work of the Williams infield was almost professional; Wadsworth accepted nine chances, Young made a lightning throw of a pop fly over Pierce's head, and Neild made a quick throw of a slow hit. Seven of the Williams hits and five of the Syracuse errors came in the three innings when Williams scored. The scoring began in the first inning when Warren scored on Rutherford's fumble of Neild's grounder. A shower interrupted the game in the second, but play was resumed after ten minutes. Osterhout opened the Williams half of the second by a single, but was later thrown out at the plate. Clever hunting, followed by Wadsworth's timely single, brought in two runs, Warren's two-bagger to centerfield gave Wadsworth another tally, and Davis left the box. The Syracuse fielders went to pieces in the seventh, whereupon Williams found Watkey, and two singles and a double, by Hogan, scored Wadsworth, Young and Neild.

THE MAY LIT.

Prof. Russell Reviews Current Number of the Monthly

The May number of the Literary Monthly brings quite a wealth and variety of matter, and food enough, no doubt, for the critic who is more willing to censure than to praise. The present reviewer, however, will shrink the unpleasant task of adverse criticism, and exercise the more agreeable function of saying good things, but doing so with the clear intent of saying only what he thinks is true. In the historical sketch, "The Passing of an Old Landmark," Mr. Lowe has done well to revive the memory of Old Goodrich Hall in the minds of the present generation of Williams men, ere that building dies out of their remembrance, as the splendors of so many sunsets have died upon its walls.

The fiction in this number of the Literary Monthly is good; less ambitious in undertaking, more natural in its descriptions and its representations and truer to nature and life than is the usual product of early essays in this department of literature.

"For Monsieur" is a well told story. The style suits well the matter; the narrative is easy, direct and spirited; the movement of the story carries the reader straight to the close, with a growth of interest all the way. The contrast between the rude alarms of war outside the sanctuary and the solemn peace that reigns within is effectively presented. Jean Mortier is well drawn; his pride in his family and in his inheritance, his devotion to Monsieur, his valor, his heroism to the last, make him a person you regard as real, and really deserving respect and admiration; and the last struggle to defend the church in which he falls, is described in a way which gives one the sense of an actual scene.

In "A Friend of the Family" we have a social situation,—alas, too common in these times—effectively handled. The struggle between the nobler natures and the lower selves in the man and in the woman, the salvation of both by the cry of a child, and the triumph of the better part in both souls, are described with a true feeling of moral values. Would it not, however, have been truer to life, had the unworthy husband not so easily taken away the barrier to their union by his sudden taking-off?

"The Dinosoor" is a breezy, vigorous and natural story, in which incident, action and speech go so fittingly together that we have a genuine bit—that life in our far west that is still untouched by the refinements of civilization.

The poetry offered in this number of the Lit. is, in general, marked by a good feeling for truth, sobriety of taste and pure tone of sentiment. The verses on the "Chant d'Amour" reflect quite well the fitting mood evoked by

VOL. 20 MAY 14, 1906 No. 15

The Chapel Prayers

The influence of the new chapel on the student-body seems to have been good. Attention has been dignified, literature less popular, the sedentary and the sleepy fewer. Conditions never will be ideal, but as long as improvement is shown, it does not matter much if the few entirely irresponsible continue their cherished foibles. By junior year the readers and sleepers have either lost their battle with the curriculum, or else acquired a sense of fitness.

The dignified beauty of the building seems to have reacted differently on the faculty leaders. Some future historian of the college may discover when the custom of reading prayers in chapel sprang up. A great many students start studying languages with high ideals, slip once or twice, and in the end become habitués of the handy help. Those who have been here longest tell us that many of the faculty leaders began with prayers of their own making, read once or twice, only to become habitués of the ready prayer-book. It may have been thought that in this way more dignified prayers would be obtained to suit a more dignified chapel service. Whatever the cause, but one of those who have led in chapel during the present term, excluding the president, has used his own prayers, and the simple beauty of these has been in marked contrast to the formality of the others.

The inference to be drawn may be a little hard on the other leaders, who can scarcely hope to be Professor Hewitts. More fairly put, the question is whether prayers not spontaneous, necessarily delivered with less true expression, are better than prayers, perhaps in some cases cruder and less polished, but spoken with more forcefulness. The dignity gained by reading does not balance what is lost. It is hard enough for a student to get any uplift in a ten minute service. Appeals to him, to be of any effect, must be made as forcible and as clear as they can. No one can make the prayers of another as convincing as his own, especially when those others are written in ecclesiastical language and with many set phrases. To make an impression a man must talk from his own heart and not from some one else's. Better grope for words than to have the form of what is said impress more than its content.

A final consideration should be mentioned. Formality brings dignity, but it can go too far. Not a few outsiders have commented unfavorably on the fact that the present chapel service is too Episcopalian, and this not with any stricture on the beautiful Episcopal service, but because a college church should avoid anything that can even be made to look like denominationalism. The reading of prayers, by suggesting a ritual, strengthens this unfortunate appearance.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

Englewood, N. J., May 9, 1906.
Editor Williams Record:
Sir:—

Noting your appeal for more Williams field songs, I send a few verses to the air of the "Eton Boating Song"—a good tune, with a first-class swing, easily caught up by a crowd. It isn't as good as a tune of our own, but may help until that undergraduate musical genius arrives.

The arrangement of the "Boating Song" found in the "Williams Song Book" suits these words, with the exception of the last two lines, which should be run together somewhat, as required by the number and quantity of the syllables. After all, I can't see that the 1906 baseball team needs much more help, except to keep 'em at it. In this last week's games, the folks down Amherst and Cambridge way seemed, like the Bowery girl, to have "troubles enough widout singin'."

Very truly,
Talcott M. Banks, ('90.)

COLLEGE SIDE WINS

First Senate Vote on Feiker Bill—Further Discussion Today

The bill for taxation of college property came up for discussion in the Massachusetts Senate Thursday and Friday, and after much further debate, was lost. Later, however, an agreement was reached between Senator Feiker and the opponents of the measure by which a reconsideration will be moved Monday, the bill taken out of the hands of the committee that have it in charge at present, and referred to the committee which is to consider taxation matters during the recess.

The discussion commenced Thursday, when Senator W. H. Feiker of Northampton, who framed the bill, made a long argument in favor of substituting it for the adverse report of the committee, citing cases in Northampton and Amherst which he claimed were especially aggravating. He called particular attention to Smith College, and quoted statements by President Seelye. Some amusement was caused when he showed several photographs of thirteen acres of exempted land, surrounded by a high picket fence with a padlocked gate, which, according to President Seelye, was open to the public as a park. Senator Seiberlich, chairman of the taxation committee, outlined the reasons of the committee for reporting "Next General Court" on the matter. He stated that the business men of Northampton had declared that they would lose half their business should Smith College leave the city, as it might be compelled to do if the bill became a law.

At Friday's session, Senator McLeod of Cambridge spoke in favor of the bill, and the vote then ordered resulted in favor of the substitution of the bill by a vote of 15 to 11. A reconsideration was moved, and the bill was finally lost by a tie vote of 15-15. The matter was again discussed this morning.

Power and Freedom

Rev. Dr. A. J. Lyman, pastor of the South Congregational Church, of Brooklyn, addressed the Y. M. C. A. meeting last evening. Men under twenty-five consider freedom above power, men over twenty-five power above freedom. The secret of life is the proper adjusting of these two elements, and for this Christianity is the best guide. The rights of the individual must be upheld by the broad, college-educated man. A man who has graduated from a college which can hold the haystack monument in one hand, and the winning of a hurdle race at Athens in the other, has a breadth of mind which will give him power, not only to affirm, but also to say "no" to any proposition.

'99—John Barker, son of the late Judge James M. Barker '60, has closed his law offices at 77 Ames Building, Boston, and on May 1 commenced law practice at Pittsfield.

COLLEGE NOTES

Dean Ferry went to Boston Friday to attend a meeting of the New England entrance examination board.

The postponed baseball game between 1907 and 1909 will be played on Weston Field next Thursday.

The following alumni have been in town: Rogers '77, Putney 1900, Patterson ex-'00, Cole, Eldred, Murray 1905, Eldridge ex-'08.

The freshman declamation contest will be held Wednesday, May 16. Rehearsals will be held the evenings of May 14 and 15. All contestants are requested to see Mr. Lewis tomorrow morning to arrange for rehearsal.

The exhaust fans for ventilation of the gymnasium locker room have been put in place in the north and west windows. The fans, controlled by small individual electric motors, are placed in short suction tunnels.

Prof. Hewitt was elected a member of the executive committee of the Association of Classical Study at Athens, at a meeting of the managing committee of that organization last Friday. Prof. Howes attended the meeting.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the New England Classical association held in Springfield, Saturday, it was decided to hold the next general meeting of the organization at Phillips Andover academy next spring. The association will probably be sub-divided into several branches; a Connecticut division has already been formed.

A senior class meeting was held Saturday noon to make definite arrangements for the alumni grove, to be inaugurated by 1906. The grove, which will be of oaks, will be started near the football bleachers on Weston Field. It is planned for the reunion classes to plant trees each spring as well as the graduating class. The arrangements for the ceremonies at the 1906 tree dedication were left in the hands of the committee.

Williams 32, Island G. C. 0

The golf match with the Island Club at Troy Saturday was won easily by the college team, 32 to 0, straight hole scoring. The average for the Williams team was 80 for eighteen holes. Wilcox scored 40, 36-76, his second round equalling the amateur record of the course. The score:

Williams		Island club
A. Mitchell	9	F. Draper '95	0
E. A Clapp	8	Cluett	0
L. Mitchell	7	Harrington	0
H. Wilcox	3	Hartwell	0

Two-One, Freshmen Ahead

The freshmen defeated the seniors on Weston Field after the 'varsity game on Saturday afternoon by 2 runs to 1. The game was featureless. Captain Bassett made the only hit and run for the seniors. Both pitchers were in good form. Sears struck out nine men in the six innings.

The score by innings:

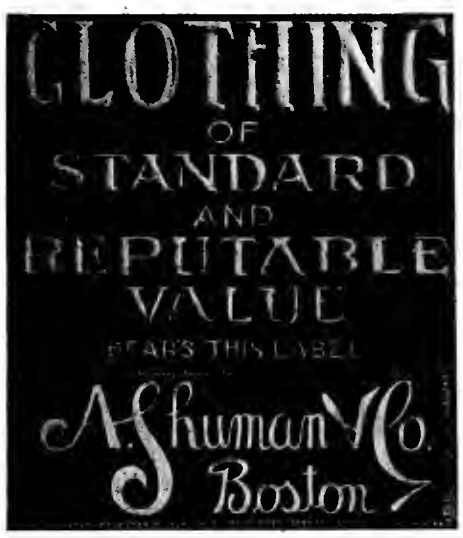
THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.



Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

that chant. "Roses" is almost a "swallow flight of song". There is a truly lyric mood reflected in these lines, in which the scent of the roses lingers still.

Mr. Westermann, in "Beyond the Barrier," has made large demands upon his readers, by a poem of such length, vibrant as it is with a high note of passion, sustained all the way through these eleven cantos, which tell the story of a love undying, but never crowned with success. If there is much in this poem that should be pruned away, and much that should be refined and subdued; it is the vigorous imagination, the exuberant fancy of a truly poetic mind that has thrown out these rather wayward shoots. If the critic's ear is pained by some jarring notes in these verses, he must be ungenerous not to recognize much refined and truthful sentiment and many fine harmonies of verse in this poem. The poem rings true and at times rings finely true. A man's noblest passion is strongly portrayed and, on the whole, effectively handled by the author. The chivalrous love of the man is finely voiced in the lines

. . . . . "For the tenderest power
Is the love that can leave without plucking the flower
Of its love in her bower;"

And the cry of the lover's hungry heart is heard in the words:

"I am waiting your answer here under the vine,
Heaven and Hell, you have both in your hands for me,
Both on your lips, dearest goddess divine!"

There is a fine recognition of the sympathy of nature in these lines:

"I know not why the night should be
So sweet a counsellor to me.
Or why the moon should seem to lend
The countenance of a loving friend
To my distress."

John E. Russell.

Philologian vs. Philotechnian

The intersociety debate, which was postponed from May 2 on account of the freshman-sophomore contest, will be held next Wednesday at 8:00 p. m. in Philotechnian Hall. The question will not be announced until tomorrow. The teams are:—Philologian, Nomer '06, Case '07, Matthews '07; Byard '08, alternate: Philotechnian, Case '06, Hulst '06, Sayre '09; Bullard '08, alternate. Two of the judges will be Mr. Preserved Smith and Dr. Fowler.

For Sercomb Cup

The annual shoot of the gun club for the Sercomb cup, donated by Albert A. Sercomb 1903, will be held on Wednesday afternoon at the traps at the Taconic golf club. Only those who have qualified by taking part in five local shoots during the college year may compete.

The club tried to arrange a triangular match shoot with the North Adams and Pittsfield clubs, to have been held either May 12 or 19, but was not successful.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

System Opposed by H. B. Clark 1903 in Practical Address

Mr. Herbert Brayton Clark 1903, of North Adams, a member of the common council of that city, spoke before the city government club in Jesup Hall Thursday evening on "Municipal ownership of public utilities in the United States." He treated the subject from a practical point of view, and talked informally and forcefully. Taking the stand that municipal ownership is an evil, he showed that a costly and radical change is necessary for its adoption, that the present profits of private corporations are not excessive, that even under ideal conditions in England municipal ownership is almost a failure, while in the United States under present political conditions it has utterly failed.

Municipal ownership of an absolute human necessity, such as a water-supply system, has proved a success, but for gas or electric lighting or car lines, where expert skill, efficiency and economy are demanded of managers and workers, it has shown itself to be an absolute failure. In proof of this he cited a number of cases in which costs had risen over one hundred per cent after certain public utilities had been taken over by city government. The question is of great present importance on account of the enormous increase in the Socialist Labor vote, and the great opportunities it would give for boss and machine favoritism. The profit of private corporations in these lines is not an exaction. Such concerns have done much toward the development of this country.

Mr. Clark gave many figures to show the failure of municipal ownership in America and even in England, the most startling of which was that over half of the total British debt is the debt of municipalities. He concluded by showing that in municipally owned utilities lack of competition results in lack of public interest in securing the most efficient service.

On account of the small number present the business meeting of the City Government club was postponed until after the college meeting a week from to-night.

Affiliation of College Alumni

On Thursday, May 17, a meeting of delegates from a number of eastern colleges and universities is planned to be held in the Cooley House, Springfield, to consider plans for the affiliation of the alumni associations of different colleges and universities into a useful national organization, for the particular purpose of combining college men in large centers into a movement for clean, good government. At the "Williams Night" given by the Graduates' Club of New York city during the winter, President Hopkins made a speech advocating this very affiliation. This was even before this movement for affiliation, originated at Brown, was started. Nothing has been done about sending a Williams delegate, as President Hopkins has not yet received any notice from Brown of final plans of the meeting.

AND NOW YALE

Purple Banners Above Blue in Second Baseball Victory From Big Four

Yale Makes But Two Hits—Exciting Seventh and Eighth Innings—Hit by Osterhout with Two Out and Bases Full Wins the Game—Sensational Stop by Harman.

For the fourth time in the history of the college Yale was beaten at baseball by Williams, 2 to 1, at New Haven yesterday. The game was a pitcher's battle, and a fine one to watch, the excitement increasing as the game progressed. Ford pitched a shade the better game, and was far steadier in critical moments. Neither pitcher was found at all until the seventh, and Yale's only run came as the result of a sun fly.

Not a Williams man saw first in six innings. Huiskamp got to second on Ford's error and a sacrifice in the first, and Yale had a chance to score when, with one out in the third, Church walked and stole. Jones hit to Neild, who threw wild to first, but Harman made a wonderful one-hand stop in the first base base-line, retired the runner, and held Jones on third.

The seventh inning started the scoring. Wadsworth, first up, drew a pass and went to third when Erwin threw Warren's perfect bunt poorly, whereupon Warren promptly stole second. Young hit to O'Brien, who threw Wadsworth out at the plate, and Young stole second. Neild walked and the bases were full. Hogan knocked a hard drive between second and short that hit Young, and the bases were still full, with no runs and two men out. Osterhout came to time with another drive in the same place, scoring Warren, and Neild tallied on O'Brien's poor throw. Waters hit to Camp.

Yale got a man to second at the start of the eighth, when Hogan lost Madden's fly in the sun. An out put him a base nearer home. Erwin hit a grounder to Young, who kept Madden from scoring but threw wide to first. Erwin stole, Wylie's hit scored Madden, but Huiskamp grounded to Wadsworth and O'Brien was easy. Warren got a hit in the ninth, but was caught off first.

The baseball association's summary follows:

SENIOR CLASS BOOK

To Appear Saturday—Results of the Elections

The 1906 class book, edited by John Adams Lowe, of Fitchburg, Mass., will be out for distribution to the class on Saturday, the first class book in recent years to appear on time. The book is bound in red full cloth covers, with a sketch of the chapel in gold, drawn by Bridgman 1909, on the front. The covers are lined with an imitation of watered silk. The interior of the book shows great improvement on past class publications, comparing favorably even with the 1902 book. The book is printed in two colors, red and black. The individual biographies have the names printed in red and the title-page is a fine bit of tasty printing. The cuts, which are printed on the best half-tone tissue, are pasted on the lower corners of the pages containing the biographies. The price of the book will be $1.25.

The book is dedicated to President Hopkins, and contains a short introductory article on ideals written by him. Contrary to precedent the history of the college years of the class of 1906 is at the very beginning instead of at the end of the book. The histories are by Hulst, Botsford, Buchanan and Hoyt. There are about 150 pages in the book, one page being devoted to each of the individual biographies. There are numerous other half-tones besides the cuts of members of the class.

The class statistics, given in a table showing the exact number of votes received by each member of the class for the different honors, are as follows: Most popular man, Griswold; man that has done most for the college, Neild; brightest man, Cowell; class grind, Bowen; class sport, Fleischmann; worst bluffer, Case; laziest man, Willcox; class cup, Cowperthwait. Neild and Osterhout tied; most likely to succeed, Clapp. The favorite professor was Prof. McElfresh, with Prof. Russell second; the best lecturer and teacher was Prof. Mears. Favorite courses, Biology 3, and English 13; best conducted department, chemistry; hardest courses, French 3, 2 and 1; most valuable and enjoyable year, senior.

The printing and binding of the book were done by the Tuttle, Morehouse and Taylor Co., New Haven, Conn., and the half-tones made by the Stoddard-Brown Co., of New York city.

New Debating League

Word was received this noon from Amherst that that college was favorable to the inauguration of a triangular debating league with Williams and Wesleyan. As Wesleyan is known to favor the league, the final arrangements are now certain to be made for a series of debates next fall, like those in the Williams-Brown-Dartmouth debating league.

YALE AND PRINCETON

Golf Matches Today and Saturday—Pennsylvania Cancels

The college golf team left yesterday noon for the spring trip, playing Princeton today, and Yale Saturday. Pennsylvania cancelled the match scheduled Tuesday night, without assigning any reason. The following men went on the trip:—E. A. Clapp '06, A. Jaeckel '07 (mgr.), A. Mitchell '07, L. Mitchell '07, A. Gregory '07, G. Lynde '08 and H. Wilcox '09. The team will return from New York Sunday.

The match with Princeton today was scheduled for eighteen holes in the morning, four ball foursomes, and eighteen holes individual match play in the afternoon. As with Pennsylvania and Yale, scoring will probably be by the Tuxedo system. None of the Williams players have been over the Princeton course, where the match will take place. The Princeton team is made up entirely of players of wide tournament experience. Laird, Clark, Peters and West have been low score men in the Metropolitan competition for the last three years. The match with Pennsylvania was to have been played tomorrow on the links of the Merion Cricket Club, at Haverford, Pa.

Saturday afternoon the team will line up against the intercollegiate champions at Montclair, N. J., on the links of the Montclair Golf Club. Eighteen holes will be played, with five men on a side. Wilcox 1909 will head the Williams team, Montclair being his home course. Yale has an exceptionally brilliant lot of golfers, and is conceded to have the strongest college team in the country. Abbott, the individual champion, Knowles, the runner-up, and Dwight Partridge, who heads the team, are in the front rank among eastern golf players. Captain Abbott is known as a "slashing" player, strongest on his long game. Knowles holds many records and is best known for his incredibly low scores.

Prof. Moore of Harvard to Preach

The college pulpit will be occupied next Sunday by Prof. Edward C. Moore, Parkman professor of theology at Harvard. Prof. Moore graduated from Marietta college in 1877, and from Union Theological seminary seven years later. He was given the degree of Ph.D. by Brown (1891) and D. D. by Marietta College (1893). He held pastorates at Yonkers, N. Y., and Providence, R. I., before being called to his present position in 1902.

N. E. I. A. A. TRACK MEET

Held Saturday at Brookline—Williams' Chances

The annual meet of the N. E. I. A. A. will be held on Tech Field, Brookline, tomorrow and Saturday. The trials for the runs up to the mile and for the hurdles, and the qualifying jumps and throws for the field events will be held tomorrow at 3:00, and the finals will start Saturday at 2:00. Nine of the Williams team of thirteen men left Williamstown at 12:58 this noon, and the four entries in the distance runs will leave tomorrow. While in Boston, the team's headquarters will be at the Lenox Hotel. The following men were taken on the trip: Ayers, Egleston, Griswold 1906; A. Brown, M. Brown, Davis, Wilder 1907; B. P. Allen, Clark, LaMent, Marshall 1908; Bonner, Horrax 1909. Hurlbut 1907, who caught cold in his lungs recently, has been prohibited from running until next fall, by doctor's orders.

Another Baseball Victory

A second Williams victory from the big four should have been surprising enough, but was by no means not looked for by the college. The crowd around Watson's all the afternoon showed that the students had expected good news from New Haven. That such a victory came away from home was unfortunate. The only trouble was that the team could not see and hear the outbursts of enthusiasm that followed, when the news was received, and in the celebration afterwards.

It is a poor kind of congratulation that The Record can give the team in black and white in comparison to what the college was giving it last evening. The nine has now made a record equalled only by that of 1896, the high water mark of Williams baseball. The chapel bell has had one of the most overworked springs in its history. The college expects to continue to ring that bell, decimate the local stock of boxes and barrels and keep cheering the team to victory all the time from now till the season ends.

The N. E. Intercollegiates

Williams has a better chance at Boston Saturday than in 1905. The most careful estimate of points possible makes it clear that in this year's intercollegiate track meet second place is anybody's. Brown, Williams, Amherst and M. I. T. will be fighting it out on Tech Field next Saturday and the least thing will make the scales tip in Williams' favor or against her.

The trip is an expensive one, but is the only call that will be made upon the student body to go out of town to cheer athletic teams this spring. The entire trip can be taken on Saturday and the Boston alumni have engaged a block of 100 seats to make sure of a nucleus for a Williams section. The meet will be close and exciting and, as always, one of the most interesting athletic events of the year to watch. There will be pleasure enough for everyone, and every man's voice will be needed. Every man who has the cuts and can afford it has here a chance to do his best for the track team, at the meet to which all their past effort has been only a prelude.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

The program for "The Thirtieth", including dances, dramatics, the Williams-Amherst ball game, and Gargoyle elections, has long been one of our so-called time-honored customs and as such it is not to be too boldly criticized by an undergraduate. Nevertheless, custom or no custom, the fact remains that we have long been desecrating the day set apart for the commemoration of our country's honored dead, giving no place in our busy round of social affairs to the one function for which the day was set apart. It is out of the question to ask that we change entirely our program for Memorial Day but it is certainly not unreasonable to ask that we add to it a service which, if nothing more, would serve to remind us that the the day was originally intended to be something more than a Williams-Amherst day. Even at the risk of crowding out one of the events, an opportunity should be provided for a proper observance of the day, a simple and brief observance, if necessary, but one which shall be sincere.

We are, some of us, sons and grandsons of those who fought in the Civil War; we are all sons of an Alma Mater who sent forth many a loyal son to fight and die in that great conflict. The founder of Williams was a Revolutionary officer; President Hopkins is a veteran of the Civil War. Surely if national holidays are to be observed at all, they should be observed by Williams men, by men educated in an atmosphere of patriotism and enjoying the rich opportunity afforded by a free and united government. Let us show our guests that the sparks of patriotism still live at Williams, that we still respect our nation's holiday, and honor our country's dead.

A Junior.

DARTMOUTH TOMORROW

Baseball Team Meets Green at Hanover and Vermont at Burlington

The first of the two Dartmouth-Williams baseball games will be played tomorrow afternoon at Hanover. Dartmouth began the season poorly, but has won the last six consecutive college games played. On April 28 Skillen's pitching won a victory over Harvard by a score of 3 to 1. The Green has also shut out Brown and Holy Cross. Brown was tied 4-4 yesterday, and Amherst plays at Hanover Saturday.

Since 1893 Williams and Dartmouth have met on the diamond 43 times, and the games stand 22-21 in Dartmouth's favor. The Green won all four games played in 1904 but was shut out 3-0 at Hanover last season, Skillen pitching against Westervelt.

The batting orders of both teams follow:

WILLIAMS: Wadsworth 2b, Warren cf, Young ss, Neild 3b, Osterhout lf, Gardner rf, Waters c, Harman 1b, Pierce p.

DARTMOUTH: O'Brien lf, McDevitt cf, Gardiner 1b, Skillen p, Richardson ss, McLane rf, Main c, Driscoll 2b, Page 3b.

Victory Celebrated

The victory over Yale yesterday was celebrated last evening. A college sing was held on the steps of Jesup Hall, after which the student-body, led by a drum corps, marched to the houses of President Hopkins and Professors Cleland and Wahl, each of whom responded with a congratulatory speech. A speech was made by Professor Russell from the porch of the Greylock hotel. The march then returned to the old campus where a bonfire had been built. Cheers were given for each member of the team, and the celebration closed by singing "The Mountains". The baseball team did not return until 10:09 this morning.

Eighteen Errors in Class Game

1908 was defeated on Weston Field yesterday afternoon by 1907 12 to 5, in the poorest game of the interclass series, a total of eighteen errors being made in the six innings. Gillett started the game as pitcher for the sophomores but was replaced after the first inning by Kelley.

The score by innings:

Triangular League Meeting

A meeting of the triangular debating league delegates will be held Saturday morning at the Copley Square Hotel, Boston. The delegates will discuss some of the technicalities of the debates—the attitude of the speaker to the audience, length of speeches, etc., and the selection of judges will be brought up. R. H. Case '07 will represent Williams at the meeting.

'99.—Miss Edith Frances Hotchkiss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eugene Hotchkiss, was married to Orland White Mason, a graduate of Williams in the class of 1899, at Edinburgh, Scotland, on April 18. Mr. Mason is in the employ of the Midland Steel Co., Pittsburg, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Mason are residing at 227 South Negley Avenue, Pittsburg.

TENNIS TEAM TIES

In First Match of Season at Springfield—Return Match Scheduled

The tennis team tied the Springfield Country Club on the Springfield courts yesterday afternoon, each team winning three matches. A hard wind was blowing across the courts, interfering with the play. Smith 1906 and Thompson 1908 won their single matches, and Schell 1906 and Thompson 1908 their doubles match. The longest match of the day was between Westcott 1908 and Newton, the latter having a lead of 5 to 1 in the last set, when, Westcott braced and tied the game at 5 all, finally to lose 9-7. A return match was scheduled for June 16 at Williamstown.

The summary follows:

Singles—Smith 1906 beat Miller of Springfield, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2; Newton of Springfield beat Westcott 1908, 5-7, 6-2, 9-7; Thompson 1908 beat Groesbeck of Springfield, 6-3, 6-4; Pike of Springfield beat Schell 1906, 6-2, 6-2.

Doubles—Newton and Miller beat Smith and Westcott, 6-1, 6-2; Schell and Thompson beat Groesbeck and Pike, 6-3, 1-6, 6-3.

Tennis Matches

In the preliminary round of the spring tennis tournament, C. Brown '09 beat Buttrick '09—6-3, 6-3, and in the first round Ford '08 beat Dodd '09—6-0, 6-4.

In the round robin tennis tournament two matches have been played. Schell '07 beat Brady '06—6-2, 6-2, and Westcott '08 beat Schell 6-4—6-1.

Freshman Oratorical Trials

The trials for the freshman oratorical contest were held last evening at eight o'clock in the vestry room of the Congregational church. The judges, Prof. Spring, Ass't.-Prof. Perry, and Mr. E. A. Green, chose nine speakers instead of the usual eight. The following were chosen: Dodd, Ernst, Jones, R. C. Mitchell, Robb, Sayre, Toll, Westbrook, Wood. The final contest will be held next Wednesday.

Gun Club Notice

At a meeting of the gun club held before the Sercomb Cup shoot yesterday, it was voted that the contest be divided and an opportunity be given to all members of the club, whether they have qualified or not, to enter next Saturday. Each man will be awarded a distance handicap based on his former scores. Contestants will meet at the Biological Laboratory at 1:30 Saturday.

Majority for Taxation Monday

The college taxation question was again considered in the State Senate Monday. Mr. Feiker moved reconsideration of the adverse report made by the taxation committee. This was passed 17 to 9. He proposed a compromise, moving the passage of the taxation bill, but exempting dormitories from taxation. It was finally decided by reconsideration to substitute his bill for the adverse report of the committee 18 to 12. The bill as amended passed the Senate yesterday.

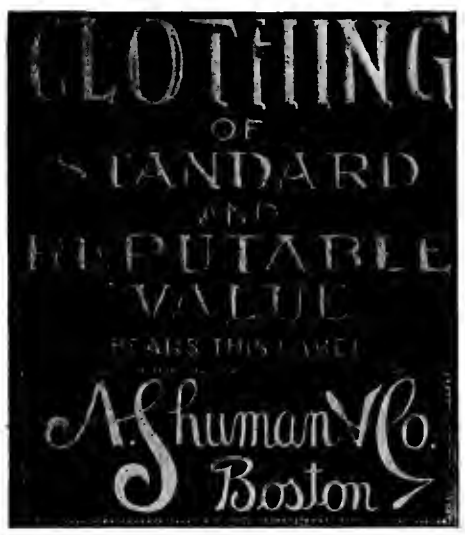
THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.



Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

N.E. I. A. A. Track Meet

Entries have been received from Amherst, Bowdoin, Brown, Dartmouth, M. I. T., Trinity, Tufts, U. of Maine and Wesleyan. Dartmouth, with every man in college of the track team which won 36 points last year, is practically sure of winning, although the loss of Swasey, who won both sprints in 1904 and 1905, but wrenched his knee at the Harvard meet and was unplaced in the 100 in 10 1-5, will take points away. Second place will be closely fought out between Amherst, Brown, M. I. T. and Williams, with Brown having a little the best chance. The Maine colleges are not so prominent this year. Amherst, by the graduation of Rollins and Orrell, the illness of Captain W. P. Hubbard, and the disqualification of Stearns, White, and their new weight man, Kooyumjian, is much weakened. The Purple and White team has taken part in no meet, and its strength, outside of J. H. Hubbard, Read, Crook and Bishop, is unknown.

The best races of the meet will undoubtedly be the high hurdles and the two-mile. In the hurdles Shaw of Dartmouth did 15 4-5 two weeks ago, and J. H. Hubbard of Amherst was only inches behind Ex-Capt. Leavitt in 15 4-5 at Worcester last year. Mayhew of Brown has done 16 2-5, Capt. Tobey of Bowdoin and Capt. Griswold 16 3-5. Wright of Brown, winner of the mile and two-mile at Worcester last year, and holder of the New England Intercollegiate mile record, will try for the two-mile record of 10.03 4-5 this year, and should have no difficulty winning the event. For the other places are left Capt. Benson of Wesleyan, Robinson of Bowdoin, and Callaway of M.I.T., who won places last year, Capt. Tucker of Brown, who won the event two years ago but was unable to compete last year, Shorey of Bowdoin, who was third two years ago, and Bonner 1909, who has beaten Benson and Callaway. Wright should certainly get all the pace he wants in his attempt to beat the record.

Thrall of Dartmouth in the half, and Capt. Hazen of Dartmouth in the pole vault, should win their events. The outcome of the three dashes will depend on the condition of Swasey, and the eligibility of Rose, a Dartmouth freshman, and Prout, a new man at Brown, both good for 51s. in the quarter. In the field events, the high jump, where in competition Farrington of M. I. T. has done 5ft. 9½ in., Horrax 1909 and Zeller of Tufts 5 ft., 7½in., and no less than six other men over 5 ft. 6 in., should be the closest. Dearborn's (Wesleyan) easy victory in the discus will be balanced by a very close hammer throw. Marshall 1908 has the best record of the shot putters.

While each year develops a number of dark horses, and the points to be made in any N. E. I. A. A. meet are absolutely unpredictable, a rough survey of the events gives Dartmouth first with about 40 points, Amherst 21, Brown and Williams 22, M. I. T. 18, Wesleyan 13, and University of Maine around 10. The two-mile, high jump and hammer are the doubtful events which will decide Williams' position.

COLLEGE NOTES

The regular Sunday afternoon talk to seniors will be given by Dr. Bascom.

The color scheme of the decorations for the Sophomore Prom. has been changed from yellow and white to light green and white.

The annual spring concert of the musical clubs will be held in Jesup Hall, Monday evening, May 28, at 8 o'clock. Tickets will be on sale some time the last of the week for $1.00, balcony 50c.

Assistant-manager Hoyne accompanied the baseball team to New Haven. But ten men were taken on the trip.

A meeting of the musical association will be held in Jesup Hall at 7:30 tomorrow evening for the election of an assistant manager from 1908. The clubs will also elect leaders for next year.

P. R. Peters will represent the golf association at the meeting of the New England Intercollegiate Golf association at Boston tomorrow evening.

A petition is being circulated asking for the appointment of William C. Hart, assistant to the college treasurer, as special justice, in place of M. Monahan, resigned.

At a 1907 class meeting Tuesday noon M. Brown, Hinman and Yarnelle were elected to the class supper committee.

The lecture given by Prof. Russell at the Y. M. C. A. convention here last month, on "The College the Battlefield of Great Forces", appears as the initial article in the May "Intercollegian".

At a meeting of those scheduled to take part in the Philologian-Philotechnian debate held Tuesday noon it was decided to postpone the debate indefinitely.

NOTICES

—All those who wish to secure engraved invitations for the Sophomore Prom. can secure them at ten cents apiece from members of the committee.

—All who qualified for the final oratorical contest are requested to arrange rehearsals with Mr. Lewis at once.

—Mandolin club rehearsal tonight, J. H., 7:15.

—A senior smoker will be held on the Jesup Hall steps tomorrow evening at 8:30.

—The class prayer meetings will be held as usual Friday evening at 7:15. The topic is "The secret of cheerfulness"; John 14:25-31, Is. 26:1-7. The leaders are as follows: 1907, Thompson, 1908, Hancox, 1909, Horrax.

Handicap Golf Matches

The results of the golf matches in the spring handicap to date follow: McGuckin 1908 defeated Wheeler 1907 6 up and 5 to play; Woodfin 1909 defeated R. C. Mitchell 1909 2 up and 1 to play.

STRICTER RULES PASSED

Covering Men in Outside Interests —To Take Effect in Fall

At a meeting of the committee on administration held last week new disqualification rules were adopted for all students representing the college in athletic, dramatic, or musical organizations. The rules, in practically their present form, were laid before the faculty at their May meeting by the athletic council, which passed a favorable vote on them and referred them to the rule-making body, the committee on administration. The rules, which will not go into effect until next fall, follow:

Added to the second paragraph of rule 22, "Earlier trials may be allowed by permission of the Dean."

Added to rule 27, "Additional warnings will be reported not later than October 25th in the case of members of athletic, dramatic and musical organizations."

Rule 39, amended to read, "No student will be allowed to represent the college in any athletic, dramatic, or musical organization as member, substitute, or officer, if he is under discipline for irregularity of attendance or conduct, or if he has failed to complete at least twelve hours of college work during the previous semester. He will be debarred from such representation for the remainder of any semester in which, at the time of the formal warnings, he has not a mark of at least sixty in nine hours of current college work.

"No freshman will be allowed to represent the college in any athletic, dramatic, or musical organization as member, substitute, or officer who has entrance conditions amounting to three points."

The distribution of points among the entrance subjects will be as follows:

Musical Clubs Elections

At a meeting of the musical clubs Friday evening the following officers were elected: James Michael Stower 1908 of Plattsburgh, N. Y., assistant manager; Selwyn Reed Pevear 1907 of New York city, leader of the glee club, and Telford King Thompson 1908 of Minneapolis, Minn., leader of the mandolin club.

A DOUBLE LOSS

Dartmouth Wins 7-2 at Hanover, Vermont 1-0 at Burlington

Dartmouth defeated Williams in baseball Friday at Hanover 7 to 2. Timely hits following poor decisions gave the victory to the Green in the first three innings. Williams had a bad inning in the second, when Dartmouth tallied five times on a single, double and triple. Main walked after a questionable decision, and it seemed to be generally conceded that O'Brien, who doubled with the bases full, was struck out fairly. A single, an error and a well executed double steal enabled the Green to score twice in the third. Neild scored for the Purple in the eighth on Waters' single, and Gardner led off in the eighth with a long three-base hit, later scoring Williams second tally.

Collins' Pitching Baffling

General failure to hit safely Collins' puzzling shoots was responsible for the shut-out of Williams by Vermont 1 to 0 Saturday at Burlington. Vermont scored its only run in the first on a drive by Woodward, after which the batsmen went out in order, though Vermont errors made matters interesting in innings three and eight. Ford pitched steadily, striking out ten men, while Collins allowed but one hit. In the eighth Osterhout made third on errors and Harman's sacrifice. Gardner flied to Whitney in right and Osterhout, starting slowly, was out off at the plate by Whitney's perfect throw-in.

TWO CLOSE MATCHES

Golf Team Loses to Yale and Princeton—Low Scores Frequent

Princeton defeated the college golf team 15 to $5\frac{1}{2}$, in an interesting match on the university course at Princeton Thursday morning and afternoon. In the fourball foursomes Williams' first pair won from West and Peters on the eighteenth green. Wilcox scored 40, 38-78 and Clspp 40, 40-80. Bogey for the course 6,400 yards in length, is 80. A Mitchell and L. Mitchell played steady golf, but Barrows of Princeton struck a phenomenal game coming in, making the last four holes in four under bogey. In the afternoon individual matches, L. Mitchell won from Laird by taking the last three holes. Gee scored a 38 on the second round and defeated Clapp 2 up. A. Mitchell finished 3 up on Peters, but Gregory was no match for Barrows, who played no less brilliantly than in the morning. The members of the Williams team were entertained at the Ivy Club.

The score:

The match with Yale on the links of the Montclair Golf Club was exciting from start to finish. Low scores were the rule. When the first three pairs finished Williams was in the lead by three points, Tuxedo system, or four holes. The fourth and fifth men of the Yale team won, and the final result was Yale $7\frac{1}{2}$, Williams $4\frac{1}{2}$. A. Mitchell made the best medal score and perhaps played the best game, though Wilcox won from Partridge by two holes. Phelps was one up on Clapp playing the eighteenth; the home hole was halved under bogey. Gregory was in better form than at Princeton, while L. Mitchell was slightly off and met one of Yale's strongest players in Knowles, the intercollegiate runner-up.

DARTMOUTH CHAMPION

At N. E. I. A. A. Meet—Williams Gets Fourth with 19 5-6 Points

For the first time since 1897 Dartmouth won the annual championship meeting of the N. E. I. A. A., held at Brookline on Saturday, breaking Amherst's successive string of victories since the competition for the new cup began five years ago. Dartmouth scored 36 points. Brown, winner of second place, with 23 points, Technology with 21 5-6 points, and Williams with 19 5-6 made the competition for second place the real contest of the day. Williams, without Leavitt, scored 8 5-6 points more than last year.

Three association records were broken. Dearborn of Wesleyan threw the discus in the trials 120 feet, $11\frac{1}{2}$ inches, bettering Ehmke's record of last year by 1 foot 8 inches. J. H. Hubbard of Amherst took two-fifths of a second off the former record of 25 1-5 seconds in his trial heat in the low hurdles. In the jump-off for first place in the high jump, Farrington of Technology cleared 5 feet, $10\frac{1}{4}$ inches, breaking the old record of 5 feet $9\frac{3}{4}$ inches, made by Baxter of Trinity 10 years ago. Marshall broke the college record of 40 feet, $4\frac{3}{4}$ inches made by him last year at Worcester with a put of 41 feet 5 inches.

Capt. Griswold won third in the high hurdles and fourth in the low, scoring more points than ever before. In the weights, Marshall won five points in the shot. LaMent, by throwing the hammer 115 feet, 2 inches on his last throw, beat out Dearborn and won fourth place. He also was fourth in the discus. In the broad jump A. M. Brown tied with Kent of Wesleyan at 21 feet $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches, only $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches less than the winning distance. Horrax was in good form and tied for first place in the high jump with Farrington of Technology at 5 feet $9\frac{3}{4}$ inches, and for fourth place in the pole vault at 10 ft. 4 in. The best race of the day was the two-mile run. Wright and Tucker took the lead and held it until the last lap when Bonner challenged them, passing Wright and finishing but two feet behind Tucker. DARTMOUTH CHAMPION

At N. E. I. A. A. Meet—Williams Gets Fourth with 19 5-6 Points

For the first time since 1897 Dartmouth won the annual championship meeting of the N. E. I. A. A., held at Brookline on Saturday, breaking Amherst's successive string of victories since the competition for the new cup began five years ago. Dartmouth scored 36 points. Brown, winner of second place, with 23 points, Technology with 21 5-6 points, and Williams with 19 5-6 made the competition for second place the real contest of the day. Williams, without Leavitt, scored 8 5-6 points more than last year.

Three association records were broken. Dearborn of Wesleyan threw the discus in the trials 120 feet, 11½ inches, bettering Ehmke's record of last year by 1 foot 8 inches. J. H. Hubbard of Amherst took two-fifths of a second off the former record of 25 1-5 seconds in his trial heat in the low hurdles. In the jump-off for first place in the high jump, Farrington of Technology cleared 5 feet, 10¼ inches, breaking the old record of 5 feet 9¾ inches, made by Baxter of Trinity 10 years ago. Marshall broke the college record of 40 feet, 4¾ inches made by him last year at Worcester with a put of 41 feet 5 inches.

Capt. Griswold won third in the high hurdles and fourth in the low, scoring more points than ever before. In the weights, Marshall won five points in the shot. LaMent, by throwing the hammer 115 feet, 2 inches on his last throw, beat out Dearborn and won fourth place. He also was fourth in the discus. In the broad jump A. M. Brown tied with Kent of Wesleyan at 21 feet 5½ inches, only 2½ inches less than the winning distance. Horrax was in good form and tied for first place in the high jump with Farrington of Technology at 5 feet 9¾ inches, and for fourth place in the pole vault at 10 ft. 4 in. The best race of the day was the two-mile run. Wright and Tucker took the lead and held it until the last lap when Bonner challenged them, passing Wright and finishing but two feet behind Tucker. VOL. 20 MAY 21, 1906 No. 17

College Rules on Athletics

The administrative rules passed last week regarding athletic qualifications deserve careful consideration. The rules are sweeping, and affect upperclassmen as well as freshmen. A few points should be made clear. In the first place, the impulse for the rules came from those who represent the athletic interests of the college—the athletic council-and not from those who represent the scholastic interests, and were only passed in their final form by the faculty committee on administration because that committee is the only body that can make administrative rules. Secondly, they are the outcome of the wide-spread discussion of athletic eligibility, and show that Williams endorses the principle of that movement, that athletics are less important than an average standard of scholarship, a principle that can scarcely be denied.

The entrance condition provision affects only freshmen, and is primarily aimed at football; since not many freshmen have left, by their second half-year, enough entrance conditions to total three points. As a matter of fact, the rule would have affected, even in September, but six men from 1909, two of whom were athletes and none on the football squad. Further, as the old rule (No. 21) for passing off conditions is so amended as to permit trials before Christmas, every football-playing freshman has a fair chance. A disqualification of all freshmen would bear too heavily on the small colleges, where there is no "proselyting"; the present rule gives a chance to separate the athletic wheat from the chaff, from the scholarship point of view.

The other provisions apply to all classes, and will affect many men in each class. Taking any class at random, in the first semester of this college year, had the new rule been in effect, sixteen sophomores would have been debarred from representing the college, ten of whom were in neither athletics, dramatics or the musical clubs. That the freshman needs some check-rein to keep him from neglecting everything for the plain road to college honor that lies in athletics is evident, but the upperclassman is supposed to know his own mind. There is another side, however. Though athletics, like every other outside college interest, tend to lower scholarship, as long as an athlete keeps his scholarship up to a certain standard, no objection ought to be made by the administration of a college to the time and interest he puts in athletics. What this rule does is to lay down a definite standard which we did not have before. One suggestion which would add to the fairness of the rule would be to notify every man immediately in case of disqualification.

The question whether the college will be handicapped in comparison with the other colleges by this rule is a minor one when compared to this greater one of obtaining an accurate, satisfactory adjustment between scholarship and athletics. The rule looks as if it would disqualify more than it really will. That a rule which is so radical a change affects but eight athletes in the two lower classes even when applied, for calculation's sake, to men who had never worked to satisfy its provisions, goes to prove what has long been the contention here, that Williams is as little troubled with "overathletics" as any college. "Satisfactory qualifications at entrance" and "satisfactory scholarship in college" are what one long identified with Williams athletics has given as his written opinion as part of the conditions on which a student should be allowed to represent this college. A definition of "Satisfactory" is what the new rules amount to, and in our opinion the definition is a just one.

AN INTERESTING CITY

Lecture in German on "Munich" by Prof. Wahl

The old Bavarian city, Munich, was the subject of an interesting lecture by Prof. Wahl, Thursday evening. The lecture, given in German, was illustrated by a number of lantern slides, and was well attended.

Munich, founded by Henry the Lion in the twelfth century on a place which had belonged to a monastery, and derives its name from the German word for monk. It has always been one of the principal seats of German catholicism, just as the Kingdom of Bavaria, of which it is the capitol, is one of the strongholds of catholicism in Germany. As reason has had freer sway among the people in North Germany than in South Germany, so catholicism in Bavaria is more enlightened than in Italy. From Bavaria sprang the movement of old-catholicism, so-called, inaugurated by Prof. Doellinger of Munich, a movement which opposed the newly established dogma of the infallibility of the pope and broke away from narrow ecclesiastic ordinances of modern times.

The city ranks foremost among German cities in art, and owes this position to the Bavarian rulers of the nineteenth century who adorned the city with fine churches, museums, public buildings and monuments, established a great university there, awakened the interest of the people for art, and made the city the center of Wagnerian music, by the side of Bayreuth.

WESLEYAN WEDNESDAY

On Weston Field—Scores of all Baseball Games with Red and Black

Williams and Wesleyan meet at baseball only twice this season, the first game coming Wednesday on the home diamond. Although the Red and Black have already played fourteen games, they have met only a few first-class teams. Monroe, who was no enigma to the Williams batsmen last season, is pitching good ball this year; Clark, not yet recovered from a recent illness, is not in last season's form.

A list of all the baseball games ever played between Williams and Wesleyan follows:

'94	Williams	8	Wesleyan	9
'95	Williams	4	Wesleyan	8
		0		9
		9		4
'96	Williams	2	Wesleyan	3

The total gives Williams 23 games and Wesleyan 11, five of which were in the first seven games played, and three in 1902. Williams won eight straight in 1899-1901, and Wesleyan has won but once since 1902. Williams has made 227 runs, Wesleyan 140.

The batting orders of the teams follow:

WESTON FIELD AFFECTED

By Feiker Bill—President's Residence Probably Taxed

The portion of the Feiker bill, which passed the Massachusetts Senate 19 to 15 Wednesday, which applied to colleges, is as follows: "But real property owned and occupied by any scientific institution authorized to grant degrees, which is used or appropriated, wholly or in part, for residential, commercial or mercantile purposes, shall not be exempt from taxation."

The college has paid taxes on professors' houses for years, although not obliged to by law. President Hopkins states that in his opinion probably the only property owned by the college, now exempt, which will be affected by the Feiker bill is the president's residence and Weston Field. The bill must pass the House of Representatives before it becomes a law.

Case 1907 President of League

The delegates of the Brown-Dartmouth-Williams debating league met at the Copley Square Hotel, Boston, Saturday morning and elected Case '07 president of the league. Two changes were made in the league rules: the main speech was cut down from twelve to eleven minutes and the rebuttal from five to six minutes. It was also decided that the judges should give their decisions without consultation.

OBITUARY

'42—John Benjamin Gale, LL. D., for many years a prominent citizen of Troy and Williamstown, and one of the oldest alumni of the college, died at his home on South street early Thursday morning. Mr. Gale was born in Troy May 9, 1824, prepared for college in the local schools, and after graduation took up the practice of law in that city, first with H. P. Hunt, and later in partnership with the late Charles L. Alden, '51. He removed to Williamstown about twenty years ago, when he retired from his law practice, and at once became actively interested in college affairs, although serving the town as auditor, and serving as director of the Williamstown national bank from 1890, and as president from 1893 until his recent retirement. The Gale hose company was named after him. He presented the college with his extensive law library, and gave $1000 for the grading about West College Hill when the Thompson laboratories were built. He was given the degree of LL. D. by the college in 1894. Mr. Gale is survived by his widow, his daughter, and three grandchildren, one of whom is Prof. John G. Hun '99. The funeral was held Saturday, in Troy. All business places in town were closed from 10:30 to 11:30 in honor of the funeral.

Buried in College Cemetery

Mrs. Rebekah Wheeler Griffin, wife of Edward Herrick Griffin, D. D., LL.D., '62, for seventeen years (1872-1889) a professor first of Latin, then of Rhetoric and then of philosophy, in Williams college, was buried in the college cemetery Friday morning. Ex-president Carter '62, Rev. Dr. John H. Denison '62, and President Hopkins took part in the service. Mrs. Griffin died May 15 at Baltimore.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

The course covering four years begins during the last week in September and continues until June.

A preliminary training in natural science is of great advantage.

All the classes are divided into small sections for recitations, laboratory and clinical beside instruction.

Students are admitted to advanced standing after passing the requisite examinations.

The successful completion of the first year in any College or University recognized by the Regents of the State of New York as maintaining a satisfactory standard is sufficient to satisfy the requirements for admission which have lately been raised.

The annual announcement giving full particulars will be mailed on application.

COLLEGE NOTES

The Greylock will open this week on Friday, May 25.

The glee club will sing at the quarterly meeting of the Greylock Christian Endeavor union to be held in the Braytonville chapel this evening.

Knowlson '43 has been in town.

The new Greylock flag pole has been put up.

Asst.-Prof. Lewis will read a paper entitled "In the wake of the Welsh revival" at the North Berkshire conference of the Congregational church Wednesday at the Church of Christ, White Oaks.

The 1909-R. P. I.-1909 baseball game to have been played on Weston Field last Saturday, was cancelled by R. P. I.

Dr. Bascom has an article on "The Unemployed in London" in the current number of the Bibliotheca Sacra.

The 1907 Gulo. are in town, but will not be put on sale until the end of the week.

The president of the Adelphic Union has invited the delegates of the proposed Williams-Amherst-Wesleyan debating league to meet in Williamstown on decoration day.

The F. M. A. C. baseball team, composed of students, defeated the Bennington nine Saturday 15 to 5 at Bennington. B. Mears '03 and Bates '06 were the athletic club battery.

The 1907-1909 baseball game was postponed from last Thursday till Wednesday afternoon, and will count for two games.

Linen 1907 went to Springfield Saturday to attend a meeting of the Connecticut Valley Missionary association, to discuss plans for the annual fall meeting.

The annual Lit. banquet was held Friday evening at the Richmond Hotel, North Adams.

"A Knot of Blue," by William R. A. Wilson '92, published last summer, has just been started as a serial in the North Adams Transcript.

Pennell 1909 was taken to the infirmary Wednesday evening with a light case of scarlet fever. He had not been feeling well for some time, but on examination his case was diagnosed as a very mild one. He has been improving rapidly at the infirmary and it is thought that his confinement there will be short. Thorough precautions were taken to insure agaist any possible contagion and his college room fumigated.

L. vP. Allen '08 Wins Sercomb Cup

The annual Sercomb cup shoot, held Wednesday and Saturday was won by L. vP. Allen '08 with 41 birds. The scores follow:

L. vP. Allen '08 (17 yds)	19-22,	41
Fitch '06 (18 yds)	22-18,	40
Geer '07 (16 yds)	23-17,	40
Dawson '08 (16 yds)	19-21,	40
Scholle '06 (16 yds)	14-14,	28

At the first shoot held Wednesday conditions were favorable but on Saturday a gale of wind made the targets dip and sky. Allen shot after all the others had finished and, though the wind had increased, made the best score of the day. On Wednesday Geer broke 26 straight, the longest run made by any undergraduate member of the club, with the exception of the 33 straight of Harts ex-'05.

For Better Politics

Nineteen colleges were represented at the conference held in Springfield, Thursday afternoon and evening, to form a federation of the various alumni clubs. The object of the organization was defined by the different speakers, as aiming to encourage college men to promote actively civic and social life for the political betterment of the country.

At the afternoon meeting a letter of indorsement from President Hopkins was read. Nearly all of the delegates gave their views on the proposed federation. Edward B. Sellew '90 of New Haven, Conn., said that while he did not speak officially for Williams, he felt sure that all Williams men would favor the plan.

Williams was not represented by any official delegate but the following alumni were present: J. C. Robinson '86, Rev. J. L. Kilbon '86, E. B. Sellew '90, W. H. Brown 1903, R. F. Day 1905.

The Beach-Hyde lecture will not be given this year.

"W" WITH CROSSED GAVELS

Awarded Debaters by Adelphic Union—Corwin Chosen Asst. Mgr.

At a meeting of the Adelphic Union held in Jesup Hall last evening a motion was passed unanimously to grant a "W" with crossed gavels to 'varsity debaters and managers but not to alternates. This action was taken by the Adelphic Union under the authority granted it by the college body at the college meeting Monday night, "to take complete charge of debating matters". The action will be brought before the college at the college meeting Friday.

A faculty committee composed of Prof. Maxey, Asst.-Prof. Lewis and Prof. Ferry, will have general superintendence of debating affairs in an advisory capacity.

Roy Stanley Corwin 1908, of Riverhead, N. Y., was elected assistant manager of the debating association at the meeting.

Election of a Football Manager

Since the term of the president of the football association will expire Saturday, May 26, and the vice-president has been compelled to resign, it is necessary to fill this office immediately. Consequently with the authority of the Athletic Council I hereby announce an election of a vice-president and assistant manager tomorrow, May 25, at 7:30 p.m. For this election the usual method of class nomination will be omitted. Anyone from the class of 1907 who hands his name to me before 6 p. m. of that date will become a candidate before the college.

W. S. Case, Mgr.

Hurlbut 1907 Chosen Track Capt.

At a meeting of the track team held this afternoon Bert Elmer Hurlbut 1907, of Gouverneur, N. Y., was elected captain for next year. Hurlbut prepared for college at the Gouverneur High school, from which he graduated in 1903. He has been on the 'varsity relay team three years, holds the college record in the quarter-mile run, and has won first in that event in every dual meet but one in which he has contested for the three years.

Two Victories In One

The juniors defeated the freshmen decisively on the old campus Wednesday afternoon 10 to 2 in a game that counted double. Hoyne could not be found, while Sears was batted out of the box and had poor support.

The score by innings:

THE FIFTIETH GUL.

1907 Year Book Out Tomorrow—Description of Features

The Gulielmensium of the class of 1907 is here. The first shipment of 400 copies arrived in town a week ago and the books will be placed on sale tomorrow morning at C. G. Smith's and N. H. Sanford's. This issue, Vol. L, is the first of recent years to be delivered on time. The price of the book will be $2.00.

This year's Gul certainly presents a pleasing appearance. It is 10½ inches long by 7¾ wide. The covers are of smooth, tan-colored leather and extend over the edges to meet. The paper stock used is heavy plate India tint, especially adapted to getting the best results from half-tones. The inserts bearing the fraternity seals are of imported French Japan printing paper which harmonizes well with the body of the book. The use of two-tone, or as it is better known, double tone ink of a green tint on a background of black gives the printed page an air of richness impossible of attainment with ordinary one-color ink. The cuts are greatly improved by the use of this ink and are in most cases excellent.

The book contains more drawings and reproductions from photographs than recent Guls, but has fewer headings for the different associations and clubs. The old feature of having a representative drawing preceding the pages allotted to each class has been restored, the four full page pictures having been made by Hanchett 1907. There are a number of excellent drawings from Fred Squires 1900 and George M. Richards 1904, both of whom have been generous in work and suggestions. The photographs are varied in their selection and show many phases of college life. The college and Worcester records have been carefully corrected to the beginning of the track season.

As usual, the "grinds" are fewer in number than the book should have, but this defect has been partly compensated by the addition of pictures. The advertised "alumni section" is also lacking in quantity but this fault may be laid at the door of the alumni themselves, whose co-operation, though absolutely necessary for the success of such a feature, we understand it was impossible to secure to any extent. The alumni have been liberal in subscribing for the book and over 200 copies have been sold to them in advance. The leading article, "The Princess in Purple," is by President George E. McLean '71, of the State University of Iowa.

The typographical work on this year's book was done by the Hausauer-Jones Printing company of Buffalo, the cuts being furnished by the Electric City Engraving company of the same city.

LIGHT AND SHADE

Wesleyan Beaten 9-4—Errors, Triples, Squeeze Plays, Many Bunts

The fifth home game of the season was won from Wesleyan yesterday on Weston Field 9 to 4, in a contest in which only two earned runs were made. Spectacular features were not lacking, two double plays, a perfect short throw with men on first and third, and a pair of squeeze plays figuring in the Williams column. Errors on ground balls were frequent, and altogether those who watched were on edge to see what would happen next. Williams was fast on the bases, and the batting was beautiful to look upon. Wadsworth made the prettiest error seen on Weston Field this year.

Wadsworth opened the first for Williams by trotting around the four bases on a drive too hot for Cunningham, followed by a wild throw under the bleachers. Two singles and a three-bagger by Hogan—who narrowly missed a home run—brought in two more runs. Pierce juggled Cunningham's grounder in circus-ring fashion in the second, and Bristol scored Wesleyan's first tally.

The first squeeze-play came in the sixth when Osterhout, starting from third with the pitcher's motion, scored on Harman's bunt. A wild throw by Young and a wild pitch by Ford, who replaced Pierce in the seventh, accounted for Wesleyan's last two runs. A second squeeze play and Cunningham's three bad errors in the eighth brought Williams' score to nine.

NEW BASEBALL SONG

To be Used at Dartmouth Game—Practice Sing Tomorrow

A new baseball song has been written by A. M. Botsford 1906 to an air composed by him, the verses of which follow. A college sing will be held on the Jesup Hall steps at 8:00 tomorrow evening to practice the new song for immediate use in the Dartmouth and Amherst games.

We march and sing as all along the line,
We raise our battle cry,
The valley echoes sending back a cheer for men who do or die.
Then onward, steadfast, forward to the fight,
With hearts and voices strong,
The purple floats above us,
Cheering for the team we march along.

CHORUS.

As we go marching, marching, marching on to viet'ry,
Raise our banners high along the way,
As we go cheering, singing glory to the team,
For this is Williams' day.

Forever loyal Williams sons will stand
In battle side by side,
And ne'er a foe is found throughout the land to stem the purple tide.
In football, baseball, basketball or track
Though we be weak or strong,
We'll back the team forever,
Once again we sing our marching song.

VOL. 20 MAY 24, 1906 No. 18

Some Taxation Conditions

The attitude of the legislators who are supporting the bill to exempt certain college property from taxation is moderate. Senator W. H. Feiker, of Northampton, who has given the bill its popular name, is not a radical. He specifically states that he is not "hostile to the educational interests" but does join issue on the "money-making" end of the college, directing his bill against property used for residential, commercial or mercantile purposes." The state senate has voted once or twice for and against the bill every week with confusing regularity, and apparently it is at present about to recommend it to the next general court, although reconsiderations and recommitments have followed so closely that it is hard to say just what it will do.

It seems too bad that, just for the sake of "letting the defeated side down easy", the legislature should put the whole question over without deciding against taxation. To be sure, the most objectional part of the measure, the proposal to tax dormitories and college boarding-houses, has apparently been amended out of the bill. The principal properties affected by the measure as it now reads are professors' houses and athletic fields, enough still to impose a heavy burden on educational institutions.

Space will not permit a discussion of the question of what the town owes to the college. A few points should be mentioned. The expansion of the real property of the college has caused the recent agitation—for it can be shown that fifty years ago college towns were ready to pay to keep the institutions—, yet it must be remembered that in most cases the money paid for the land has been turned over to residents of Williamstown, and the money for the improvements on it paid to Williamstown contractors and laborers. The current funds of the college, non-taxable, have thus become the personal property of Williamstown citizens and therefore taxable, balancing, if the assessors make an accurate valuation of personal property, the loss in taxable real estate. Indeed, in the case of such purchases as the real estate on the north side of Main street recently, there is a gain in taxable property, since the money paid by the college for the real estate is turned from non-taxable to taxable, and the property is still taxed, in fact taxed for larger amounts after more non-taxable college funds have been turned into taxable improvements on that property.

As for the taxation of athletic fields as used for "commercial or mercantile purposes," President Eliot has made the point, that while money is taken in at the gate, the word "profit" has no application, for no individual reaps anything. Certainly the development of the body has a place in the all-round education beside the development of the mind, a common truth which this interpretation of the bill does not seem to recognize.

All colleges are at present undergoing radical adjustment to suit the needs of the time—specialized education, more courses of study, improved methods in the laboratory, the elective system, the small division. It needs money to carry through this adjustment. It is a poor time for the people to lay an added burden on the colleges when they are making an extra effort to keep up with what the people demand.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Matches Between Dartmouth, Wesleyan and Williams at Middletown

The triangular league tennis tournament will be held at Middletown tomorrow and Saturday. Dartmouth, Wesleyan and Williams are the members of the league. The teams will consist of two men each and there will be twelve matches in all. Each man will play a man from both the other teams in singles, and each team will play a doubles match with both other colleges—making six matches to be played by each team. Wesleyan has two championship courts which will be used for the tournament. F. R. Smith 1906 (capt.), Schell 1906 and Thompson 1908 will represent Williams.

BASKETBALL ELECTIONS

W. H. Scarritt 1908 Asst. Mgr.—Regulations for Class Numerals

William Hendrix Scarritt 1908 of Kansas City, Mo., was elected assistant manager of the basketball association, at a college meeting Monday night. He will manage the team for the season 1907-1908. Scarritt prepared for college at the Central High school of Kansas City, from which he graduated in 1904. He was a member of his class football team and of his class track team freshman year, was on the cane committee and was a member of the class supper committee last year.

W. H. SCARRITT 1908

At the same meeting Elder 1908 was elected assistant manager of the adelphic union, but later resigned. The adelphic union was empowered by vote of the meeting to take complete charge of debating matters, including the election of debating managers, in the future, thus taking the election out of the direct control of the college body.

The following agreement regarding the granting of class numerals, was adopted by the student body:—

Baseball numerals shall be given to the manager, and to men playing in eighteen innings of the interclass series. Track numerals shall be awarded to those winning an event in the annual sophomore-freshman meet. Announcement of the men who have won numerals shall be made in the Williams Record by the managers of the respective 'varsity teams, and these rules shall be published in the Williams Record.

Rev. Dr. C. E. Jefferson to Preach

Rev. Charles E. Jefferson, pastor of the Broadway Tabernacle, New York city, will preach in the college chapel Sunday. He is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan and of the Boston University Theological school. He received the degree of D. D. from Oberlin and from Union in 1898. He is the author of several religious works, among them being "Doctrine and Creed." Dr. Jefferson is a powerful speaker, and is considered by many to be the best preacher in New York city, even ranking above Dr. Parkhurst.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

On Weston Field Saturday—Ford Against Skillen

The second Dartmouth-Williams game comes Saturday on Weston Field. The first contest was lost 7 to 2 at Hanover last Friday, Dartmouth winning in the first three innings. Amherst defeated Dartmouth Saturday in a pitcher's battle between McRae and Skillen. Dartmouth plays Fordham tomorrow and Seton Hall Friday. Dartmouth has not played on Weston Field since 1904, when she won a double victory.

The batting-orders of both teams follow:

WILLIAMS: Wadsworth 2b, Warren cf, Young ss, Neild 3b, Hogan lf, Osterhout rf, Waters c, Harman 1b, Ford p.

DARTMOUTH: O'Brien lf, McDevitt c, Gardiner 1b, Skillen p, Page ss, Richardson 3b, McLane rf, Main c, Driscoll 2b.

Alumni Cup for Freshmen

Notice has been given for all those desiring to become competitors for the Philadelphia alumni cup to meet Mr. Seeley at his office in Lasell Gymnasium at 7.00 p.m. Friday. The cup, to be given annually, is offered for the second time by Messrs. Felton Bent, F. W. Rawle, and H. D. Riley of the class of 1895, under the following conditions: "to be awarded on the 30th day of May in each year, ... to that member of the freshman class who, in the opinion of the council and the faculty, or a committee thereof, has shown during his first full year in Williams college, the most marked progress in those branches of athletics which now are and hereafter may be prescibed by the faculty as compulsory courses to be taken by the entering freshman class. It is further understood that the recipient of the cup shall have maintained during his first year an average of at least seventy per cent in his other college work.

City Government Club Elections

At a meeting of the City Government club held Monday evening the following officers were elected: President, Linen 1906; vice-president, Sternberger 1907; secretary-treasurer, E. F. Howe 1907. Speakers for next year were discussed, among whom were commissioner McAdoo and Comptroller Grout of New York city and Judge Mayer of Albany.

Preliminaries for Debate

The preliminaries for the Amherst-Wesleyan-Williams debate will be held in the Biological Laboratory Monday, May 28, at 8 p. m. The question will be "Resolved: that it would be for the best interests of American colleges that freshmen be debarred from all 'varsity athletic teams." Five minutes will be allowed each speaker, including two for rebuttal if desired. Contrary to the arrangement last fall, the participants, of whom there are fourteen, have been notified which side they are to uphold.

Preliminary dance orders for the Senior Prom. may be obtained of P. R. Peters 1906.

THE 1906 CLASS BOOK

Review of Senior Publication by Mr. W. S. Pettit 1905

The 1906 class book is noteworthy among the long series of class books which succeeding senior classes here have edited. The appearance of the book is unusually good; the excellent cover, the two colors of ink, the inserted half-tone cuts, and in general the careful editing and printing make it exceptional.

The chief weakness in the book is undoubtedly among the "write-ups". The review of junior year, for instance, is a hodge-podge of strained metaphors and a capricious style. It suffers much by comparison with the reviews of the other years. Some of the descriptions of the members of the class are well done and have the great merit of emphasizing the more prominent characteristics of the men; others are more poorly written and seem somewhat inane, their humor is too sweet. The old custom of describing metaphorically a man's birth and education is continued, it has too many limitations to be really acceptable in a class book. There is one omission in the account of "sometime members".

With these exceptions the book is most commendable. The 1902 class book is the only one which as a whole can be compared with it and the choice between them must be very nearly even. The book has been more than ordinarily expensive and the editor has done his work with much pains-taking. He and the class are to be congratulated on having produced one of the two best class books ever published here.

SIXTEEN INNINGS

1-0 Victory Over Dartmouth in Greatest Ball Game Ever Played on Weston

The Game all Ford and Skillin—Each Pitcher Strikes Out Eighteen—Fast Double Play in Fifteenth—Double by Wadsworth and Single by Warren Wins in Sixteenth after Two are Out.

"Allie" Watson can talk no more about the teams a dozen years ago. Even that all-conquering team of '67 never played a sixteen inning 1-0 game. The memory of none closely connected with Williams baseball nor the pages of any of the numerous records can hark back to a ball game in Williamstown that lasted as long as Saturday's, and not since Mr. Lewis struck out 23 men in nine innings back ten years ago has any Williams pitcher fanned so many as did Ford.

At the end of sixteen innings Williams had beaten Dartmouth, when with two out and nobody on bases it had looked as if the game was good for sixteen innings more. Wadsworth came up and hit a two-bagger over the third baseman's head. A moment later he made a clever steal of third. Warren, who had struck out his last two times up, got two strikes on him again, but hit a slow bounder between short and third—which he would have beaten out had not Richardson fumbled—, Wadsworth scored and the game was won.

The game was of a kind that most of us are favored to see but once in a lifetime, and needs unlimited superlatives and unlimited space to do it justice. It was a pitcher's battle, but a pitcher's battle where there was excitement every minute. Ford and Skillin, evenly matched, kept hits down and strike-outs up all the way. In the middle of the game Skillin was the stronger, striking out three men on nine pitched balls in the 11th, but tired towards the very end, while, Ford pitched as strongly in the last inning as in the first. Ford was remarkably steady, giving no bases on balls, and keeping the Dartmouth batters guessing by a puzzling drop ball which he combined with fast shoots, all under perfect control. The umpire's decisions on balls and strikes were often poor.

There were fielding features too. In the fourth O'Brien drove out what he thought to be a triple to right but sharp throwing caught him at third. In the fifteenth came the play of the game. Gardiner singled with one gone. Skillin shot a hard bounder to Young, who fielded it perfectly and a lightning fast double play resulted. Dartmouth never got a man past second, and Williams but three.

TENNIS AT LONGWOOD

Annual Tournament of the N. E. I. T. A. Begins Today

The New England Intercollegiate tennis tournament will be held May 28, 29, 30 and 31 at Longwood. Amherst, Bowdoin, Brown, Dartmouth, M. I. T., Trinity, Wesleyan, Williams and the University of Vermont will be represented.

Last year the Williams team (Northrop 1905 and Smith 1906) won the doubles championship and Northrop 1905 lost to Fanning of M. I. T. in the singles semi-finals. This year Williams will be represented by F. R. Smith 1906, New England intercollegiate singles champion in 1904, and Wescott 1908. Fanning of M. I. T., last year's singles champion, is still in college and is playing a strong game: Wallis of Dartmouth, the runner-up, has graduated. Tobey of Bowdoin, the Maine champion, promises to be a dangerous man in the singles, while in the doubles McLane and Rotch of Dartmouth are putting up perhaps the most consistent game. The Dartmouth team tied the Springfield Country Club Thursday.

Rain Prevents Matches

(By telegraph to The Record)

Longwood, Mass., May 28, 3:00 p.m.—Rain prevented all tennis matches in the championship tournament today.

TENNIS CHAMPIONS

Williams Defeats Dartmouth and Wesleyan at Middletown

Williams was victorious in all its matches in the triangular league tennis tournament held at Middletown Friday and Saturday, winning the championship silver loving cup. Wesleyan took second place and Dartmouth third. F. R. Smith 1906 (capt.), Schell 1906 and Thompson 1908 represented the Purple. The matches were well contested, though at no time was Williams pressed for the lead. White of Wesleyan and the Dartmouth doubles team made the best showing.

On Friday Thompson defeated Rotch of Dartmouth 6-3, 8-6; Smith defeated White of Wesleyan 6-2, 3-6, 6-1; Thompson defeated Gatch of Wesleyan 6-3, 8-6. In doubles Smith and Schell defeated Rotch and McLane of Dartmouth 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

Saturday Smith and Schell defeated Gatch and White of Wesleyan 6-3, 6-1. Gatch and White defeated the Dartmouth players 6-3, 2-6, 6-2. The singles matches between Dartmouth and Wesleyan were defaulted to Wesleyan, as the Dartmouth men had to leave.

Schiffer 1907 has resigned from college. He will take a trip to Europe, and in the fall will enter the employ of Pelgram and Meyer, manufacturers of ribbons, New York city.

Prom. Time

For our friends who are with us for a few fleeting hours 'neath the shadow of Greylock by day, and the effulgence retailed by the North Adams light company by night, we this week ungrudgingly tear ourselves from our long unbroken communion with the books. Again we recite to the sympathetic ears of an indulgent chaperone the cost of the new chapel and the explanation of Bryant's sarcasm at the expense of his alma mater, while our roommate chats with her ward on far different and less weighty subjects Again we wipe the dust from our dressing mirrors and leave our dollars with barber, haberdasher, and purveyor of the prancing steeds, for again is prom. time upon us.

Williamstown helps us to bid you welcome. The lawns and trees have anticipated our intention by decking themselves in their best in your honor, and the weather department has anchored down the annoying dust of Spring street under four inches of good Berkshire mud. The Man from Mexico has said he will be here on Wednesday morning and our friends the enemy from Amherst in the afternoon. The road through Torrey's woods is still open to travel and the view from Stone Hill awaits your pleasure. And, incidentally, there is to be a dance in the gymnasium tomorrow night.

Debating Insignia

The question of insignia for debaters is one which seems bound to recur every five or ten years in every college, usually with the same result as at the college meeting Friday.

An impression given at that meeting should be corrected. The colleges near us do not, as a general rule, grant a debating letter. Harvard, mentioned by one of the speakers, gives no insignia at all for debating. At Wesleyan (quoting from a letter from the Wesleyan Argus) "the debating teams are allowed to wear the 'W' with crossed gavels, but none of them ever do it. Last year the members of the team were given watch-fobs with this insignia on them." At Amherst "alumni have awarded victorious debaters with medals", but no insignia are given. Dartmouth this last year granted the "D" with crossed gavels. Whatever argument can be made from the customs of other colleges would be against the proposed action.

The whole question is the basis for awarding the "W". In our opinion the only ground for the granting of the letter is the representation of the college in any intercollegiate athletic contest. This has been the basis at Williams for thirty years; it has been as rigidly adhered to and much more widely extended in other colleges. The letter has always been regarded, throughout the college world, as given for athletic excellence. Current joking comment shows how any extension of the letter outside the athletic field would cheapen its value.

Of course the "W" with crossed gavels would aid debating. There are not many interests in college so dead that they would not take a new lease of life if the "W" was granted their members. We scarcely think debating is in such straits as to demand this radical aid; last year's interest would certainly prove the contrary.

The work done by the debaters is not to be belittled, nor do we think it is wholly realized. Debaters deserve more recognition from the college than they get at present. They deserve the proper kind of recognition, however. Whether they would even wear a letter if awarded them would seem doubtful after the testimony quoted from Wesleyan. The right to wear the purple is not yet definitely crystallized like the right to the "W". To award the debaters this right, while defining strictly those in athletics who should have it, would be our suggestion.

At any rate, if insignia are to be granted, the debating interests ought to be as definitely organized as the athletic interests, as an association under the control of the student-body, and the organized supervision of graduates. Undergraduate award and graduate ratification seems necessary in athletics. It is hard to see how, with faculty judges determining the make-up of the 'varsity teams and therefore determining who should wear this college insignia, as is necessary, such undergraduate award could be brought about in debating. The organization must be double; certainly no body composed solely of students should have the power to grant its members "W"s or any other insignia.

FOOTBALL MGR. CHOSEN

M. Brown 1907 Elected—Motion for Debating Insignia Tabled

Montague Brown 1907 of Portland, Maine, was elected assistant football manager to fill the office of Moies 1907, resigned, at a college meeting Friday evening. He became manager of the football association Saturday with the expiration of Manager Case's term.

MONTAGUE BROWN 1907

Brown prepared for college at Hotchkiss school, where he managed the school paper, and was a member of the track team. He was one of the Prom. committee sophomore year, is treasurer of the class, and has been a member of the track team and the football squad for two years.

The question of debating insignia was brought before the meeting. Nomer 1906 moved that the college grant the "W" with crossed gavels to members of debating teams and to the managers, but not to the alternates. Nomer 1906 and Perry 1906 spoke in favor of the motion, Curtiss 1906 and Clark 1907 against it. A motion to lay the matter on the table was passed by a small majority.

Y. M. C. A. Meeting

Dr. Jefferson of New York, who addressed the morning chapel service yesterday, answered questions on religious and ethical matters at the evening Y. M. C. A. service. The discussion was free and informal, and was participated in by nearly all present.

Morrill 1907 has been appointed teacher of French for next year in the Williamstown High school.

AMHERST BASEBALL GAME

Purple and White on Weston Field Decoration Day

The annual prom. week Williams - Amherst baseball game will be played Decoration day on Weston Field. The game is the second of a series of four, the first of which was won by Williams 2 to 0 on Pratt Field, May 5. Since then Pennsylvania, Wesleyan, Lafayette and Dartmouth have been defeated by Amherst—the last in a pitcher's battle between McRae and Skillin.

The Amherst nine took a western trip last week for the first time since the Chicago World's Fair in 1893. The trip resulted in two victories and two defeats: Michigan was beaten by a large score, but the Purple and White was shut out by Illinois. The Williams game will be the first after the western trip.

The batting orders of both teams follow:

WILLIAMS: Wadsworth 2b, Warren cf, Young ss, Neild 3b, Hogan lf, Osterhout rf, Waters c, Harman 1b, Ford p.

[By telegraph to THE RECORD this morning.]

AMHERST: Beach ss, Storke 3b, Jones lf, Shattuck rf, Palmer 1b, Wheeler cf, McRae p, Spring c, Allaire 2b.

1907 Still Undefeated

The junior team won their fifth victory in the interclass baseball series Thursday atfernoon from the seniors 13 to 10. A shower before the game made good fielding difficult. The game was exciting all the way. In the nervous last inning Redick sent the ball between the baseball cage snd fence for a three-bagger, and put the last 1906 man out by catching a hot liner.

The score by innings:

Sixteen Innings

The fifth was Dartmouth's first bad inning. Osterhout got a hit, Waters was safe on Gardiner's error and Harman's bunt put the men on third and second with one out. Ford hit the ball hard and on a line, but straight at O'Brien and then Skillin struck out Wadsworth. Again in the eighth, with two out, Wadsworth walked and stole. Warren smashed a long liner to the track just in foul ground in left field and then hit to the pitcher. In the twelfth and fifteenth Williams came near winning again but Skillin's strike-outs, like Ford's, came at the right time.

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

GUL. REVIEW

The Year Book Criticised by Asst. Prof. Perry

The work of editing a "Gul." is the most laborious and least appreciated of all the literary or semi-literary tasks which come outside of the curriculum in the college and one feels like offering sympathy rather than criticism to a board which has for so long a time striven to produce something of an original quality, only to have the book read for a day and then relegated to back shelves where it is seldom seen except by future "Gul." boards who use it mainly as a book for prejudiced comparison.

The fiftieth "Gul." is elegant in appearance with its tan colored leather binding and its French Japan printing paper. The general tone of the book, the printing, and the careful editing must be conceded at the start. The cuts come out well, and the drawings, while not of unusual excellence, are satisfactory. The snapshots, showing distinctive glimpses of Williams life, appeal to more men than any other feature of the book and one wishes there were more of them. Here the "Gul." is performing a function for the college which is worth while. They give real charm to the book. The full page cuts of the captains of the athletic teams are disappointng.

From a literary point of view the "Gul." is distinctly mediocre. The verse at times is pointless doggerel and never seems to have a reason for existence. The poem which purports to have come from the pen of Morris Rudnick is a cruel libel on Mr. Rudnick, and in "Aspirations of a Freshman" the lines:

"I'd walk up near the grand stand then.
And you with shining eyes
Would toss a rosebud through the net—
Ah, what a victor's prize!"

do justice neither to Williams poetry nor Williams athletics. The prose is better, but never rises above the average of preceding "Guls". The humor does not seem to be spontaneous and in the "Sunday Evening Vesper Service" it is quite absent. It is unfortunate and in poor taste that our beautiful vesper service should be held up to ridicule, but when the ridicule is pointless it seems to the critic that the result is doubly distressing. Real humor could not be denied in "The Ten Commandments of Williams," and in certain other of the prose selections which are of too personal a character for particularization.

Is the "grind" department of the "Gul." worth while? For the last fifteen years there has been a steady decrease in the space allotted these personal comments. The fact that at present only a few men are honored makes the position far more conspicuous than it used to be and in the choice of subjects precedent seems to be the controlling factor. At the universities this part of the year book has been entirely eliminated, with a distinct gain in dignity. The "grinds" mean nothing except to a very few, and they do not add to the value of the "Gul," as the authentic record of the happenings of the college year. Certainly to the alumni and to those who read the "Annual" with an iden of choosing a college the "grinds" are of no interest. Perhaps there would not be such a large sale if the "grinds" were omitted but this has never been proven. The difficulty of getting original matter in this department is becoming yearly more evident; the bitterness which some of these innocent thrusts causes is seldom realized, and they do not further the real purpose of the "Gul".

Mt. Anthony G. C. Defeated

The Williams golf team defeated the Mt. Anthony G.C. of Bennington 12-0 on the Taconic links, Saturday, Tuxedo system. The visitors brought but two men; Doughty '98, who played with them, forced L. Mitchell to play the course in 38-39, 77, to win 1 up. A return match will be played June 6 in Bennington.

The score:

MEMORIAL SERVICE

Held in New Chapel and at Soldiers Monument

Informal Memorial day exercises were conducted in the chapel yesterday morning before about two hundred people. President Hopkins spoke briefly upon memories of the civil war and stated that the purpose of the holiday was to serve as a reminder of the sacrifices and sufferings of that struggle and to aid us in realizing the tremendous cost of religious and civil liberty.

Further exercises were held at the Soldiers' monument where President Hopkins read the names of twenty-eight Williams men who died in the war and mentioned many of the two hundred and twenty-six Williams men who fought in the conflict.

THE MAN FROM MEXICO

Cap and Bells Plays in Opera House—Changes in Cast

Cap and Bells gave its prom. week performance of "The Man from Mexico" before a large audience in the Williamstown Opera house yesterday morning at 10.45. The lines were given smoothly and the acting was of even excellence, with the caricature parts not overdone. As usual, A. M. Bostford 1906, as Benjamin Fitzhew, the Man from Mexico, was the life of the show, keeping the audience in laughter all the while he was on the stage.

Tifft 1909 made more of the part of Nettie Majors than has been done in the previous performances, and the German dialect work of Case 1906 received merited applause. Latson 1909 played the part of Pierce 1907 as Timothy Cook, and Hanson 1909 did creditable work in the part of Miranda, played in previous preformances by Carlisle 1909. The Spanish dance, by Botsford 1906 and Combes 1907 suffered by comparison with Donald MacDonald, but by this only.

Ex-president Carter will preach in the chapel next Sunday.

WILLIAMS 3; AMHERST 1

Large Crowd Sees Purple and White Outplayed in Dull Game

The annual Decoration day game with Amherst was won by Williams yesterday afternoon 3 to 1 in ideal weather before one of the largest crowds ever gathered on Weston Field. The game was unusually fast, and not very interesting, though perhaps after Saturday's contest an ordinary game looked commonplace. Not a run was earned, but Amherst was outbatted, outfielded, and outpitched. Two of Amherst's hits were scratches.

Each team was credited with a run at the end of the first inning. Storke drew a pass to first, reached third when Young missed Jones' grounder, and crossed the plate on Shattuck's single. Warren scored for Williamson Young's single after gaining second on a muffed fly.

In the second, Osterhout drew a wild throw in stealing second, and another wild throw to third by Wheeler brought him home. With two out Jones lined out a three-bagger to center-field in the third inning and was the last man to reach third for Amherst. After Wheeler's singls in the fourth no Amherst man saw first. The third run came as a result of Ford's three-bagger which took a lucky bound past the left-fielder, Harman coming in from first.

For Williams, Harman made his usual good pick-ups, and Wadsworth covered much ground at second, accepting nine chances brilliantly without an error. Spring's accurate throwing caught four men who attempted to steal.

SOPHOMORE PROMENADE

Annual Dance in Lasell Gymnasium Tuesday Evening

The sophomore prom. is over and Nineteen-eight has joined the list of Williams classes which have given successful proms. But to say that the 1908 prom. was a success, is to be prosaic. An efficient committee, many diligent assistants, and no end of painstsking labor prepsred the gymnasium for the event. An unsurpassed evening, cool and clear, a management that provided for every need, and by far the largest number of guests at any recent college dance, contributed in making 1908's a truly perfect promenade.

Lasell gymnasium was transformed from its barn-like gymnastic aspect, into a splendid ballroom, the color scheme of light green and white being followed throughout. The walls downstairs were concesled by bunting, with many Williams and 1908 banners and pennants. Over the center of the floor was a canopy of green and white, with the bunting draped from the running track up to the center-piece of electric lights from which hung a large Japanese umbrella. Electric lights shone from the eastern end of the track, while from pendants of greenery above the hall hung numerous electric-lighted Japanese lanterns. At the eastern end of the gallery back of the running track, were cosy corners. The usual easy chairs, divans and sofas lined the walls downstairs, and rugs surrounded the dancing floor.

The sophomore promenade committee consisted of Richard Bradley Rising of Springfield, chairman; Richard Meldrum Brady of Washington, Pa.; Payson Stone Douglas of East Orange, N. J.; Harold Hull Griswold of Meriden, Conn.; and William Ernest Slattery of Troy.

Another Baseball Victory

A victory over Amherst is always pleasurable; a victory in the midst of prom. time doubly so. And yet it was hard to get up enthusiasm. In comparison with Saturday's Dartmouth game, this or any other seemed dull. The Williame pitcher was too obviously superior to the Amherst batsmen. Tbnt no men got to first in five innings shows that pitchers and fielders were playing baseball as best they knew.

The team has won a series of victories seldom equalled. Amherst, Harvard, Syracuse, Yale, Wesleyan, Dartmouth and again Amherst have been successively defeated, and Williams has scored as many runs in a single game as its opponents in all twelve. And now for Princeton!

Where Improvement is Necessary

Is it not strange that when the object of the interscholastic meet held Saturday is avowedly to give track men in the near-by preparatory schools an impetus to come to Williams, that so little interest is taken in the meet by the college? In other colleges these future students are made to feel that they are the guests of the college; here at Williams that majority of us who are not awake to the interests of the college have ignored them.

The time of the meet, determined by train connections, is inconvenient, to be sure, but the meet is naturally run primarily to suit these guests of the college rather than the college body. Recitations, it is realized, interfere somewhat, but not all the college are reciting every hour Saturday morning; certainly there are not many of us unable to take a few etxra steps to see the end of the meet in the afternoon. That it is necessary to run the meet through the noon hour and therefore difficult to entertain at the fraternity houses makes it all the more necessary that each man do all he can, for this is the one chance of the year that every one has to help men to come to Williams.

It takes something more than an impression of the beauty of Williamstown to get these men here. A little personal interest, and quite a little, if not in some one individunl, at least in the Here at any rate is our opportuntiy down on Weston Field, by united effort, with cheer and song leaders present, to give these visitors an impression of college spirit and college interest in themselves that will help make them realize that Williams is the very best place for them to come to.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

Tidiness is the patron virtue of the Village Improvement Society. It may not furnish forth the model snint but it goes a good ways with the average sinner. Some animals attain this grace under very unfavorable circumstances, and some sink into the opposed vice let nature be ever so kindly. Domestic animals—with the possible exception of the cat, washing her face with her paw—decline into slovenly ways, and leave the question of grooming to men. Men, who wear garments, live in houses and crowd public places, are compelled to be decent. Civilization registers itself on this scale of tidiness; yet some of its chief agents awaken at the same time, the devil of dirt.

The paper, the post-office, the package, each yield some things to be thrown away, and to make a trail of refuse behind them. We wish to request the young men of the college, whose general consideration we have occasion to recognize, to hold fast to the fugacious paper, the treacherous peel, till they have reached a place of deposit, and to baffle the disorder which dogs our steps in the street.

We do not go so far as to ask you to "keep off the grass", but we would like to request you to keep off the places where the grass ought to grow. Our walks are bordered with paths on either side, in ridicule of their proper service. The young man who makes no offense in going, and leaves no offense behind him, is entitled to the world, even if it be the beautiful world of Williamstown.

'VARSITY VS. ATHLETICS

Four Professionals and Two Faculty Members on Town Team

The 'varsity baseball team will play a third game with the Williamstown Athletics Saturday afternoon on Weston Field in place of the scheduled game cancelled by Trinity. The college team broke even with the Athletics in two practice games early in the season, the Athletics winning the first 7 to 6, and the 'varsity the second 15 to 7. The Athletics will be considerably strengthened Saturday by the presence of Murphy of Adams, recently released from the Utica team of the New York State league, and Howells, a former player in the Western outlaw league. Mackey, coach of Wesleyan's team last year, and Rudman, both of Blackinton, are also players of league experience. Asst. Prof. Lewis will probably pitch for the Athletics, but Bryant, who pitched in the other two games, may be in the box.

The line-ups of both teams follow:

ATHLETICS: — Walden c, Lewis p or 3b, Mackey 1b, Prindle 2b, Murphy ss, Bryant 3b or p, Rudman lf, Howells cf, Mears rf.

WILLIAMS— Wadsworth 2b, Warren cf, Young ss, Neild 3b, Hogan lf, Osterhout rf, Watera c, Harman 1b, Pierce p.

COACH DOWD LEAVES

Will Manage Holyoke Team of Connecticut League

Thomas J. Dowd, coach of the baseball team, has accepted an offer to manage the Holyoke baseball team of the Connecticut League, and left on Wednesday. Holyoke is Coach Dowd's native town.

He was captain of the Holyoke High school team for four years before going to Brown and Georgetown, and, in his career of professional ball, was left fielder on the Holyoke team in 1904 and captained the nine for a time.

He will begin his duties as manager today. Although he had agreed to stay with the team until the end of June, his offer from Holyoke was so large that the management did not think itself justified in keeping him for the remainder of the year. He was at the game yesterday, will go on the trip to Princeton June 6 and will be with the team at the Amherst game at Amherst June 23. Asst.-Prof. Lewis will act as coach of the team in his place from now on.

Williams-Springfield C. C. Golf

The Williams golf team of five men will play the Springfield country club team on the links of the Pittsfield Country Club at 2:30 Saturday afternoon. The Springfield team is the strongest country club team in Massachusetts west of Worcester, and has not been defeated yet this year. Ralph P. Alden and S. N. Stickney, the old St. Paul's school player, are the best men. The Williams team defeated Springfield 9-6 last fall, the latter's first defeat on its home course in three years.

Albany, on a raised platform in the southeast corner of the floor, and concealed behind a bank of palms, and potted plants, furnished the music for forty-two dances, eighteen waltzes and twenty-four two-steps. The twentieth dance "Come Fill Your Glasses up", set to two-step music was followed by an intermission, during which refreshments were served by Halla of Troy. The 28th dance was the Williams Medley". For the 42nd, at five o'clock, the lights were turned off and "So Long, Mary" was danced by daylight.

The supplementary dance was held at the Greylock last evening.

INTERSCHOLASTIC MEET

Held on Weston Field Saturday—Eleven Schools Competing

The annual track meet of the Williams college interscholastic athletic association will be held on Saturday morning and afternoon on Weston Field. The entry list is the largest ever received. The schools which are to compete this year are the Adams High school, Albany academy, Ballston Spa High school, Cambridge High school, Drury High school, Hoosick Falls High school, Pittsfield High school, Searles High school, Troy Conference academy of Poultney, Vt. and the Williamstown High school. The Troy Conference academy is entered for the first time.

The meet promises to be even better than last year when Drury High school unexpectedly won with one-quarter of a point more than Pittsfield. The usual thirteen events are on the program and the first heat of the 100-yd dash will be started at 10 o'clock sharp. The meet will continue through the noon hour and will be over by about 3:00.

A banner will be awarded to the school winning the largest number of points and gold, silver and bronze medals will be given to winners of first, second and third places in each event.

First Preliminary Debates

The following men were chosen from the contestants in the Amherst-Wesleyan-Williams debating league preliminaries in the Biological Laboratory Monday evening: Fowle '08, Dodd, Ernst, Howe, Maclay, Robb, Wood '09. In addition to these men Case, Matthews '07, Byard, Groben, Murray '08, Sayre, Toll '09, the 'varsity debaters and alternates, are eligible. No further trial debates will be held this year. The judges were Prof. Maxey, Asst.-Prof. Wetmore, and Asst. Prof. Perry.

Debaters Meet at Amherst

Case '07 will represent Williams at a meeting to be held at Amherst Saturday to complete arrangements for the formation of the proposed Amherst-Wesleyan-Williams debating league. This meeting takes the place of the one to have been held in Williamstown yesterday.

MUSICAL CLUBS CONCERT

In Jesup Hall Last Evening—Banjo Club Excels

The concert by the musical clubs in Jesup Hall last evening at eight o'clock was attended by a fairly large audience, composed principally of prom. guests. The work of the clubs was somewhat ragged in comparison with previous preformances, but was well received. The banjo club made the biggest hit, sharing the honors with Pevear's solos and Pierce's pantomimes, especially the realistic imitation of a student dressing for chapel. The concert closed with "The Mountains", followed by a long college yell.

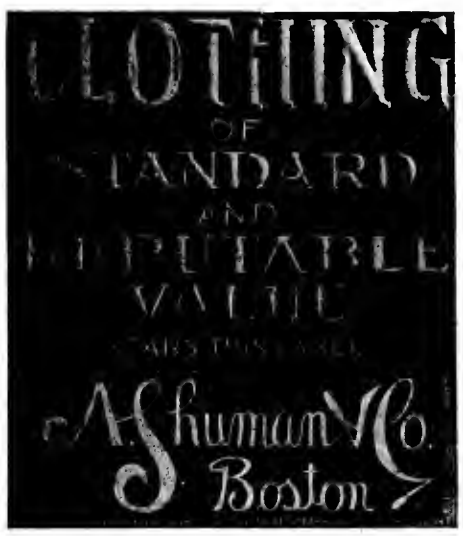
THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.



Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

THE LITERARY MONTHLY

Review of the June Number by Professor Nelson

In the very few moments that I may almost truly say are given me to "review" the Literary Monthly, I am forced to content myself with an inadequate amount of general observation. As the editorial parts of this number are not submitted to me, let me say of these elements of the magazine, that they are open to the objection that may justly be made to this effort of my own when it is considered in reference to this particular number of the monthly publication,—they deal too generally with life in the large and too skimpingly with the concrete and often interesting life about us. Students, who are usually inchoate men, give the better promise of an earlier manhood if they like the kind of thrust, say as that which Mr. Pettit gave in the last Record for the education and mental enlargement of the editor or editors, of this year's class book.

The monthly publication of this college is well worth talking about, and as it is so, it is worthy of hard and honest handling. No deadlier insult can be offered to the literary work of young men who are taking their first steps in a pleasant, but exacting, art than unacidulated praise. Untempered honey is nauseating. To administer it in a so-called criticism is, in effect, to say that the vices of the thing criticised are so truly basic that the bettering of them is impossible, or that the promise is so slight that it is not worth while to suggest a better way for its fulfilment.

The monthly has so much of excellence, the writing in it is so often good, so surprisingly good occasionally, that it may plainly be improved. Much more space than the Record has to bestow upon the subject might be profitably filled with illustrative remarks.

I must confine myself to a mere suggestion. The fiction and verse of the monthly lack authenticity. Imaginative literature is of no value, speaks no word of moment, is not instructive or inspiring, is not even amusing, unless it comes from the experiences of the writer,—unless his message is from his mind or his heart, unless he speaks the truth that is in him, the truth that he has seen or the truth that he has felt. Human life may not adequately, for the artist, be learned from books, nor can passionate longings be implanted through the eye or ear. These are simple, fundamental truths, the application of which may be left to some of the very best of our young writers. That those who put in pleasing verse the emotions of others or who imitate with facility, and with good taste, the social or personal studies, the inherent peculiarities often, of more or less popular favorites, is not to the point. The maker of a scrap-book may do as much. Those whom I have in mind can do better.

As to essays: there are two in the present number, written for a college exercise, which suggest that the work and reading of the college courses often furnish abundant subjects for better treatment than is possible for subjects

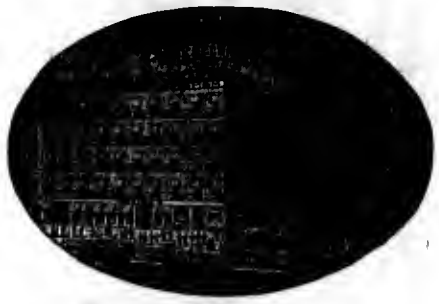
THE TEN-YEAR CLASS

Decennial Reunion of 1896—Two Members on the Faculty

The class of 1896 will celebrate at this Commencement a decennial reunion which promises to be the largest and most enthusiastic in the history of the class. A committee of sixteen has been appointed to make arrangements, consisting of the class secretary, F. A. Alden of Montour Falls, N. Y.; John W. Beekes of Brooklyn, Horace G. Brown of Worcester, chairman; E. Harold Cluett of Troy, Clarence W. Dunham of Warrensburg, N. Y., Edward C. Durfee of New York, George B. Kilbourne of Columbus, Edward M. Lewis of Williamstown, William A. Lockwood of New York, Thomas C. McDowell of Boston, Henry S. Patterson of New York, Edmonds Putney of New York, James W. Reed of Groton, N. Y., Sanford Robinson of New York, Theodore H. Simmons of Providence, R. I., and Dudley W. Stricklsnd of Denver. The class has secured the entire second floor of the Adams Block (with the exception of the co-operative store rooms) as headquarters, and will there entertain its friends. The class banquet will be held at the Wilson House, North Adams, on Tuesday evening, June 26. The committee expect that between forty and forty-five members of '96 will attend. The class boy will be among those present. There will be no tax and the committee is depending on subscriptions to pay expenses The class will probably drive to North Adams for the banquet. Corwin McDowell will be toastmaster. At the banquet a number of toasts will be given, including tributes to the two members of the class who have died, and to Professors Dodd, Fernald and Safford. Ass't.-Prof. Lewis will respond to the toast "The College Today." Lamoureux's Italian band of North Adams will furnish the music.



The class of 1896 graduated 62, and has lost by death Walter W. Cooper in 1904 and Paul C. Mitchell in 1902. The remaining sixty are scattered in 15 states and territories, with one member in Paris, France, and one in Honolulu. Of the sixty members, fifteen are lawyers, eleven doctors, and eleven teachers. There are two of its members on the Williams faculty, Ass't.-Prof. Karl E. Weston, who is in Paris, and Ass't.-Prof. Edward M. Lewis.

The last of the class prayer-meetings for this year will be held tomorrow evening at 7:15. Leaders: 1907, Russell; 1908, Aldrich; 1909, Horrax. Topic and references, The mission of a Christian student, John 17:14-26.

"The Man from Mexico" cast has presented Donald MacDonald, under whose direction the production was staged, with a large silver loving cup, on an ebony pedestal.

NEW DEBATING LEAGUE

Constitution Drawn Up at Amherst—Two-Man Debates

Case '07 represented Williams at a meeting held at Amherst on Saturday to complete arrangements for the formation of the Amherst-Wesleyan-Williams debating league Amherst's delegate was Wilson, Williams ex-'07, and Wesleyan's Travis '06. Wilson was elected president of the league, which will be completely formed after the ratification by the several debating societies of the colleges of the constitution drawn up on Saturday. This constitution is similar to that of the Brown-Dartmouth-Williams league except for two important points. There will be two men on the debating teams instead of three, allowed fourteen and six minutes respectively for main speech and rebuttal. The judges are to be chosen by a committee of three men, one representative from each college, meeting in New York city before October 15.

The debates will be held Friday, December 7, 1906. The Amherst team will debate at Wesleyan, the Wesleyan team at Williams, and the Williams team at Amherst, the home team debating the affirmative. Some outside coaching will be permitted. The question for debate will be decided on or before June 23 by delegates meeting in Springfield.

SPRINGFIELD SHUT OUT

Williams Wins Golf Match by Unexpectedly Large Score

The Springfield Country Club golf team proved unexpectedly easy for the college players Saturday afternoon. The match took place on the links of the Pittsfield Country Club, and was won by Williams 16½ to 0, Tuxedo system of scoring. The nine hole course, an even 3000 yards in length, was in fair condition; a slight rain shortly after the match started did not interfere with the play. Williams played a strong match game, while the lowest medal score was 2 under bogey. L. Mitchell, in third position, was matched against Brand and more than reversed the same opponent's score against him last fall. A. Mitchell again won a hard-fought contest from R. P. Alden, playing first on the Springfield team. Clapp and Parlett were even up going out, but the Springfield player weakened coming in and lost four out of the last five holes. Gregory defeated Rowley, the Amherst captain, 6 up. Lynde and Morton had the hardest match of the day, and finished all even on the last green.

The score:

SMITH SINGLES CHAMPION

At Longwood Tennis Tournament—Williams Loses Doubles

Floyd Reeves Smith 1906 for the second time won the New England intercollegiate tennis championship in singles by winning from F. B. Fanning of M. I. T. in the final round of the tournament at Longwood Thursday afternoon, 6-3, 8-6, 7-5. Smith was New England intercollegiate champion in 1904, and last year lost to Fanning in the last round. In the morning Fanning and Nicholl of M. I. T. beat Smith 1906 and Westcott 1908 in the final round of doubles in a hard fought five-set match 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-8, 7-5. By the Williams victories the college now has six of the eight points necessary for permanent possession of the cup.

The Williams–M. I. T. doubles were the most interesting matches of the tournament, both teams fighting it out to the very end. In the fourth set M. I. T. braced with the score 5-1 against them and lost only by 8 games to 6. In the last set, with the games 5-4 against them the Tech. team made another rally, tying the set, and finally winning the match and the championship.

In the afternoon Fanning seemed tired out by the morning's play, and lost largely on account of his errors. Smith's play at the end was as fast and steady as it had been at any time during the morning.

In the doubles, although Technology won, Williams scored 184 points to their 181. In the singles Smith made 126 points to Fanning's 109. Smith had 28 place shots to 29 by Fanning, but the latter made 98 errors to Smith's 70.

The summary:

Championship doubles, final round—Fanning and Nicholl of M. I. T. defeated Smith and Westcott of Williams, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-8, 7-5.

Championship singles, final round—Smith of Williams defeated Fanning of M. I. T. 6-3, 8-6, 7-5.

A LISTLESS GAME

Berkshire Athletics Defeated 9 to 3—Double and Triple by Neild

Williams won a poorly played and uninteresting game from the Berkshire Athletics Saturday afternoon on Weston Field by the score of 9 to 3. Contrary to expectation the Athletics were not athletic enough, and did not prove a hard proposition even to the somewhat ragged playing of the 'varsity. The game was an unhappy contrast with that on the previous Saturday, the four errors by the team being mostly of the glaring sort. Two easy double plays by Wadsworth and Harman and a double and triple by Neild were the only features of the game.

In the first inning, after the Athletics had gone out in order, Wadsworth walked to first and stole second. Warren's bunt gave him first, and he scored with Wadsworth on Neild's double. Osterhout's single brought in Neild for a third run. The third gave three more runs to the 'varsity, with Neild's long three-bagger responsible. Mr. Lewis went into the box in the seventh, but was not quite in old-time form.

APPLIED CHRISTIANITY

Its Relation to Every-Day Life—Address by Prof. Russell

Prof. Russell spoke last evening at the Y. M. C. A. service on the subject of Christian faith and its place in every-day life. Personal religion does not consist primarily in acceptance of prescribed dogma regarding the person of Jesus, but in having the kind of principles and faith that Christ had, those which, by his example, he still inspires in the average man. Christ believed in an eternal ruling spirit whom he called Father, in the supreme value of good character in its multifold forms, and in the immortality of the human soul. Whatever else one may hold, if his life shows a response of his heart to these simple beliefs, he is essentially a Christian.

Action tests faith. The mark of the real Christian is his passion for excellence and his daily ambition to make his life the best he can. Laziness and aversion to sustained effort are unchristian, and it is here that Christianity meets the greatest need of modern college men—the need of more earnest mental effort, of moral backbone, and of more sympathy with the rest of the world. The first aim of a man in his college course should not be pleasure, keenness without principle to support it, cultured polish, or athletic perfection, but this awakening of a just appreciation of values and a determination to make the best use of the talents in him.

Examples could be drawn from every line of college activity. If each student sought to do his best in curriculum work, there would be no constant agitation to decrease its amount, more classroom competition would bring more respect for brains, and the requirements there would not conform, as in many labor unions, to the inclinations of those that want to do the least work, but be raised to the real capacities of those able to do the least work. The realization of these aims of the college course would increase Williams' influence among other colleges and enlarge the service of her graduates to the world outside of college.

Tennis With the Faculty

The tennis team will play the faculty team on the Taconic club courts Wednesday at 2:30. The faculty team will be composed of Asst.-Prof. Perry, captain; Prof. Howes, Mr. Shepard, and either Prof. Wild or Asst.-Prof King.

VOL. 20 JUNE 4, 1906 No. 21

The Grand Old Duke of York

Some years ago a Williams nine lost an important college game solely because men of that college crowded onto the base-lines, jeered at the players and threw fire-crackers and torpedoes at the man in the box. In Williamstown, fortunately, we have never reached that stage, so far as base-line thronging is concerned. However, there are more ways than one of putting a team into the air. Vocal fire-crackers can be just as effective as powder and fuse.

Just what is "The Grand Old Duke of York"? It was once a n college song, but is not so treated now. A man not able to sing a note is not afraid to start "The Grand Old Duke". It has no reference to Williams in it and what little music it has is drowned out by hand-clapping, foot-stamping and other attempts to disconcert opponents that are not even disguised as music.

If it is a yell, it is certainly a yell like those fire-crackers of our opponents. It can scarcely fail to be admitted that its purpose is to "rattle" a visiting team. It is never used when Williams is in the field, and apparently does not help the man at the bat towards home runs. It is noticeable that the runs it causes come more through errors than through hits. If further evidence is necessary, it need only be remembered that it is used rarely save in baseball, the sport where momentary nervousness and a single bad play are most apt to prove serious.

Trying to "rattle" visiting players in this or any other manner doesn't win many games, and even if it did games so won would not be worth the winning. We can see no difference at bottom between going down on the base-lines and hooting out victory and winning it by "The Grand Old Duke". We may save self-respect by staying in the stand, but what we are trying to do is the same.

The great hold of the song—for that is what it must be called—comes from association. It is Williams' by virtue of constant use rather than patriotic verbiage. This, however, cannot justify its use to our opponents, to whom its sim to "rattle" is only too apparent. Our attitude toward visiting friends and visiting ball-players should not be different—both are the college's guests and should be treated like gentlemen. If custom has demanded the song, it seems time that that custom was broken in this a gentlemen's college.

Let no unenthusiastic person—for in spite of the excellent cheering given this spring there are always a few spiritless impassives—interpret this as directed against cheering. The two things differ at the root. Cheering is to encourage those of your own number, to express to them the confidence of the college in their efforts; "The Grand Old Duke", as now used, is to disconcert those who oppose you, to jeer their efforts, to try to win by ungentlemanly means what fair have failed to bring. It would be too bad to give up a song of such long association, but we feel that no expression of enthusiastic spirit whose purpose is to shake the nerve of a visiting team ought to be given in Williams college.

The Football Report

The report of the football management, published in another column, shows a season conducted with unusually efficient business ability. The balance of $634, turned over to the athletic council, though $100, less than that of last year, is with this exception $300, larger than any other ever made, in spite of the many thorns that this year have bordered the managerial path.

The receipts of the Dartmouth game at Newton Center have always been what every football manager has counted upon to bring the season's balance over to the right side of the ledger. That $700.—practically the entire 1904-5 balance—was taken from the association pocket-book when Dartmouth changed the place of the game to Hanover was offset only by the $300. that the Amherst home game brought in above the Wesleyan. There was no appreciable cutting-down of the amount spent on the team to make up for this deficit, either for supplies or training table, and we note with approval an added expenditure of $90 for officials, the one item of expenses on which it does not pay to stint at all. Again through the generous help of the New York alumni in adding $500 to the $1000 available from the funds of the council was it made possible to secure coaching of the ability required. It is to the liberality of these loyal alumni that much of the ability of the team was due.

In the matter of subscriptions the report makes clear one defect in common with other football reports of the last few years, a growing tendency of the men in the three upper classes to show too little of the contributory spirit. That the members of the freshman class felt able to average over $6. a man shows commendable support of college interests, but in all justice the upper classmen should pay a larger share. In 1901 these classes paid 62 per cent of the total amount, in 1902 53 per cent, this year 46 per cent, while the absolute amount paid in by them was actually $100. less than five years ago. Particularly noticeable this year is the small amount received from the seniors, the least amount in years. It seems strange that these three classes cannot pay at last half of the total subscriptions. If college spirit grows with the years, this tangible expression of it in support of college athletics ought to grow with it.

CAMBRIDGE H. S. WINS

In Eighth Annual Interscholastic Meet—Three Records Broken

The eighth annual track and field meet of the Williams College Interscholastic Athletic Association was won on Weston Field Saturday by the Cambridge High school of Cambridge, N. Y., with a total of 36 1-6 points. This is the first time that the championship of the association has gone out of Berkshire county. Last year's winner, Drury, secured second place, with 20⅔ points, and Pittsfield High, winner of two years ago, secured third with 16 1-3 points. Other point-winners were Troy High school 15, Adams High school 13, Ballston Spa High school 6, Searles academy 4, Hoosick Falls High school 4, and Williamstown High school, four times champion, 2.

Nearly all the schools in the association sent entries and the meet was closely contested, with the times and distances generally good. Three records of the interscholastic association were broken, in the quarter half, and mile runs, the last two by Amell of Drury and the quarter by Wheeler of Troy. Amell of Drury was the star of the meet, securing first in the mile, half, and pole vault and third in the 100-yd. dash. Hay of Pittsfield won first in each dash, and Ashton of Cambridge won firsts in the discus and shot. Green of Cambridge did the best all-round work, with 15 points won by a first in the 220-yd. hurdles, second in the 120-yd. hurdles, shot put and discus throw, and a tie for second in the pole vault.

The summary of events follows:

100-yd. dash:—Won by Hay of Pittsfield; Robson of Hoosick Falls second; Amell of Drury third. Time, 10 3-5s.

220-yd. dash—Won by Hay of Pittsfield; Wheeler of Troy second; Robson of Hoosick Falls, third. Time, 23 3-5s.

440-yd. dash—Won by Wheeler of Troy; M. Daniels of Adams second; Guilds of Pittsfield third. Time 53s., breaking the interscholastic record of 55s. held by Flynn of Troy.

Half-mile run:—Won by Amell of Drury; Stone of Troy second; Hall of Searles third. Time, 2 08, breaking the interscholastic record of 2.10 held by Mears 1903.

Mile run:—Won by Amell of Drury; Hall of Searles second, Stocking of Williamstown third. Time, 4.52 3-5, breaking the interscholastic record of 4:53 3-5 held by Curtis ex-'08.

120-yd. hurdles:—Won by Lawton of Cambridge; Green of Cambridge second; Bunce of Drury third. Time, 19s.

220 yd. hurdles:—Won by Green of Cambridge; Bunce of Drury second; Stewart of Pittsfield third. Time, 28 4-5s.

High jump:—Won by McInerney of Adams, 5 ft., 4¼ in.; Sisson of Pittsfield second, 5 ft., 3¾ in; Barron of Drury and Collamer of Cambridge tied for third, 5 ft., 2 in. In jump-off for medal the latter won.

Pole vault:—Won by Amell of Drury, 8 ft., 9 in.; English and Green of Cambridge and Sisson of Pittsfield tied for second, 8 ft., 6 in. In jump-off for medal, English secured second and Sisson third.

Broad jump:—R. Daniels of Pittsfield C. C. Ties Tennis Team

The tennis team tied the Pittsfield country club team at Pittsfield Saturday afternoon, each team winning three matches. Smith and Schell 1906, Linen 1907 and Thompson 1908 represented Willisms. The courts were in good condition, though a light shower had made them somewhat heavy. The Williams team was overconfident at the start, and had to play first-class tennis to tie the match at the end.

The summary:

Doubles—Schell and Smith defeated Brigham and Gardiner, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5; Linen and Thompson defeated Kernigan and Trimble, 6-3, 8-6.

Singles—Gardiner defeated Smith, 6-1, 9-7; Kernigan defeated Thompson, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3; Linen defeated Brigham 4-6, 6-4, 7-5; Trimble defeated Schell, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

COLLEGE NOTES

Wilder 1907 has been appointed college guide for the summer.

C. P. Moies 1907 has resigned from college.

At a 1906 class meeting held Friday evening plans for commencement were discussed.

Walter Harris Smith, Jr., 1907, of LeRoy, N. Y., has been elected leader of the banjo club for next year.

Smith '69, Hall '76, Dewey '78, Geer '79, Banks '90, Hall '97, James '98 and Root 1904 have been in town.

George D. Kellogg, Ph. D., assistant professor of Latin in 1903-4 and 1904-5, and now at Princeton, has been in town.

Philip M. Brown '98 played the chapel organ Saturday morning in place of Mr. Salter. After the service he gave a short informal recital of classical music.

The senior class pipes were distributed Saturday. The pipes are straight-stemmed, with a "Williams '06" monogram carved on the bowl.

Mr. George T. Northrup '97, instructor of French here in 1903-4 and 1904-5, now an assistant professor in Princeton, has been in town.

The following men took the major examinations for the Clark scholarship Saturday: 1906, Brady; 1907, Matthews, Morrill; 1908, Baomeister, Bullard, Westermann.

The house and barns on the Mather place, next to Prof. Wahl's residences on Main Street, have been torn down. No new buildings will be erected. Several barns and houses on other college property will be torn down with a view of improving the campus.

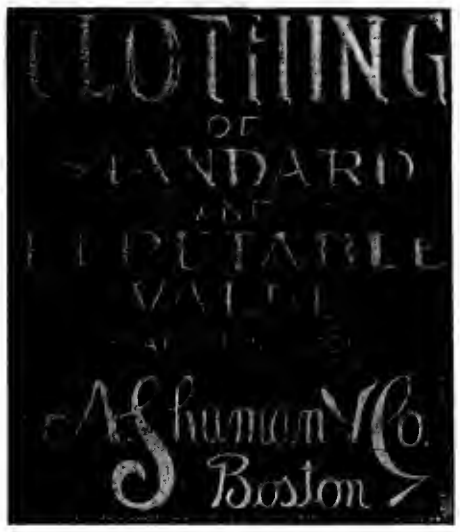
THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.



Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the financial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

Juniors' Sixth Victory

The juniors played their last game of the interclass series on Weston Field after the 'varsity game Saturday, winning from the sophomores by the score of 2 to 1. This, the last of an unbroken series of victories, gives 1907 the championship again. The game, a pitchers' battle, was closer and better baseball than any of the series this year, Hoyne being found for two hits and Gillett for only one. This one, however, came in the last inning when, with two out, Southworth smashed a long double to center, bringing in Redick for the winning run.

The summary:

The Obituary Record

The April number of the Williams College Bulletin, being the obituary record of the past year, has just been issued by Dr. Parsons. It contains biographical sketches of Williams alumni who have died within the last year. Thirty-six obituaries are recorded of alumni in classes from 1836, that of George P. Nelson, to 1905, that of Ezra Fisk, and ranging in ages from 88 to 24 years.

Among alumni of prominence that have died during the past year are Arthur L. Perry, LL. D., '52; two members of the board of trustees, Judge James M. Barker, LL. D., '60, and Rev. Robert Russell Booth, D. D. LL. D., '49; Gen. Merritt Barber '57, and Samuel P. Blagden '62. Knox Johnston '77, for thirty years before 1904, holder of the Williams quarter-mile record, is among those whose obituaries are recorded.

The register also contains an index of all obituaries published during the last ten years, and statistics of obituary sketches published during the last 25 years. 865 have been recorded by the necrologist, of whom 5 died at an age of over 95 years, 22 between 90 and 95, and 572 over 60.

OBITUARY

Ex-'58—Edgar M. Wood, one of the oldest members of the Berkshire bar, died at his home in Pittsfield, Saturday afternoon, aged 74 years. Born in Cheshire March 19, 1832, he prepared for college at the Connecticut Literary institute, Westfield Academy, and Charlotteville Conference seminary, and entered Williams in the class of 1858. He left Williams in his junior year with Phi Beta Kappa rank, and graduated from Union in 1858. He immediately entered the study of law, graduated from Albany law school, was admitted to the bar in 1859, and was engaged in the practice of law in Pittsfield from then until the time of his death. Since 1868 he had been a commissioner of the circuit court of the United States. It is considered probable by many that Mr. Wood had tried more cases than any other attorney in Berkshire county, if not in the state.

Ex'-07—Hubbard is now at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

PRINCETON WEDNESDAY

Williams to Meet Strongest College Team in Country

For the second time since 1893 Williams and Princeton meet on the diamond Wednesday, at Princeton. Williams was defeated by the Orange and Black in 1903 by the score of 8 to 5. Rain has prevented scheduled games since. Princeton has this year one of the strongest college teams in the country, and has been beaten by only three college nines, and by very close scores. It is generally given the first rank among college teams. Princeton has beaten Harvard twice but has been shut out by Brown and Penn. State and beaten by Georgetown. The team leaves at 5:13 p. m. tomorrow and will return Thursday morning. Kelley 1908 will play in left field in place of Hogan.

The batting order of the Williams team follows:

WILLIAMS: Wadsworth 2b, Warren cf, Young ss, Neild 3b, Kelley lf, Osterhout rf, Waters c, Harman 1b, Ford p.

Wilcox 1909 in N. J. Tournament

H. Wilcox 1909 played in the 7th annual New Jersey championship tournament held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday on the links of the Morris County golf club. Percy R. Pyne, 2nd, was first in the qualifying sixteen with 77, Wilcox fourth, with 41, 41-82. In the first round Thursday he won easily 5 and 4, but was defeated in the second round by P. H. B. Frelinghuysen of Morris County, 3 up and 1 to play. Other prominent golfers in the tournament were Marshall Whitlach of Montclair, Archie Graham of North Jersey and C. F. Watson of Morris County.

Interclass Baseball Standing

The standing of the teams in the interclass baseball series is as follows:

	W.	L.	Per cent.
1907	6	0	1.000
1909	2	2	.500
1908	1	3	.250

PRINCETON HITS BUNCHED

Williams Shut out by Orange and Black at Princeton

Bunched hits in the fifth and sixth innings gave Princeton the victory over Williams by a score of 3 to 0 at Princeton yesterday. The pitching of Heyniger and Byram was typically collegiate—very wild, but very effective in critical moments. Outside of innings four and five, Ford was as much of an enigma as the Princeton men. Princeton worked the hit and run game successfully, for Young, by forcing Wadsworth to cover second as the Princeton base-runner left first, left the right side of the diamond open for Princeton hits. A large number of alumni came from New York to the game by special car, and Rutter '99 led Williams cheers from the first to the ninth.

In the first, with two out, Young was hit and took second on an error, when Neild struck out. In the third bases on balls put men on first and second with two out, but Young popped to Sides. After further wildness by Byram in the fifth Warren struck out with two out and two on bases, and again in the eighth, after Warren had bunted safe—Williams' lone hit—and Young had received the sixth Princeton free ticket to first, Neild fanned. With two out in Princeton's half of the fifth, Wadsworth fumbled Cooney's grounder, and the two hits that followed gave two runs. Harlan's triple to left center and Vaughn's single scored Princeton's last run.

FACULTY SUMMER PLANS

What Those on Teaching Force Will do During Vacation

A glance at the resumé of faculty summer plans shows that the members of the faculty will be widely scattered. They may be found in at least fourteen different states, in Canada, and in several European countries. Thirteen will be in Williamstown part or all of the summer, and five will go abroad. Six of the faculty will devote some of their vacation to publications which they are producing. President Hopkins will be among those absent in Europe.

Mr. Billetdoux will spend his summer in Paris, France. Part of the time he will travel in Brittany and Normandy.

Mr. Bruns will attend the Wisconsin University summer school, where he will work on his thesis for his doctor's degree.

Rev. Mr. Burr will probably remain in Williamstown.

Mr. Capron will be at his home in Raleigh, Mass., all summer.

Dr. Franklin Carter will spend his summer at Meenhaga Lodge, Rainbow Lake, New York, the Adirondack camp of his son-in-law, Paul C. Ransom '86, headmaster of the Florida and Adirondack schools.

Prof. S. F. Clarke will leave immediately after Commencement to remain in Grove, N. Y., all summer.

Prof. Cleland will spend the first part of the vacation in Williamstown. He will go later to the region around Milwaukee, where he will gather further data for his geological report for the state of Wisconsin.

Mr. Cook will be at his home in Troy during the summer.

Mr. DeBeaumont expects to remain in Williamstown most of the summer.

Prof. Ferry will be in Williamstown most of the time in connection with college business, but will make occasional outside trips.

Dr. Fowler will be in eastern Maryland in the early part of the summer; later he will go on a tramping trip through the North Carolina mountains.

Dr. Gerig will be in Southern France all summer working on a biography of Catel, a Toulouse historian. He will also work jointly with M. Picot, a member of the French Academy, in publishing the letters of Arlier.

Mr. Green will be in Williamstown all summer.

Associate Professor Hardy will spend part of the summer in Williamstown, and will go on a Canadian fishing trip during the last of the vacation.

Prof. Hewitt will spend the entire summer at Castine, Me.

President Hopkins will sail on July 11 for a tour of England. He will be gone about six weeks.

Dr. Howard will be in Williamstown.

Prof. Howes will have charge

Williams Meets Columbia in Baseball Saturday

Williams and Columbia meet in baseball on Weston Field Saturday for the first time in three yeare. Rain prevented the contest scheduled at New York last year. In 1903 the teams broke even, Columbia winning the first game 12 to 3, and Williams the second 14 to 6. Columbia is on a New England trip this week, and has games scheduled with Trinity, Amherst and Wesleyan, the game with Williams Saturday completing the trip.

The Blue and White started the season well, winning the first eight games from such teams as Annapolis, West Point and Pennsylvania. Yale, Syracuse and Cornell, however, have beaten them, the last mentioned shutting out Columbia twice by the same score.

The batting orders of the teams follow:

WILLIAMS:—Wadsworth 2b, Warren cf, Young ss, Neild 3b, Hogan lf, Osterhout rf, Waters c, Harman 1b, Pierce p.

COLUMBIA:—Lyons lf, Armstrong 2b, Collins ss, Mittenberg 1b, Kimbel cf, Oxnam, Nohowell 3b, Schmidt rf, Tilt p.

GAME WITH HOLY CROSS

Negotiations Under Way—To be Played June 13 or June 20

Negotiations are under way for a game with Holy Cross. If a game is scheduled it will be played on either June 13 or June 20 in Williamstown. The Holy Cross manager conferred with Manager McAllister and Dr. Olds Tuesday, and the schedules of examinations for the members of both teams will be investigated with a view to arranging a game.

Alumni for Sixty Years

Among the oldest alumni who are expecting to be present at Commencement are two members of the class of sixty years ago, 1846. There are three members of the class living, Dr. Gabriel Grant of New York, Hon. John N. Murdock, M. D., of New York, and Hon. Emmons T. Mockridge, LL. D., of Philadelphia. Mr. Murdock is abroad, but the other two members are planning to visit Williamstown this month. The class numbered fifty, of whom thirty-three graduated.

VOL. 20 JUNE 7, 1906 No. 22

Announcements

The Record announces the election to the office of associate editor of William Smith McClellan 1908, of York, Pa., and David Burnet Scott 1908, of New York city.

At the meeting of the board held Monday evening an amendment to the constitution was passed, reducing the number of members of the board to nine. According to this amendment, which will go into effect with the election of new members next winter, three men will then be chosen to take the place of the five 1907 men on the board.

This issue will be the last number of the paper for the year.

The Commencement Record

The 1906 Commencement Record will be issued during the first week of examinations. The book will be modelled after that of last year, will be of the same shape, and about the same general appearance, but will not be as elaborate. It will contain the usual write-ups, brought up to date, of the different branches of college activity, a program of Commencement week, and two special articles, and will contain more reading matter than any previous Commencement Record. President Hopkins has kindly consented to write a review of the year, treating the broader side of the undergraduate life, as well as the year among the faculty and the alumni, and the physical condition of the college. The Record also desires to thank Rev. T. C. Richards '87 of Torrington, Conn., the authority on the life of Samuel J. Mills 1809 who, when a freshmen a hundred years ago this August, was the moving spirit at that prayer-meeting about the haystack in old Sloan's meadow, which has done more to spread the name of the college than any other one event. Rev. Mr. Richards has written especially for The Record an article on Mills' influence on President Griffin, the man who above all others kept Williams from going to Northampton in the dark days of the twenties.

The book will be illustrated by thirty-three half-tones, more than in any previous book of this kind. The cuts are all new, of the best quality that can be secured, and will be more expensive than ever before. In addition to the usual half-tones, there will be separate prints of the captain and manager of each of the four teams. Among the prints will be the first one of Berkshire Hall to be run in a college book. No expense has been spared in printing the book. The cost is larger than that of any Commencement Record previous to 1905, but has been reduced slightly from that of last year to enable the book to be sold at the price of thirty-five cents. It will be put on sale at Sanford's news room, at W. O. Adams', and at Jesup Hall.

The book will be entirely creditable to the college. We would respectfully ask the support of every student wishing a concise review of the year in the various forms of college activities along with illustrations of the teams, boards and men that have represented Williams college.

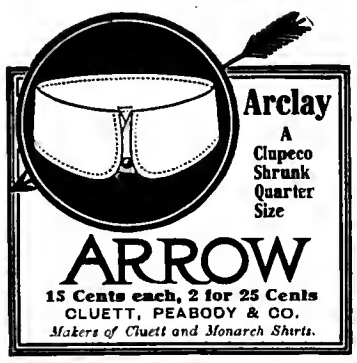
For Seniors Going to New York

Mr. Harry D. Nims, '98, of New York city, has communicated with President Nomer of the City Government Club requesting a list of names of those members of the senior class who are to be in New York city next year. Mr. Nims is secretary of the College Men's Political Association of New York and is active in the politics of the city. His plan of getting in touch with the men as they graduate is to afford an opportunity for any who intend to enter upon a political career in the city.

Interclass Baseball Standing

The standing of the teams in the interclass baseball series is as follows:

	W	L	Per cent
1907	6	0	1.000
1908	2	3	.400
1909	2	4	.333
1906	1	4	.200



A game between 1906 and 1908 was scheduled for this afternoon. If played, the interclass schedule is completed for the first time in three years.

BUILDING OPERATIONS

Work Done on College Buildings —A Handball Court

Berkshire Hall is now practically roofed and the work of removing the staging and washing the bricks has begun. As soon as the terra cotta partitions are in, which will be at the end of the week, the plasterers will take charge and their work will be completed rapidly. The windows are surmounted by marble keystone facings, and there will be a panel parapet on the roof, as in East and South, with the panels decorated with conventional flower and fruit designs.

Most of the rough plumbing work has been installed and all of the plumbing on the first floor completed. The wide marble coping around the roof has just been completed. The new dormitory will resemble Morgan Hall in having shower baths on each floor and in the basement.

A large retaining wall to the north of the building and running in that direction will be built. This also is to be faced with marble and will enclose a flight of granite steps leading to the last entrance on the west side. The slope on the northern end will be graded and filled in nearly to Main St. The building will be entirely finished before September, and in all probability brief exercises will be held at the opening of the building when college begins.

The South College extension will contain seven suites, each with a study, two bedrooms and with one exception, a private bath, all connected by an interior hallway. The rooms are to be lighted by electricity, as in Berkshire, and each study will contain a large open fire-place as in the south entry of Berkshire. An iron staircase in the southern end leads to the entrances. Of these, one will be on the first floor, opening east, and the other in the west wall of the basement. The windows on the southern end of South College will be bricked in and the wall will serve as a fire-wall between the extension and old South. The plumbing and wiring is now being installed, and as soon as the walls are lathed the plaster will be set. Mr. Smedley expects that the extension will be completed by the contract date, Aug. 25.

The tiles for the swimming tank have arrived and are being put in place. All of the tank will be tiled, with the exception of the ceiling, which is to be of white enamel. Ten electric-light clusters will furnish illumination. Hot and cold water will enter through two pipes in the western end; the outlet is at the east end. All the contract material is now on hand for the pool.

Many of the older buildings on the college property will be torn down during the summer and the general appearance of the grounds improved. The old Albert Hopkins house, at the foot of Consumption Hall, will be removed and the ground levelled. Ground will be gradually filled in at the side of the baseball cage to provide for a handball court planned to be built there in the future.

Bent, Frear '95 and Hubbard ex-'07 have been in town.

Freshmen Fall Twice

Two more games of the interclass baseball series were played on the old campus yesterday afternoon. The freshmen lost both games, one to the sophomores and one to the seniors. The field was very wet and slippery, hence many of the numerous errors.

In the 1908-1909 game, nine sophomores splashed around the bases to two of the freshmen. Williams was in the box at the start for 1909 but was very wild and was replaced by Sears, whose work was little better. Brown made some good stops at first.

The score by innings:

1908—2 1 5 1 0 x	9	2	2
1909—2 0 0 0 0 0	2	6	8

Batteries—Gillett and Bedford; Williams, Sears and Hoch. Umpire, Watson 1905.

The seniors won their first game by defeating the freshmen 8 to 6. Six hits and two passes to first gave the upperclassmen a lead of six runs in the third, which the freshmen were unable to overcome.

1906- 1 0 6 1 0 x	8	7	3
1909 -1 0 1 0 2 2	6	7	6

Batteries -Van Inwegen and Leland; Williams, Sears, and Hoch. Umpire, Watson. 1905.

COLLEGE NOTES

The Netherleigh baseball team will play the faculty nine as soon as a date can be arranged.

The banner won in the Williams-M. I. T. track meet has been hung in the trophy room in Jesup Hall.

It is expected that about twenty-five Williams men will attend part or all of the Northfield Conference.

The 'varsity-faculty tennis match, which was to have been played off yesterday afternoon on the Taconic club courts, was indefinitely postponed on account of the rain.

The following will represent Williams at the Amherst-Williams tennis match to be held this Saturday at Amherst: Schell, Smith, (capt.) 1906, Linen 1907 and Thompson 1908.

McGown and Woodbury 1906 and McGown 1907 will take a trip on a cattle-ship to Europe this summer. They will leave Boston on a Leland line steamer on July 4 and will spend six weeks abroad.

A meeting of the co-operative store directors will be held soon to decide whether to affiliate with the American College Stores Corporation again next year, or become an independent co-operative store.

At a meeting of the Philelogian society held last evening, the following officers were chosen for the coming term: President, Matthews '07; vice-president, Murray '08; secretary, Ernst '09; treasurer, Toll '09; critic, Case '07.

The following men will be added to the Commencement choir, which will give a special musical service on Baccalaureate Sunday: W. H. Doughty '98, B. Mears 1903; Botsford, Gale, Mears, Morgan, Osterhout, Zahner 1906; Russell 1907; Bedford, Byard, Hite 1908; Strong 1909.

At a meeting of the adelphic union held last evening the constitution of the Amherst-Wesleyan-Williams debating league, drawn up at Amherst last Saturday, was adopted. Nomer 1906 was elected to represent Williams as delegate at the meeting to be held in Springfield next week to determine the question.

The senior class banquet will be held Wednesday evening, June 27, at 11:00 p. m. at the Greylock hotel. The three lower class banquets will be held Wednesday evening, June 20, as follows: 1907 at the Wendell, Pittsfield; 1908 at the Richmond, North Adams; 1909 at the Rensselaer, Troy, N. Y.

Williams 13 1-2; Mt. Anthony 0

Williams won the return match with the Mt. Anthony golf club, played yesterday afternoon at Bennington. The score was 13½ to 0, Tuxedo system. The best medal scores were made by the Williams players, 37 and 39. Bogey for the course is 39. B. R. Wellington '05, a former member of the Williams team, played with Mt. Anthony.

The score:

THE CO-OP. MOVEMENT.

The co-operative movement, which aims to supply students with their college needs at a price merely sufficient to cover original cost of goods and the necessary expense of running the store, is amply justified by the fact that successful co-operative stores doing an enormous aggregate business have been established at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Cornell in the East; Leland Stanford, Universities of Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, and Wisconsin in the West. The result is that the students of these institutions have saved thousands of dollars, and the institutions have added attractions appealing to prospective students of moderate means.

Three conditions are necessary for a successful college co-operative store. First:—Adequate financial backing. Second:—Adequate commercial connections. Third:—Adequate local support.

THE WILLIAMS CO-OP.

The Williams Co-op has met the first two conditions by becoming affiliated with the American College Stores Corporation which assumes the finanicial risks and is able to furnish goods at manufacturer's rates, thus eliminating the usual jobbers' commission. For these services, the Corporation charges the moderate sum of 5 per cent.

If Williams College wishes to offer prospective students the same economic advantages offered by other institutions, and if the students are to have the same advantages as those offered elsewhere, "The Co-op" must have the hearty support of both faculty and students. The larger the volume of business the cheaper the goods may be sold, since the expense of rent, heat, light, etc., does not increase in proportion.

CORNELL UNIVERSITY MEDICAL COLLLEGE, New York City.

The course covering four years begins during the last week in September and continues until June.

A preliminary training in natural science is of great advantage.

All the classes are divided into small sections for recitations, laboratory and clinical beside instruction.

Students are admitted to advanced standing after passing the requisite examinations.

The successful completion of the first year in any College or University recognized by the Regents of the State of New York as maintaining a satisfactory standard is sufficient to satisfy the requirements for admission which have lately been raised.

The annual announcement giving full particulars will be mailed on application.

The Spirit of the Year

THE year has been one of prosperity for the college in every line. In athletics an autumn of only moderate success was followed by a winter of basketball victories, a successful track season, and victories on the diamond which apparently will never stop. The usual additions have been made to the number of the faculty, and the improvements in the equipment of the college have been many. The proposed reorganization of the college church on a liberal basis should give a much-needed inspiration to the religious side of the college, and make 1906 as noteworthy a year in Williams religious history as 1806.

All this, however, is covered in detail by the articles on the different college interests. What remains, the one tie that has held the college closer together, and above all the rest made the college stronger, has been an improved college spirit.

College spirit, the outgrowth of loyalty to the college, comes from constant eager striving for what is best for our alma mater. It is not a hot-house growth that can be forced into bloom. This improved spirit has been due to the fact that nothing has been overdone, that a common-sense attitude toward college affairs has prevailed. Sanity in leadership has been the key to college action. Thus, taking as an example the most obvious expression of that spirit, peremptory appeals to duty for the support of teams have been given up for common-sense appeals to inclination, with the result that Williams, winning or losing, has never had more numerous enthusiastic supporters or more hearty and united support.

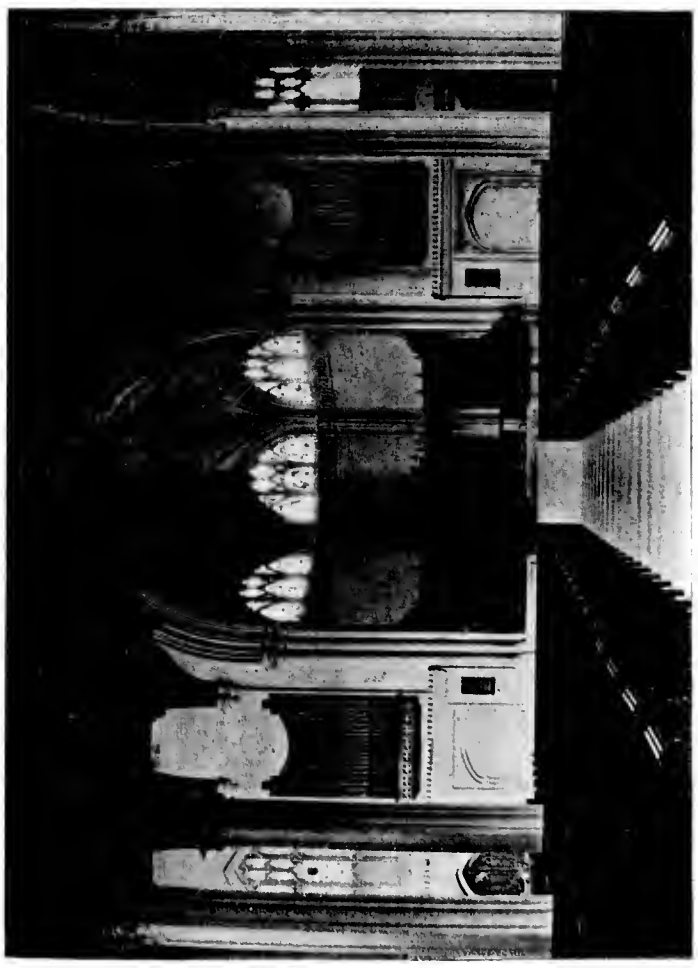
Soon Commencement day will be here, and with its passing will pass the class mainly responsible. It remains for those of us in the three lower classes to strive to continue this same healthy, vigorous spirit of optimism, but an optimism of a never-say-die sort. And may this optimism which the men of 1906 have fostered in college go with them in the world beyond the Berkshire hills, as they go out from their four-year's home "safe within our little valley" this June.

Review of the Year

(By Request of the Editor)

THERE has been no halt. The march of improvement has gone steadily on.



A new man, Prof. George E. Howes, from the University of Vermont, has come to the Garfield Professorship of Ancient Languages. An eager scholar, an enthusiastic and successful teacher, his advent marks a distinct advance in the declared policy of the college to strengthen and make attractive the classical department.

Mr. Sumner Salter, an accomplished organist and experienced leader, has as musical director given the whole musical life of the college a marked uplift. The choir has been increased from fifteen to twenty-four men. This, with the new organ in the new chapel, has imparted increased dignity and fresh power to all religious services.

The experiment of "the small division" has been carried on by a further addition of five teachers. It is still an experiment.

There has been this year a much needed and highly appreciated increase in the salaries of professors, assistant professors, and administrative officers, who were receiving less than three thousand dollars. A system of rules for the employment, promotion, pay, and pensioning of the officers of instruction is for the first time in operation.

Four new recitation rooms in the old chapel, now called Goodrich Hall, have been supplied. There has been a large increase of illustrative material, apparatus, specimens, lantern slides, books, maps, etc. To the general library there have been added 2359 volumes.

OVER THE TREES

The acquisition of the Woodbridge and Mather properties and the improvement in the same has given five desirable residences to college teachers, has resulted in a great improvement to the village street, and has opened large possibilities of further development. The building of Berkshire Hall, a new dormitory, plain but elegant, fireproof and substantial, and the extension of South College, will furnish a much needed enlargement of dormitory accommodations.

A large and permanent baseball cage for winter practice has been constructed and connected with the steam plant. A spacious swimming pool is nearly completed and the availability of a largely increased water supply for this purpose and as a defense against fire, is assured. New shower baths and other bathing facilities have been added. Electric lighting has been extended to the gymnasium and other buildings and the better warming and lighting of the libraries and reading rooms has been realized.

In athletics a sound, sane, and sportsmanlike spirit is on the increase. We have had our share of good as well as bad luck, and by brave and patient hard work have won more than victories enough to make every Williams man proud of the purple. The number of tennis courts has been increased. There is to-day a greater variety of outdoor sports than ever before, and better than all the things which I have mentioned is the hearty appreciation of them all by a majority of the students, as evinced by the careful and well-mannered use of facilities offered, and by a growing spirit of co-operation with the authorities of the college.

For the first time, there has been during the past year the employment, with alumni suggestion and support, of a general secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association. The two upper classes have made choice each of four of their own number as deacons. This movement is intended as the beginning of a reconstructed college church, now being planned for, with the hope of deepening, broadening, and unifying the religious life of the college.

The college has met with great loss in the death of Dr. Robert Russell Booth and Judge James Madison Barker, two of its oldest and most honored trustees. We have lost men from the teaching force as well as from the student body whom we would gladly have retained.

Upon the whole it has been a year of harmony and progress. College spirit was never better.

THE HAYSTACK MONUMENT

Samuel J. Mills and President Griffin

NO MAN has done more to arouse interest at Williams in the men and scenes of the haystack meeting just a century ago than President Edward Dorr Griffin. President Griffin came here in the darkest days of the history of the college. When the college had no prospects he saved it and made possible its future. His interest in the college and his willingness to come as president and lead a forlorn hope arose largely from his friendship for Samuel J. Mills, and because he believed a college made sacred as the birthplace of American Foreign Missions could and should be preserved.

At one time Mills studied with Dr. Griffin, bringing sermons to be criticised. After the criticism of the sermons Mills would read to his teacher various statements and letters in regard to different missionary projects. The doctor saw that studying divinity was only a secondary object and that the young man's permanent business was to interest his senior in his many plans. And he did interest him, for the doctor afterwards said that not only did the American Board, the American Bible Society, the United Foreign Missionary Society, the African School in New Jersey, owe their origin to Mills and his plans, besides the impetus he gave to home missions and the Colonization Society, but also Dr. Griffin added, "If I had any instrumentality in originating these measures I here publicly declare that in every instance I received the first impulse from Samuel John Mills."

Still further back we can go and trace the connection between Griffin and Mills. Williams College received its charter the same year that the world was shocked by the moral and social earthquake called the French Revolution. The spirit of that Revolution was felt in the early days of the college as a dominant force. So popular was it with the students that a member of the first freshman class, Jedediah Bushnell, says, "French liberty and French philosophy poured in upon us like a flood and seemed to sweep everything serious before it." A general laxness of morals in accordance with French ideals was the result of this infidelity. If any man had serious thoughts as to becoming a Christian, "the wicked would load him with ridicule and shocking abuse." It is true that "there were two or three old professors of religion whom the wicked rarely treated with indignity." During the first seven years of the existence of the college there were only seven Christian men among the ninety-three who graduated and in three of the classes not a single Christian man. "The influence of prevailing skepticism and general laxness of morals received a check," says Professor Albert Hopkins, "from a few persons of decided religious character who took a bold stand in favor of Christianity and decidedly advocated its principles. This they did not so much by public discussion as by private example and a determined and faithful use of the prescribed means of religious influence."

The story of this new era which broke on the college in 1800, and of the moral heroism of a few young men from Litchfield County who turned the tide, was told for the first time by President Griffin in a sermon which he preached at the dedication of the chapel (Griffin Hall) in 1828. He was pastor at New Hartford in Litchfield County when a great revival broke out in that county in 1798–9. In the neighboring parish of Torringford Mills' father was pastor, and there with him was the younger Mills, a boy of fifteen. With both of them Griffin was intimately acquainted and strongly influential.

"It was from Litchfield County," says Doctor Griffin, "that the spirit of the new era crept on this college." Two young men from Norfolk came back from this revival filled with the enthusiasm of a new religious zeal. "But the next spring (1801) the religious character of the college received an important change from the accession to the freshman class of four young men from Litchfield County,"—Timothy P. Gillett and James Beach of Torrington, and Asahel Gaylord and one other from Norfolk. These young men turned the tide, the religious life deepened, until in 1805–6 the college was in the midst of a revival.

In April, 1806, Samuel J. Mills, Jr., entered the freshman class. He threw himself into the religious life of the college with all his matchless enthusiasm. In a few weeks he was a mighty power in helping his comrades into the Christian life. The ground was ready for the seed. The other young men from his native county had prepared the way and the master soul had come. But as President Griffin makes clear it was "by the influence of this revival that he (Mills) was enabled to diffuse his spirit through a choice circle who raised Williams College to the distinction of being the birthplace of American Missions."

Literary Interests

THE baseball team practices in broad daylight, where anyone can watch it, and when the time comes, the results materialize. The Lit. and the Record boards usually work in the dark, and, like mushroom growths, the publications do not materialize while you watch, they always come into being suddenly, and though they may not be there when you look first, when you look again, they have appeared.

But usually the Record has been there when you looked first,—which is equivalent to saying that it performs its function as a news retailer. The news service of the Record the past year has been good, out-of-town games have been written up and sent in by telegraph when such despatch was advantageous, and the events in college have been chronicled without bias, intelligently, and always with an eye to their value as news. The freshness of the news in the Record has alone amply justified the change from the old Weekly. Time was when we read the accounts of games with an effort of memory, trying to recall when precisely that particular game took place. But the Record in its two years of life has changed all that, and in its pages we usually have found the first full account of college occurrences.

But the news service is not the only thing. In fact, it was not uncommon during the past year for one to turn immediately to the editorial page. The comment there has always been fair and very judicious. Edward A. Clapp has been responsible in those columns for the expression of opinions conducive to a spirit of manhood and respect for what is right.

The Lit. began life last fall with a new cover and the other mechanics of the magazine in improved order. Among the college publications of the country the Williams Lit. holds and this year has maintained a position relatively high. The most noteworthy contributions have been those by George Burwell Dutton, and of his work the best is a dramatic poem "Until He Cometh," which appeared in the very unusual Christmas number. The rest of the verse has been creditable, especially that which expressed the love Williams is wont to inspire for Nature. Certain of the fiction has shown the same tendency, and in this the naturalistic element was carried to excess. But for the most part, the short stories have been short stories,—not sketches or abbreviated novels, but short stories of the proper mechanism and scope. The essay of comment on college activity, which played a prominent part in the 1904–1905 Lit., except in a single instance, has been wanting and the essay of literary criticism has been present in its place. The most original feature of the magazine has been the series of illustrations depicting Williams of yesterday, with the appropriate descriptive comment, written by John Adams Lowe, whose intimate acquaintance with the college fitted him particularly for the work.

The Gul. appeared too late to receive the attention which it might otherwise have secured. The most noteworthy feature was the introductory essay, "The Old College and The New," which Dr. Mabie wrote especially for the book, and the poem "Alma Mater," by Dr. Gladden. The fact that the Gul. contained no grinds of the spleenish type, reflecting on students or faculty, is a point worthy of emulation.

SHEPARD ASHMAN MORGAN

Debating

THE past year has witnessed a great extension in the debating interests of the college. The first season of the triangular league has proved a complete success, a new league has been assured with Amherst and Wesleyan, and the contest between the two lower classes has become a fixture. With four 'varsity debates and numerous competitions in the college, our next season promises to be the most active one in the recent history of Williams.

And this activity seems entirely justified by its results. Last winter, the trials for the triangular league called forth the largest entry list in many years. The sophomore-freshman contest has proved its usefulness, by furnishing experience for men who in the following year have become members of 'varsity teams. The principle seems well established that the greater the opportunity for making various teams, the larger will be the number of competitors. There is one serious drawback, however, to the present system. With the opening of competition to all members of the college, the literary societies have become, more than ever before, mere figureheads. Mock trials and college senates will not arouse more than a temporary enthusiasm. The instilling of a new life into Philotechnian and Philologian is one of the problems which will have to be settled within the near future.

Our annual contest with Wesleyan, held at Middletown last fall, resulted in a defeat. However, this was more than atoned for in March by a victory over Dartmouth, and a remarkably strong debate against Brown, won by the latter only by a majority decision of the judges. The Purple thus won second place in the league, incidentally recovering the lead in the series of debates with the Green, the total now standing six to five in our favor.

The prospects for the coming year are exceedingly bright. A wealth of veteran material will return to college, and will be augmented by those who have gained experience in the minor contests. Moreover, a general spirit of confidence and hope has taken the place of former indifference, and bids fair of itself to bring success.

A review of the season would not be complete without an acknowledgment of the assistance which the members of the faculty have rendered. Whenever called upon, they have done all in their power to help the teams, and it is to their disinterested sacrifices that a large measure of all our achievements has been due.

HOWARD ABRAHAM SCHOLLE

The Religious Life of the College

THE story of the formally organized religious life of the college for the past year is a simple one. Compulsory chapel, in which some real worship does occasionally enter, has continued with the utmost regularity; day by day the different professors have led the service and on successive Sundays the preachers have tried to minister to our religious needs. The Young Men's Christian Association, striving, for the first time with the assistance of a graduate secretary, to do more good in the college, has regularly held its Sunday evening meetings. These have been attended on the average by about fifty men and have been addressed on pertinent themes by the preachers of the morning and other well-known men. The Association's bible classes have been more successful than ever before. 170 men entered the study and 110 of these continued in attendance for over two months. These have been notable, also, in that four or five members of the faculty have led classes. The class prayer meetings have been poorly attended and demand some radical action. Thus, together with countless less definite and less known efforts to contribute to the college life, the religious activities have continued.

There are various concrete difficulties which need to be overcome. The inactivity of the college church is a loss; fortunately this is about to be remedied. The relation of faculty and students is far from ideal and, while the cause is difficult to determine, the fact is that many members of the faculty have little direct influence in shaping the spiritual natures of their students.

Perhaps neither students nor faculty make advances to each other along these lines because neither really knows how to proceed. We all lack that certainty of conviction which was the tremendous inspiration of other times. We drift along, each with his more or less aimless thesis that, after all, doing good is probably the best thing in the world. We see in the college a wide-spread development of individualism; even within organizations for a single purpose, there is a keen difference of opinion. And life here is somewhat too comfortable and easy to be rich ground for the growth of conviction; the average undergraduate has a very pleasant existence and the expression of his religious impulses is often habitual or at most conventional. Here and there, as an exception, a man is more mature and thoughtful, his worship is real and not formal. Among the faculty, scholarship ideals are too tempting and the details of civilization too engrossing to leave many men actually possessed of the great instincts of spiritual and truly intellectual leadership.

But this is but a recent phase of a continuous process; the college is certainly, though slowly, growing better. In time the accurate adjustment will appear and the teacher will be the great leader in all the attributes of manhood. However immature the student may appear, however busy in unimportant things, he still is happy and suffers, lives and knows the bitterness of death. The eternal questions are in our midst, searching us to the heart, and the eternal answer of religion is vibrant here and yearly growing more audible. We are soon to emerge into a season of unusual religious honesty and progress.

WILLIAM SMITH PETTIT

Football

THE graduation of the class of 1905 lost the college seven "W" men, six of whom were regulars. To offset this loss the freshman class brought only one man who made the eleven. Yet the team of 1905 won a majority of its games, reversed last year's M. A. C. score and turned Colgate's defeat of their predecessors into a victory.

Williams opened the season by defeating Williston 26–0. In the next game the team lost to Harvard by the smallest score the Crimson had made since 1902, 12–0. The same score, in Williams' favor, was the result of the Union and M. A. C. games. At New York the team lost to Columbia 11–5 in a game in which it gained 282 yards to its opponents' 86. This was the first time the Purple has ever scored on the Blue and White. Dartmouth's 4–0 victory the next Saturday lost its sting after Dartmouth's defeat of Princeton a week later. The next two games, at home, restored confidence and developed the offense. Then came the happiest contest of the season. Colgate's heavy team, with the prestige of a victory over Dartmouth, could neither penetrate the Williams line nor get around the Williams ends. After short, consistent gains the Purple made the winning touchdown.

At Middletown the eleven could not gain consistently, while the Red and Black's wing shift, with the spectacular runs of the quarter-back, gave her three touchdowns. The team lost the Amherst game after a great exhibition of football and Williams spirit. Amherst scored the first touchdown in five minutes, took nineteen for the second and secured the third only after twenty-seven minutes of play, by a 103-yard run. Williams, outweighed twelve pounds to the man, held Amherst for downs on her two-inch line.

Although the past season closed with defeat, the prospect for next year's is unusually good. In the first place, in the nine "W" men left in college there is a splendid nucleus for the 1906 eleven. In the second, the radical changes in the game made by the new rules should end the undue advantage which mere weight has given in the games of the past years. Lack of weight has been an insurmountable obstacle for recent Williams teams. Now, however, that speed, cleverness and grit have become the principal factors in determining victory, Williams should hold a high place in the football world.

WALTER SUMMERHAYES CASE

Baseball

BASEBALL seems paradoxical. The poorer the prospects, the better the team. The 1905 nine started with the best prospects a Williams baseball team had had in years, but played very uneven ball. The 1906 season, according to all canons of the prophets, should have been as gloomy as its outlook. Four "W" men had graduated, Captain-elect Westervelt and an infielder were unable to return to college, and the nine began the season with but two players of two years' 'varsity experience.

The sky was not all black, however. The fine new baseball cage presented the college by Hon. Francis Lynde Stetson '67 and Hon. Eugene Delano '66, gave the nine facilities for practice that brought them to their first game able to play fast ball. For once in the history of the college the bellows had not been used on freshman reputations, and all the veterans began to play the game of their lives. Coach Dowd's work showed results from the first day, and the policy of retaining a coach through the year received abundant justification.

After two minor victories, Amherst was shut out 2–0 on Pratt Field in a game where pitching, fielding, batting and base-running were at their best. On the Eastern trip Andover won out with but five hits, but for the first time since 1901 Harvard was defeated 5–2 on May 5 in a game which left no doubt which was the better team. Syracuse was shut out the following Saturday.

Next came Yale, and by winning from the Blue this 1906 team equalled the record of the famous nine of ten years ago. The result of the northern trip was two defeats, but that by Dartmouth was more than made up for by a sixteen-inning 1–0 victory on Weston Field, the longest ball game ever played in Williamstown, when Ford proved himself better than Skillin during a nervous three hours of ball-playing not much different from that in the leagues. Amherst was beaten easily 3–1 on Decoration day, and the team in the Princeton game took us back to the days of '67, when Yale, Harvard and Princeton were all defeated.

Track Athletics

THE trouble with Williams track teams in the past has been the old story of the small college, a few star men, without others to take seconds and thirds. Since 1898 Williams had won 190½ points at Worcester. Of this, four men, Bray 1900, Potter 1901, Blackmer 1903, and Leavitt ex-'07, had won 103½. In consequence, when a season comes where fourteen men win points in one dual meet and nineteen in another, and six men win "W"s at "Worcester", with none scoring more than five points, track athletics seem to be on a more satisfactory basis.

MORTON DANIEL GRISWOLD

Ten of the thirteen points won by the 1905 team at Worcester were made by Ex-captain Leavitt, who did not return to college. The seniors, too, took away two relay men of four years' experience. It was realized, however, that the track team had had hard luck during the season, and had Leavitt returned to Williams, the outlook would have been unusually good.

The relay team started the trophies toward Jesup Hall. Victories from Wesleyan and Brown, both won on the last relay, began the year right. The spring trials proved that the team was well-balanced, and the Wesleyan meet, won 79 to 47, showed that 1909 was going to help keep the scorer's pencil busy in the Williams column. Technology, in a dual meet a week later, was defeated by a narrow margin on its own oval. Meanwhile, in the Olympic games at Athens, Williams had won more honor than any dual meets could give when Ex-captain Leavitt won the high hurdles from the hurdlers of the world.

At the "Worcester" meet, at Brookline, the team, though scoring 19⅝ points, won fourth place, two points behind M. I. T. An analysis of the points won there is the best way to show what can be done next year. Of the men from the other colleges, eight who won firsts and five who won seconds were seniors. With these 1906 men out, and the other point-winners placed as before, Williams has 22 points to start next season with, Dartmouth 21, the rest well under 20. If 1910 can equal 1909, and there are no more misfortunes waiting for the team than it had this year, the 1907 season ought to justify the mathematicians, and make the college hark back to the days of the giants from '99 to 1901.

PHILIP RISING PETERS

Basketball

THE team that follows a season which can be described only in superlatives is unconsciously expected to do too much. The 1906 basketball five, though unable to repeat the winning of a national championship, made a record which few Williams athletic teams have ever equalled. Three games were lost, two to Dartmouth—the only college team than can claim to outrank the Purple—and one to a strong non-collegiate team, and one tied. The fourteen victories were from colleges as much larger as Yale, Pennsylvania and Brown, and from teams that count as large in the basketball world as Syracuse, Wesleyan, Williston, Colgate and the Fitchburg Y. M. C. A. The other victories were from W. P. I., M. I. T., Rochester, Tufts and Hamilton. The intercollegiate champions were beaten in a conclusive game, and Dartmouth's decisive victories seemed due to weight rather than speed. 432 points were scored to 242 by opponents.

Captain Wadsworth, the most accurate basket-shooter of the five, was the only man lost from the 1905 team. Four of the members of the team were seniors. The brilliant all-round game of the captain, the pivot around whom play centered, the long baskets and accurate foul-shooting of one forward, the fast passing and hard guarding of the other and the steady blocking of the man who was played at back guard, have made 1906 share honors with 1903 as the basketball class of the college.

One athletic lesson taught by the season should be mentioned—the value of a hard-working scrub. The team that won the class championship for two seasons owed part of its success to constant practice with a scrub team. At the start of the season a strong player was developed from the squad, just as when, three years ago, the captain of the 1905 team played his first games of college basketball. The hard practice from the constantly improving scrub was a big factor in helping the 'varsity to win.

The outlook for next season is not so dubious. Captain Tower has had three years' experience, has proved the best guard on the team, and is always in the passing game. Two experienced men remain from the substitutes of last year. Four years of victory has spread the opinion in college that a Williams basketball team cannot lose, and confidence, felt and expressed, will mean everything.

Tennis

THERE were forty-nine entries in this year's spring handicap tournament, a fair sign of the hold the game has on the college. The new courts of the association have been in constant use throughout the season, and have shown clearly that they filled a long-felt want.

In the matches, the loss of Northrop 1905 has been severely felt. In the national intercollegiate tournament in the fall, Smith 1906, though beaten in the first round, gave Karl Behr of Yale, one of the best men in the tournament, a hard match. The Springfield Country club was tied on their home courts early in the spring, and the championship of the triangular league (Williams, Wesleyan, and Dartmouth) won, as last year, without the loss of a single match.

In the New England intercollegiate tournament Floyd R. Smith won the championship in singles for the second time in his college course, and Smith and Westcott 1908 lost the finals of the double championship only after five sets had been played. The results of these matches raised Williams' number of points to six, of the eight necessary for permanent possession of the championship cup. Other men who have represented the college in tournaments during the year are Schell 1906, Linen 1907, and T. K. Thompson 1908.

JAMES ALEXANDER LINEN, JR.

Golf

LAST fall the golf team played five matches and won them all. No team had won from the strong Springfield Country club team for three years until the Williams match and the Mohawk Golf club of Schenectady, champions of central New York, were beaten 14–9. In the final round of the New England intercollegiate tournament M. I. T. lost in a fairly close match, and Williams won its first intercollegiate championship. In the individual championship, three of the five men on the team tied for first in the qualifying round, only one of the Williams players was put out by a golfer from another college, and Captain Clapp 1906 won from A. Mitchell 1907 1 up in the final round.

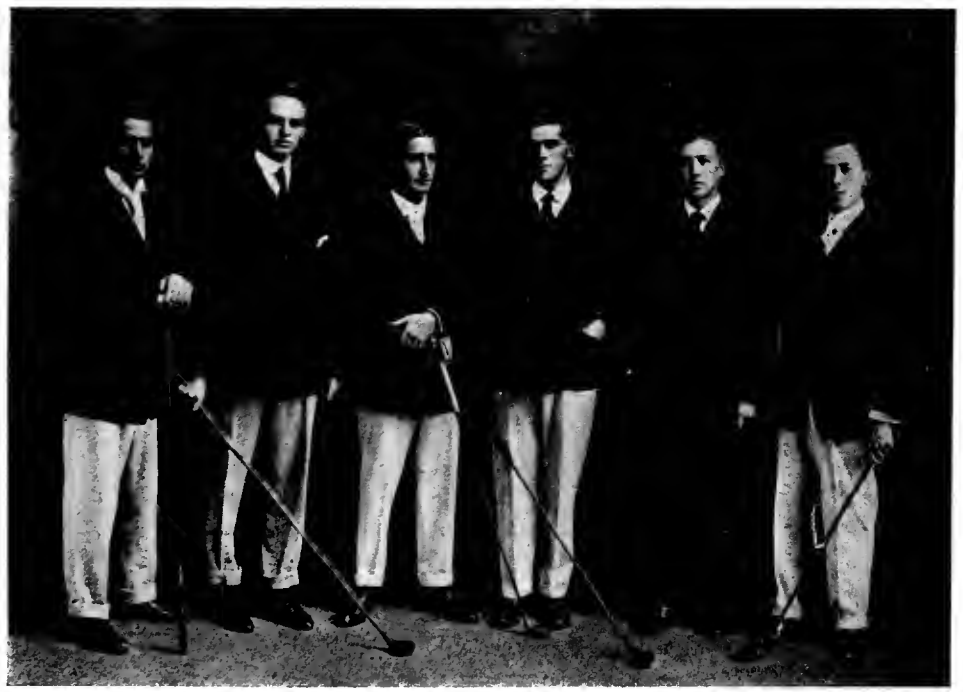
This spring's schedule was made hard enough to suit the ability of the team. In fact, it was hard to get matches even with teams of medium strength. The score of 23½ to 0 in the Harvard match at Williamstown made up for the 11½ to 1½ defeat last spring at Cambridge. To play Yale and Princeton was an ambitious undertaking, and it is not surprising that Princeton, on its own course, was able to defeat the Purple's six-man team 15 to 5½. Yale, like Princeton, was on its game when it met Williams at Montclair, and the 7½–4½ victory of the Blue was earned by scores below bogie and general brilliant play. The easier matches since then have had satisfactory results.

Next year's team loses by graduation its captain for two years, intercollegiate champion Clapp, and metropolitan champions do not enter college every year. Any small college in New England that should now try to figure itself better than Williams in golf would find the problem difficult. The invitation to join the intercollegiate league, whose members are Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Cornell, Pennsylvania and Columbia, shows the estimate in the golfing world of the team's strength. The season has given Williams golf a big reputation to live up to.



WILLARD BULL VAN INWEGEN

Hockey

THE hockey team's season was unsuccessful. It is somewhat difficult to trace the causes of this, as unusually good material developed in the freshman class, and the captain's energy was tireless. To be sure, all the teams played were in the first rank. Perhaps the most important factor was the lack of condition of the best players.

The season opened with a defeat by Columbia at New York, where the teams showed equal playing ability, and only the fact that Williams had been unable to practice turned the scale. Dartmouth, in January, defeated the Williams seven in another close game at Albany. In February the Albany Hockey club won 5–3 and lost 1–2, while Princeton's 4–3 victory was due solely to the old story of poor condition, since Williams started fast, got a lead at the beginning of each period, and only tired towards the end.

Much more interest was taken in the game than ever before, due probably to the new rink built on Weston Field by the athletic council and the granting of an "11Wt." Class hockey teams should be formed to strengthen this growing interest. There is a strong possibility that Williams may be among the teams in the intercollegiate hockey league next year. The college has the material for a winning team in 1906–1907.

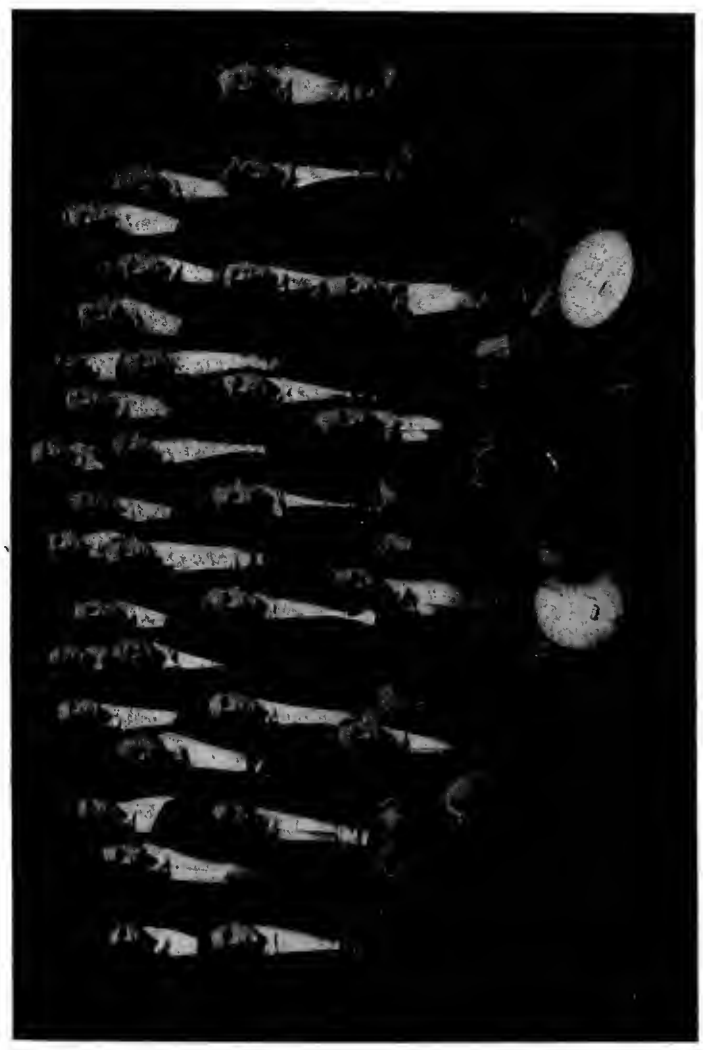
HORACE GILLETTE CLEVELAND

Musical Clubs

OWING to the resignation of Manager Griswold, the season of 1905-6 has not been as successful for the musical clubs, from a financial standpoint, as was expected. The clubs did not organize until quite late this year and consequently the first concert in Williamstown was far from what it should have been.



The glee club, under the leadership of W. H. Curtiss, has fulfilled our greatest expectations. The success they have obtained is to a great extent due to the careful work of Mr. Salter, who has kindly given his services to the club. The solo work by W. H. Curtiss and S. R. Pevear has been received enthusiastically everywhere. The mandolin club, in spite of the fact that it was necessary to change leaders in the middle of the season, has done creditable work. The banjo club, under the leadership of C. B. Gale, seemed to be the most popular of the clubs. A. J. Pierce, as reader, never failed to win repeated encores.

With the graduation of 1906, the association loses many valuable men, particularly from the glee club, nevertheless next year we hope to be able to give a concert that will equal any given before.

WILLIAM STOWELL WOOSTER

Dramatics

CAP and Bells has experienced an unusually successful year. The play presented was well-chosen, far above the club's standard in recent years, and in spite of the loss of eight 1905 men from the club, those on the cast were equal to the skillful acting the play demanded. The club appeared in seven performances, and was as heartily received away from home as on the Williamstown stage.

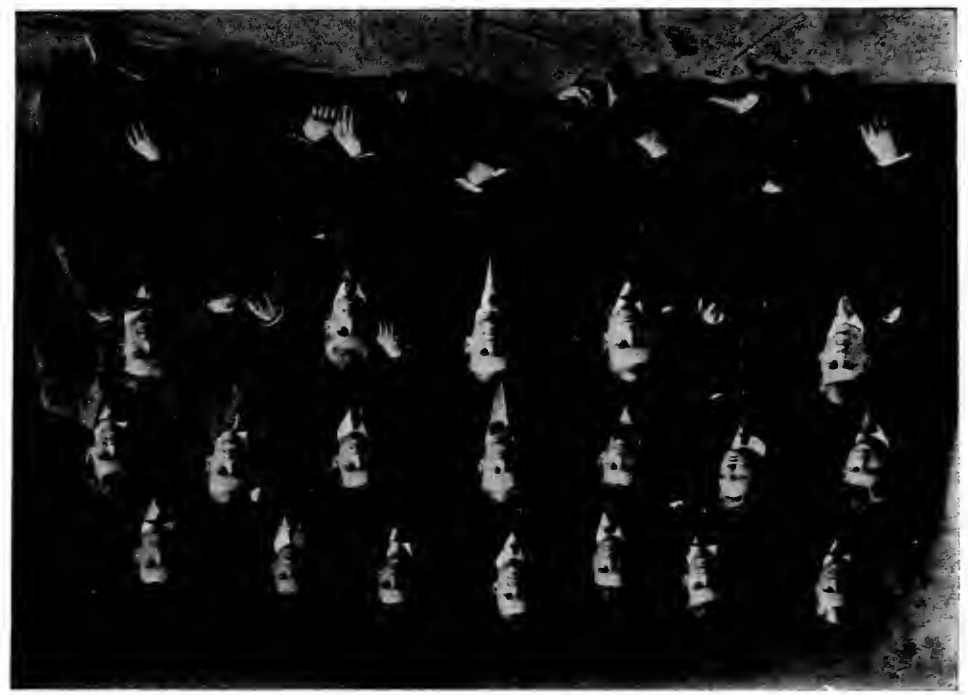
At the opening of college, the club found excellent material in the freshman class and added seven new members. The officers for the year were: President, A. M. Botsford 1906; business managers, Chauncy Hills 1906 (resigned) and F. L. Robbins 1906; stage manager, S. C. Wooster, Jr., 1906; assistant business manager, J. D. G. Hill 1907; assistant stage manager, C. B. Chapman 1907; executive committee, A. M. Botsford 1906, R. H. Fleischmann 1906 and A. Jaeckel 1907.

The play presented was "The Man from Mexico," a three-act farce, by H. A. Du Souchet. The cast of characters was as follows:

BENJAMIN FITZHEW, The man from Mexico....Alfred M. Botsford 1906.
COL. RODERICK MAJORS....Everett L. Hazelton 1909.
TIMOTHY COOK, Tammany sheriff detective....Arthur J. Pierce 1907.
VON BULOW BISMARCK SCHMIDT....Walter S. Case 1906.
EDWARD FARRAR....Atkinson Allen 1908.
RICHARD DAUNTON....Stillman F. Westbrook 1909.
LOVEALL, Warden of the prison....Albert Jaeckel 1907.
OFFICER O'MULLINS....Samuel C. Wooster, Jr., 1906.
LOUIS, Waiter of the Cleopatra....Samuel C. Wooster, Jr., 1906.
CLEMENTINA FITZHEW....Raoul H. Fleischmann 1906.
SALLIE GRAICE, Her sister....Clinton DeR. Combes 1907.
NETTIE MAJORS....Henry B. Pennell, Jr., 1909.
MIRANDA, A maid....John H. Carlisle 1909.

The cast was rehearsed for a month by Mr. Donald MacDonald, the dramatic coach of the University of Wisconsin. To his careful, thorough work with the cast is due much of the credit for the play's success. His Spanish dances were imitations that would have done credit to a señorita.



The play was presented seven times, as follows:

Richmond Theater, North Adams, Mass., February 14.
Williamstown Opera house, February 17.
Mahaiwe Theater, Great Barrington, Mass., February 22.
Williamstown Opera house, April 25.
Carnegie Lyceum, New York city, April 27.
Pi Eta clubhouse, Cambridge, Mass., May 9.
Williamstown Opera house, May 30.

Another performance will be given at the Williamstown Opera house on June 25.
